Affiliation once more with the Ontario Baseball Association by the Western Counties Circuit was announced last night at Chatham by President James Millman of the Western Association, decision being ing the outcome of negotiations beween several directors of his organization and W. J. Snyder of Hamilton, secretary of the O.B.A. President Millman explained differences arose over the designation of zones for championship playdowns, the Western Counties Association having raised objection to what were considered unnecessary trips for post-schedule games without territorial arrangements for team entries.

The Chatham official stated there would be nothing to stop London from playing in the Inter-County Baseball Association, but if London won the inter-county title it would have to meet other teams in the Western Ontario area before advancing into the O.B.A. playdowns. The same condition would apply, he said, to other clubs situated on the border line of western counties territory.

Signs Dewar.

Brooklyn Crescents, new fourth member of the Eastern United States Hockey League, yesterday announced the signing of Tommy Dewar, late of the New York Rangers, as player-coach.

Bob Pastor, heavyweight contender now in the U.S. Army, last night called off his scheduled 10-round bout with Gunnar Barlund, Finnish battler, at Denver, Colo., on the ground that he was not in proper fighting trim because of military duties.

President Hector Racine of Montreal Royals in the International Baseball League said last night Presco Thompson would not be the team manager next season and nothing had been decided although he had seen a report Branch Rickey, Jr., might get the job.

Four Notre Dame and two Michigan players gained places on the 54th annual mythical All-American football team selected by Colliers magazine, it was announced yesterday at New York. The backfield included Angelo Bertelli and Creighton Miller of the Irish, Robert Odell of Pennsylvania and William Daley of Michigan.

Freak Accident Top Oddity

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — A professional football player, going through the monotony of punting practice, fractured his skull by kicking himself in the head.

That incident wins for Clint Wager of Chicago Cardinals a pair of spaghetti goal posts as the hero in the wackiest piece of gridiron drama during 1943.

Just as Wagar was about to boot the ball he was called by a teammate. Instead of turning his head, Wagar bent forward, and his knee crashed into his forehead.

Beardless college freshmen, substituting for the older athletes gone off to war, were expected to finish one-two-three in The Associated Press' annual "football zanies," but couldn't oust either Wagar or Jimmy Cain, former University of Washington halfback, but now an official, from top billing.

Cain, donning his referee's uniform before going out on to the field for a Pacific Coast game, commented that "these things certainly shrink nowadays" as he attempted to slip into what he thought was his sweat shirt. It actually was his 22-month-old daughter's missing nightgown.

The 1943 campaign also presented the sight of an Iowa Pre-Flight back going down the field stride for stride with an Iowa State ball carrier and encouraging the collegian in his touchdown run.

Ah, Yes, the Girls

Girls also gained their spots in the football picture with school mistresses taking over coaching jobs; Agnes Rifner of New Castle, Ind., joining her high school team and making various attempts to placekick extra points, and two gorgeous ticket sellers at the College of Pacific allowing a stranger to talk them out of $1,000 each "to take to the office for change."

As though it were planned, the best collection of oddities was unfurled on Nov. 13.

That's the day Billy Andrews, Texas' waterboy, kicked two extra points for Longhorns; Navy defeated Columbia in the absence of both head coaches; North Carolina spilled Pennsylvania as both teams wound up with a minus yardage on forward passing; Elroy Hirsch hobbled off the Michigan bench while Coach Fritz Crisler wasn't looking to win a bet by scoring against Wisconsin, and Illinois lost to Ohio State in the "fifth" quarter.

81-Year-Old Coach Crowned Champion

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP). — Amos Alonzo Stagg, 81 year old coach of the College of the Pacific football team, to-day was named coach of the year in the New York World-Telegram's annual poll.

The veteran mentor, who just concluded his 53rd year in the game, outdistanced all opposition with 55 votes to 20 for Frank Leahy of Notre Dame, the runner-up.

The 1942 winner was Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech.

Final Pro Game

NEW YORK—(AP). — New York Giants and Washington Redskins will meet Sunday in the final game of the National Pro Football League, the Eastern Division championship being involved in the engagement. The ultimate Eastern winner will play Chicago Bears on December 26 at Chicago for the pro title.

Fritzie Zivic To Carry On

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 10 (AP) — Fritzie, last of the five fighting Zivic brothers, told the boxing world today he hasn't the "slightest idea" about retiring now and would keep right on fighting in 1944—"although most of it may be for Uncle Sam's Navy."

The 30-year-old former welterweight champ, who tackles tough Ossie Harris in the 179th bout of his career here Monday, announced he will begin his 14th year in the ring by meeting Jake Lamotta for the fourth time Jan. 14 in Detroit.

(In Detroit, Matchmaker Nick Londes confirmed he had signed Zivic for the bout, but said he hadn't yet closed with Lamotta).

Zivic, who started making money with his fists in 1931, has won once and lost twice to Lamotta. All the decisions, however, were close.

Commenting on his plans, Fritzie said:

"I told them I'd have my best year in 1943—and I am. I think I can have even a bttter year in 1944."

The bout with Harris will be Fritzie's 13th this year, and he said he has another with Steve Mamakos Dec. 22 in Milwaukee. It has been his busiest and most lucrative year in the ring.

Zivic, father of three children, has been called by his draft board for his first physical examination, but he said he did not expect final induction until "late in January or February." He expects to go into the Navy.

Always a fast guy with a word, he snapped:

"And maybe I won't be through fighting then. I'll look up Red Cochrane. I'd like to decide things with him. He beat me once and I beat him. Maybe we can fight for the championship of the fleet."

Cochrane, who lifted Fritzie's title after he won it from Henry Armstrong in 1940, is also in the Navy.

RUSSIANS SHOD

Within a week of the German invasion of Russia, Britain had sent the Soviet 500,000 pairs of boots. Six times that many had been sent by April, 1942, at a cost of 40,000 tons of shipping space.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Dec. 10 — (CP). — Winnipeg's well of hockey talent never seems to run dry and Manitoba officials now accept this miracle without surprise. For example, Winnipeg Rangers won the Canadian junior title last spring, but enlistments and transfers left them with only three members of the title club, Bill Vickers, Joe Peterson, and Ben Juzda. The three turned temperamental and wanted transfers to Winnipeg Monarchs, operating in the same league. Ordinarily loss of three such players would be a knock-out blow, but the Rangers took it in stride. President Art Chipman of Rangers said the club agreed to transfer the three players 'because obviously they wouldn't be much use to us if they are dissatisfied. Anyway we always seem to have replacements. The youngsters may not look good at the start of a season, but by the playoffs competition and coaching have made good men out of them. Hockey players develop fast."

Friday fillets:

Jack Keating, the Kitchener boy who saw service in minor professional hockey, now is an Army sergeant, and is coaching Saint John Beavers, a New Brunswick Army team.....Five years ago a Toronto girl softballer, Bee Burgess, met the coach of a visiting Cleveland girls' team, Carl Fischer. Last week-end they were married here. Fischer now is a U.S. Army private .....Bill Walshe of the Kingston Whig-Standard says Ross Knipfel was given anti-epidemic injections by the Army, and his heart stopped beating for two minutes. Adrenalin revived him, but he was subsequently discharged from the Army as medically unfit. Now he plays for Pittsburg Hornets in the American Hockey League.

Incidentally:

Eddie Wenstob, who came out of Edmonton a few years ago to put a claim on the Canadian lightheavyweight boxing title, now works in Vancouver war industry and may return to the ring there in a scrap between a pugilist and a wrestler.. ..Bobby Hewitson of the Toronto Telegram relays the rumor that Billy Taylor may be discharged from the Army soon and return to his old centre position with Toronto Maple Leafs......Dick Matthews, former sports editor of the Lethbridge Herald, now is an Army lieutenant. He sent Christmas greetings from the Aleutians to Harry (Calgary Albertan) Scott.

Fall River, Mass.—Johnny Carter, 160, Newburgh, N.Y., outpointed Andy Holland, 165, New York (10).

Claims Rosar

BUFFALO — (AP). — Manager Joe McCarthy of the N.Y. Yankees said here he would claim his former catcher, Buddy Rosar of Buffalo, as soon as he saw the latter's name on the waiver list. Rosar played for Cleveland Indians last season after leaving the Yankees in mid-summer of the previous year.

In Exhibition Series

OTTAWA — (CP). — Arrangements have been completed to have Ottawa Commandos of the Quebec Senior Hockey League play a three-game exhibition series against the United States Coastguard Cutters—a former entry in the Eastern U. S. Amateur League—December 28-30, it was learned last night. The first game will be played in Baltimore and possibly the second as well.

Bisons Second By Beating Reds

By The Canadian Press.

Buffalo Bisons moved into second place in the eastern division of the American Hockey League last night by defeating Providence Reds 5-3 for a third straight victory on home ice.

Art Giroux started the scoring for Reds at 4.20 in the first period, but their pace didn't last long. A minute later Eldred Kobussen tied the count for Buffalo. At 14.37 Maxie Bennett tallied to give Bisons the lead.

In the second period Dude Klein added another counter to the score for Bisons. Towards the end of the period Winger Hec Pozzo scored unassisted for Reds.

Early in the third period Stan Kemp evened the count on a pass from Rolland Forget, but Providence slowed down for the remainder of the game. Fred Hunt scored on a pass from Maury Rimstad and a member of the Bisons' kid line—Walter Atanas—drove home the final goal several minutes later.

Cattle Up 25, Calves Steady, Sheep Off 25-50

TORONTO, Dec. 10 — (CP). — Cattle prices were 25 cents higher on slaughter steers and heifers of from medium to choice quality, in trade on the livestock market here this week. Calves were steady to strong, sheep and lambs dropped 25 to 50 cents cwt. and hogs were unchanged.

Better quality steers and heifers were scarce in cattle offerings and the few sold readily at the higher price level. Choice weighty steers sold $12.75 to $13 with the other steers downward to $10.50; butcher steers $10 to $12 and heifers mostly $11.50 down; few boners $6.75 to $8.50; butcher cows $7 to $9 with canners downward to $5.00; bulls $7; light bolognas up to $9.25 for good butchers; fed yearlings $11.75 to $13.50; stockers slow at $7.50 to $10.50 according to quality; good milkers and springers steady $130 to $160 each. About 400 head of plain cattle unsold at close.

Choice veal calves strong $15 to $15.50 with few tops $16; common to medium calves $10 to $14.50 and thin grassers $6.50 to $8.

The lamb run heavy for the season and the general quality below normal. Prices lower with some 900 lambs unsold. Good ewes and wethers were $12.25 to $12.50 with some medium lambs $12; bucks $1 cwt. discount and culls $6 to $8.50, sheep also slow lower at $3 to $7 cwt.

Hogs $17.05 to $17.15 off trucks at the yards and local packing plants. Sows slow $13 dressed and a few late arrivals were unsold.

one prisoner. He came from Hamburg and was brought to this front on Nov. 17. He said that unless the "Vergeltungschlacht" wins for Germany "the Fatherland is lost."

On a visit home a few days ago, he said, he found Hamburg a shambles. Almost all of the city was levelled except for some homes in the suburbs.

Another German said "Germany can last another two years. Germany is one great armament factory and even after those severe air blows the country is only groggy, and will not be beaten in a few months. We have become fatalists. We have lost our homes and our property and have nothing more to lose. So why should we worry about this little bit of life?"

Gestapo Supreme

This young officer explained the German people were so regimented and controlled by the Gestapo there was little chance for a sudden crack in the home front. He said rationing was well handled in Germany so that everyone got at least the minimum on which it was possible to live, which he said was not true in the First Great War.

The prisoners solemnly declared the world would be astounded by the fury of the Germans' war of revenge and quoted their leaders as saying that German factories are busy producing "a new type of six-engined bomber" which carries a tremendous bomb load.

When German troops complained about the absence of their own Air Force, their officers brought them diagrams of what they said was a new twin-engined noiseless bomber.

"But we never see it," the soldiers said.

"Yes, but at night our bombers are over us even though we don't hear them," the officers explained.

Flt. Sgt. Alderson Presumed Dead

FLT. SGT. ERNEST ALDERSON

Word has been received by his wife, formerly Myrtle Cooney of Otonabee, that her husband, Flt. Sgt. Ernest H. Alderson, previously reported missing in July, is now for official purposes presumed to have lost his life in air operations over enemy territory.

Prior to enlisting in March of 1941 he was a farmer and as a boy had trained at Watt's Naval school. Flt. Sgt. Alderson trained at Manning Pool, Jarvis, Trenton and graduated at Mountain View, August 14, 1942. Following this he took an instructor's course at Mont Joli and went overseas in November 1942.

Seeks Soldier Furlough Gets Casualty Report

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 — (AP).— Hopefully, Mrs. Lee Lifschitz, 29, a garment workers, wrote Lt.-Gen. George S. Patton—could he arrange a furlough for her husband, Harry, whom she hadn't seen for more than a year.

That was Sept. 8. Finally Patton replied Oct. 4 that he was sorry, but her husband couldn't be given leave. "The shipping situation is so difficult," he explained.

Mrs. Lifschitz proudly disclosed the general's letter yesterday and said she bet Harry would be "awfully excited" when he learned of it.

A few hours later, she received a telegram. It was from the War Department. Mrs. Lifschitz read:

"Private Harry Lifschitz was killed in action on nine November in Italy."

tured the village of Rosso d'Ovandro, four miles southwest of Mignano, and had driven the enemy from the entire eastern bank of the Garigliano River southward.

According to information here, the Germans were said to be destroying the towns of Torricello, on the centre, and Pescocostanzo, Rivisiondoli and Roccaraso, on the left flank of the 8th Army line.

The advance 5th Army forces captured large quantites of enemy guns and vehicles.

The 5th Army drove the enemy forces from the vicinity of Mignano, making the position of the enemy forces remaining within this prize stronghold highly untenable.

The fall of the village of Rocca D'Evandro also cleared the last nest of Germans from the slopes of Mount Camino. The previous 5th Army drive down the Camino slopes had placed Allied troops to within rifle and mortar range of the town.

The German 15th armored Grenadiers were badly cut up in the fighting on the Mount Camino slopes, it was announced, and the Hermann Goering division was rushed into the line to support it.

the fact that the German air force has gone from the offensive to the defensive."

To counter the air offensive, he said, the Germans have had to concentrate the bulk of their fighter forces in Western Europe, and this—plus the destruction of industrial facilities—has contributed to Russian and Allied Mediterranean successes.

"The number of German fighters has increased in the west from 700 in January to over 1,570 in October," Clifton reports.

Clifton supplied these reports on damage inflicted on some of the major targets of the R.A.F. and the U.S. 8th air force:

Bombing Summary

Essen: Three fourths of the town destroyed, with at least two-thirds of the 200 building of the Krupp Works seriously damaged.

Lorient: Town almost entirely destroyed by April 15, but submarine base protected by its heavy concrete construction, however the submarine base estimated to be working at about 20 per cent efficiency because of lack of utilities.

Dusseldorf: 75 per cent of the city destroyed, 80 per cent of the people homeless, 25,000 killed, and munitions factories damaged.

Emden: 60 per cent of the town and dock area destroyed.

Bremen: Focke - Wulf fighter factory badly damaged, a fifth of the town destroyed.

Lubeck: 40 per cent destroyed, many factories destroyed or heavily damaged.

Rostock: More than 70 per cent destroyed.

U-Boat Base Hit

Kiel: A single raid on May 14 damaged or destroyed almost every building in the Germania yards, which build submarines and destroyers.

Hamburg: All buildings ruined on more than three-fourths of the built-up areas, four main shipyards damaged, 15,000 to 20,000 people killed and 350,000 homeless.

Oberhausen: Railway shops are more than half destroyed.

Cologne: 60 per cent devastated nine factories destroyed, six others almost destroyed, railway property heavily damaged.

Vegeasack: Submarine yard is badly damaged.

Marienburg: Focke - Wulfe factory destroyed in October 9 attack, accounting probably for half of the Focke-Wulf fighter assembly capacity in Germany.

Berlin: Residential and commercial damage widespread. About 250,000 people fled the city early in September, in addition to an estimated 500,00 already temporarily living in the country outside the city.

OBITUARIES

MRS. DAVID BRACKENRIDGE

Mrs. David Brackenridge of Westwood who has been ailing for some time, passed away at her home Thursday in her 68th year. Born in Asphodel, daughter of the late Charles Leitch and Mary Wood, she spent almost her entire life in the township around Westwood. She always took an active interest in the Westwood United Church.

Surviving are her husband, two sons, Clayton and Max of Westwood; a daughter, Mrs. Russell Docoe of Oshawa; two brothers, James of Asphodel and Alexander of Whitby; and two sisters, Mrs. Norman Brackenridge of Millbrook and Mrs. Harry Fife of Otonabee.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. from the family residence with Rev. J. E. Glover of Hastings United Church officiating. Interment will be in Westwood Cemetery.

MRS. DAVID MORRISSEY

DOWNEYVILLE, Dec. 10 (ENS) —Funeral of the late Mrs. David Morrissey was held from the residence of her son Timothy J. Morrissey at 9:30 o'clock to St. Luke's Church where requiem High Mass was said by Rev. Father McFadden assisted by Rev. Father McAuley and Rev. Father Kay both of Lindsay. Rev. Father McFadden in his discourse said what an example the deceased was a wife, mother, neighbor and friend. She was always assisting those in need and lent a helping hand in sickness and where needed. She took an active part in all entertainments of the parish, and up to the last always assisted at church. It was seen by the large numbers who called at the home the high esteem in which she was held.

The prayers at the grave were said by Father McFadden assisted by Fathers McAuley and Kay of Lindsay. The pall-bearers were Messrs. John Perdue, Albert O'Neill, Joseph M. Lucas, James Piggott, Leo Harrington and Charles S. Lucas. Burial was in St. Luke's Cemetery.

The late Mrs. Morrissey was in her 92nd year, was born and lived all her life here in Downeyville with the exception of a few years spent in Lindsay. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas and was loved and esteemed by all who knew her.

She is survived by one daughter Mrs. John O'Reilly (Amelia) of Lindsay, two sons Timothy J. and Thomas, both of Downeyville also one brother, Thomas Lucas, and 31 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren. The sympathy of the community is extended to the family in their huor of sorrow.

MRS. MARY LEAHY

Mrs. Mary Leahy, who has been ailing for some time, passed away at her home, Lot 9, Concession 9, Douro, Tuesday morning, in her 85th year. Daughter of the late Rodger Maloney and Bridget Crowley, she was born in Douro and lived there all her life. The late Mrs. Leahy was a member of the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

Surviving are seven sons, Joseph of Edmonton; Bart at home; John of Douro; Rodger and Leo of Vancouver; and Frank and Thomas of Detroit; and two daughters, Miss Mary Leahy at home, and Mrs. Vincent Murphy of Ennismore. Her husband, Bartholomew Leahy and one son, Vincent, predeceased her.

The funeral will be held from the residence at 9:30 Saturday morning to the Church of the Immaculate Conception where Requiem Mass will be offered at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

any considerable Russian forces or divert the Red Army high command from launching offensives elsewhere.

Reports from the Russian front said the Germans were rushing tank and infantry reserves to the Ukraine from Germany, the Netherlands, Poland and even Italy in a supreme effort to relieve pressure on the Axis lines in White Russia and the Dnieper Bend.

Less than 200 miles to the southeast inside the Dnieper River loop, Soviet columns from Gen. Rodion Malinovsky's army captured 15 towns in a continuation of their advance on Kirivograd. Among these was the rail station of Mederovo, less than 18 miles from Kirovograd on the already severed Znamekna-Nikolaev railway.

Mederovo is 10 miles south of the German-held rail junction town of Znamenka, now reported almost completely encircled by Red Army troops.

Pushing southward in the direction of Kirovoi Rog, other Russian units stormed into the town of Spassovo to threaten that important mining centre and the thousands of Germans deployed west of the Dnieper in that area.

Fire Destroys Algonquin Tower

ALGONQUIN PARK, Dec. 10 — —An Ontario landmark, the wooden watertower which supplied Highland Inn, caught fire and was destroyed yesterday.

The tower, 80 feet high, contained thousands of gallons of water. The fire evidently broke out in the heating equipment which is used to prevent pipes from freezing in the wintertime, and spread through the understructure of the tank, which then collapsed.

Electrical equipment which supplied the hotel and the headquarters building of the Ontario Forestry Branch near by, was destroyed in the blaze and last night emergency equipment of the Forestry Branch was brought into action to provide electricity.

"We've no idea how the fire started," said James Taylor, acting superintendent of the park. "I imagine, though, it may have been through some of the heating equipment which prevents the pipes from freezing in the wintertime. The fire swept through the understructure and so weakened it that finally the big tank slowly collapsed. There's nothing left of it now but a pile of rubbish."

The hotel and tank are operated by E. W. Paget, who is resident in the park now. It is understood it is planned to instal a new pressure water system. The hotel and tower are on the shores of Cache Lake.

MANY CASES ON DOCKET

Thirteen cases were on the docket at Campbellford this afternoon when Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., held his weekly police court session. Several of them involved serious charges and the docket was an unusually heavy one.

PROUD MOMENT

Flt. Lieut. Thomas Pryde, who visits Peterborough in charge of the R.C.A.F. mobile recruiting unit, is in Crumlin today to see his son, Ray Pryde, get his wings. In addition he has two other sons in the Air Force. LAC. Jack Pryde is stationed at Fingal and AC2 Douglas Pryde is still at Manning Depot.

HOLD OUT HOPE

Trooper William S. McLachlan of Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McLachlan of Cannington, who was listed killed in action September 19, is now reported to be wounded, missing and probably a prisoner of war, according to information received by his parents who are awaiting confirmation.

DELAYED FOR WEEK

Two charges against Harry Little of Havelock, one of drunk driving and the other of driving while his license was suspended, could not proceed in police court this morning because o the absence of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., at the General Sessions. Little, who is being defended by T. J. Carley. K.C., was remanded for a week on the same bail of $500.

WANTON DAMAGE.

Several acts of wanton damage have been reported to the police from the Queen Mary School section. Mrs. Stanley Northrop has reported that on Wednesday night a large vase valued at $10 was broken at her residence, 452 Monaghan Road, and on the same night a window was broken in the office of Principal O. M. Steer of Queen Mary School. A week previous when one of the windows had been left up some one reached inside and pulled the blind loose from its moorings.

NOTICE

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Friday evening, at 8 o'clock. All interested are requested to be present.

KEPT IN TOUCH

LAC. E N. Hall, R.A.E., who is attached to the Middle East Forces. wrote the Board of Education acknowledging receipt of the anniversary paper on Dr. Kenner, sent to ex-students overseas.

SAILOR ARRESTED

A Peterborough sailor wanted for being absent without leave from his ship was arrested here Thursday by Sergt. W. E. Wigg and Constable Gordon Trennum. He was turned over to a naval escort who took him to Toronto this morning.

BOOKS IN USE

About 1,511 books are circulating in the Collegiate library, C. S. Browne, principal of the Collegiate told the Board of Education Thursday night. He said that this would increase with the addition of attractive editions.

SECOND TRIP

For the second time within two days the Fire Department answered a call at the Charlbond Apartments on Charlotte street at 7.34 this morning for a chimney fire. There was no damage. The first call was received for a defective stoker.

YOUNG JITTERBUGS.

On the whole Peterborough's young people have not gone in very strong for the jitterbug variety of dancing but the cutting-the-rug brand has broken out to some extent at recent dances to an extent that resulted in the management asking for police assistance in dealing with the offenders. At one public dance this week, according to the police report, a young couple were jitterbugging with so much gusto that they had to be requested to leave. A mild variety is not objected to, dance managers say, but the line has to be drawn somewhere.

52 Days Spent In Open Boat

Mrs. Margaret Hope Maberly Gordon, cousin of Mrs. Darley-Bentley of Peterborough, has been awarded the British Empire Medal by the King for the courage she displayed when her ship was torpedoed and she drifted for 52 days in an open boat.

Her husband, who had been a civil engineer in India, was lost when the ship was torpedoed off the South African coast by an enemy submarine, and Mrs. Gordon, who is an Australian, eventually landed in Brazil after a gruelling trip.

The citation said that Mrs. Gordon left a torpedoed vessel in a lifeboat commanded by Third Officer James Whyte, and endured "great sufferings and hardships." She and Whyte were the only survivors when the boat was picked up at sea.

"Mrs. Gordon showed exceptional qualities of fortitude and endurance," the citation read. "When the occupants of the boat died, one by one, she did all in her power to allay the sufferings. Towards the end of the voyage she kept watch with the third officer in sailing and steering.

Eric Douglas Commissioned

A former Peterborough boy who remustered to air crew last spring won his wings as a navigator at Stratford on Thursday December 9, and with them a commission as pilot officer.

He is Eric Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Douglas, whose parents now live at Atwood, and his father is a traveller for the DeLaval Company.

Pilot Officer Douglas was educated at the Peterborough Business College and Peterborough Collegiate and was employed in the accounting department of the Canadian General Electric Company in Peterborough. He enlisted in the army and took his basic training at the Peterborough Training Centre. Later he transferred to the airforce and was sergeant paymaster at Fingal, Bombing and Gunnery School. Early in the spring of 1943 he decided to remuster and his rapid application and ability brought him the coveted wings and commission this month. He will act as instructor of air navigation for the time being at a Canadian post.

While in Peterborough he was very active in the young people's groups at St. James United Church and was a member of a debating team. He is married to Dorian Elliott of Peterborough and they live now in Stratford.

Obituary

GEORGE CARPENTER.

A resident of Peterborough for 65 years, George Carpenter, 533 Armour Road, passed away Thursday evening in his 83rd year. He had been ailing for about three years since the death of his wife, Alice Courtney.

Born in Lonbridge, Deverill, England, he settled here upon his arrival in Canada. For more than 35 years he was an employee of the Curtis Brothers, and was a faithful member of St. Luke's Anglican Church and a former warden. Mr. Carpenter also belonged to the Sons of England and the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Left to mourn his loss are one daughter, Miss Winnifred Carpenter of Toronto, one son Bryer C. Carpenter of Kinsella, Alta., and five grandchildren.

The remains are resting at the Belleghem Funeral Home until Monday noon, when they will be moved to St. Luke's Church for service at 2 p.m Rev. George Bousfield will officiate and interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Board Approves Recommended Staff Changes

Because there are so many members of the teachings staff on leave of absence and a shortage of adequate supply teachers, the prolonged illness of Mr. E. Frost, vice principal of Queen Alexandra school, has led the Board of Education to arrange a transfer of teachers to be in force for the next six-month period, at a meeting held Thursday night.

Because a man is needed as acting principal who is experienced in the city teaching methods and who can take an active interest in sports, it was decided to move Donald Munro the vice principal from Central school to Queen Alexandra where his experience with normal students would be a decided asset.

This necessitated a further move of staff members and George Ball of King George school, was chosen to fill in as acting vice principal at Central school for the next six months and Mrs. C. Simpson will take over at King George. Any further rearranging will be left until after the early part of the new year when some of the teachers on leave may return. Salary will be according to schedule until June 30, 1944, when their period will be up.

Too Many Pupils

Inspector K. Wightman also pointed out that he did not think the new Wartime Housing School would be ready to open January 1, although it is expected to be ready shortly after, and that the proposed annexation brings the possibilty of several problems: If the school is not open, then there will be no outlet to accommodate the pupils from Queen Mary and Prince of Wales schools who would made room for new children coming in. It was moved by T. J. Carley and G. W. Craw that Inspector Wightman and the board's solicitor attend the meetings of the Municipal Board held regarding the annexation of parts of North Monaghan.

A request was also received from Inspector Wightman on behalf of himself and F. S. Revoy asking a larger car allowance, since it has been found that the Board's employees have been going in the red with the amount of $100 per year, when they travel between 250 and 400 miles monthly. It was moved by Mr. Carley and by Mr. Craw that the allowance of $100 be paid to all employees of the Board using cars in its service in 1943 and that the request for a further allowance be made to the incoming board. Another motion was proposed by D. V. Canning that a recommendation be given to the 1944 board that those driving cars in the service of the board be allowed six cents a mile to be paid monthly, and requesting a detailed monthly report. This was seconded by Fred Reed and passed.

Serious Accident

The first serious accident in the machine shops at the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School in 15 years was announced by C. S. Browne, principal. Robert Peltz was working on a power driven saw with the guard down, against instructions, and the finger of his left hand was cut off at the first joint and three other fingers injured. It was decided to ask W. Brooks, safety man for the district to check regularly on the school machinery when he makes his visits to Peterborough industries and to have him report back.

Student Rules

The Collegiate principal reported that there had been some misunderstandings with people renting the auditorium, who felt that without making any arrangements they could walk in and take over all the property effects, which had been largely purchased by the students of the school. He said that the Student organization had set up certain rules and a committee to deal with stage properties and that teachers felt bound to obey them.

Requests made at the last minute made it almost impossible for F. E. Johnston, teacher to locate the committee and get their approval and he has been subjected to considerable abuse, Mr. Browne declared. The students in most of the cases would have no objection to the equipment being used, but insist upon being consulted first. The matter was referred to the the Supervision committee, for a study of the existing regulations and to try for a more suitable plan for the students to consider and incorporate in their new constitution which is being drafted.

A letter was received from J. E. R. Munro requesting raises in salary for the Public School principals and the request was referred to the 1944 Board, along with one from the janitors asking for larger wages. Fred Finnie who has been maintenance manager for the Board for eight years, also wanted a raise and it was left over to the new year.

Two teachers submitted requests for a further leave of absence. Miss Miriam L. Richardson asked to have her period extended to February 1 and Miss Esther Deyell asked for a further six months. Both were granted.

Clergyman Dies

TORONTO, Dec. 10. — (CP).— Word was received yesterday of the death of Rev. Albert E. Stephenson, 73, at his home in New Westminster, B.C. A native of St. Thomas, Ont., he was a retired United church minister. He attended Albert College, Belleville, Ont., and received his university education in British Columbia. Before moving to Western Canada he lived for some years at Aurora, Ont.

ARRIVES OVERSEAS — Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon R. Langley, 239 Burnham Street, of the safe arrival overseas of their son, Capt. John G. Langley, of the Royal Canadian Artillery. Before leaving Canada Capt. Langley was attached to the Pacific command for some time.

D. G. H. Melton Is Retiring From School Board

In a surprise announcement at the close of the Board of Education meeting Thursday night, D. G. H. Melton, who has been a member of the Board for eight years and chairman in 1940-1941, declared that he was withdrawing from the lists and would not seek re-election.

Among members of the Board, Mr. Melton has beeen noted for his interest in health activities and in reporting his stand, he advanced a few suggestions to be given consideration by future boards. He pointed out that at the present time the health service provided is operating under a part time doctor and he felt the service should be extended to the high school and that a full time medical officer should be employed and the expense would be justified by the improved health of the students.

D. G. H. MELTON

Continuing Mr. Melton stressed the importance of X-ray examinations for tuberculosis and suggested the Board should consider a portable machine, arranging to contribute part of the cost. The main object in the purchase is to arrest in the early stages the spread of the disease. Mr. Melton also advocated more fluorescent lighting in the schools and more interest in field and track sports with competitions between the public schools.

After his announcement, some of his fellow members paid tribute to the work he has done during his service. Mrs. Morris asserted that Mr. Melton always put first things first and never let himself get lost in administrative details, to the extent of forgetting human interests. Mr. Carley lauded him for the work he has done in the past four years and said that the new accounting system was due to Mr. Melton alone.

Organize Farmers

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 10—(CP).— Alex McKinney of Brampton, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, yesterday told the annual meeting of the Middlesex branch of the Federation that farmers must organize to meet "industry, labor and other forces on equal terms."

A Blind Builder

NEW WATERFORD, N.S., Dec. 10—(CP). — Watchers hold their breath as Paddy Delaney makes his way over a high scaffold or crawls over the roof of the building he is putting up on this town's main street.

For Paddy, building his own home with a store attached, is blind. A miner all his life, he lost his sight a few years ago.

The structure, started about a month ago, now is nearing completion.

Sincerity Works To Benefit Of War Victims

Most people who love the better things of life can be depended upon to take more than a passing interest in any venture that has the welfare of humanity at heart, and particularly when one of its objects is to relieve the distress of those whom misfortune has afflicted.

In giving leadership to any activity of this nature, one of the things that will help ensure its success is a sincerity of purpose which recognizes that those responsible for any appeal thus made, will themselves do what they are asking their fellow citizens to do.

Thus it was that when the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund first came into being, a small committee was formed to conform with the laws of registration, which there and then decided that one hundred per cent of the funds so raised should be sent to Britain without any deductions whatever, and that all services of operation and the incidential expenses without which no fund can operate, should be taken care of among themselves as a contribution to the cause.

This principle as laid down at that time has been rigidly adhered to ever since, which now stretches back over the past three years, and this daily report of the fund's activities written by the secretary has appeared in every issue of this paper since that time without the slightest cost to the fund in any shape or form.

At the moment, the fund is engaged in raising another special gift for Christmas, which includes a separate contribution for the Christmas Cheer Fund, both of them being to provide something extra for those who have sufered through air raid attacks over Britain, the latter being particularly for children who have lost their homes and in many instances one or both of their parents.

To-days list of receipts wholly concerns those who are actively behind the fund and thus wish that the objective be fully realized and as such wish to have a share personally in the part this city and district will again play in giving aid to both children and grown ups whom the misfortune of war have so afflicted. The proceeds of a collection taken at a recent students recital held in St. John's church Parish Hall are included, as it was brought about through one of the members of the committee.

Nearly $3,000. Needed

To advise everyone that there is still a long way to go in a short time, it should be stated that close to $3,000. is still needed, if the fund is to duplicate what was sent to the Lord Mayor of London last year at this time in the name of the residents of this city and district.

With a splendid record of achievement behind them in this respect which has so far been responsible for £14,100, or over $63,000 in Canadian currency being sent to help them, it is confidently anticipated that all will rise to the ocassion, so that the bombed out victims in Britain will again have something a little extra for the blessed season of Christmas.

Saturdays Markets

This Saturday will again see the Fairview War Workers Group in action, this time specially for the Children's Christmas Cheer fund at the stall on the market, when they will offer a variety of produce donated by themselves among which homemade cooking will predominate and with memories of their latest effort so successfully staged a few weeks ago in mind, there will undoubtedly be quite a demand for their offerings.

In addition to this, the Echo Club headed by Mrs. G. Worboy will have tickets for sale at another stand, for a draw on a quilt made by the members themselves, the proceeds of which are also for the Christmas Funds.

Go After Airport

KITCHENER, Dec. 10 — (CP)— At a meeting termed "the first of its kind in Canada," representatives from cities, towns and villages in Waterloo and Wellington Counties voted unanimously last night to take the first step toward establishing an airport to serve district communities whose population totals approximately 125,000. It was decided a representative committee should be appointed to examine the project.

TO FIGHT IN ITALY—Bdr. John Moore, R.C.A., has arrived in Italy according to word received by his wife, who lives at 218 Stewart Street. He has been overseas for two years, and worked at Bath, near Kingston, before enlisting three years ago.

Overseas Mail Bulges Postal Depots

Because the Christmas mail for the armed forces overseas during October and the first two weeks of November showed an increase of 41 per cent. over the volume of 1942, postal services are prepared fo ran even greater increase in the Christhas mail in Canada

Across the country post office branches are following the plan being carried out by Charles Lacheur here of making preparations to handle it satisfactorily. High school boys and university students will be among the 15,000 extra helpers the post office will be using.

The crisis can only be met by mailing early, Mr. Lacheur said. All material for local delivery should be in before December 20 and out of town cards before that. Ordinarily mail has expanded to record proportions and with the increased greetings and the shortage of transportation facilities and skilled help, only the co-operation of the public can ensure delivery by Christmas.

If the people of Peterborough will follow the list of mailing dates it will allow the staff an increased opportunity to handle it and to make delivery on time, for delayed Christmas greetings are unpopular and that is bound to happen if everything is dumped at the last minute, he said.

The deadline for delivery in the United States means that cards and packages should have been in today and the next one will be December 15, for the delivery to British Columbia. Cards tied up in bundles, one for out of town and one for local delivery, can be handled in at any wicket in the post office and it will be filed away and not sent out until the proper time to ensure delivery.

Bracken On Air

HAMILTON, Dec. 10.—(CP).—Orville M. Walsh, K.C., of Hamilton Progressive Conservative Association, said yesterday an address by John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader, on the first anniversary of his assumption of party leadership, will be broadcast this evening over a local radio station (CHML). Originally scheduled for the Canadian Broadcasting Coropration network, local arrangements were made for the Hamilton address when the CBC denied Mr. Bracken time on the air.

Children's Teeth Improved Dentist Reports

A general improvement in the oral health of the boys and girls who are attending the Peterborough Public school was reported by the school dental officer, Dr. S. J. Graham at the meeting of the Board of Education on Thursday night. Dr. Graham has just completed his annual survey of the six public schools and from this he found that 35 per cent. of the children had teeth in perfect condition and of the remaining 65 per cent. a fair number had only two or three minor tooth defects. Dr. Graham also reported that during the survey he carried out a program of dental health education in each school.

Miss Margaret Westbye, secretary at the Collegiate Institute, reported a total of 16 days' absence on the part of five teachers during the month for illness and other causes; while Inspector Wightman reported 78½ days by 15 teachers in the public schools.

During the month war saving stamps to the total of $1,079.50 were sold in the public schools.

Attendance in the public schools was down somewhat on account of so much sickness with 7,886 days being lost by the 2,920 pupils. In the attendance record the following averages were reported: Queen Alexandra 91.10 per cent; King Edward 90.18 per cent.; Queen Mary 89.09 per cent; Prince of Wales 88.85 per cent.; King George 85.01 per cent., and Central 82.95 per cent.

F. R. Revoy, the attendance officer, reported 240 calls during the month, finding 19 absent through illness, 16 absent for home help. Two truants were punished by their parents and four parents were cautioned. One pupil in public school was granted an employment certificate and one in the Collegiate, while two boys and three girls moving into the city with their parents were granted permits.

Attendance at the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School remains fairly even in spite of the flu for during the month the average attendance of academic pupils was 92.65 per cent and for the Vocational 92.45 per cent. The combined average was 92.58 per cent.

The school nurses reported that they made 561 classroom inspections, had 83 minor accidents and dressings. and made 200 home visits during November. The Medical Officer said he had given 65 complete physical examinations and 31 special examinations.

Arthur Lewis Heads Kinsmen

Arthur Lewis was made president of the Kinsmen Club for the New Year at the election of officers held by the club members at the Kawartha Thursday night when there was a better than average attendance.

The new officers include: Howard Shimer as vice-president; Ford Warren, treasurer; James Archibald, secretary; Stuart Munro, registrar; and William Osborne, Arnold Shallhorn and James Elliott, as directors.

Five new candidates, Arthur Smith, Norman Giles, Ross Latimer, James King and John Nornabell were initiated into the club, and the founder of Kinsmen, Hal Rogers, spoke to the new members on the meaning of Kinsmenship and the importance of the Milk for Britain effort.

Fewer Discharged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—(AP).— The United States Army has revised its discharge policy to prohibit the release of a man for physical reasons "when he may well render adequate service in a less exacting assignment." Announcing this, the War Department said that a steadily increasing discharge rate, based on physical grounds, had become a matter of concern.

ON FIGHTING FRONT—Gnr. R. C. Smith of Cobourg, whose wife and son are now residing at 223 Dublin Street, Peterborough, has arrived in Italy. He enlisted in July, 1940, and went overseas in 1941. He was formerly employed as a butcher by W. J. Maher of Cobourg. Word has just been received too that his youngest brother, Gnr. Clarence Smith, who went overseas in July, has arrived in Italy. Two other brothers, Bdr. William and Tpr. Edward Smith, are in England.

Prisoner Admits Implication In Few Holdups

"I was implicated in a few holdups" admitted John Jasper nonchalantly in police court this morning while Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., was examining his record.

Jasper, who said that he was born in Peterborough, but that his family had left here when he was only a few years old, had been on remand for the past week after pleading guilty to a charge of vagrancy.

His record showed a number of convictions in Philadelphia, Pa., and indicated that ten years ago he had been sentenced to from 20 to 60 years on a charge of armed robbery. He served only one year of that sentence and then was deported to Canada.

Jasper admitted in answer to a question from the magistrate that he had been in a mental institution for some time in the United States and that he was convicted here early in the year on a vagrancy charge and sentenced to fifteen days.

"I hardly know what to do with this man" said Magistrate Langley. Then he announced that Jasper would be sentenced to a month's imprisonment in the county jail. His Worship advised the police that they communicate with the Immigration Department in regard to the accused.

MASSEY-HARRIS VARIETY SHOW

"COMBINES OF 1944"

AND THE

Kinsmen Club of Peterborough

Sincerely Thank the Commanding Officer of

"MEET THE NAVY" SHOW

For the co-operation extended in arranging a postponement of the showing of its Stage Revue. "Combines of 1944" begin a tour of the Maritime Army centres immediately after the New Year and upon completion leave for Western Canada Training Depots—thus a postponement to Peterborough could not be arranged in their itinerary.

Both shows are first class entertainment and such confliction of dates would be detrimental to each.

"Meet the Navy" will definitely play Peterborough after the New Year and Kinsmen suggest all should see this revue.

"Combines of 1944" will play at the Brock St. Summer Gardens, Friday night, Dec. 17th, at 8 p.m. and we would like to see you there also.

Canucks Enhance Their Prestige As Fighting Men

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Dec. 10 — (CP). — The year 1943 saw soldiers of Canada's overseas army take their place in the Allied battle line and campaign from summer to winter along dust-choked roads of Sicily and muddy mountain passes of Italy.

It has been a year of triumph for the 1st Canadian Infantry Division and the 1st Canadian Army Tank Brigade — two formations which sailed in the tremendous invasion armada which struck at Sicily in the dawn hours of July 10.

These Canadians, joining the 8th Army and making a detour on the road to Berlin by first taking the road to Rome, proved their fighting ability beyond all question in bitter battle in central Sicily and up the spine of Italy. They proved, too, in the long grinds through the mountains that they had Spartan endurance and could meet the tests of heart-breaking campaigns.

In November a large contingent, evidently including another division, arrived in Italy to join the Canadians there and a Canadian Corps was formed.

The performance of these troops won the confidence and praise of veteran British soldiers and Americans who knew the trials that faced formations going into the line for the first time after a long period of training. In the central Mediterranean theatre, Generals Dwight D. Eisenhower, Sir Harold Alexander, and Sir Bernard Montgomery all had encouraging words for the Canadians. They liked them for the way they carried out their battle tasks.

Had Good Training.

For Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton the performance of his Canadian formations provided abundant evidence that the training in England had been properly directed and carried out. Careful planning, shrewd forecasting and good leadership in this training found its reward in successes in hard battles like Leanforte, Agira, and Nissoria and in overwhelmingly successful combined operations landings at Pachino and Reggio.

The Sicilian campaign gave a Canadian major-general, Guy Granville Simonds, his big opportunity and the commander of the "Red Patch" Division emerged as one of the outstanding divisional leaders of the campaign.

The Canadian formations went through intensive training and preparations for the Sicilian campaign during the spring. Maj.-Gen. Harry Salmon was commanding the division then and was to take it to the Mediterranean, but he was killed in an air crash while flying out to Algiers. Simonds succeeded him.

Large landing manoeuvres were carried out in Scotland during June in the final phase of training and in late June the expedition sailed with all its vehicles and equipment.

Massed Off Sicily.

Meanwhile an American infantry division, the 45th, sailed from New York for this long-range combined operation and British and American divisions were massing on the North African shore.

Several submarine attacks were the only thing that marred the voyage of the Canadians. On July 8-9 the various convoys met in the Tunis-Malta-Tripoli triangle and 2,500 ships and craft carrying the 8th and 7th Armies got into position for the night run to Pachino Peninsula and Gela

From the start the Canadians had one success after another. For 30 days, from a practically-unopposed landing on July 10 until Aug. 7, they were constantly on the move, thrusting to Enna in central Sicily and then eastward to Mount Enna. They played the role the New Zealanders had in the desert—the "left hook" of the 8th Army.

Then, having made their valiant contribution to victory in Sicily, they were taken out of the line to rest—and prepare for Italy. In the early morning of Sept. 3 the Canadians crossed the Messina straits, landing on beaches just north of Reggio. This was the invasion of Europe, achieved by the Canadian division and a British division with the support of 400 guns on the Sicilian shore.

The initial landing was a magnificent piece of deception which fooled the enemy completely. If the Germans had known there were only two divisions going in, they might have stayed in Calabria to fight.

Germans Pulled Out

There were two German divisions in the toe of Italy, but they pulled out rapidly ahead of the Canadian-British advance through the mountains. Demolitions covered the retreat and they got away to southern and central Italy practically intact.

As the two leading divisions of the 8th Army pushed northeast into Italy, the 5th British - American army landed at Salerno Bay. It was an opposed landing and for days the decision hung in the balance. For a while it seemed the Germans would break through the bridgehead and throw the Allied force back into the sea. But the 8th Army was coming up fast. The 5th hung on determinedly and fought back yard by yard around Salerno Bay. Then the Canadians struck rapidly to Potenza, east of Salerno to relieve the 5th Army. British troops came up from Calabria too. Other British formations landed and pressed north from Taranto. Salerno Bay was saved and the 5th began its own advance to capture Naples.

The Canadians' part in this southern Italian campaign was considerable. They didn't fight any large actions but their skilful manoeuvre and rapid progress was a major consideration in the success of the operations in the south.

As the two armies slowly attacked north towards Rome, the Canadians remained in the central sector of the line, advancing through some of the worst terrain in Italy. They had become experienced frontline soldiers in six months' fighting.

Groups of Canadian officers and non-commissioned officers went out from England to serve attachments with the division and the tank brigade for experience. Others from the Mediterranean force returned to England to use their battle experience there.

Gained Experience

Prelude to Sicily and Italy for several hundred officers and non-commissioned officers was Tunisia. Last winter groups went to North Africa to serve with the 1st British Army and many saw hard fighting with the 78th Infantry Division and the 6th Armored Division which were in the line then. They gained valuable battle background.

During 1943 the major portion of the 1st Canadian Army remained in England, continuing its training, working out advanced military ideas and going through final adjustments before it campaigned. Army headquarters and Second Corps headquarters were built up. The army shared in the big manoeuvres in the spring and during the summer infantry and armored divisions speed up advanced training. One infantry division concentrated on combined operations and coastal assault.

A number of staff changes were made during the year. When Simonds took over the 1st Division, Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns was promoted from brigadier to command another infantry division. In August General McNaughton visited the Canadians in Sicily.

PREMIER STALIN KISSES SWORD—In an impressive ceremony held in the Russian Embassy at Teheran, Iran, Prime Minister Winston Churchill presented the sword of Stalingrad to Premier Josef Stalin of Russia in acknowledgment of the Russian people's heroic stand at that city. Stalin here kisses the red sheath of the blade. At LEFT, with back to camera, is Prime Minister Churchill. At Stalin's LEFT side stands Foreign Commissar Vyecheslav Molotov. Friction Looms In B.C. With Mennonites

VANCOUVER, Dec. 9 — (CP).— A situation "not yet serious but potentially dangerous" exists between Mennonite and Anglo-Saxon Canadians in the Fraser Valley farming district southeast of here, the Vancouver News-Herold said yesterday in a story by Alan Morley.

Morley, investigating reports of friction between the two groups said 'the English-speaking element patroitic, co-operative among themselves, proud of the Canadian way of life, object to the Mennonite religious scruples against military service, to their use of the German language and to their purchases of land. They also appear, however, to be unduly suspicious, inclined to take rumors as proven facts, and to be more than a little jealous of the Mennonites' success as farmers."

In his tour of the district "two specific anonymous threats of burning the homes of opponents of the Mennonites were mentioned to me," Morley said. "In one case the home burned the night the threat was received. In the threat nothing has happened so far. The man who received it believes the threat is genuine . . . but thinks it not the work of the Mennonite community as a whole but of some hot-head or fanatic."

"A Cap For A Jap" Cronin Tells Fliers

BOSTON, Dec. 10 — (AP).— A new cap for a Jap — that is the deal that manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox has entered into with 40 United States pilots "somewhere in the Pacific."

When Cronin heard that every one of the pilots promised to get a Japanese for a Red Sox cap, the Sox manager agreed.

"We've had requests for caps from many units," said Joe.

"Naturally we can't fill of them, but this one, from out there in the Pacific, just will have to be filled somehow, and the 40 caps will be on their way soon."

LUCKY HE'S ALIVE—Pilot Officer George Graham of Saskatoon, Sask., who is home on leave. Forced to bail out of his Halifax bomber at 10,000 feet after it was crippled in a dogfight over occupied Europe, he managed to reach Gibraltar after much adventure. Graham is a member of the "Caterpillar Club" and has won the "Order of the Boot," for walking home through enemy territory.

80,000 Barges

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP).— The United States Navy disclosed yesterday its construction program calls for 80,000 landing craft of all types of which about 25,000 have been completed. The program is expected to cost between $5,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000.

Prayers For Peace

LONDON, Dec. 10 (CP). —Pope Pius, in a prayer for peace yesterday in celebration of the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, asked for a "peace for our souls...peace that we might lay down arms." The broadcast by the Vatican radio was recorded by the Ministry of Information.

Says Canadians Replace Imperial Unit

LONDON, Dec. 10—(CP Cable). —Karl Praegner, D.N.B. war correspondent at the German Italian front, said to-daf that the Canadian 1st Division has replaced the British 78th Division on the British 8th Army's sector of the Italian front.

His dispatch, which lacked confirmation, was broadcast and recorded by Reuters News Agency.

Last word of the 78th was that it had established a bridgehead early this month across the Sangro River near Archi, some 10 miles from the Adriatic coast. The Canadian 1st Division was last reported carrying out patrol operations at the headwaters of the Sangro in the Apennine Mountains, about 20 miles south-west of Archi.

5,023 Soldiers Killed In Italy

LONDON, Dec. 10 (CP). —The British-American Allies have lost 5,023 men killed and 16,800 wounded in the fighting in Italy, latest casualty figures showed last night.

British casualties in Italy from the invasion on September 3 to November 23 were 3,212 killed, 9,709 wounded and 3,153 missing, the War Office announced. Separate Canadian casualties were not given.

War Secretary Henry Stimson announced last week in Washington that American units of the 5th Army had lost 1,811 killed, 7,901 wounded and 2,670 missing since the beginning of operations on the Italian mainland.

Missionary Prisoner 2 Years At Kong Hong Reads Own Obituary On Arrival Home

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 10 (CP). —Miss Henrietta Wilson, London missionary who arrived here last night after nearly two years in Japanese-held Hong Kong, is now a full-fledged member of the society of those who have read their own obituary—18 months after her "death" in fact.

Owing to mistake in names when a Miss Williams died in the internment camp, the Japanese reported Miss Wilson as "deceased" in May, 1942, and it was not until the next September the truth was learned.

Meantime, however, the obituary had been published and memorial services were conducted in the church she had attended. A reporter meeting the train had the "obit" on hand for her to read.

9 Nazi Cities Devastated

LONDON, Dec. 10 (CP).— One-fourth of the total area of German cities which have been pounded by Allied bombs has been reduced to sheer devastation, says Air Vice-Marshal R.H.M.S. Saundby, deputy chief of the R.A.F. Bomber Command.

Saying that millions of buildings have been smashed and that modern life no longer is possible in Hamburg, Duesseldorf, Cologne and other great productions centres, Saundby told a gathering at the Royal United Service Institution yesterday that few of Germany's cities, except those in the extreme east and southeast, have not been attacked.

He declared that of the 17 major northwest German cities blasted, nine were so severely shattered that they now were liabilities, not assets, to the Nazis.

Saundby said that since the inception of the path-finder bombing method, such industrial towns as Barmen, Wuppertal, Elberfeld, Krefeld and others had been virtually destroyed, with their plants, gas works—everything—in single, concentrated attacks.

Describing the great scope of the recent attacks on Germany, Saundby said they had reached the terrific rate of 120 tons per square mile per hour—80 times the intensity of the heaviest Nazi raid on London.

Porpoises Save Sailors On Raft

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10 (AP).—Two members of the United States Navy's armed guard to-day credited two friendly, fighting porpoises with probably saving their lives while they were adrift for 44 days last July.

The men, Edgar A. Weihe and Lonnie Whitis, were members of the navy gun crew aboard a merchantman torpedoed in the Indian ocean. They managed to get aboard a large life raft which was well provisioned, they said. One day a herd of six whales sighted the raft.

"They formed a line and came rushing at us," Weihe said. "They all sprayed water over us and the waves they raised rocked the raft so much we could hardly hold on.' Two porpoises appeared and engaged the whales in fierce combat before driving them off.

Right Approach

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 10 —(AP).—Detectives were a bit surprised when six-year-old Ronald Steel arrived with a ticket for jay-walking. Neighbours Honor Mr. and Mrs. Emery

LIFFORD LINE, Dec. 10 (ENS) —A large number of friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Emery met in Lifford Community Hall to honor them on the occasion of their recent marriage in Lindsay. Before her marriage, Mrs. Emery was Miss Forman, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Forman of Lindsay.

Round and square dancing was enjoyed and the newly-weds were presented with a secretary desk and a handsome clock. Lunch was served by the committee in charge.

Personals

The many friends of Norman Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilson are sorry to know that he is a patient in a Peterborough hospital, after receiving a severe kick from a cow while tending the herd in the home stable. Following an X-ray examination it was learned that a lower limb was broken and he was moved to the hospital for a six-week stay.

A few from Lifford motored to Lindsay Tuesday morning to give blood at the Blood Donor's Clinic.

Friends of Mr. Edward Weatherilt are sorry to learn that he has been confined to bed for the past week with a heart condition.

A number of the farmers in this locality have sold surplus straw stacks. A group of travelling straw balers bring the necessary equipment to the barn yard, bale at the rate of one bale per minute, and when finished have the pile removed by truck.

Present Cub Flag

The Mothers' Auxiliary of the Sacred Heart 4th Peterborough Scout Group met in the Scout Hall recently, for the December meeting. A special feature of the evening was the presentation, made by Mrs. Freeman, vice-president of the Auxiliary, of a new Cub flag to the Cub pack. Miss Eleanor Grady and Jack Kenneally extended thanks to the mothers on behalf of the Cubs. The winner of the lovely quilt on which the Mothers' Auxiliary had been selling tickets, was Mrs. H. B. Smith, 228 Perry Street. The next social evening will be held January 18, at the home of Mrs. A. O'Grady, 138 Perry Street.

St. Peter's C.W.L. Hold Bazaar In Lyceum Hall

St. Peter's Catholic Women's League held a most successful Christmas fair in St. Alphonsus Lyceum, Thursday afternoon and evening, and the gaily decorated booths were filled with aprons, knitted articles, candies, children's clothes and costume jewelry.

Each booth was in charge of a committee with a convener, and this group was in charge of the decorating, arranging, and the display itself. Consequently, there was a great variety in the display, and the ingenuity of the ladies was shown to good advantage.

The apron table, which featured children's aprons and fancy aprons, as well as the regular utility aprons, was in charge of Mrs. T. MacNamara, convener, and Mrs. F. J. Hickey and Miss A. Murray.

Mrs. George Lynch, convener, and Mrs. J. Rutherford, Mrs. J. Quirk, Mrs. J. Meagher and Mrs. A. Cauley supervised the children's wear, and knitted sweaters, caps, bonnets, and dresses, mitts and gloves were on display.

Miss A. Simons, convener, and Mrs. E. Riley, Mrs. W. Hickey and Mrs. T. Carorll, were at the ever-popular white elephant table. A tempting display of home cooking was convened by Mrs. F. Eano, and her committee was Mrs. F. J. Lynch and Mrs. W. H. Toal.

Home-made candies and jellies were in charge of Mrs. John Cameron, convener, and Mrs. D. J. Fitzgerald, Mrs. G. Whatley and Mrs. Bard, and Miss J. Lynch supervised the attractive display of costume jewelry.

A draw for a chicken dinner was held, Miss Agnes Grant being the lucky winner. Mrs. P. J. Burke and Mrs. M. Blackburn were in charge of the draw. General convener for the fair was Miss Lillian Hurley. Miss Hurley and her committees are to be congratulated on the excellence and success of this undertaking.

MINK AND BABY BLUE SATIN—Lustrous natural Eastern mink makes this beret with its thinner brow tilt and its higher worked body. The bowknot trim is baby blue satin; a group of monk tails finishes the back.

Fur hats this season are more like pretty millinery and less like Dan'l Boone's working cap than they used to be. Large, heavy shapes, however chic in other material, tend to look either costumey or Arctic-protective when translated into fur. Besides tiny berets like the mink model, above, its designer has created minute fedoras of Persian lamb, of ermine; curvettes of various furs, visored small numbers of sporty furs, all of them light in feeling and of neat, distinctive lines. Practically the whole group of familiar coat furs is represented.

St. James' W.M.S. Elects Officers

The slate of officers for 1944 was presented at the Christmas meeting of St. James' Women's Association, held at the home of Mrs. E. M. Davis. The president, Mrs. M. Stokes, was in the chair and there was a good attendance.

The officers were as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. A. Wilson; past president, Mrs. G. Rowe; president, Mrs. M. Stokes; first vice-president, Mrs. G. Harris; second vice-president, Mrs. M. Drysdale; recording secretary, Mrs. L. McLaren; press and corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Saunders, Jr.; financial secretary, Mrs. F. Kitney; treasurer, Mrs. G. Rowe; devotional convener, Mrs. E. M. Davis; pianist, Mrs. F. W. Craik.

The conveners are as follows: Red Cross, Mrs. J. P. Roberts; quilts, Mrs. W. Atkinson; parsonage, Mrs. W. Rose; flowers, Mrs. J. O. Fife; cards; Mrs. E. Grose; madame year, Mrs. J. P. Roberts; telephone committee, Mrs. C. Olaveson; Local Council of Women, Mrs. M. Stokes, Mrs. C. Olaveson, and Mrs. M. Drysdale.

The devotional period, which was in charge of Mrs. E. M. Davis, was opened with the singing of carols, and the repetition of the Lord's prayer, and Mrs. Davis read the Scripture, the carol, "aHrk the Herald Angels Sing" was followed by a reading and a prayer by Mrs. Stokes, and the devotions were closed with the singing of "While Shepherds Watched their Flocks by Night."

The business of the meeting was then discussed, and reports were given by conveners. The penny-a-day offering was dedicated by Mrs. Stokes, who also voiced the appreciation of the group to Mrs. Davis for the use of her home.

The president then turned the meting over to the Rev. F. W. Craik, who presented the report of the nominating committee, and conducted the election of officers.

Mrs. H. Borland Hostess to Group

Group "E" of the George Street Women's Missionary Society held a Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. H. Borland, Dublin street. Mrs. Borland's mother, Mrs. B. Frederick, who is a member of the group, has been ill, and is staying with her daughter, and the group met there so that Mrs. Frederick could enjoy the meeting.

The leader of the group, Mrs. E. Brown, opened with a poem, "Great Leaders," followed by a hymn, and the roll call, which was answered by Christmas messages. The devotional period was taken by Mrs. C. Wiley and Mrs. S. Wand, and Mrs. J. Brennan told a story, "Christian Stewardship."

Mrs. C. Graham entertained the group with a solo, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and was accompanied by Mrs. A. White. Miss Peggy Brown also played a piano selection, "In the Sweet By and By."

The appreciation of the group for the use of her home was voiced by Mrs. Ruth to Mrs. Borland. The meeting closed with the singing of the carol, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," and the benediction, followed by dainty refreshments served by the hostess.

Some Answers to Wartime Cake Problems

Who said "NO CAKE?" You can make wartime cakes that are just about as fine cakes as you ever baked—in spite of some difficulties over ingredients like shortening or sugar or eggs. It's all a matter of the right recipes, carefully followed, with good ingredients.

The Question of Butter
You have your choice of three ways of reducing the amount of butter you use in cake-baking—or of eliminating butter entirely, if you wish.
1. Wherever the recipe calls for butter, use half butter and half some other kind of shortening.
2. Use some other shortening entirely in place of the butter called for in the recipe. This can be done with all Swans Down Cake Flour recipes.
3. Make some of the many wonderful Swans Down Cakes which call for no shortening of any kind! Here's one you can try.

Champion Sponge Cake
1¼ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1¼ teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
4 egg yolks — 4 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt — 1 teaspoon vanilla
1¼ cups sugar — ⅔ cup boiling water
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Add lemon rind to egg yolks and beat until thick and light. Add ½ cup sugar gradually, beating constantly. Beat egg whites until light and foamy throughout; add remaining ¾ cup of sugar very gradually and continue beating until stiff enough to hold up in definite, satiny peaks. Add vanilla. Add boiling water to egg yolks, stirring well; then add flour all at once and beat with spoon until smooth. Fold quickly into egg whites. Turn into ungreased 9-inch tube pan and bake in slow oven (325°F.) 1 hour, or until done. Invert pan 1 hour, or until cold.

What About the Sweetener?
The three usual sweeteners for cakes—sugar, corn syrup or honey—are all a bit of a problem these days. But there are Swans Down recipes that call for very little sugar—others that use part sugar and part syrup or honey—others that use all syrup or honey. Here's one fine example—a light, tempting layer cake, using only 4 tablespoonfuls of shortening and only one egg.

One-Egg Cake
2 cups Swans Down Cake Flour
2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
4 tablespoons butter or other shortening
1 egg, unbeaten — ¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla — ¾ cup milk
1 cup sugar*
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and cream together well. Add egg and beat very thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375°F.) 25 minutes.
*If substituting corn syrup or honey, use 1 cup and decrease milk to ½ cup. Or use ½ cup of syrup and ½ cup of sugar; decrease milk to ½ cup and 1 tablespoon.

There are several wartime ways you can serve this cake. Spread jam between the layers. Or ice with your favorite icing if you have the sugar to spare. Or there's a sugarless recipe on the Baker's Chocolate wrapper for a luscious chocolate frosting.

For Better Cakes
Made from soft wheat grown in one particular part of Canada, Swans Down is a special cake flour that makes better baking easy. The choicest part of the wheat is selected, milled by Swans Down "Controlled Milling", then sifted again and again through silk, until 27 times as fine as ordinary flour.

Eggs a Bit Scarce?
Many women think that it takes a lot of eggs to make a light, tender cake. But not if you use Swans Down Cake Flour. One of the special features of Swans Down is that it responds so wonderfully in quite simple recipes. You can make splendid Swans Down Cakes with only one or two eggs—even with no eggs. Try this eggless chocolate cake. Its lightness and tenderness will amaze you. But, of course, no ordinary flour could give such results.

Eggless Chocolate Cake
2 squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate
1¾ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1 cup milk — ¾ teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt — 1 cup sugar
⅓ cup shortening — 1 teaspoon vanilla
Combine chocolate and milk in top of double boiler and cook over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Blend with rotary egg beater; cool. Sift flour once, measure, add soda, salt and sugar and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add flour mixture, vanilla, and chocolate mixture, and stir until all flour is dampened. Then beat vigorously 1 minute. Bake in two greased and lightly floured 8-inch pans in moderate oven (375°F.) 20 minutes.

Another Aid to Better Baking
Calumet Baking Powder helps you get the best from all baking ingredients. That's because it's a double-action baking powder. First, in your mixing bowl, Calumet sends thousands of tiny bubbles surging through your batter to make it light and fluffy. Then, another leavening action takes place in your oven, where thousands more tiny bubbles lift cake or biscuits gently and evenly to their proper height. Order Calumet today from your grocer.

THE EXPERTS SAY . . .

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

OTTAWA, Dec. 10 — (CP). — Macaroons require no butter and little sugar. Need we say more? If you are making shortbread for the holiday season you'll like to have this good companion recipe for the cherry macaroons. The shortbread will take an egg yolk and the macaroons will use the white in a delicious way. This recipe is one tested in the Consumer Section of the Department of Agriculture.

Add a pinch of salt to one egg white and beat until stiff. Gradually beat in ¼ cup sugar, then fold in 1½ cups of wheat or corn flakes and ½ cup candied or maraschino cherries, cut in small pieces. Drop with a teaspoon on to a greased baking sheet and bake in a slow oven, 325 degrees Fahr., for 30 minutes. This makes one dozen small macaroons.

MEAT STRETCHER — Besides being a coupon sparer, rolled oats or rolled wheat used as meat extenders will step up the family's calcium supply and their intake of vitamin B complex, Dr. L. B. Pett, Director of Nutrition Services, says the use of whole grain bread and cereal can supply as much as six per cent of the day's requirement of calcium.

◇ ◇ ◇

PRACTICAL GIFTS — This year more than ever before, Christmas gifts should be practical, the Prices Board Consumer Branch emphasizes. Besides being out of place in the wartime scheme of things needless expense and frivolity are not fashionable. There's no reason why duplicate or ill-fitting gifts should go to waste either because they can be exchanged at any time as long as it coincides with the retailer's merchahdising policy of making exchanges.

◇ ◇ ◇

SUGAR SAVER — Having coffee with a dietitian from the Agriculture Department's Consumer Service testing kitchen, we noted that she tested her coffee before adding any sugar. Half the usual amount of sugar serves as sweeting if one tastes before sugaring, she says. It works, too.

◇ ◇ ◇

WASTE LINE — Using the same dish for cooking and serving, or serving plates in the kitchen eliminates the waste when food is transferred from cooking dish to serving dish. And it eliminates a lot of dish washing.

FISH LOAF — Fish is one of the most valuable forms of food, since it contains the same constituents as meat, but in a more digestible form, Nutrition Services says, and the Fisheries Department contributes the recipe for a delicious fish loaf:

Melt one tablespoon of butter, add one tablespoon of flour, mix and cook one minute. Then add one cup of hot milk gradually, stirring constantly; season. Add to that sauce two cups of cooked fish, two beaten eggs, one cup of soft bread crumbs, one chopped hard-boiled egg, two chopped pickles, three tablespoons of chopped parsley. Pour the mixture in greased baking dish or mould. Place in a pan of boiling water, and cook for one hour in a moderate oven. Unmould and serve sliced either hot or cold.

SUN FASHIONS FOR CABANAS—Barbara and Rosemary wear what is practically cabana uniform: Draped bra top, matching trunks covered with a skirt which can be removed for a dip in the brine or the pool. And it can be washed with soap. A good many thousand girls the same age as Barbara Hale and Rosemary La Planche, above, would think them the luckiest girls in the world, if they knew what the girls are up to after they finish that lunch. The fact is, they will go back on the set of "Higher and Higher" to play opposite Frank Sinatra, the swooning crooner' first big movie. No girl needs a movie background to wear pretty, comfortable sun clothes, however, and sunbathing is a mighty healthy pastime.

Mr. McElderry: "The evidence shows the little girl lay eight feet out from the south curb?"—"Yes, I think so."

"That was about where you were travelling?"—"Yes."

"Did the bumper hit the little girl?"—"I think it might."

"Then she got in front before she was hit?"—"I am not sure."

Hawley said his car might have gone 50 feet before he stopped it. Constable McGillen had measured the distance at 150 feet, from place where it was thought the child was hit by the car.

David Weese of Chandos said he had known Mr. Hawley forty years. His reputation was that of a prudent and caution man.

Gordon Hawley, son of the accused, said his father had drunk only two glasses of beer at 6:30 p.m. They were kitchen tumblers and only about three-quarters full.

Character evidence was given by Reeve Albert Hall, Chandos, and Walter Winters also of the township, said Mr. Hawley had a good reputation in the district, and was a careful rather than a reckless man.

Long Air Hop

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP).—The longest air freight line in the world now is operating on regular schedule between Patterson Field, Ohio, and India, the United States announced yesterday. Planes fly the route regularly delivering supplies to the air forces in the Orient.

Societies Unite In Service At Knox Church

A Christmas candle-lighting service was held at the annual Christmas meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Knox United Church on Wednesday in the Lecture Hall. The Helen Roger Auxiliary and the Mission Band united with the senior W.M.S. group, following the custom of the past few years.

The candle-lighting service was led by Mrs. James Gerard, president of the senior W.M.S., assisted by Mrs. I. Oesch, Mrs. E. Johnston, Mrs. R. Laing, and Miss Marion Williamson. In this service, the leaders' candles were lighted from the central candle, and the candles held by the members were then lighted from those of the leaders, while Miss Lauretta McDougall sang a Christmas hymn.

Mrs. Howard Clegg, president of the Helen Roger Auxiliary, presided at the meeting, and opened by reading "The Meaning of Christmas" by Archbishop Spellman.

The Mission Band children, with the aid of flannelgraphs, told "The Christmas Story" and "The Christmas Tree That Shared." Both stories were well done by the children, who reflected the careful teaching of the Mission Band secretary, Mrs. R. Hanscom.

Miss Lauretta McDougall conducted a carol sing-song, and Miss Phyllis Kidd told a beautiful Christmas story. The offering was then received and dedicated by Mrs H. Lewis, and Miss Jean Hair conducted a brief worship service.

Mrs. Ernest Johnston, who has transferred her church membership to St. James Church, was presented with a hymnary as a token of appreciation for her service in the W.M.S. work in Knox Church. The meeting closed with the benediction, and the various groups then divided and conducted their business and election of officers in preparation for the work of the New Year.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, December 11.

The outcome of events on this day may be determined by personal restraints, calm judgment, and a cool grasp of some excellent openings for constructive programs. While the spirit of initiative and enterprise are under excellent stimuli for accomplishment of major objectives, yet there may be danger of carrying the energies and ambitions to excess, mainly by explosive bursts of excitement. This conduct may alienate superiors or those whose support is desired. Use courtesy, charm and good nature.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a successful and constructive year, if they will govern the energies, tongue and temper, and not be carried into danger and defeat by excessive zeal, intemperance or temperamental outbursts. This may aggravate those whose co-operation is desired and also lead into physical or nervous excitements or strains, dangerous to health and general happiness and well being. Draw on hidden resources of personal charm, good nature and affability for gratifying rewards for well directed efforts.

A child born on this day may have much practical ability and initiative, but may be carried to ultimate defeat by excessive and exciting urges, with unguarded words and deeds, bringing reactions on its nervous and physical integrity.

Christmas Gifts Are Sent School

The 57th Regiment Chapter, I.O.D.E., held its regular monthly meeting in the green room of the Y.W.C.A. Thursday afternoon, with the regent, Mrs. A. W. Turner, in the chair. During the business meeting plans were completed for the Christmas gifts to be sent to the chapter's adopted school, and Mrs. P. D. Brown, war convener, reported that 48 ditty bags had been shipped. Members of the chapter to act on the committee planning the camp library campaign were appointed, and a report on the successful Remembrance Day tea was read by Mrs. G. H. Cutmore, the convener.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DON'T HOARD TRUMPS

OF COURSE you hate to have the declarer over-ruff your own trumps. But that is no excuse for not ruffing a card led from the dummy, on which he will surely get a discard of a loser if you don't ruff. Tossing off a side card on the trick will leave the lead in the dummy, so that maybe he can do the same thing again. Ruffing the first such lead, however, throws it into his hand, where he now has to lead away from his tenace holdings, if he has no remaining re-entries to the dummy.

What luck for East, to have the declarer land in that contract, when 6-No Trumps could be made easily against any lead, since the finesse would work in both black suits, producing four tricks in spades, six in clubs and two in diamonds—perhaps one in hearts. In fact, 13 tricks could be run if West led the heart Q. With South in the only at all probable contract which could be beaten, East first took a chance of scaring him out of it with that double, and then misplayed his own hand so badly he gave South his contract with an extra trick.

Winning the diamond lead with the K, South discovered the spade situation by leading to the A, then brought back the 5. East put on the 6 and the 7 won. The club J was allowed to run, the diamond A was raked in and the club 10 overtaken by the Q. On the club A, which he reckoned found South now void, and not wishing to be over-ruffed, East discarded a heart. Then on the club 9 he threw his diamond Q. Each of these tricks furnished heart discards for South, so when the club 5 came from dummy East ruffed with the spade 8 and South over-ruffed with the 10. South then put West in with the heart 9, East following. When the heart A ensued, East had only trumps, so ruffed with the 4, the last trick he got, as South had the spade K and Q for the last two tricks, having lost only two.

If East had ruffed the A on the third round of clubs, South would have had no way to avoid losing a total of four tricks. The failure on two tricks to ruff clubs made two heart discards possible, therefore being worth two tricks to South.

If South had over-called 1-Club with 1-Spade, West bid his diamonds and ultimately East got into 3-No Trumps, what fundamental of leading should govern South?

Heavy Jap Torpedo Planes Give U.S. Sailors Nightmare

By EUGENE BURNS
Associated Press War Correspondent

Aboard an Aircraft Carrier Off Wotje in the Marshalls, Dec. 5 (delayed)—(AP) — This large carrier force, whose planes sank two Japanese cruisers and four other vessels yesterday in a big raid on the enemy's mid-Pacific Marshalls, has just finished beating off an attack of 7½ hours by between 45 and 50 heavy torpedo-carrying bombers.

We had knifed into the Marshalls and stuck Kwajalein Atoll where Roi airdrome is located. We hit Kwajalein hard, setting four Japanese cargo ships and two cruisers afire and leaving them sinking.

Bag 12

The dozen enemy planes which took to the air promptly were shot down.

Two minutes past noon, low-flying torpedo planes came within gun fire range and dropped their torpedoes. They were shot down by our anti-aircraft batteries. One. Two. Three. All exploded and burned.

As the sun was sinking our "squawkbox" sounded, "Jap snooper is closing."

One cruiser opened fire with two destroyers joining.

The quawkbox said at 9:50 p.m. "A group of planes is closing. They are dropping float lights. Another group is off our starboard bow, now closing."

In the darkness we strained to see the swift low-flying, death-dealing planes which carried enough dynamite to blow our formation sky high.

Ships began firing first to our port beam, to our starboard, after and dead ahead. They fired almost simultaneously and then the Japanese seemed to withdraw.

Time for the dropped torpedoes to make their runs passed. Nothing happened.

Drops Flares

Soon the Japanese organizer who had been nicknamed "Tojo, the lamplighter" dropped some flares as he circled us.

He was outlining our formation for the boys on high.

For another three hours, until midnight, the planes made their runs at us and retired while Tojo kept lighting up the street lights.

You caught the enormity of our task force as the firing commenced on both sides. Suddenly to the starboard a cruiser brought down a Mitsubishi in flames. It burned on the water, lighting the sky.

That made it a flaming beacon for marauding Japanese torpedo planes.

For a few minutes, the attack has ceased. Then it is on again. Our 11th warning tonight is sounded.

The Japanese retire but other planes come in and circle our formation, waiting for a chance to come in. Now they're getting ready to close in from all sides. We could not keep track of them any longer.

One drops its fish. We manoeuvre, wait and again are safe.

Finally the moon dips below the horizon and it becomes darker.

450 Flee France

BARCELONA, Dec. 10 (AP) —A special train bearing 450 French refugees, including a large number of men of military age, left Barcelona today for Malaga, where the refugees will cross to North Africa. Many of the men, who eluded German authorities and slipped across the French border without papers planned to join the French military forces.

Banditry Sweeps All Of France

LONDON, Dec. 10 — (CP).— A reign of anarchy is sweeping France and the Vichy government is powerless to check it, the German-controlled Paris radio said today in a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press.

The Paris broadcasts quoted the neswpaper Aujord'hui as saying that "people are being killed on every street corner. There is robbery and pillage all over the countryside."

Marcel Deat, a leading proponent of collaboration with the Germans, said in an article in the same paper, according to the broadcast:

"Banditism is becoming daily more audacious. It is no longer a question of isolated terrorism committed under the pretext of patriotism.

"We are faced with a vast movement of destruction. Highwaymen and assassins are everywhere. The little man shouts for help, but the government is desperate and helpless.

"Forces are now being organized, however, which will stop this anarchy, and a brutal reaction in the near future is inevitable."

Th Vichy radio, in a broadcast recorded by Reuters news agency, said that a widespread roundup of terrorists by police and other agencies is in full swing throughout France, notably at Pas De Calais, Lillie and in the Paris-Versailles district.

Downeyville Friends Honor Bride-Elect

DOWNEYVILLE, Dec. 10 (ENS). —A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Winn in honor their daughter upon her approaching marriage. A large crowd was present and a number of presents was received. An address was read by Miss Marguerite Winn and Frank Winn made the presentation. At mid-night a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Winn and her assistants and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing and playing cards.

Successful Sale

A very successful auction sale was held on the farm of Mr. Fred White on Tuesday when Mr. White sold his farm stock and his implements. Mr. Ted Jackson was the auctioneer. High prices were received for everything especially for sheep and cattle. Mr. White is moving to Peterborough where he will reside.

Frank Curtin of Ops also had a very successful sale of his farm stock and impliments. Mr. Charles Lamb of Lindsay was the auctioneer. Cows sold as high as $125, sheep $14, horses $75 to $125, pigs $35 to $40, small pigs $4 each. High prices for farm impliments were realized sometimes higher than was paid for them when bought new. The help situation is causing many farmers to sell out and go to work at other occupations.

Personals

Mr. Leo Shine of Peterborough, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Shine.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hickey of Ennismore attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Morrissey, Tuesday.

A number of the boys from here have answered the call of the government and have gone to work in the packing houses and the woods cutting lumber and wood.

Miss Geraldine Murray of Rochester, N.Y., is at present the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Harrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Devlin and baby spent the week-end the guests of Mrs. Devlin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Perdue.

Cottesloe W.M.S Elects Officers

COTTESLOE, Dec. 10 — (ENS) —The W.M.S. held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. G. Barr on Wednesday afternoon with 13 present. Mrs. John Gallagher vice-president had charge and program in the Missionary Monthly was followed. Mrs. Dave Barr gave the topic on "The Light of Knowledge" from "For All of Life." Mesdames Kidd and Toms rendered a duet. Plans were made for the January meeting at Mrs. Campbell's and Mrs. Kidd took charge of the election of officers which resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. Joseph Gallagher; vice-president, Mrs. John Gallagher; secretary, Mrs. J. S. Kidd; treasurer, Mrs. A. Webster; Christian Stewarship and finance, Mrs. Dave Barr; Stranger's secretary, Mrs. Fred Toms; M'ssionary Monthly, Mrs. A. 35 Roomers Trapped In Tenement Blaze

TORONTO, Dec. 10 — (CP).— Three persons were injured here to-day escaping from a three-storey rooming-house on Jarvis Street in Central Toronto, where 35 roomers were trapped in their bedrooms by flames that enveloped the corridors and stairways.

The roomers escaped by jumping from windows, climbing down escape lines made by knotting bed clothes together, and by groping through dense smoke to a rear fire exit.

A small dog is credited with awakening the house, barking furiously as smoke and flame filled the hallways.

MERRY CHRISTMAS . . . . 4,485 TIMES!

4,485 members of the family . . . away from home for Christmas! That's the way we think of them . . . our Eatonians in the forces, and the Company and the Employees' War Auxiliary are combining to send a parcel to every single one.

And what a lot of planning and thought went into those parcels! . . . big, sturdy, tightly packed boxes that fairly bulge with good things . . . warm knitted comforts from the Auxiliary; the extra "trimmings" from the Company. In all of them . . . candy, nuts and gum, with a big, luscious slab of fruit cake. To the boys, razor blades and shoe laces, flints, wicks, "smokes" and the like. And, for the girls, endearingly feminine things, such as lipsticks and cleansing cream and skin balm.

It's our way of saying "Merry Christmas" to these "special" people of ours. They're wearing navy blue and khaki and air force blue now . . . flying over Berlin, and, taking towns in Italy; running the U-boat gauntlet from Halifax to Valetta; waiting for Victory in German prison camps. Some of them cook and type letters and chart operations. Some are out in Saskatchewan and Alaska and Labrador. Their jobs are different—and a long, long way from home. But they're still our "family" and, wherever they are . . . whatever they do . . .

A Merry Christmas to them all, indeed! Let us all hope we'll say it in person next year!

CANADIANS CAPTURE SAN LEONARDO

Reds Admit Serious Losses In Kiev Bulge Sector Drive Again On Krivoi Rog

Russians Follow Railway Lines After Taking Znamenka Gain Ground On South Russian Steppes

LONDON, Dec. 11—(AP).—A German news agency broadcast today said Gen. Ivan Konev's 2nd Ukrainian Army has expanded its Cherkasy bridgehead in the great Dnieper Bend and has driven into Chekasy itself where "violent fighting is taking place in the town."

To the southeast, the Germans said, Soviet troops were making continuous attacks in heavy snowstorms in the area southwest of Kremenchug where the Soviets were hammering at the approaches of Krovoi Rog and Kirovograd.

Moscow admitted serious reverses, however, in the Kiev bulge 200 miles to the northwest, where massed German armor has driven Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's forces back to the area south of Malin, 30 miles east of Korozen and only 55 miles west of the great Ukrainian capital. German capture of Malin, on the Kiev-Korosten railway, would pose a difficult supply problem for Russian forces reported still fighting near Chernyakov, 80 miles west of Kiev.

The fall of Znamenka, central rail junction for German supply in the Dnieper Bend, to Konev's veterans after three days of man-killing fighting was announced last night. The Germans had dug their tanks into the ground and fought to the death, from dispatches reported.

In an order of the day, Premier Stalin described the city as "a powerful strongpoint" and "an important rail junction."

The Russians did not halt at Znamenka. Konev pushed one column on to take the town of Khirovka, junction of the Kirovograd and Smela rail lines a few miles to the northwest. Another column raced south and seized Chabanovka 50 miles north of Krivoi Rog, and Chechelevka, 10 miles further on.

Capture of Dolinovka, 20 miles still further south, would effectively outflank Krivoi Rog from the west.

The Red Army advance was flowing inexorably along strategic rail lines and appeared to be threatening the entire German position in the Dnieper Bend, where railways provide the only dependable supply routes.

Mosquitoes Hit Europe; 4 Nazis Downed

LONDON, Dec. 11.—(CP).—R.A.F. Mosquitoes attacked objectives in Western Germany last night and returned without loss, an Air Ministry communique announced to-day.

The procession of bombers crossing the Straits of Dover last night followed daylight attacks by low-flying Mosquito bombers against enemy transport facilities in Northwest Germany, during which two of the Mosquitoes were lost.

Nazi planes, meanwhile, carried out a small attack against Southeast England and a bomb dropped on the outskirts of London injured three people. R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. night fighters shot down four of the raiders

Three of these fell to PO. R. D. Schultz, a lanky young pilot from Bashaw, Alta. whose night-fighting Mosquito plane was so badly damaged in the combats he had to make an emergency landing at a strange airfield.

The Mosquito attacks were directed yesterday against troops, railway junctions, trains, barges, tugboats, trucks and planes. One pilot sent a shower of bombs into a column of German soldiers marching in double file and some of the Nazis, he said, were blown 20 feet into the air. Earlier in the day coastal command planes destroyed a big Junker-88 off the coast of Norway.

Resumption of the air offensive after days of poor weather came as the Air Mnistry disclosed that aircraft production has reached such a level that plane losses, even at the exaggerated rate claimed by the Germans, would not halt the bombing offensive.

Manning Heads Social Credit

CALGARY, Dec. 11 — (CP). — Premier E. C. Manning was unanimously elected political leader of the Social Credit movement in Alberta at the concluding sessions of the Alberta Social Credit League convention here yesterday.

He has been acting leader, appointed by the League Board of Management, since the death of Premier William Aberhart, the convention passed a motion of confidence in the Premier, members of his Cabinet and New Democracy members of Parliament.

The convention, by resolution, supported the Federal New Democracy members in their efforts towards national organization of the party and urged the calling of a national convention at the earliest possible time.

Superior Forces Face Yugoslavs

LONDON, Dec. 11 (CP).— Marshal Josip Broz' (Tito's) red-starred Partisans are being pressed by superior German forces through Eastern Bosnia in Yugoslavia, an Army of Liberation communique broadcast by radio said today.

Farther west in Bosnia Broz was using cavalry to bolster his land forces and in one engagement they killed 20 Germans and wounded 33 others.

In northwestern Croatia on the Delnice - Vodice road, Yugoslavs ambushed a column of Germans killing 30 more.

A competent informant in London said the German high command was reaching into its first line reserve pool to strengthen its Yugoslav offensive. These replacements were coming from Bavaria, it was stated, and represent some of the ablest units in the German army.

Associated Press dispatches from Cairo said a reliable non-Yugoslav source there estimated that Partisans were occupying the attention of as many German divisions as the 5th and 8th Armies in Italy.

May Cut Butter Ration

Butter Officials Surprised At Suggestion

TORONTO, Dec. 11 —(CP)—R. J. Scott, president of the United Farmers of Ontario, said last night reports from Ottawa that the existing butter ration may have to be cut indicates a "very rapid reversal" in the butter situation compared with last summer.

A couple of months ago, he said, butter production was reported up 30,000,000 compared with the previous year, and he understood the government had shipped 7,000,000 pounds to Britain. Mr. Scott said the only reason he could see for the change would be that a shortage in fluid milk production existed, causing inroads into normal butter production.

(K. H. Oliver, dairy products administrator for the prices board, said Thursday that November withdrawals of butter totalled 28,400,000 pounds, heaviest "since the introduction of rationing.")

Stanley Thurston of Meaford, secretary of the Ontario Creamerymen's Association, said he was "a little surprised" at the report a cut might be necessary.

Some Alcohol Released For Beverages

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (CP)—Canadian distilleries now are being allowed to make beverage alcohol in "driblets" for civilian consumption after more than a year of operation under a wartime industrial alcohol program aimed at taking their entire supply, it was confirmed today in government circles.

While Munitions Minister Howe told The Canadian Press he could not confirm that civilian production on a small scale has been resumed, other sources said such output has begun.

Mr. Howe himself said it is "quite possible."

Canada has dealt with the beverage - alcohol production question "as a supply matter, not as a temperance matter," the Munitions Minister said.

War Needs Met

"We required a large amount of industrial alcohol and the Chemicals Controller ordered the distilleries to make it.

"We drew up a schedule which we thought would require the entire production capacity of the distilleries. So far the distilleries have been supplying industrial alcohol up to the figure set forth in the schedule, and I think they will do the same this month.

"If they have been able to make some potable liquor in addition, there is no law against it.

"In the case of some distilleries they had a few old-fashioned units that were not able to produce industrial alcohol. They probably were making some potable liquor in these units all along."

Under a Dominion government war order effective November 1, 1942, the equipment and facilities of distilleries had to be used only in the production of distilled spirits, and these spirits could not be produced or used for beverage purposes.

There has been no official indication that this order banning the production of beverage alcohol has been withdrawn. Presumably permission to resume output potable spirits on a small scale has been approved by the Chemicals Controller whose office is in Montreal.

Lawyer Dies

MONTREAL, Dec. 11 (CP)—Arthur R. Holden, K.C., 72, prominent Montreal lawyer, who gained recognition for his practice in admiralty and marine law died at his home here yesterday.

He received his law degree at McGill University in 1901, and was created a King's Counsel in 1912. Mr. Holden was a native of Belleville, Ont.

Canadians Get New Hospital

By FLT.-LT. JACK CALDER, R.C.A.F.

EAST GRINSTEAD, Sussex, Dec. 11—(CP).—The medical orderly swung the wheelchair down the drive and out towards the street. It was my first venture from ward three and, as we moved from the shadows of the hospital buildings, I realized that circumstances can make even a wheelchair ride exciting—though it would require a strong imagination indeed to relate it to flying. We had gone only a few yards and I was absorbing the warm sunlight when the orderly stopped and pointed to the field on our right.

"That's where the Canadian wing is going to be," he said.

"Canadian wing?" I asked.

"Sure," he said.

Then I heard for the first time of plans for a hospital unit which will bring to badly burned and injured Canadian airmen the finest treatment that the miracles of modern surgery can offer.

It is to be a wing to the Queen Victoria Hospital at East Grinstead—an institution supported by voluntary contributions—in which many men of the R.C.A.F. and R.A.F. already have been spared the tragedy of having to go through the remainder of life terribly scarred or maimed. It is being constructed at the same time, at the instigation of Air Marshal Harold Edwards, C.B., as a memorial of the people of the Dominion to all Canadian airmen who will have died.

The potential value and reasons for the choice of site will not be obvious immediately to anyone unacquainted with some of the advances in plastic surgery achieved in this war.

None Are Hopeless.

A great majority of the servicemen who have come here, many of them all the way from the fronts in the Middle East, have returned to active duty. None has gone away hopeless.

Before I was flown to the hospital its leading surgeons were flown 400 miles to make me fit to be transferred. After six weeks here

Deafening Shell Barrage Paves Way For Canadians

By DOUGLAS AMARON—Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 9 (Delayed) — (CP).—Canadian troops clung to their foothold on the Moro River's north bank today on one of the narrowest and most concentrated fronts of their Italian campaign and against some of the toughest opposition offered by the Germans on the Adriatic side of the Italian peninsula.

They held this foothold after a night and day of heavy fighting, which was not carried out without casualties, and drew the praise of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of the British 8th Army of which the Canadians form a part. His congratulations were contained in a message to the Canadian commander.

Western and central Canadian units have figured in the battle, made against the backdrop of the greatest barrage of the Canadian campaign. The barrage yesterday (Wednesday) paved the way for a full-scale assault by Dominion infantrymen across the shallow, muddy Moro. One gunner, Sgt. William Spottiswoode of Moncton, N.B., called it "our biggest show since we came to Italy."

From late yesterday, when the long barrage lifted to let the infantrymen cross the Moro, the stern fight has been raging along the northern slopes of the stream. The entire battlefield is visible from the heights on the southern side of the river.

The bridgeheads on the Moro were established by Canadians who waded through the cold river in darkness to the sector defended by fresh German troops from a well-trained Panzer Grenadier unit and supported by tanks, self-propelled guns, mortars and medium artillery.

Fighting under constant artillery and mortar fire, western Canadian infantrymen, supported by Canadian tanks, have entered the riverside town of San Leonardo, on the coastal road four miles southwest of Ortona.

Other troops crossed on the left flank but still to the right of San Leonardo and came up against German tanks. The Germans counter-attacked and gained some ground with the aid of tanks.

To the west of San Leonardo other central Canadian infantrymen established positions without serious opposition while the westerners fought their way into the town itself.

German casualties in the fighting have not been light. One Can-

Burma Invasion Not Likely for Months

Mountbatten Faces Gigantic Task Organizing Ampbibious Drives

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

What can we expect in the way of an Allied offensive against the Japanese in the Burma theatre?

That question is troubling many people, and a newspaper editor has asked me to give an answer. The way he puts it on behalf of subscribers is: "What's holding up Mountbatten?" His reference of course is to Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied commander in southeast Asia.

Lord Louis's appointment last August led a lot of folk on both sides of the Atlantic to assume that this meant quick action, and one suspects that perhaps he would have been happier if announcement of his new post had been withheld for a time. The fact was that while Mountbatten's comand meant action all right, it didn't presage anything in the immediate future except intensive preparation for offensive operations.

Get Hitler First

As a matter of cold fact, I personally can't see how there can be an all-out offensive against Japan before Hitler surrenders. The Allies, well armed as they are, just haven't sufficient equipment to conduct wholesale amphibious operations against both Germany and Japan at the same moment.

Such big-scale attacks call for a vast collection of aircraft, warships and landing barges. Moreover, troops and mountains of supplies have to be moved by water, not a short distance but thousands of miles, many of them filled with danger.

At best it would be some months after an operation in the Burma area was decided upon before it could be carried out. However, despite these perhaps spirit-dampening observations, we can have the satisfaction of knowing that a lot of preliminary operations against the Japanese can and will be undertaken before the grand assault takes place.

The ground has dried out sufficiently since the cessation of the Monsoon rains so that infantry attacks could be staged, and one would think that the near future might see things beginning to pop. Meantime, however, the Allies also are getting set for big assaults in the European theatre, and this means that the Asiatic offensive must be restricted until equipment can be released from the west.

Panhandle Rides

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 11—(AP).—Two little girls, 11 and seven years old, came into police headquarters last night with a sob story about having no way to get home. "Aren't you the same little girls who came in here once before?" Sgt. Robert Little asked. "Twice before," the younger girl corrected. A checkup showed that not only did the girls have streetcar tokens but belonged to a north Minneapolis crowd that has been using police cars as transportation regularly.

5th Faces Bitter Opposition In Mignano Area Italians Attack With Allies

Tide Of Battle Changes Rapidly All Along Italian Line 5th Fights To Capture San Pietro

ALGIERS, Dec. 11—(AP).—Fighting reached a new pitch on the 8th Army's front in eastern Italy today but Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's troops, now spearheaded by the Canadians, captured the town of San Leonardo on the north side of the Moro River.

The daily communique said fierce fighting is in progress south of Ortona, a port four miles northwest of San Leonardo on the road to the important port of Pescara. The Germans threw tanks and infantry into a steady series of counter-attacks.

The communique also said "a second bridgehead had been established over the Moro River despite considerable opposition."

Slugging forward through the mountains west of Filigmano in a drive on Cassino from the east, Lt.-Gen. Mark Clark's 5th Army troops have lunged forward one mile and gained an important height, headquarters announced.

Other 5th Army troops driving for Cassino from the south from the Mignano area fought a fierce battle for the fortified village of San Pietro, seven miles southeast of Cassino and at the foot of the mountains previously gained.

Italians Fight Well.

Italian troops, fulfilling Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio's promise that they would join the Allies in the drive to oust the Nazis from Italy, were thrown back by the Germans in their first engagement on the 5th Army front. The Italians had advanced into the foothills north of Mignano, but they lost the ground to a counter-attack by units of the Hermann Goering armored division.

The new bridgehead across the Moro river was in the vicinity of Prisa, 4½ miles inland from the Adriatic, and was finally secured at dawn yesterday after an all-night attack.

The Germans, in their furious counter-attacks, made a vain effort to pinch out both the bridgeheads to give their engineers time to prepare new and deeper fortfications behind the river. One of these counter-thrusts was described at headquarters as a particularly heavy blow in the coastal region, but it succeeded only in slowing Gen. Montgomery's advance.

British and German tanks were reported to have engaged in a crashing duel at Orsogna, key inland town on the road to Chieti. British tanks heavily shelled the Germans in the town, which has changed hands twice within a week, and the enemy tanks poured back a brisk fire.

The enemy stubbornly resisted the 5th Army in its battle toward the high ground of Filignano and also made two separate counter-attacks to the south during a battle for ridges near San Pierto. They were aimed primarily at the new Allied positions on Monte Samucro, two miles north of the main road to Cassino and Rome, but both were driven back.

Units of the 5th Army, meanwhile, attacking west of Filignano, toward Cassino, advanced one mile.

A fierce battle was taking place for San Pietro, seven miles southeast of Cassino, as other 5th Army units drove from the Mignano area.

Italian troops, who were disclosed yesterday to have been thrown into action against the Germans, advanced into the foothills north of Mignano, but were driven back again by the Nazis.

Inland from the Adriatic, British tanks were reported to be shelling the Germans in fiercely-contested Orosogna, which was captured once by British troops and then retaken by the Nazis.

Veteran Italian Troops In Tough Sector

ALGIERS, Dec. 11—(AP)—Italian troops, in fulfilment of Marshal Badoglio's promise that they would join the fight to oust the Nazis from Italy, have gone into action against the Germans in the Allied 5th Army's sector of the Italian front.

An official announcement, disclosing that the Italians had moved into the line, did not reveal details of their formation, but presumably they are serving with their own commander under Lt.-Gen. Mark Clark.

A delayed dispatch from the front said the Italians—veterans who fought in Russia, Albania and France—moved into position on one of the toughest sectors of the front, their first objective being bald, rocky heights on which the enemy was strongly dug in.

The dispatch said they brought with them their own artillery and ammunition, tents, medical supplies, hospitals, ordnance units, engineers and other equipment.

The troops were identified as Northern Italians, the dispatch quoting an Italian captain as saying "they will fight to get back their homes and families. They have much to fight for." He also declared that "we know the world will be watching us. It is a chance to redeem ourselves."

The Germans were recently accused by the Badoglio Government of shooting Italian soldiers captured in Albania and on the Island of Leros. It remains to be seen whether they will treat Italians captured on the Italian front as prisoners of war or as traitors to Mussolini's puppet government.

Pro-Axis Italian units, the Germans have said, are fighting on their side of the front.

Sweden To Play Waiting Game

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 11—(AP)—Swedish Foreign Minister Christian E. Gunther asserted last night that "there's no doubt about what the Swedish people think of Germany and the Oslo (student) deportations," but he declared that Sweden must adopt a waiting policy and see what develops further.

The Swedish radio, in a broadcast recorded by U.S. government monitors, said that more than 1,000 Swedish representatives of youth organizations appealed to the Swedish government last night "to take all suitable steps to try to counteract the Germans plans" to deport to the Reich the Oslo students recently arrested by the Nazis.

The United States office of War Information said Norwegian reports have indicated the deportation already is under way.

30 Planes Caught In Storm

Temperature 10 Below In East Ontario

TORONTO, Dec. 11 (CP)—Strong winds and snow accompanied a sharp drop in temperature that sent the mercury plunging below zero today in most parts of Ontario.

About two inches of snow fell in northern areas, where the temperature plunged to 15 degrees below zero this morning at North Bay and Sudbury.

Indicative of the sharp drop was the official recording in Toronto, where the mercury plunged from a high yesterday of 40 degrees to a low of two degrees during the night.

At London temperatures tumbled 32 degrees last night to bring the first sample of real winter weather to the district. The temperature stood at eight degrees this morning.

The mercury was around nine below in eastern Ontario.

Thirty planes from the R.C.A.F. station at Port Albert on the Lake Huron shore near Goderich were in the air when the wind came last night but all were believed to have landed safely at scattered points, including the Crumlin airport near London, and Centralia and Goderich.

Bracken Says Reforms Badly Needed

Warns Canadians To Shun State Socialism

HAMILTON, Dec. 10.— (CP).—John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader, said in an address here last night that "national reforms" are needed in Canada, with decentralization of government, co-operation, expanded production and widening areas of trade.

Warning against "state socialism" he said that "if people are prepared to abandon themselves to the guidance of whomsover promises most and demands least, they will sink into moral lethargy and be exploited by ruthless masters."

Mr. Bracken said that "state socialism" could not brook political opposition and that once in power it always moved swiftly towards dictatorship.

A Paradox.

It was an "ironcal paradox" that the Progressve Conservatves were striving to create a co-operative commonwealth, while most of those under the C.C.F. banner were advocating state socialism, and advocating it at a time "when 500,000 citizens of the British Empire have given their lives to destroy the horrible results which followed the creation of state socialism in Europe," said Mr. Bracken.

Speaking of the anniversary of his election as national leader a year ago, Mr. Bracken said that the Progressive Conservative party was not looking in the direction of dictatorship to raise the national income and bring a greater measure of security to the average home.

His party believed it was wrong to stir up hate and discord and set class against class.

"We believe that the power of the state should be used to protect the weak against the strong," he said.

The alternatives to rational reforms as suggested by his party were "continued chaos, on the one hand, or regimentation on the other—chaos with its frustrations or regimentation with its deadening effect on the impulse to produce, its inevitable tendency toward dictatorship, and the certainty that all material increase will be skimmed off to nourish a growing bureaucracy."

Labor Must Organize

Mr. Bracken said the government should be required to harmonize all the various community elements and fashion them into a co-operating society for the general betterment.

Labor should be fully organized but if management were responsible for maximum employment, labor must be responsible for the maximum production.

Mr. Bracken said that when the Progressive Conservative convention was held last year, the Liberal party in power at Ottawa had ruled unchallenged for so long that it had lost its vigor "and was loaded down with commitments, obligations, and out-worn traditions like an old ship encrusted with barnacles."

In addition, a "clamorous political movement" had grown up, willing to take power into its hands and destroy the good as well as the bad to which society

Dr. George Easton, Quinte Conference Head Will Preach In George Street Church

REV. DR. G. S. EASTON, M.A., B.D.

The congregation of George Street United Church is to have an official visit from the president of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada on Sunday morning. Dr. Easton has given splendid leadership in Conference matters since coming both Peterborough Presbytery and as minister of Trinity United Church in this city nine years ago and his zeal for the missionary enterprise of the church was recognized when several years ago he was appointed chairman of the Missionary and Maintenance committee for the Peterborough Presbytery and latter in the same capacity in the Conference. Dr. Easton is a veteran of World War I and is chaplain of the Prince of Wales Rangers (R), chairman of the Cadet's Committee of the Peterborough Rotary Club, of which he is a past president.

At the present time he is filling an extremely important role as chairman of the sub committee of the Citizen Committee on War Casualties for Peterborough and district.

Industry Not Able To Shoulder Total Burden Of Employment

Industry cannot be expected to shoulder the total burden of employment following the war, because such an act would bring about overproduction and depressions, but instead the useful services like health, recreational and conservation of natural resources, could also absorb a tremendous number of workers, G. R. Langley told the Kiwanis club Friday.

He said that about two years ago there was an amazing growth of committees and organizations devoting time and thought to postwar conditions, largely due to the fact that no one is satisfied with prewar aims. In spite of this there has been little specific planning and a great deal of scoffing, Mr. Langley continued.

"The almost universal, yet erroneous opinion of economics is that it is a huge and complicated subject far beyond the grasp of the average citizen. So prevalent is this opinion that only a small fraction of 1 per cent of the educated people make any effort to understand it. Fundamental economic laws are simple and there must be a more general understanding about them by a large educated public opinion that will ensure steadfast support to all correct measures.

Tremendous Increase

"With the present population, full employment would mean about 4½ million workers. Figures for 1929 and 1937 in manufacturing employment show roughly 665,000. Add to this construction, mining, fishing and electric power and the total is only 1,100,000 or 25 per cent of the desired total employment.

"If we blindly try to force industry to absorb a much larger number than this, the fine backlog of construction needs and the deficit of consumer goods will in due time be wiped out. Then overproduction would occur, followed by depression as in the past, and irrespective of whether capitalism or socialism was in control of industry."

No Inventions

Mr. Langley refuted the idea that inventive genius will provide some device to create new employment on a scale similar to the automobile. He said that at the moment there is no drastic increase in sight for aircraft, plastics or electronics. In his opinion, the effective solution lies in the combination of radically increased useful services; decreased working hours and shorter span of working years and the result would be increased employment in industry.

Employment in useful services is far from saturation point, he emphasized, and Canadian economy can readily support not merely increased, but tremendously increased employment in the health and recreational services and for conservation of national resources.

"Antagonism to the radical extension of useful services would probably be met from the wrongly held opinion that the cost would be a heavy burden on the tax payer. Such services are truly self sustaining as is the case of the farm that produces needed food or the industry which produces needed goods. The ideal set up for full employment is free enterprise for the production of goods with socialism for the services with an acknowledged responsibility on the part of the services to provide a vastly greater share of employment than in the past."

Cobourg Trip

Mr. Langley, who is chairman of the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada studying post war problems, a member of the special planning committee of the C.G.E. and a member of the general committee of the Engineering Institute of Canada, was introduced by Jacob Low and the vote of thanks was made by William Richardson.

Members were reminded of the first meeting of the Cobourg Kiwanis Club Tuesday night. The Peterborough Club has been instrumental in bringing about the organization in Cobourg and a busload will attend. The bus will leave the Empress Hotel at shortly after 5:30 Tuesday.

Heavy Bombers Blast Sofia

ALGIERS, Dec. 11—(AP)—U.S. heavy bombers attacked the railway yards at Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, yesterday for the third time in a month, it was announced today.

The heavy bombers struck through a swarm of 40 intercepting fighters, shooting down 11. All the bombers returned safely.

(A Budapest dispatch received in Berne said leaflets dropped on Sofia by planes in recent days had warned that Sofia would experience heavier raids unless Bulgaria got out of the war.)

The heavy attack—the Sofia radio said waves of Allied planes dumped explosives for 105 minutes—came at the height of what appeared to be a Bulgarian government crisis. A few hours after the raid, it was announced that the Parliament had recessed for a week, a move suggesting an attempt to stem growing demands for peace.

The Sofia broadcast said the assault caused great destruction and killed many persons.

For the last two days, Dobri Bojilov, the pro-German Bulgarian premier, has been trying to hold together his sagging regime after a vote of no confidence, and is taking over the foreign portfolio for himself after the minister resigned, it was said.

Bulgars In Whirl

The Bulgars appears to be caught in a whirling political and military mixup to which the country's relations with Russia, with whom she is not at war, may be a key. In the opinion of foreign military experts the Bulgarian army might oppose a Turkish invasion, but would be unreliable, even mutinous, if asked to fight the Russians.

Sofia in the past few days has gone to some lengths to publicize the fact that military attaches have been exchanged by Bulgaria and the Soviet Union.

Driver Is Facing Three Counts

As the result of a traffic accident at Romaine and Park streets shortly after 6 o'clock Friday evening Leslie Booth, Waterford street, faced three charges before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning.

Booth was charged with drunken driving, careless driving and driving without a license.

Without pleading he asked for an adjournment and was remanded until Wednesday morning with bail fixed at $500.

According to police, Booth was driving west on Romaine street and on reaching Park street, turned north. As he did so his car came into collision with another automobile driven north on Park street by Joseph Blodgett, 380 London street. As a result of that crash Blodgett's car collided with a southbound machine driven by Simpson Gledhill, 191 Crescent street and a fourth automobile driven by George Royea, Crawford's Grove arrived on the scene to come into contact with the car driven by Booth.

All four machines were damaged. Blodgett's car had the right front fender, front axle, and brake rod damaged and the headlight lens broken. The steering-gear, horn, right front fender and radiator of Gledhill's automobile suffered, the fenders and running board of the car driven by Booth and the front fender of Royea's car were damaged.

Booth was arrested by officers John Morrow and Ernest Beatty who investigated the accident.

Firemen Kept Busy As Thermometer Drops

The sudden cold spell with subsequent extra firing up caused several minor fires Friday evening which gave the Fire Department a little work.

The first alarm was received at 6:37 at the home of W. Suddards, 183 Bethune street for a chimney fire. At 7:50 a call was received from 386 Burnham street that the wires were down and the Utilities were notified. At 8:46 J. Smith of 161 Rutherford Avenue reported a chimney fire and at 8:54 firemen turned down a call at 43 Monaghan Road, because it was outside the city. The last call came at 9:06 at the home of G. Morency, 106 Gladstone Avenue for a chimney fire. There was no damage.

Chief Gimblett, who has been receiving calls about Christmas decorations, said this morning the trees this year must not have any paper or cloth decorations. These are strict rules from the Fire Marshal's office, he said.

Obituary

MRS. R. J. STEELE.

The sudden and unexpected passing early Sunday morning, at her home in Norwood, of Mabel Isabel Graham, wife of Robert J. Steele, was a shock to many neighbors, friends and relatives. Mrs Steele, who was in her 52nd year, was in her usual good health and had spent Saturday away from home and arrived home the latter part of the evening and passed away quietly in her sleep during the night.

The youngest daughter of the late John Graham and Margaret Stewart, she was born in Otonabee Township and has always resided in the district. In 1924 she was married to Mr. Steele.

A member of Norwood United Church, she was an active worker in the Women's Association and the Women's Misionary Society, a good neighbor and friend to all who knew her.

Surviving are her husband, two daughters, Margaret (Mrs. H. L. MacMillan of Campbellford), Eileen 11 and Everetta 16; also three stepchildren, Arnold of Windsor, Florence (Mrs. H. Hunt of Saginaw, Mich.), and Mary (Mrs. W. Webb of Peterborough), two brothers and two sisters also survive, Alan and Harry Graham and Mrs. George Fife of Otonabee and Mrs. Barbara Brackenridge of Norwood.

Funeral service was held at the family home, Norwood, on Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. E. E. Pugsley, minister of Norwood United Church. During the service Rev. Mr. Pugsley read a favorite hymn of the deceased, "He leadeth Me," and a solo "In the Upper Garden" was sun gy L. C. Gunstone. A profusion of floral offerings showed the esteem of a large circle of friends and relatives. Many from the district attended.

Interment was made in Westwood Cemetery. Pall-bearers included three brothers-in-law, Rendle Dickson, William Steele, Melville Pimmett of Keene, and L. C. Gunstone and Walter Webb of Norwood.

A main reason for centering the Canadian wing here, besides the fact it will grow side by side with the best British developments in plastic surgery, is the fact that the town has adopted the convalescence of men with scarred faces and injured limbs as an expected part of everyday life.

Mrs. Helen Girard Gets Two Months

Mrs. Helen Girard was sentenced to two months in jail by Judge Smoke last night on her conviction by a jury of false pretences in an insurance claim following a fire at Norwood last January which destroyed the house in which she was a tenant and most of her effects except some silver and chinaware, curtains and a radio.

"This seems to me an unfortunate case," His Honor said. "There is no doubt you were influenced to a certain extent by the man known as Emory, a picked up acquaintance. If you had succeeded in getting money from the insurance company you would have been liable to a term in the penitentiary. I do not feel that this is a case for suspended sentence, but I do feel that the circumstances in which you find yourself are largely due to outside influence. I am making your sentence light, two months in jail, and I suggest that you think things over during that time, that you think of your husband overseas, prepared to give his life for his country and you. I hope you will come out with a different view of life in general, and with a different idea of your duties as a married woman, especially a soldier's wife."

Eleven Recruits Are Added To Services

Over a period of weeks the recruiting service at the Armouries has been at a low ebb, but during the past week it has taken an upward sweep and eleven recruits are reported.

Fish And Game Association Has Hot Session

A new era of activity was ushered into existence at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association on Friday night when a bombshell was exploded during the election of officers, upsetting the election and making another meeting necessary. The new meeting is slated for next Friday, December 17 in the Chamber of Commerce.

Charles Kingan, president of the Association, was in the chair, and the first order of business was the passing of the financial report, read by Alex Weddell, secretary-treasurer. The report showed a membership of 43 and a cash balance of $153.26. This included a grant of $100 from the City Council, a donation of $25.00 from the Lucky Strike Bait Company, and a donation of $10 from the Peterborough Canoe Company.

The minutes of previous meetings could not be read because no minute book was available.

Mr. Kingan retained the chair for the election of officers, and told the meeting he was ready to step down in favor of someone else, pointing out at the same time, that the organization had been pretty much of a one man concern. The meeting however insisted he stand again, and he accepted when there were no other nominations. Then the following were named, Frank Edgar, vice-president; Alex Weddell, secretary-treasurer, and three executive members, Wallace Harvey, Wallace Davidson and Frank Barrett.

At this point the fireworks started. Wallace Harvey suggested Fred Marshall as a member of the executive, as three more were required to complete the slate. Mr. Marshall refused and said "I don't want to associate myself with any organization that is beaten before it starts. The Association has only 43 members, and a few years ago it had over 400."

Elect Same Crowd

Pressed for an explanation of his statement, Mr. Marshall said the citizens were not behind the organization, because the same old crowd were elected year after year, and instead of having any influence with the Department of Game and Fisheries, were ignored or overruled as the Department saw fit. He recalled an alleged incident of a few years ago when the members refused to stick to the constitution and the wishes of the Association, but rather sided with the then member of parliament, agreeing with a Department proposal changing the opening of the muskie season to June 20, when the majority of the members were opposed to any change.

Mr. Marshall made it amply clear that he would not stand for office unless a clean sweep of the old officers was made.

"You could take the presidency if you would accept it" Wallace Harvey said.

"Not to-night, I couldn't, it wasn't offered to me" Marshall replied, explaining that his name was first suggested as vice-president then as an executive member.

"There's not much use of us even organizing until we learn whether or not the new Department of Game and Fisheries intends to do something constructive and worthwhile" Frank Barrett stated.

"We can elect a slate of officers and make our recommendations to the Department, then see what will be done" Sid Black added.

"The trouble last year was not that we failed to make recommendations, we made them too late" Chris Graham said.

Warm Discussion

Discussion waxed rather warm among the 18 men present and the members were unanimous on one point and that was that Charlie Kingan had done yeoman service during his term of office.

At this point the discussion digressed from the main topic and many opinions were given, including one that every part of the county should be represented on the Association, that regular events should be held to keep the interest high, that the Association should get sufficient members to be a power when they presented any demands or recommendations to the Department, and many other items.

Finally when it became obvious that election of officers that night was out of the question, with several direct references to the part politics play in securing favors from the Department of Game and Fisheries it seemed that a stalemate had been reached.

Chris Graham, Sid Black, Wallace Harvey, and Alex Weddell all expressed a desire to drop out, and told the meeting in blunt language that the reason they continued to accept office was not because they wanted to, but because nobody else would show enough interest to take hold, and do the job that had to be done if fish and game was to be protected in Peterborough County.

Wallace Harvey at this point poured oil on the troubled waters, pointing out that regardless of the small membership, and the fact that the county had not made a grant to the Association, the restocking program had not been neglected, for a tremendous number of fry, fingerling and yearlings, had been placed in the waters of the County."

"That's a fact" Chris Graham added.

It was mentioned at this point that certain irregularities had existed in the matter of procedure in the conduct of the meeting, and seizing on this loop-hole to straighten out, the tangle, Sid Black moved, seconded by Johnny Wilson that a nominating committee be named to bring a slate of officers at a meeting to be held next Friday, and that the election of officers at the meeting be rescinded.

Name Committee

The motion carried without a dissenting vote. Sid Black, Fred Goodfellow, Percy Edwards, Ed. Groce and Johnny Wilson, were then appointed a nominating committee and will bring in their report at the next meeting.

Harold Scott, M.P.P. told the meeting he had been able to have the two deputy game wardens kept on for another month, and he explained that he had asked for a statement of the revenue from Peterborough county, game and fishing licenses as compared with other counties to determine how much was paid out for game wardens, with a view to having two full time men appointed.

Charlie Kingan read off several items which he had listed for the consideration of the meeting, and one was that the Association should seek accommodation in the proposed city building. His suggestion was that the Association should have a small office placed at their disposal in view of the importance of the tourist industry. He also said that he had obtained a color film from the States illustrating the proper manner of using a gun, such as how to climb a fence while carrying a gun and so on. It was decided to show this at a later date. He added that in fairness the Association should recognize the cooperation and assistance being given by several men throughout the county.

Cheese, Produce and Livestock

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 1. — (CP). — Rye futures yesterday advanced to seasonal highs on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Traders here followed the upward trend in Chicago. At the close values were ¾ to 1 cent a bushel higher. At the high for the day, rye touched $1.19¼.

Exporters, commission houses and locals took the moderate offerings, which came out mostly in the form of profit taking

Other grains were quiet. Sale of 450,000 bushels of wheat to Portugal was confirmed, while coarse grains sales included carlots of oats and barley for all rail shipment east .

Shell Barrage

adian formation alone accounted for more than 780 killed and prisoners have been coming in all day.

Artillery fire on both sides has been heavy today and the barrage still thundered and roared tonight. It appeared that the out-gunned Germans must be suffering more than the Canadians. The Allied air offensive continued from dawn to dusk.

I watched the barrage and the beginning of the infantry attack from an observation post on the southern heights. Standing out sharply in the sunlight was the much-shelled town of San Vito, about three miles southeast of San Leonardo.

Ahead and still in German hands was Otona whence the main road follows the Adriatic into Pescara where it joins one of the main lateral highways to Rome.

German snipers were taking pot shots at the observation posts when the barrage began but soon laid off as the first shells began to churn up their positions.

Working on previously selected targets, the gunners ranged their shells from one end of the valley to the other and from the river bank to positions well in the rear. The German guns fired back, although in comparatively feeble fashion. An artillery colonel watching the show described it as "just like a symphony orchestra warming up."

Versatile Fliers

GOLDSBORO, N.C., Dec. 11 — (AP).—Two pilots from Seymour Johnson air field here, while flying saw flames spurting from the home of R. W. Pierce. They landed their planes nearby and began to fight the fire, but lacked water. Undaunted, one of the pilots flew back to his base for fire extinguishers. The house was saved except for damage to the roof.

Youth Is Guilty 6 Theft Counts Given 18 Months

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 11 (ENS)—Found guilty of six charges of theft, two of which concerned automobiles, Kenneth Chard, 16, of this town pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., for a total of 18 months in the Ontario Reformatory plus a further indefinite period of six months. The accused was picked up by Constable D. Bowen on December 6, while his accomplice, Edward Hicks, 19, was arrested several hours later. According to the evidence submitted by police, Hicks had been involved only in four of the thefts and was not with Chard when he allegedly stole a car from Mrs. M. Morrow of Peterborough on December 3, and on the following day when Chard allegedly stole a car owned by Ernest Spencer of Havelock. Both cars had been abandoned by Chard, who left them undamaged.

The other four charges were that on November 25 Chard entered the C.N.R. freight sheds here and stole cartons containing 5,000 cigarettes, the property of the Canadian National Railways; that on November 19 Chard and Hicks entered the freight sheds and took 1 carton containing 24 quarts of alcohol antifreeze; on November 12 they entered the freight sheds and took two wet batteries; on November 8 they entered a garage owned by Murk Ellis and there stole a battery used for the operation of a sawing machine.

Helper at C.N.R.

C.N.R. Constable Ray Morden of Lindsay testified that Chard had been employed as a helper for the man who delivered freight for the C.N.R. He had been instructed to lock the freight shed doors and on the occasion of the thefts he had left the north-west door of the building unlocked to facilitate his later entry. The only items not returned were alcohol to the value of $3.43 and 3½ cartons of cigarettes valued at about $8.00.

Speaking in his own defence before Magistrate Langley passed sentence Chard declared his mother had died when he was a baby and that his father had been unable to look after him so he had been raised by a grandmother. Since leaving school last year when he completed Grade VIII said he had had "4 or 5 jobs." "I think you're a boy who has never had a decent chance," commented the Magistrate in passing sentence. N. Alex MacColl was counsel for Hicks, who pleaded guilty to the three theft counts and was given 1 month in the county jail, dating from the time of his arrest on December 6.

Driver Is Fined

Vincent Dainard, 16, of Campbellford pleaded guilty to a charge laid by Provincial Constable C. G. Hayes, of driving without due care and attention. The case arose following an accident on December 2 when he overturned a truck owned by Anderson's Dairy while returning to this town from Hastings. "He was driving too fast, got into a spin, rolled over and crashed," testified Constable Hayes, who added about $150.00 damage had been done to the truck. On this count he was assessed $15.00 and $2.50 costs while on a second charge of consuming liquor in on authorized premises while under the age of 21, he also pleaded guilty and paid $10.00 and $2.50 costs. Two other charges arose from Dainard's misdeeds. They involved John Condon, Jr., a waiter in the Royal Hotel, Hastings, and James Montgomery, a waiter at the Clarendon Hotel, Hastings. Both pleaded guilty to unlawfully serving beer to Dainard, a person under the age of 21 years, and each paid $20.00 and $12.50 costs with the option of 25 days. The fact they had asked Dainard his age and he told them he was over 21 did not relieve them of liability in the eyes of the magistrate. Crown Attorney H. R. Deyman conducted the prosecution.

Only other charge concerned W. D. Price of Cambellford, who pleaded guilty to failing to stop at a through street. He paid $2.00 and $2.50 costs.

Christ's New Commandment

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 12 is Mark 12:28-34; John 13:34-35; 15:10-14, the Golden Text being John 13:34, "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another; even as I have loved you, that ye also love one another.")

◇ ◇ ◇

THE SCRIBES, as you know, were learned men of the Jewish temple. One scribe came with other Sadducees from the temple at Jerusalem, to ask Jesus some questions—and to trip Him if they could.

However, as usual, Jesus answered their questions in such a way that they could find no fault with Him, and this scribe came to Him and asked Him, in apparent sincerity and earnestness, "Which is the first commandment of all?"

"And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord; And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: and this is the first commandment.

"And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love they neighbor as thyself. There is none other commandments greater than these."

And the scribe answered, "Well, Master, Thou hast said the truth: for there is one God; and there is none other but He: And to love Him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soul, and with all the strength, and to love his neighbor as himself, is more than all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices."

Jesus Is Pleased

The answer pleased the Lord, and He said, "Thou are not far from the kingdom of God." This man may never have seen Jesus again, and may never have joined His followers and become a real Christian, but he had the right spirit. He was not one of those narrow churchmen who performed the rites and ceremonies exactly, but whose heart was barren of any real religion as Jesus taught it.

This took place on Tuesday of Passion week, and on the following Thursday Jesus sat at the last supper with His disciples, and after He had told them that He would be with them but a short time longer, He said to them, "A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another."

"By this shall all men know that ye are My disciples, if ye have love one for another."

This commandment is really not new. It was prescribed in the Old Testament. But it is new in Jesus' presentation of it. Jesus' love was self-forgetful, seeking not its own, but going to the last great sacrifice of life itself for the objects of its love.

To love God with all our hearts, minds and strength is surely not the usual thing. We may say we do, but do we? Do our actions show it? And to love our neighbor as Jesus loved us—enough to lay down our lives for him if necessary—surely that is the very height of love.

That is the spirit manifest in our soldiers who give their lives that we may be free—whether they do it consciously or not. It is the spirit that should make all of us very humble and grateful when we hear or read stories of our war heroes.

It should make us vow to be true to our duties at home, however humble they may be. We should love our brothers of every race and creed—God's children all—and be willing to make every needful sacrifice to show that love. As God loves us, we should love all his own. As Jesus said in this last week of His life with men, "If ye keep My commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept My Father's commandments, and abide in His love.

"These things have I spoken unto you, that My joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full. This is My commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you.

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.

"Ye are My friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you."

This is the only true way of happiness for us—young and old, rich or poor. As He so loved the world that He gave His life for it, we will be His "friends," and can well be joyful if we remember and observe these two commandments—love for God and love toward man—all those with whom we come in contact—in school, home, neighborhood, work, play.

Is it too much that Jesus asks of us?

Tyler's Revolt Theme of Novel

By CHARLES BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, Dec. 10 — (CP). — A book has been written about the 14th century in which chain-mail, basinet and gorget take second place to the ideas, emotions, hopes and beliefs of the men who wore them.

Most popular tales about the late medieval period seem to have had their source in the costume-lofts of Hollywood. In Forges of Freedom (Macmillan) Franklin Davey McDowell of Toronto has broken with the tradition. His panoply is undoubtedly correct, but simply for the sake of authenticity, never as an end in itself. The story is in what happens in the minds and hearts of people, and its translation into action. This is a story that never ends, but is summed up from time to time when accumulated emotion find sudden expression in energy. The summing up of which Mr. McDowell writes is the Wat Tyler rebellion.

The text is this: "It is not generally known that six centuries ago thousands of English men and women lived the lives of hunted things because they had conceived the idea of individual freedom and the equality of man.....It may be submitted that where the German people tamely bent their heads to the Nazi yoke in 1933, the Anglo-Saxon people rose in arms against a similar yoke in 1381."

Mr. McDowell has adapted what is known of the history of that day mainly from the ballads, and constructed an absorbing story around the refusal of peasants and craftsmen to be made slaves of the state. It is romantic realism.

It is the story—interwoven with the personal stories of his characters—of the peasant fight against the Grossers and the court nobles, and the hard position of the honest and forthright knights and lords whose hearts were with their peasantry; but against the license and chicanery that marred the cause when power came momentarily into hands that didn't know how to use it.

In other words it is the story of human nature and its halting progress. For instance, we have Ralph Littlefriar, a peasant leader, saying at last: "I forgot my men could be strong only as men are strong, in the folly of their own ways," and implicitly admitting by planning to join with the evil Knight of the Popinjay, that what he wanted most was personal power.

Some of the best talking in the book is done by Sir John de Redeware, who hated the Grossers and court nobles as vehemently as did the peasants. He had a prescient word for Littlefriar: "I should not think too little of him. No man is so deadly as when he thinks himself to be the cause of a change, rather than a worker to bring it about." And even in that day, he was able to say: "We are all common men, Darric, if we but knew it."

Mr. McDowell has not hurried past the gallows and whipping post. Nor has he forgotten to keep his people always human. We see Lady Mary de Rose—a fine girl, but proud — sulkily setting two allied knights against each other because her pride was hurt. There are a hundred incidents that call up the thought: "That's the way it must have happened."

W.I. Reviews Busy Year

MOUNT PLEASANT, Dec. 11 — (ENS). — The annual meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Ira Lowe on Wednesday afternoon.

The hymn "Joy to the World" opened the meeting with the vice president Mrs. E. Lawson in the chair followed by prayer, being offered by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Honey.

Mrs. Millar of Port Burwell, a visitor in the community gave the devotional, taking her very inspiring talk from the third chapter of Galatians.

The members answering the roll call with a "Promise from the Bible." Mr. Honey spoke on behalf of the Red Cross Blood Donors clinic, stressing the need of more donors.

The secretary, Mrs. H. Jamieson gave the report of the year's activities with 14 members on the role, 11 meetings were held, with an average attendance of 11, two pot luck dinners were held and 4 quiltings. Mrs. W. H. Lowes, the financial secretary, gave her report with a balance of $114.96 from 1942. Receipts this year, amounted to $178; expenditures $139.78 with a balance of $38.22.

Mr. Honey voiced his appreciation of work done by the ladies after which he presided for the election of officers for 1943, which resulted in the following slate:

President, Mrs. E. Lawson; vice president, Mrs. L. McConkey, recording secretary, Mrs. H. Jamieson; financial secretary, Mrs. W. H. Lowes; corresponding secretary Mrs. Ira Lowe; treasurer, Mrs. T. Graham; organist, Mrs. C. Best; representative on official Board, Mrs. G. Shield; devotional committee, Mrs. C. Best, Mrs. N. Fee, Mrs. M. Jones; sick committee, Mrs. H. Gardiner, Mrs. W. Downer, Mrs. A. Tully; membership committee, all members; reprentative on parsonage board, Mrs. Thomas Graham.

A short program followed; a reading "Christmas is a Time of Lights" by Mrs. G. Shield; reading "Friend" by Mrs. Graham. Mrs. Lawson gave a talk on carol singing in the Old Country, illustrating this by singing several of these carols, which were very much appreciated.

The hymn "Jesus is Calling" followed by the Mizpah Benediction closed the meeting.

Marmora W.I. Meeting

MARMORA, Dec. 11 —(ENS).— The December meeting of the Marmora Women's Institute was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. F. R. Wells. Mrs. L. Green, president, occupied the chair, the attendance being a little lower than usual owing to illness. In dealing with correspondence, a letter from the Department of Agriculture was read concerning slides on agricultural and domestic subjects which are available to branches of the Institute. Discussion on the subject was deferred until the next meeting. Pamphlets on health received from George S. White, M.P., were also passed around at the meeting. Twenty-five dollars was voted to the Library Board.

The program consisted of community singing of Christmas carols, a reading on Christmas customs in various lands and the rendition of two carols by Mrs. P. Gray.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Brady and will take the form of grandmothers' night.

Your Church News

The Christian Ideal

By E. R. JAMES.

"Behave as citizens worthy of the gospel of Jesus Christ."—Phil. 1: 27. R.V.

Are you completely absorbed in the saving of your own soul? This is only a half truth. The other and equally important half is your membership in the Body of Christ. St. Paul, who values highly his Roman citizenship reminds Christians of their privileges and responsibilities as members of the higher Kingdom of God under the rule of Christ the King.

Roman citizenship was highly esteemed. A Roman citizen could appeal to Caesar when he felt he was unjustly treated by an arrogant Roman judge. But that privilege implied membership within the body of the Empire. St. Paul knew that the Philippians thoroughly understood him when he says: "Behave as citizens worthy of the Gospel of Jesus Christ." These Christians were only a small body in that city. But they were closely watched by their neighbors who knew the popular idea that "they were turning the world upside down" by their revolutionary ideas. Christianity in very truth is revolutionary, but not in the popular sense of violently overturning the Roman Government. Their ideas were to be the leaven in the heathen mass. As Christians they were to take a deep and active interest in all the affairs of the community guided by the principles of Christianity. Bishop Lightfoot, one of the masters of this epistle, tells us that the word "citizen" refers to "the public duties of a man as a member of a body." In simple, plain language are you a Christian citizen? Are you behaving as such?

The Bible opens with the story of a couple in the Garden of Eden. It closes with the vivid picture of "The Holy City, the new Jerusalem, coming down from Heaven" with its multitudes of citizens whom no man could number.

One of the greatest books ever written was "The City of God" by St. Augustine, who spent twenty years over it, pouring out the wealth of his scholarship and Christian philosophy. It was written while the Roman Empire was crumbling before his eyes. In the dark middle ages which followed many a statesman found help, courage and inspiration from it. What does your Christian citizenship mean? Have you ever used it by voting? Do not forget that an active minority can rule a large but indifferent majority who have been too lazy to cast their votes.

The Examiner in its editorial on July 1st refers to "The oath of a free man" which Stephen Daye set down in 1939: "I do solemnly bind myself in the sight of God that when I shall be called to give my voice touching any such matter of State in which freemen are to deal, I will give my vote and suffrage as I shall judge in my own conscience may best conduce and tend to the public weal of the body, without any respect of persons, or favor of any man."

A modern historian gravely reminds us that "a man loved Rome not because she was great but she became great because they loved her." Profound words when our thoughts centre upon modern Rome in these anxious day of war.

Today we have to remember the psychological war that is being waged which will leave its marks upon our children and theirs. So called ideologies flourish which capture unthinking people. Do you pray for a right judgment to deal with these? Perhaps you may be moved to offer this prayer:

"O eternal God, through Whose mighty power our fathers won their liberties of old; Grant, we beseech Thee, that we and all the people of this land may have grace to maintain these liberties in righteousness and peace; through Jesus Christ our Lord."

"Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."

"I am a Christian citizen."

W.M.S. Gives Membership

GORE'S LANDING, Dec. 11 — (ENS).—The Christmas W. M. S. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Cheyne, Rice Lake Blvd., on Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Pratt the president, in the chaiar. The year's report of various secretaries was presented, showing excellent work and good organization for this period. The finances were most satisfactory with $94.00 in the treasury. The Christmas supper and entertainment was arranged for Thursday evening, December 23rd in the church hall.

Miss Flora MacDonald was group leader and conducted the worship service, using Christmas carols and a candle lighting ceremony. Mrs. Ames, vice-pres., called on Miss Ella Waldon to read an address, after which Mrs. Lynn MacDonald (nee Emily Pratt) presented her mother, Mrs. F. W. Pratt with a life membership in the W.M.S. from the family and the auxiliary.

Rev. M. C. Fisher presided at the election of officers. President, Mrs. Ames; 1st vice, Mrs Fisher; 2nd vice, Miss Bella Smart; secretary, Mrs. Joseph Harris; treasurer, Miss Ella Waldon; secretaries: Stewardship, Miss Jennie Fowlie; missionary monthly, Mrs. Neill; temperance education, Miss Agnes Smart; assistant, Mrs. MacDonald; organist, Miss Flora MacDonald; courtesy committee, Mrs. Lyn MacDonald, Mrs. Ealeston, Mrs. McFarland. Group leaders for the year, Mrs. Wallace Pratt, Miss Flora MacDonald and Mrs. Lyn MacDonald.

Mr. Fisher pronounced the benediction and a happy social hour followed with the hostess serving a lovely lunch.

Mrs. Anderson Fifth Term

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 11 — (ENS).—Theme of Christmas was carried through annual meeting of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid which met in the ladies' parlors of the church Thursday afternoon, to elect Mrs. J. C. Anderson as their president for the 5th successive year. Annual reports were given and indicated that from a financial viewpoint the year had been entirely successful. According to Mrs. H. T. Scott, not only had the group been able to make a $300 contribution to the Board of Managers early in the year, but they were in a position to give another $200 at the Christmas season, and this would still leave them with a substantial balance—larger than it had been for two years.

Though the Ladies' Aid listed only twenty-three members with an average attendance at the ten regular meetings of eleven, the important function of the Ladies' Aid was served to a large extent by the four groups into which they were divided under Mrs. T. Patrick, Mrs. I. B. Hutcheon, Mrs. R. J. Belshaw, each of whom lead a group in town, and Mrs. McCulloch, who headed another active gorup in Seymour West. Those who belonged to the groups nearly tripled the number listed as being members of the Aid, and their individual activities included teas, quiltings, and entertainment programs. The Ladies' Aid as a whole had sponsored two church suppers and a tea during the year. Officers for 1944 are as follows—President, Mrs. J. C. Anderson; vice-presidents, Mrs. Thadeus Patrick, Mrs. F. B. Adamson, Mrs. P. H. MacMillan; secretary, Mrs. H. T. Scott; treasurer, Mrs. Hugh Todd; pianist, Mrs. Ben Frederick.

Christ's New Commandment — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Mark 12:28-34; John 13:34, 35; 15:10-14.

Jesus said to the scribe that questioned Him: "The second commandment is like, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Jesus declared that His disciples should be known, not by their prayers and declarations of belief, but by the fact that they "love one another."

"If ye keep My commandments ye shall abide in My love, even as I have kept My Father's commandments, and abide in His love."

"Greater love have no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends," said Jesus.

The CBC And Mr. Bracken

The CBC has managed to get itself into a lot of hot water during the past few months. The lack of a General Manager and a complete Board of Governors is doing it great harm. The refusal to allow Mr. John Bracken's speech to be broadcast last night was high-handed and silly, and if it had been the first mistake of its kind it would have been bad enough. But it was not the first; it was the most recent of a series of similar mistakes which have convinced everyone in Canada who cares about radio that the CBC needs reorganization, several new department heads, and a strong and sensible man in the General Manager's office. Like so many government projects, the CBC seems to be rich in needless complication and subtlety, but short of ordinary horse sense; true, it has been devilled by all sorts of investigations and probes, and has suffered from a sense of unease for the past four years, but the sooner it is given an injection of ordinary gumption the happier everyone will be.

Mr. Bracken is the leader of a national party, and there are thousands of his followers in Canada who would be glad to hear him speak over the air. He is not allowed to do so because his speech would necessarily be political. This attitude is typical of a lot of Canadian thinking. Although we boast of our freedom we are, as a nation, afraid of free discussion and criticism; when we do criticise, we are apt to descend to abuse and mud-slinging. Until we alter this attitude of mind, we shall never be an adult people.

Free discussion of national problems on the radio, guided by good taste and discretion, would do our country much good. Suppression of speeches by leaders of parties which are not in power is distasteful, to put it mildly. It is being said that the present government suppresses the radio addresses of men who are likely to criticise it, and if that is true, it is taking the shortest route to defeat at the next general election. It is intolerable that freedom of the air should be a prerogative of the party in power, and if the Liberal party were not in power it would be loud in its protests. Party allegiance has nothing to do with feeling in this matter; the thing is a question of principle, and the principle on which political speeches are vetoed by the CBC is a wrong one.

Cold Comfort For The Forces

We are sometimes amazed by the lack of imagination which our Government shows in small matters. We almost wrote 'lack of humanity', but that would be unjust and untrue; the men who comprise the Government are indeed humane, but they lack the common touch, the ability to feel as ordinary citizens of Canada feel. Consider, for instance, the decision of the Department of National Defence to suspend the custom of giving the armed forces their December pay before Christmas; it has been usual to give the men their money on the fifteenth, so that they might have a few dollars in hand to celebrate the great holiday, but this year, "in line with the Government's policy of discouraging non-essential buying and outlays unnecessary to the war effort", it will not be so.

This means simply that civilians will be able to buy Christmas gifts and Christmas cheer, but the men in uniform will not be able to do so, unless they have a few dollars put by. Understandably, these men will feel that they have been made the goats of the Government; because their pay lies in the hands of a government department, they are to have an abstemiousness forced on them which does not apply to the rest of the country.

If the men and women in uniform were to get their pay on the fifteenth, they would probably spend most of it on such non-essentials as gifts for their friends, their families, and their children; money would be wasted on turkey and plum pudding, and such stimulating and deleterious drinks as tannin, alcohol and caffeine. Some of them, no doubt, would make contributions to Christmas funds and charities, which have nothing to do with winning the war.

But we are fighting this war to preserve our liberty to live a decent, kindly, humane life, warmed by friendship and love. That is the fact which the chilly gentlemen at the Department of National Defence appear to have forgotten. How can we remind them that a war has its psychological, as well as its economic and military side?

Christmas Spending Spree

The press of the United States reports a Christmas spending spree of unexampled proportions. People are spending thousands of dollars on furs; there is a big sale in phials of rare perfumes costing between $10 and $200; toys for children costing as much as $100 are selling readily; hats at $75 and night-dresses at $50 go like hot-cakes; a truck-driver is reported to have stopped his vehicle in the street while he ran into a shop to buy a bowl costing $125; rich people are buying necklaces and other baubles ranging in price from $75,000 to $500,000. Most people have plenty of money and are eagerly looking for ways of getting rid of it.

This of course is a bad situation. Because we have said that we think it a pity that our armed forces cannot have their December pay before Christmas, we do not necessarily approve of spending sprees. They lead directly to inflation, and if inflation takes a firm hold on the U.S. Canada will have a desperate problem to hold prices down here.

But disapproval of spending sprees does nothing to control them. They are inevitable when people have a lot of unexpected easy money, and they are understandable, too. There are few women who would not snatch the opportunity to use $200 perfume if it presented itself, and almost every man has a hankering to give his wife a fur coat; it is a survival, perhaps, from an earlier time when the most successful hunter decked his squaw with the rarest pelts. If a truck-driver has the aesthetic sense to appreciate a $125 bowl there is no reason why he should not buy one. And as for the sale of jewels, people who have half a million dollars know that it is far safer in a necklace than it will be in bonds, if inflation comes; the value of diamonds is considerably more stable than that of money, if things really begin to soar. The same reasoning accounts for the boom in the sale of art masterpieces.

Most of us yearn for luxury of some kind, and unless the government takes every loose penny we have, we will indulge ourselves and inflation will come. The government of the U.S. is not taking the loose money from its people, and as sure as there is a sun in the sky, there will be inflation and its attendant miseries. The worst of it is that Canada will be dragged into the inflationary whirlwind, at least to some extent. A little cheerful spending at Christmas is a fine thing, but an orgy of spending in the U.S. at this time is very bad news for Canada.

Minding Other People's Business

The celebrated author and Nobel Prize winner, Mr. Sinclair Lewis, visited Toronto recently and gave an interview to the press in which he said that he thought that an Anglo-American Empire would be of inestimable advantage to the post-war world, but that it would be an impossibility, so far as the U.S. was concerned, as long as Britain maintains a titled class. In bringing up this subject Mr. Lewis is engaged in the old author's game of minding other people's business. We do not believe for one moment that he thinks an Anglo-American federation is either possible or desirable, or he would not put forward such a silly obstacle to it. If the two great English-speaking blocs—the United States and the British Commonwealth—decided to join forces for peace as well as for war, no trifle would stop them, and the matter of titles would certainly be trifle in such a connection. Mr. Lewis brought the matter up solely to make himself disagreeable on the subject of titles, because he dislikes them.

If a man and woman decide to marry, and are genuinely determined on that course, they do not say to each other, "I won't have you unless you shave off your moustache", or "We can't be married unless you promise to give up high heels"; they are above such trifles. And similarly, if two nations decide to unite in a great cause, they will not make capricious and footling demands upon one another. We cannot feel that Mr. Lewis was wise in bringing up a personal prejudice in this matter.

Further Notes By An Idler

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY, Nov. 21: Profaned the Sabbath by piling cordwood in my cellar, in order to get it in out of the snow, which was heavy and wet. Still—"Dilige et quod vos fac" as St. Augustine says—"If you love God you may do as you incline," and my inclination was to save my wood. In the middle of my struggles a man came to call, and I had the utmost difficulty in getting him to leave. Many people seem to suffer from this inability to seize the right moment for their departure. I yearned for him to be off, but he sat and sat. The Art of Departing should be taught in all schools.

MONDAY, Nov. 22: Very tired from my exertions with the cordwood. Was visited by a woman who wanted advice about a course in journalism which she proposed to take by correspondence. Many of these correspondence courses are excellent, but few people have the self-discipline to keep working at them with no inspiration and no encouragement save what they supply themselves....Some fuss in the papers about the new CBC forum, "Of Things To Come." I shall be surprised if it is half as desperate as its opposers fear it will be.

TUESDAY, Nov. 23: The CBC forum began tonight with a playlet about the Spanish war, and its characters were just what one would expect—a young idealist, his female counterpart, and a wicked banker who plotted to oppress the Common Peepul. Whichever way you sliced it, it was still boloney, though the author was Morley Callaghan, who ought to have outgrown that sort of thinking by this time. If the forum is no more provocative than that, it might as well save its breath....Saw an advertisement for a book club, offering Homer's "Iliad" as a prize to new members; "You will chuckle as the gods wrangle over the fate of Paris....despair with Achilles ....weep with Hecuba....you'll feel the excitement of this drama as though you were there." it says. Frankly, I doubt it; the Iliad is great stuff, but not quite the sort of thing which people like who join clubs in order to have a committee choose their reading for them.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 24: Dined with some friends in the teaching profession, and saw the biggest roast of beef I have seen in a year; I hope it wasn't from the black market. I almost worshipped it, as though it were the Golden Calf. Also ate some little cakes made by a domestic science class; they were excellent and had real sugar icing. If girls are taught to cook as well as that in our schools why is it that so many brides can't boil water?....Discussed the futility of continuing to teach air raid precautions and map-reading to high school students. Surely we may admit to ourselves now that if England had fallen in 1940 we would have been unable to defend ourselves from attack here, and the U.S. couldn't have done anything for us. Literally the British stand saved the world at that time.

⋄ ⋄ ⋄

THURSDAY, Nov. 25: Went Christmas shopping for toys today; toys are not as good as they were in my young day, and the fault cannot all be laid to the war, either. What an odd business Christmas is! "Getting and spending we lay waste our powers," but we do extraordinarily little planning to have a genuinely good time, and the devotional side of the season means nothing to the majority. Odd that everyone would oppose a move to secularize the holiday, yet popular custom has done so almost completely....The best Christmas stocking should contain at least one carefully chosen gift from its owner to himself. I wish it were in my power to give myself a handsome cheque this year, but it wouldn't mean very much if I did.

⋄ ⋄ ⋄

FRIDAY, Nov. 26: Received a fine present of venison today; may the giver be mightily blessed, for I love venison. I read about cooking venison in a cook-book this evening. Cook-books are excellent reading, but they always drive me to the icebox after half an hour's perusal. I believe every bride is given a cook-book, but I don't think that most of them ever read the things; at any rate few women seem to learn more than the barest elements of this important and delicate art. My advice to girls about to marry is—base your marriage firmly on a good cook-book and your husband will be your slave for sixty years, and longer.

SATURDAY, Nov. 27: Heard as much of the Metropolitan Opera broadcast as I could this afternoon, though I was distracted by other things, particularly reflection on the problem of how I could give a great many people handsome Christmas gifts without spending a fortune. The opera was "La Forza del Destino," a melodramatic piece with plenty of excellent tunes in it. I can't think why anybody calls opera highbrow entertainment; it appeals directly to a very simple fondness for melody, and has more murders and ravishings in it than any other kind of public show. If you want blood and violence, the opera is your dish; it specializes in rare meat.

On Singing Our Own Praises

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

NATIONAL Defence Minister Ralston, back in Algiers from an inspection of our troops in Italy, promptly said to correspondents: "There are no better fighting troops than the Canadians."

Most of us believe this; are rightly proud of it, but we wonder if we are the people to say it? British troops in this war have done a lot of fighting—there is the Eighth Army; but we don't hear British ministers or British generals telling correspondents or anybody else that "there are no better fighting troops" than the British. They let their deeds speak for them.

It would be better we think, more becoming, if we followed that example. As it is, and we feel it unfortunate, we are altogether too prone to go about in self-eulogy, with a sort of juvenile verbosity about our own bravery. A little more humility, which is only a sense of proportion, wouldn't do us harm.

It might stop us, for example, from speaking of the "British-Canadian Eighth Army." There is no British-Canadian Eighth Army, but only an Eighth Army in which we have two divisions at most, and in which India has practically as many troops as we have.

The Journal supported the Canadian Government's contention that there should be mention of Canadian troops in Sicily and Italy; just as it supported the idea that there should be mention of the R.C.A.F. as distinguished from the R.A.F. But there's no need to overdo it; certainly no need to keep singing our own praises. Others can do that for us—and much more acceptably.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the mother of a boy not yet four years old, and my greatest desire in the world is to make a good man out of him. Until a couple of months ago he never played with other children, but he was so lonely that I finally permitted him to play with the other children on the street. Before he started to play with them he was simply a model child. His grammar was perfect. He didn't know a word of slang. He had never heard anyone swear. But now I am nearly crazy. He swears. He is saucy. And the language he uses is shocking. And it just breaks my heart to have him talk the way he does.

I tried keeping him away from the other children, but that doesn't help. He is miserable without his companions who are about his age. We have bought a nice home in what we thought was a very desirable suburb in which to live and bring up our child. Will we have to sacrifice that and move to get him a better environment?

A WORRIED MOTHER.

ANSWER: You will have to move out of the world to find a place where the grammar of the four-year-olds' is above reproach, and where never a word of slang is heard and nobody swears even under adequate provocation. Babes in arms pick up vocabularies at which their mothers never cease to wonder and shudder, for they are positive that their little angels have never heard such words. Apparently, like the poet who lisped in numbers because the numbers came, they take to slang, and worse, because that is their natural medium of speech.

But it seems to me that you are going a long way off of the beam to hunt for trouble in taking so seriously a four-year-old's lapse from perfect grammar. Perhaps he is committing the unpardonable sin in your eyes when he gets his "I's" and "me's" and "who's" and "whom's" and "shall's" and "which's" mixed, but it is not a deliberate fall from grace. He doesn't know the difference, nor the meaning of half the words he uses. He is just at the little copy-cat age, picking up everything he hears, and he talks in the idiom of his little playmates.

One of the problems that every mother has to face is what to do about letting her young children play with other children that she cannot possibly hand-pick. Her impulse is to keep her darlings sequested from the world, safe in their own homes, where their only associates will be cultivated men and women. But that is the unkindest thing that you can possibly do to a youngster, for it makes him not only shy and anti-social, but turns him into a little prig whom the other children hate at sight, and who makes his life a burden to him.

Just remember that your boy has to live in a world that is filled with all sorts of people, the cultured and the uncultured, those whose grammar is faultless and those who murder the King's English, those who swear and those who are purists in their speech, and he has to learn to get along with them all, to take the good they can give him and leave untouched the worst.

Don't worry about a four-year-old's speech. The thing that he will carry with him to the grave is what he has learned at home.

DEAR MISS DIX: What is your opinion about necking on a blind date? My friends think it is all right, but I somehow can't see my way clear to kissing and petting someone I never saw before. If it were someone I knew, it wouldn't matter if I did kiss him, but it seems somehow different when he is a stranger. Am I a prude, or just being childish?

BLIND DATE BLUES.

ANSWER: It seems to me that in objecting to being kissed and mauled by any strange man who comes along, you still possess some sense of feminine reserve and fastidiousness. It is shocking enough to know that there are thousands of girls who are willing to pay with their bodies for their dates, and to let men for whom they have not the slightest affection kiss and caress them, but it is nauseating to think of a girl so callous, so lacking in every vestige of self-respect that she would accord these privileges to a man she has never seen before and probably will ever see again. Such a girl has no right to draw her skirts away from any woman of the street.

Men take women at their own valuation. Every girl writes her own price tag. If you put yourself on the bargain table, don't expect any man to value you higher than you do yourself. No girl who goes on a blind date petting party with a man is justified in resenting the way he treats her.

Break All The Dishes, Put Out The Fire

So you think you will turn over a new leaf and start all over again with a New Year resolution. If you want a model for a complete and thorough job of it, do as the Aztecs did. According to Mr. K. E. Kidd of the Royal Ontario Museum, these ancient Mexicans regarded the occasion seriously. Their "New Year," which recurred every fifty-two years, was a time of danger and grave portent. The world in fact would certainly come to an end unless the gods were lenient. They prepared for the occasion by smashing their images, breaking their pottery and by extinguishing the fires throughout the nation. On the fateful evening, vast multitudes assembled in the square before the Great Temple in Mexico City. Here priests offered appropriate prayers and sacrifices. At midnight, one whose duty it was began with his drill to make new fire on the great altar. At the first sign of flame a sigh of relief went up from the crowd, for they knew that the world would continue. Runners lighted torches at the fire and soon the whole nation was ablaze with promise. They made new idols and new pottery and new life was really begun. Examples of Aztec images and pottery, like those destroyed at their rituals, are contained in the collection of the Royal Ontario Museum.

Jump Jim Crow

To the 93-year-old Richmond Times-Dispatch last week came scores of letters on a controversial subject so touchy that other Virginia newspapers carefully avoided mentioning it; a recommendation by the Times-Dispatch's liberal editor, Virginius Dabney, that the Legislature repeal the law segregating Negroes from whites on street cars and buses.

Dabney's suggestion was strictly practical. Since Richmond operates many one-man "dead end" streetcars without a rear exit, he reasoned that race friction would be reduced if Negroes were not required to push they way past white folks to the rear while getting on cars and buses and then to the front to get off.

Even so, the Times-Dispatch was surprised by the response of its readers. By a margin of three to one, white readers favored the plan—and most of these were women. Dabney, who believes race relations can best be improved by such practical, go-easy measures rather than attempts to eliminate racial barriers all at once, then went further and proposed that Negro districts be policed by Negroes and Negro hospitals staffed by Negroes. He commented editorially: "The time has come when the South must do more than issue pious statements about loving and understanding the Negro."—Newsweek.

A Bible Message

And upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow; and continued his speech until midnight. And there were many lights in the upper chamber, where they were gathered together. And there sat in a window a certain young man named Eutychus, being fallen into a deep sleep: and as Paul was long preaching, he sunk down with sleep, and fell down from the third loft, and was taken up dead.

And Paul went down, and fell on him, and embracing him said, Trouble not yourselves; for his life is in him. When he therefore was come up again, and had broken bread, and eaten, and talked a long while, even till break of day, so he departed. And they brought the young man alive, and were not a little comforted. (Acts 20: 7-12.)

Fateful Fog

(Letter to London Daily Telegraph)

Sir,—If there had been no fog on the night of Nov. 5, 1918, the present war might not have occurred. A sweeping statement, certainly, but regard the facts.

Gen. "Boom" Trenchard (now Lord Trenchard), G.O.C. Royal Flying Corps, had selected and formed the Independent Air Force.

They flew four-engined Handley Pages, known as "Berlin Bombers," and their first raid was timed for Nov. 5, but as there was fog on that night it was postponed for a week. Before that week had elapsed the Armistice was signed.

Just one experience of being bombed by the British would, I maintain, have shown the Germans clearly what to expect in the event of another war and would also have prevented such types as Goering from deluding his people into believing that they would always be immune from aerial attacks.

That fog must still remain in the memories of members of the I.A.F. as a bitter disappointment, as it does to

A Yorkshire Inn

Early this year Canadian airmen were posted to a spot near a picturesque Yorkshire village with old-world green, Maypole, duck pond and homely inn. They found their way in due course to the inn, where the landlady was interested to hear them talking wistfully of corn-on-the-cob and other delicacies of their home towns. She bought some maize seeds, planted them in the garden behind the inn, and eventually gathered and cooked genuine cobs for the delighted Canadians.

This is just one of the many stories the Canadian airmen tell about the inn where they enjoy the warmth of Yorkshire hospitality when off duty. Many of them, drafted away, come back to spend their leave in the village—and the inn. It is a home-from-home to them.—Leeds Yorkshire Post.

Turquoise For December

December's icy streets should hold no perils if you wear turquoise jewellery, according to ancient beliefs. This stone was thought to protect the wearer from injury through falls of all kinds. Even today in some parts of the world it is considered sacred. It is sometimes used to symbolize prosperity.

On inquiry at the Royal Ontario Museum we found that it is an opaque stone, depending for beauty on its blue or green colour. Unfortunately it is somewhat porous and is, therefore, susceptible to moisture or grease. The colour may fade or change, often turn from blue to green. The sky-blue variety is considered the most valuable, and attempts are often made to restore this shade by means of various treatments.

Turquoise comes chiefly from Persia, Egypt and various localities in the United States. It has not been found in Canada.

National Selective Service Needs 150,000 Men For Essential Jobs

The manager of the Local Office of National Selective Service, W. H. L. Mellis, today stated that many more men from the farms who can be spared for the winter months, are needed for jobs in other essential industries. A minimum of 150,000 men are needed, and while the response has been encouraging, requirements have not by any means been met. Instructions have now been received here, having been issued by Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service at Ottawa, that each Local Office is to intensify its efforts to induce more men to accept work off the farm for the winter.

The Director's instructions emphasize the following points:

(1) While men from the farms are urgently needed elsewhere, no man should leave agriculture, if he is needed as a farm worker for the winter.

(2) Men will, of course, return to the farm once again, when their services are required there.

(3) Men will be paid the regular wages for whatever job they accept, and transportation will be provided if a distance has to be travelled.

(4) Workers from the farm, already given postponement under the Military Call-up by reason of being farmers, will continue on postponement if they leave the farm to take other approved essential employment for the winter.

Patriotic and Practical

In communicating with Selective Service Offices, Mr. MacNamara said: "This appeal to workers not needed on farms for the winter, is both patriotic and practical. If jobs in the woods, to cut fuel, logs, mine and railway timbers and pulpwood, are not filled, the war effort, and as well our national welfare, will suffer seriously. The same may be said of employment vacancies in packing plants, at railway maintenance, and flour and feed mills. Men not needed on the farms for the winter are the only sizeable supply of workers we have left to call on in Canada, to get these jobs done this winter. Certainly, it is a patriotic duty for farmers who can do so, to respond. Then, of course, the wages earned will add to the year's earnings for men who take these jobs. The extra money will help at home." Mr. MacNamara points out that young farm workers on military postponement, where they can take winter jobs off the farm, will really be carrying out the intention with which postponement was granted—so that they may engage at essential work for as much of the year as possible.

Mr. Mellis, the Selective Service manager, said that where men could not be placed in this locality, they will be given work in another district. In any event, there is no shortage of openings.

As the Provincial Governments are co-operating with Selective Service to secure men from the farms, any man interested may consult his Local Farm Production committe for details, as well, of course, as any Selective Service office.

Dollar-a-Year Key Men Want Release

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 — (CP). — Indications are beginning to appear that the men who helped the Government organize Canadian industry for war production are getting itchy feet and thinking of getting back to their peacetime jobs.

A couple of the key men in Munitions Minister Howe's Department resigned just recently—E. P. Taylor of Toronto, Deputy to Munitions Minister Howe on the Joint Production Board, and Henry Borden of Toronto, Co-ordinator of Controls.

The slackening-off of war production would seem to show the major task of re-organizing production for war has been completed.

Better news from the war fronts and official predictions the war in Europe may end in 1944 bring closer the challenge of post-war reconstruction and arranging for production of civilian goods. Many executives feel they've got a big job to do in their own companies and that the demand here isn't now so great.

Way Down List

Place cards: Appointments of Ray Atherton as United States ambassador here has drawn some little attention to an oddity of the official table of precedence in Canada.

Mr. Atherton's name is third on the list; but the name of Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, the United Kingdom High Commissioner, is 36th. It works out this way:

First, of course, is the Governor-General and then the Prime Minister, Mr. Mackenzie King. Immediately after the Prime Minister, by "courtesy" cames "Minister of Foreign Powers" and Mr. Atherton, as Ottawa's only ambassador, heads that group. Behind him come 13 ministers.

Mr. MacDonald does not represent a foreign power so loses out. He follows the 19 members of the Cabinet. Officials on the subject agreed something ought to be done about it.

Bloodless Campaign: When a number of civic officials were here for an appearance before the Commons Reconstruction Committee, Mayor A. C. Ross of Sherbrooke, Que., got a raise out of Mayor John W. Fry of Edmonton.

Mayor Fry had told of the great influx of Americans who had a part in northwest developments like the Alaska Highway.

"Yes," said Mayor Ross, "the Americans claim Edmonton is the only city they've taken in this war without firing a shot."

The Edmontonian should only shake his head vigorously and mumble some denial.

Boss Starts Work

HALIFAX, Dec. 11 (CP). —It's not much use being an executive in Halifax these days, what with the manpower, boypower and girlpower shortages.

There weren't enough messengers available today, so E. G. White, Canadian Pacific Telegraphs agent here, had to pick up telegrams himself.

Another executive, J. D. Monaghan, sales manager of Moirs here, has had to drive the firm's delivery wagon on occasion recently.

Germans Expect Raid On Coast

LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP). —Berlin broadcasts to-day reflected Germany's fear of a possible Allied invasion from the west with an official disclosure that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel had inspected German defences in Denmark and a forecast by Ludwig Sertorius, Nazi military commentator, that an Anglo-American cross-channel attack would coincide with an expected Russian winter offensive.

"It is safe to suppose," said Sertorius in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, "that the Russians will again launch a grand winter offensive and that they have insisted that the British and Americans attack in the west at the same time.

"Forces for this invasion are known to be ready with an estimated 50 divisions or more concentrated in Britain.

"If no Russian offensive materializes this winter one can conclude that the Allies have not completed their arrangements. In that case the invasion will begin in the spring."

The southern front, Sertorius suggested, would "play a junior role at the beginning, but when the big thing starts the Allied pressure in the south will increase."

Sertorius estimated there were 26 divisions in the south available to the Allied armies.

In another broadcast, D.N.B., German News Agency, announced that Rommel, Nazi commander in the Balkans, had "visited German troops in Denmark within the last few days."

Senators Favor Railway Wage Boost

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP).—Legislation to raise the pay of 1,100,000 railroad clerks and other non-operating workers in the United States went to the House of Representatives to-day, boosted along by an overwhelming Senate vote that amounted to a repudiation of the President's stabilization directors.

Headed by Majority Leader Barkley—whose office normally makes him the administration spokesman on the floor—the Senate voted 74 to 4 in favor of the eight-cent hourly wage hike late yesterday. If the House concurs the resolution will be sent to the President.

The vote came only two days after United States War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes attacked the proposal as inlationary.

14-Year-Old Groom Marries Girl 16

JACKSON, O., Dec. 11 — (AP) — Fourteen-year-old David Meacham, Jr., is planning to quit his Sixth Grade classes for a job to support his 16-year-old bride, the former Mary Lou Spires. The couple were married Monday.

The bride who last year attended the Sixth Grade here is one of eight children. Her family lives on the farm adjoining the Meacham's. The 14-year-old groom is an only child.

Until David gets a job and money for a place of his own, the newlyweds announced they each would continue to live with their parents.

• The main street of a town in Sicily, showing the infantry followed by mechanized equipment. Typical is the country in the background, with its rolling hills and the beautiful church, happily in good condition after the battle.

by PETER STURSBERG

Peter Stursberg, of the CBC, was the first war correspondent to give the world a "sound picture" of the invasion of Europe. His broadcast of celebrations in the Sicilian town of Agira, after the Canadians took it, was heard throughout the British Empire and the United States.

Somewhere in Italy (by Cable)—War stories at best are hard to get. When a fast mechanized army is on the move, it is a job in itself to keep up with it. Fighting men must have priority, for theirs is the all-important job. Nevertheless, the newsmen, radio and press, have just got to make the grade somehow. Believe me it is no parade. It's an impressive sight to see hundreds of vehicles literally plowing their way to the front. Speeding through dust, rough country, bad roads, heat, noise and excitement. It is really a power drive that we're putting on. You almost have to wait till it's over to know what you've seen. I can tell you it was a great matter of pride to us, in our General Motors Oshawa-built utility truck, to be able to hold our own against all-comers. It was in a "Chevvy" that we brought back the world's first sound picture of fighting in Sicily. If the fellows back home who sweated to turn out these countless cars moving forward into tough engagements could only see the splendid product of their toil and skill fighting against rough conditions, they'd be just as proud as the lads who are in this scrap. We travelled for hundreds of miles over the rough, rocky roads of Sicily to the steep "Devil's Gap" of Italy. It is interesting to note that the song hit "Lily Marlene" was first recorded in our "Chevvy". But we nearly lost the truck and all when first we tried to record a close-up of "noise of battle". Our guns were going to pump forty thousand shells on a feature the Germans held, so we drove up steep brown hills where our batteries were parked in a dried-out stream. In the end the enemy was routed by our Infantry without a shell being fired and we were terribly disappointed with the loss of a fine recording. We weren't disappointed, however, with the breath-taking never-to-be-forgotten trip through Sicily and the toe of Italy in our trustworthy old "Chevvy".

• Bulldozers came ashore right behind the landing parties and started levelling to form roads for the heavy trucks. Coming up behind the bulldozers from the beach is a long line of motor vehicles and in the distance can be seen the naval equipment and other boats.

• From Italy and Sicily, Peter Stursberg sends his eye-witness account of battle. Here, as in the other theatres of war, Canadian-built vehicles are doing their part in the fight for freedom. Men and women in the plants of General Motors of Canada feel a glow of pride as they hear of and see the results of their labour. From thousands of work benches here at General Motors comes assurance that they will be kept rolling—'till Victory comes.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(AP)—Bob Kurland, a seven-foot youngster who plays basketball for Oklahoma A. and M., may be the unwitting instrument of a change in the court rules . . . Pointing the finger at Kurland and other oversize "goal tenders" (probably because he couldn't reach Bob's head), Coach Bruce Drake of Oklahoma says he has decided to join Dr. Prog Allen's campaign to place the baskets 12 feet above the floor instead of 10 . . . This dept. couldn't say whether that would be a cure-all for basketball ills, but we figure it would be a better game if all those big boys didn't get so close together that you can't see the individuals for the crowd.

One Man Teams

In a Florida high school grid game this fall, Buddy Horton, St. Petersburg back, threw a pass that was batted into the air by a Plant City linesman . . . As the ball bounced off another player's back, Buddy rushed in and caught it for a four-yard gain . . . The same thing happened to Derald Lebow of Oklahoma against Missouri but when the ball was knocked back towards him, Lebow caught it, tried to run and was thrown for a three-yard loss . . . Apparently Derald was derailed.

Shorts and Shells

National League ball players hit only 432 home runs during the 1943 season, the lowest total since 1920 . . . That may explain the hopeful reports that a livelier ball will be used next summer . . . After Lieut. Jack McQueeny, former Holy Cross footballer, lost the use of his right arm in a parachute jumping accident, doctors at Atlanta's Lawson General Hospital advised him to take up discus throwing to strengthen his left arm. Now he tosses the disc 170 feet consistently and several times has surpassed Ensign Hugh Cannon's world record of 174 feet 10⅛ inches . . . Word from Cincinnati is that Leo Durocher received a "Don't do it again" warning from National League President Ford Frick because he told his runners to try stealing bases in the season's final game so the Reds wouldn't have a chance for a new double play record.

Stuck Again

As Arch (Chicago Tribune) Ward tells it, after Dick Todd of the Iowa Seahawks had a great day against Notre Dame and busted his jaw trying to stop the Irish, he was named "player of the day" on a radio program . . . The prize, duly forwarded to Todd, was a carton of chewing gum.

City Carpetball

There seems a little hold-up in the league games because of teams not being fully drawn up. We understand that the following men are skips:

B.E.S.L., No. 1—C. McDermott.
B.E.SL. No. 2—R. Raiston.
L.O.L. No. 3—H. Lundy.
L.O.L. No 4—C Luffman.
Brintons No. 6—A. Rusaw.
S.O.E. No 5—L. J. Parsons.
All Saints No 7—Frank Leether.
Wardens No. 8—C. Joyes.
St. James No. 9—We would like verification of name of skip as this has been mislaid.

Up to the present only two results have been received, both from S. O.E. and Brinton in which the fighting Parsons managed to garner an extra point from the Carpet Tacks. S.O.E. No. 5, 18-12, 9-8; Britnons No. 6, 5-10, 13-8.

Games for the next two weeks are:

Mammoth Lobster

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Dec. 11—(CP).—The granddaddy of lobsters is on display at a fish store here. Weighing more than 20 pounds, it was caught near Saint John in the Bay of Fundy. The giant was too large to enter a trap but one claw became caught in the trap's leather hinge.

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Both games in the Y.M.C.A. House League tonight will have an important bearing on the standing in the Dominion Life competition. Algerines clash with the Cruisers in the first game and Joe Stewart's team need a victory to keep in front of the parade for a loss for the Algerines and a win for Fairmiles in the second game on the card would leave the McArthur and the Stewart clans all tied up for top billing. Cruisers haven't been having much luck so far but they have made most of their games a battle and they will do their best tonight to stay the victory march of the Algerines. Harry Currie's Destroyers tangle with the Fairmiles in the second fixture and that should resolve itself into quite a tussle. Pete McArthur's team took an unexpected trimming the other night at the hands of the Frigates and they will be out tonight to regain some of the lost ground by grabbing of a win from the Currie outfit. On the other hand the Destroyers need a triumph to keep in the running so that there is plenty at stake for both teams. The Algerine-Cruiser fixture is billed for 7.15 o'clock and the second contest for an hour later.

The first round in the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A. will be completed Monday night when Transports and the Normal School team will meet at 8.15 o'clock in a fixture postponed from last night. Transports need a win in that clash to remain on top of the heap for the St. John's girls are only half a game behind and will be on even terms with the leaders if the latter were to lose. However, the Transports carry too much scoring power to be in much danger of being beaten by the future school teachers, in spite of the fact that the Normal School team has been showing steady improvement in its playing. Incidentally Monday night's game will be the last until after the holiday season. Here is the standing of the loop, including last night's game in which C.G.E. Generals triumphed over the Y Cadets:—

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Transports	3	0	1.000
St. John's	3	1	.750
Generals	2	2	.500
Y. Cadets	1	3	.250
Normal School	0	3	.000

Jan Gotch, the Polish sensation who meets Texan Karl Davis here on Tuesday night in the feature bout of the Tunney wrestling show at the Brock St. Arena had better watch his legs. The Krippler makes a dead set on the underpinnings of his opponents and when he can't hamstring them leagily he uses the ropes to accomplish his dirty work. He beat Earl Moose McCready that way Tuesday night after the Aurora farmer had taken the first fall and had outwrestled and outsmarted the big fellow from the Lone Star State all the way through. Davis has a very effective step-over toe hold that he snaps on adroitly and uses with plenty of pressure and he has injured a lot of opponents by the manner in which he applies the grip. McCready took considerable punishment in that way Tuesday night and he was still on the limp when he left town. He spent the interval between the first and second falls nursing the injured knee in the dressing-room and he was badly handicapped for the rest of the bout by his injury. That is why the Moose is so incensed with Referee Maxwell's laxity in the matter of the third and deciding fall. The Moose will be out for revenge as soon as his knee is in shape for another battle with the Texan.

In the meantime, however, Davis has another tough opponent on his hands in the person of Jan Gotch who has shown than he doesn't care how rough his opposition is or how tough he gets himself. The Pole fights only one style. He starts in punching from the first bell and he never stops until his opponent is trimmed or he is. He went berserk here several times and took on about everybody in sight, including several spectators who invaded the ring only to be belted out in a hurry. Gotch has no inferiority complex so far as Davis is concerned. "That big cowpuncher talks a good fight," says the Pole. "I hope he doesn't think he is scaring anybody by sounding off about the sissy style of Canadian wrestling and about the number of men he has crippled. He won't be so tough after I get working on him a while." That sort of stuff from Mister Gotch wouldn't go over so good were it not for the fact that he talked in a similar vein about Whipper Billy Watson and then proved his statements by going out and giving the British Empire champion three terrific arguments. In fact Gotch was in the driver's seat more often than not and there were stages in all three battles in which the champ looked as if the middle letter should have been "u" instead of "a". Davis had better not imagine he has a setup on his hands; he'll find Gotch mighty bad medicine.

Strange things are being done in that strange body the O.H.A. this season. For instance Frank Dunlap who played two N.H.L. games for the Leafs this season has been immediately reinstated as an amateur and allowed to play with St. Michael's College. And from Kingston Bill Walshe calls attention to some queer happenings in which Limestone City players have been or are being involved. Apparently the O.H.A. officials have torn the rule book to shreds and tossed the debris into the paper basket. Says Bre'er Walshe: "Kingston Vics juniors also have another worry in hi-jacking, with teams from the Toronto junior A area raiding for star players. Phil Metcalfe, a regular defense player of the Kingston juniors, recent received an invitation from a Toronto team, and he may accept the chance to go to the big circuit as a school student, Bill Gallagher, goal tender for the Kingston Vics, moved to Brantford a few weeks ago and is now playing in an industrial league while George MacGregor star Vics centre, came back from a trial with Galt, about two weeks ago. The residence rule, that once controlled tourist players, is apparently ignored but the Kingston Vics have complained to the O.H.A. secretary."

The Kingston junior teams are having some difficulty in getting grouping. Here is what Scribe Walshe has to say on that subject: "Kingston Juniors are in the same position as the city clubs in regard to scheduled hockey and unless accepted in a grouping with Quinte teams will have to play exhibitions until the spring. Kingston Vics and the Navy have junior teams ready to play but chances for a junior grouping seem slim unless Queen's form an age limit team to form a three-team group. If the city league operates in January and February the Kingston Vics and Navy may be acepted as entries but that is not as satisfactory as a regular junior grouping. Max Jackson and Nellis Megaffin, directors of the Kingston Vics, have been trying to get in touch with Belleville hockey officials in hopes of being accepted into the big O.H.A. junior "B" grouping in that district. Belleville, Trenton R.C.A.F., Stirling, Marmora, Trenton Town, and Belleville are expected to form a group in Quinte and if Kingston Vics could be included the division would probably be one of the best in the O.H.A. junior "B" series."

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Just about the time Bill Walshe had arrived at the conclusion that the Kingston Frontenacs were shaping up like a championship aggregation along comes the amazing Hamilton Majors to slap them down 12 to 5....That, of course, was not nearly as much of an upset as was last night's 10 to 5 win of Pick Hines' Navy team over the St. Catharines Saints right in St. Kitts....Elmer Lach and Buddy O'Connor will both be out of the Canadien lineup when the Flying Frenchmen tackle the Leafs in Toronto tonight....That ace line of Brady, Conick and Runions, working so smoothly for the Hamilton Majors would look good in the uniform of any of the N.H.L. clubs. As a matter of fact there is not a line in pro hockey that is performing so efficiently as the Hamilton trio....Ralph Garibaldi the big name wrestler who will appear on Tuesday night's show here is a brother of the famous Gino Garibaldi and is a fine wrestler in his own right....There was no game in the Y.M.C.A. House League last night as the Military Training Centre found it impossible to field two teams....The scorers will not be sorry that the United States Army has bagged Eddie Hanyzewski, the right-handed pitcher of the Chicago Cubs.

Cadets Trounced Soundly By Generals

Y Cadets ran into one of the worst beatings of the season in the only Ladies' Basketball League game played last night at the Y.W.C.A. gym when they were trimmed 59 to 6 by the Generals.

Playing without Mary McPherson the Generals put on one of their best scoring exhibitions of the season and ran wild at the expense of the inexperienced young Cadet squad. The winners' combination, good shooting and close checking were entirely too much for the Cadets who found themselves down 29 to 2 in the first half and were almost as badly outplayed after the rest.

Eleanor Craig led the winners' attack with 17 points, D. Allen contributed 15 and all the other members of the squad had a hand in the scoring. The Cadets did not toss a field basket in the first half, being held to two successful free throws by Betty Lou Braund and B. Stewart. The latter and N. Soothern contributed a basket each in the second half. The teams:

Generals (59)—Isobel Bullock 4, Franz Merrett 10, V. Lawless 6, Eleanor Craig 17, J. Hickey 4, J. Rahmel, Dot Allen 15, Shirley Mortimer 3.

Y Cadets (6)—D. Saunders, B. Weir, N. Soothern 2, P. Martyn, B. Cook, N. Stanton, M. Spicer, M. Beggs, Betty Lou Braund 1, B. Stewart 3.

Referee—Hymie Smith.

Ralph Garibaldi On Next Card

If Jan Gotch, the powerful Pole, has his way, his bout with Karl Davis at the Brock Arena next Tuesday will end with him, Gotch, not only the winner but also undisputed champion of the rough-house section of the wrestling sport. Gotch and 'Krippler' Davis are in for a stormy evening. Neither of these big bruisers will consider for one moment there can possibly be anyone as case-hardened as himself. Gotch lost to Whipper Watson here in the longest hardest-fought match local mat fans have ever witnessed. But of course Jarring Jan claimed and still claims that Watson's crushing Commando hold was a foul. Be that as it may, Gotch, although losing proved he can take it as well as hand it out.

From Karl Davis' point of view, Gotch looms up as an even tougher opponent than big Earl McCready whom he defeated this week. Davis has been quite frank about his ability to beat "these so-called clean wrestlers" and considering his illegal tactics, there is no doubt he has some advantage over the more sportsmanlike wrestlers. But on Tuesday night, Karl "the Krippler" meets a foeman who is a thorough dyed-in-the-wool mat ruffian. Gotch does not seem to know or care one whit about ethics, rules or restraint of any kind and while Davis will out-weigh him, it is a cast-iron cinch that the Pitiless Pole will carry the fight to the Texan from the bell. It should be an eruption of some magnitude.

One of the most important names in wrestling, that of Ralph Garibaldi, will also be on this program. Matchmaker Tunney has prevailed on Garibaldi to take a semi-final spot on Tuesday's card and the sensational brother of Gino Garibaldi has been matched with Jack "the Ripper" Reeder. Garibaldi is a tip top wrestler, speedy, scientific, and spectacular.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

President Frank Sargent of the C.A.H.A. has ruled if Montreal Royals do not take up the services of Joe Shack, forward, before a time limit today, the player would automatically become the property of Ottawa Commandos, it was announced by the Quebec Senior Hockey League last night. Both teams had claimed the puck-chaser and the dispute had been referred to the Canadian Association for decision.

In the Winnipeg Services Senior Hockey League last night, R.C.A.F. Bombers moved into a first-place tie with Winnipeg Army by administering an 8-6 defeat to the Soldiers in overtime, despite the showing of Pte. Edgar Laprade, formerly of Port Arthur, with three goals for Army to lead the scoring.

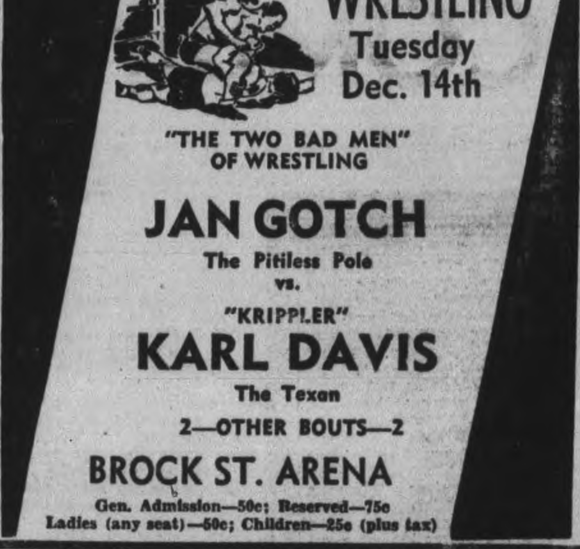
Eddie Hanyzewski, right-hander of the Chicago Cubs, reported for induction into the U.S. Army at Indianapolis yesterday. He pitched for Milwaukee Brewers in the American Association prior to last season.

To Fight Again

Bob Montgomery, former lightweight champion, has been discharged from a Philadelphia hospital after recovering from jaw trouble. Promoter Herman Taylor announced yesterday Montgomery would be able to fight late in January but would require several bouts before meeting champion Beau Jack again.

Jockey Matthew Quinn yesterday told the Maryland Racing Commission at Baltimore he had offered a bribe to Joseph Pannell to hold back a horse at Marlboro Nov. 27. The commission reserved decision because Pannell had been killed in a spill on the Charles Town track on Thursday.

Boston Olympics have lost only one of 14 games in the Eastern United States Hockey League this season. The only team to take their measure thus far, New York Rovers, bowed to the league leaders last night at Boston Gardens 5-2 and the "score" was wiped out.



Kingston Army Defeated At Hamilton

HAMILTON, Ont., Dec. 11 (CP). —The highest-scoring line in the senior hockey furnished most of the pyrotechnics last night as the Hamilton Mayors crushed Kingston Frontenac Army 12-5 for their seventh victory in eight Ontario Hockey Association starts.

Three sharpshooting Hamilton forwards who already hold a monopoly on league scoring honors — Johnny Conick, Dillon Brady and Doug Runions — scored 19 of the team's 25 points as Hamilton moved into a four-pint lead over the second-place Kingston club. Runions led the parade with five of the goals and two assists, Brady had four goals and one assist and Conick, while held scoreless, accumulated seven assists.

Lineups:

Kingston: Goal, Mortimer; defence, Phillips, Grigg; centre, Doran; wings, Peters, White. Alternates, Stephenson, Hamill, and Giesebrecht, Foster, Corrigan, Booth, Tisdall.

Toronto Sailors Upset St. Catharines

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Dec. 11—(CP).—Toronto Navy, firing seven goals in a wide-open third period, conquered St. Catharines Saints 10-5 last night in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" game which marked Navy's second victory of the season.

The loss prevented St. Catharines from overtaking the second-place Kingston Frontenac Army team, but they retained a four-point lead over the fourth-place sailors.

The only two-goal scorers of the evening were Joe Klukay and Livingstone of Navy. Other Navy goals went to Hugh Barlow, George Gee, Sandy Milne, Scotty Mair, Normie Mann and Bus Benson. St. Catharines scorers were Red Goble, Blink Bellinger, Delmonte, Jud McAtee and Red Reynolds.

Lineups:

Toronto: Goal, Gilbert; defence, Milne, Garrett; centre, Thompson; wings, Mair, Klukay; alternates, Ogston Livingstone, Benson, Barlow, Gee, Mann.

TORONTO, Dec. 11 — (CP). — Reinstatement of six Buffalo Bisons professional hockey players to amateur ranks and transfer of three of the six to Brantford Lions in the Junior O.H.A. caused quite a fuss on some sport pages. There were charges that such wholesale reinstatements were making a joke of the amateur definition and that the transfer deadline, December 1, was being disregarded.

W. A. Hewitt, O.H.A. secretary, explained the situation. The players signed by Eddie Shore's Buffalo team, given a trial, then released and reinstated were three North Ontario boys, R. Powell, N. Evenshen, and V. Jones, and three Saskatchewan juniors, P. Waldner, E. Kobussen, and Alfred Turner.

Hewitt says Brantford Lions had lost five players through enlistments, four from last year's team and one, named Fitzpatrick, who started this season. For these men they were entitled to military replacements without regard to the transfer deadlines and they were granted transfers for the Sudbury boys, Powell and Evenshen, and for Turner.

Hewitt said Kobussen and Waldner played with Buffalo since their reinstatement and therefore must still be regarded as professionals.

Whereabouts of Jones is not known to Hewitt, but he is not transferred to Brantford.

Rebound:

Most determined defence of the National Hockey League's new gag law came from Montreal. And its first effects are felt in Montreal. Canadiens players were mighty peeved because linesman Bill Cleary called back two goals they scored in Boston Sunday when they suffered their first defeat of the season 5-4. But the $1,000 maximum fine for criticism of officials toned down the static. For example the Montreal Herald report said: "Coach (Dick) Irvin....said 'I'm not criticizing anybody. I can't afford to under the new rule'.... But off the record he emitted several shrill and vitriolic bursts. So did the players...."

Incidentally:

Boston Gardens can't sell standing room any more because of civic by-laws which clips about 3,000 off maximum attendance.....FO. Bob Hazel, in a letter home, reports he met FO. Tony Golab at an R.C.A.F. base in Italy for the first time since they played together in the Ottawa Roughriders backfield in 1940.

Influenza Hits Canadiens Team

By The Canadian Press

Reports from Montreal this week that a surplus of manpower was causing Coach Dick Irvin of the Canadiens to stay awake nights can be discarded today. Dick may still have the quantity, but he is not so sure about quality.

Two of the brightest stars in the past which has coasted to 11 victories, three ties and only one loss in 15 National Hockey League games this season have been Buddy O'Connor, the 28-year-old centre who has drawn Irvin's praise as the greatest player in the game today, and Elmer Lach, victims of influenza neither will be in the lineup tonight when Canadiens visit Maple Leaf Gardens for their clash of the season against the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Toe Blake, team captain and another key player, will be operating under the handicap of an injured arm if he plays at all.

Loss of O'Connor and Lach, plus the probable absence of Blake, forced Irvin to call upon Tod Campeau to centre Gerry Heffernan and Fernand Majeau on what has been, to date, one of the sharpest scoring units in the league. Campeau, graduate of Montreal junior ranks, has been playing with Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior league.

Leafs, showing greater offensive power in recent starts, will be seeking revenge for the 7-2 defeat they suffered last time the two clubs met on Toronto ice. Canadiens defeated Leafs 5-2 at Montreal in the other meeting.

Outstanding Music – Dancing – Singing

"Combines of 1944" is a pleasing show. The sparkling fast moving action plus comedy and treats for the music lovers has made it a hit wherever it has been shown. They have given over 100 performances and have played to 140,000 people since October 1942 and everywhere it has been a huge success. Betty Robertson, the versatile mistress of ceremonies plays the piano accordian. June Barrett has a voice that sings its way right into your hearts. Beth Watson very capably provides instrumental music on the bagpipes, drum and saxaphones and Dorothy Moncrief, a wizard on the piano, plays accompaniments and specialty numbers. Acrobatic and novelty dances which are excellent and real thrillers are presented by Meta and St. John. The chorus of nine vivacious girls tops of the whole show with precision dance routines.

PAT McINTOSH

Pat. McIntosh, comedian and capable manager of the show has a good selection of songs and stories that bring out those deep down laughs.

Frank Sinatra Rejected By Army

NEWARK, N.J., Dec. 11 (AP).—Women and girls can continue to swoon happily, for the United States Army today declared Frankie (The Voice) Sinatra 4-F physically, unfit for military service.

Expressing disappointment, the crooner himself announced the outcome of his Selective Service pre-induction examination today at the Newark induction station.

"I've got a hole in my left ear drum," said Sinatra, whose singing is the current rage of the feminine sex.

The crooner commented that he had hoped to enter the Marine Corps.

Signal Corps Eyes Of Convoy Ships

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Dec. 11 (CP)—Lt. Cmdr. Michael Strouss of Halifax wasn't exaggerating when, talking about the Royal Canadian Navy's Convoy signalmen, he said "you'll find two or three in the outer office but the rest are somewhere between here and England."

The signalmen, the eyes of cargo-laden merchantmen which they must keep in organized convoy and under the protection of their naval escort during attack, are seldom ashore for any length of time, the Navy said today.

"The life these boys lead is no cinch," Cmdr. Strouss said. "They are treated well by the merchant crews, know their jobs well and are not bothered with much discipline. But they are always at sea, in all kinds of weather, and under all kinds of conditions."

Hear Little English

"It's not uncommon for a man to be posted to a ship for several months—say a Norwegian or Polish ship—and not hear a word of English during all that time, except maybe the odd bit of broken English.

Most of the men average about six return Atlantic crossings a year on the basis of one trip every two months and they soon chalk up a lot of sea time. Sometimes their trips are pretty irregular and some? times they return to port only to be sent right out again. We keep changing them from ship to ship to break the monotony and keep up their morale."

The men waiting in the outer office for drafts were leading signalman Lloyd Fitzpatrick of Saint John, N.B., Yeoman Frank Holt of Hamilton, Ont., and Yeoman Bill Clews of Toronto.

The three, members of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, say their job is "risky business, but no more risky than the job the merchant seamen do themselves."

These men, like other convoy signalmen, are under the command of the Naval Control Service office headed by Capt. L. F. Banyard of the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve.

Free Issue Of Attractive Honor Roll Is Proving Very Popular In Canada

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 — Attractive Honor Roll, issued free of charge to churches, educational institutions, factories, offices, clubs, fraternal societies and other organizations for the purpose of recording the names of the men and women who have volunteered for ACTIVE SERVICE in the armed forces, is meeting with a wonderful reaction on the part of the public, Headquarters announced today.

The Honor Roll is artistically designed and it symbolizes in striking and authentic heraldic form the historic majesty of the British Empire.

The basic motif is the Canadian coat-of-arms with flanking shields showing the maple-leaf of Canada, the shamrock of Ireland, the thistle of Scotland, the rose of England and the fleur-de-lis of old France.

In the design on the base are the heraldic flags of the Navy, Army and the Airforce. The coloring is rich and the whole is reproduced by a special process.

The Honor Rolls are in various sizes, namely for 12, 36, 102, 412 and 612 names, and it is pointed out that they may be obtained only by writing to the DIRECTOR OF ARMY RECRUITING, AYLMER BUILDING, OTTAWA. While these Honor Rolls are issued under the supervision of the Directorate of Army Recruiting it is explained that they are for the names of the men and women of the Navy, Army and Airforce—without distinction—on ACTIVE SERVICE.

The name of the cnurch, school or business together with the size of Roll required should be clearly stated on the application.

28 Quilts Made By W.A. Group

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 11 — (ENS). — A year that hed been successful in every respect was indicated in reports tabled before members of Zion Church (Petherick's) W.A. at annual meeting on Wednesday afternoon. The ladies met at Mrs. John Simpson's home. Mrs. A. Petherick, the president, presided and during the business period members voted $20 to the Missionary and Maintenance fund.

Following a discussion of the proposed new pulpit lamp it was decided to appoint a committee comprising Mrs. Lorne Barnum and Mrs. Alfred to look into the matter. Mrs. A. Petherick, Mrs. Fred Barnum and Mrs. Lorne Barnum were named as a committee to make arrangements for the presentation of a play. According to the secretary's report the average attendance at W.A. meetings during the year was 27 and there had been eight regular meetings and two quiltings which resulted in 28 quilts being made. The group packed 12 Christmas boxes for overseas shipment.

Mrs. H. Arnold gave an 11-months report of finances. She said the W A. had started with a balance of $20.75 at the beginning of the year and this had now grown to $121.55. Most of this had been raised at the annual pie social which yielded $85. On the "paid out" side were $5 contribution to Russian Relief and the Salvation Army; $20 for re-painting the church; $36.98 for quilt material. Miscellaneous expenses were for flowers and fruit for the sick.

The War Work Convener Mrs. Lorne Barnum stated that during the last eleven months the group had made 28 quilts; 2 quilt tops; 1 pair mitts; 1 sweater; 5 crib quilts; 2 afghans; 3 pair slippers Of the quilts, 23 went to the Red Cross, I.O. D.E. and Russia. Four others were sold and one is still on hand. They packed 4 bales of clothing for Russia during the year and these included 7 fur coats, men's, women's and children's coats, suits and dresses, underwear, boots, goloshes, 17 large quilts, 2 crib quilts and an afghan. A number of old wool socks and sweaters were collected, sent for re-processing and returned in the form of enough batts for ten quilts. For the Red Cross they sewed 9 bed sheets, 8 bed jackets, 2 ladies' dressing gowns, 18 bed pan covers, 27 hospital gowns, and for the I.O.D.E. 60 pair of socks and 13 pair of gloves.

During the meeting a short program comprising readings by Mrs. Thos. Fry, and Mrs. Lorne Barnum was given. Officers for the year were named as follows with Mrs. Albert Petherick returned as president for her fourth term:— Honorary president, Mrs. John Simpson; president, Mrs. Albert Petherick; vice president, Mrs. John Wright; secretary, Mrs. Lindsay Anderson; assistant secretary, Mrs. John Dewey; treasurer, Mrs. Hector Arnold; war work convener, Mrs. Lorne Barnum and Mrs. Alfred Barnum; sick committee, Mrs. Albert Tinney, Mrs. Frank Osborne and Mrs. Roy Southworth; pianist, Mrs. Maurice Brunton and Mrs. Roy Southworth.

U-Boat Losses Exceed Sinkings

LONDON, Dec. 11 (CP).— Vigilant Allied sea and air forces prowling Atlantic against Hitler's once-vaunted U-boat packs cut November merchant ship losses to the lowest figure since May, 1940.

A joint statement issued here and in Washington last night by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt praised the month's anti-submarine activities as "notable" and said part of the successes resulted from the new Azores bases Portugal leased to Britain.

Without giving figures either as to the number of Allied ships lost or enemy submarines destroyed, the statement declared the U-boats sent to the bottom "again exceeded the number of their victims," as was the case in the three preceding months.

Exercising a new-found caution in the face of the increasing efficiency of the Allied counter measures, the German submarine commanders gave fewer opportunities for Allied attack, the statement said, but nevertheless an unspecified number were sunk.

The continuing Allied successes made it evident the U-boat fleet has taken a crippling blow. An official announcement at the end of October said 150 Nazi submarines had been sunk, but it seemed certain that this told only a part of the ful story.

By unofficial estimates here Hitler has lost no less than 300 of the 600 or more undersea boats that constituted his fleet at its peak in March and has been able to send only 150 new ones into action. In addition, many others were forced back to base for refitting.

Unusual Task Faces Court In Mine Voting

SUDBURY, Dec. 11 — (CP). — Final arrangements now are being made here for what Ontario Labor Court officials regard as the most complicated labor vote ever taken in the Dominion and possibly on the North American continent.

The vote involves the approximately 10,000 employees of the manifold operations of the International Nickle Company in this bustling industrial area and will be taken next Friday under order of the Labor Court.

It arises from an application of the United Mine, Mill and Smelters Workers of America (C.I.O.), for recognition as collective bargaining agency for the company's employees and an intervention submitted by an independent union—the United Copper and Nickel Workers.

While the vote is not the largest labor vote ever held in Canada—more persons were involved in collective bargaining votes at the Ford Motor Company plant in Windsor and the John Inglis plant in Toronto—it is regarded as the most complicated because of the extent of the company's operations.

There are 33 polling subdivisions two of them 75 road miles apart. The most distant is a poll at the Lawson Quarry, 59 miles from Copper Cliff, heart of the company's operations.

13 at Copper Cliff

Besides the poll at Lawson Quarry, there are 13 polls at the main plant at Copper Cliff, six at Frood Mine, five at Creighton mine, two at Garson mine, two at Levack, one each at the Stobie mine, Murray mine and Coniston with one roving poll for the employees at the company's three power plants at High Falls, Nairn Falls and Wabageshik.

Registrar J. Finkleman of the Labor Court is in charge of the voting and now is here to act as revising officer in connection with the voters list which is based on the company's payroll at a date agreed upon between the two contending unions.

The polls will be manned by the senior inspectors of the Unemployment Insurance Commission who will come from outside points to do the work.

Officials expect the vote will be counted by Saturday, December 18, and the result announced then.

The ballot gives workers three choices: The United Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, the United Copper and Nickel Workers or neither.

It is the 29th vote to be held under order of the Labor Court since it was established last June.

A Help to Those Who Are Past Middle Age

When men and women get past middle age their energy and activity, in many instances, begin to decline, and their general vitality is on the wane.

Little ailments and sicknesses seem harder to shake off than formerly, and, here and there, evidences of a breakdown begin to appear.

Now is the time those wishing to help maintain their health and vigour should take a course of Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills.

They help tone up and invigorate the patient by their tonic action on the system.

The Peterborough Examiner
VOL. LXXXVIII, No. 137 — SATURDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1943 — PAGE NINE

Main Street Topics

JOIN UNIT
The Prince of Wales Rangers had two recruits during the past week. They are Carl Alexander Bedford, 153 Benson avenue, and John Joseph Doyle, 41 Frank street.

WINTER HAS ARRIVED.
The bear at the Filtration Plant has announced the official arrival of winter, since he went to bed on Friday, December 10. A year ago he hibernated on November 25.

ENTERTAIN PARENTS.
The Sea Cadet Corps held its third open house Friday night for the parents of the Cadets. Beginning a week ago, on each drill night one of the divisions has entertained and the last one will be held Tuesday. Coffee and sandwiches were served at the conclusion of the demonstration.

R.C.A.F. GRADUATES.
F. G. Foley of Peterborough and E. M. Green of Lindsay were two recent graduates at Macdonald, Man., where they trained as air gunners. R. S. Ellis and Perry Teatro, both of Lindsay, received their wings at Dunnville as pilots. Teatro, who has taken part in several bombing missions over Europe, remustered a few months ago.

HOSPITAL COSTS LOWER
The Welfare Committee of the City Council which met Friday reported that hospital costs for the month of November were lower by a total of $635.70 than those during the same months in 1942. The decrease at Nicholls Hospital was $519.25 and at St. Joseph's $116.45.

EXAMS BEGIN
The first part of the Regimental School of the Prince of Wales Rangers (R) has been completed and examinations for officers begin tonight and will be written Sunday afternoon as well. The men will qualify up to the rank of major and officer candidates from the whole district will be writing.

TOTAL COSTS
The approximate amount spent between January and November of this year for relief was listed at $9,819.26, in a report to the Welfare Committee of the City Council, Friday. The actual costs were $14,931.63 which with the government rebate of $5,112.37 makes the above total.

CASE ENLARGED
James Chalmers, charged with operating a common gaming house on Douro street was again remanded when he appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning. The case was enlarged until next Friday with the possibility that it would be further postponed on that day.

DECREASE IN RELIEF
The decrease in people on relief during the month of November shows a drop of 36 over the same period in 1942 when there were 114 as compared with the present 78, it was reported at the monthly meeting of the Welfare committee of the City Council which met Friday afternoon. The number of families has dropped from 21 to 12. The number of dependents on heads of families is now 37 as compared with 54 in 1942; and the number of single women receiving relief has decreased from 35 to 24.

TRUCK, CAR IN ACCIDENT
An army truck driven by John Duignan, 2nd Midlands and a car driven by Harry Finnie were involved in a traffic accident at McFarlane Avenue and Armour Road Friday night. The army vehicle stalled in the middle of the intersection and Finnie's car travelling south on Armour Road came into contact with the motionless truck. The latter was not damaged but the other vehicle suffered damages to the front bumper, left front fender and hub cap.

SEVEN JOIN AIR FORCE
Seven Peterborough men were accepted as recruits in the Royal Canadian Air Force this week when the mobile recruiting unit made its regular visit. For the past few months the number accepted each month has remained about the same. The new airmen are: G. R. G. Aman, 305 Reid street; H. V. Stewart, 534 Douglas street; Jack Metherel, Peterborough; W. R. Greatrix, 438 Park street; J. H. McCutcheon, 385 Reid street; M. C. Johnston, 752 Duffus street; and R. F. Reid, 12 Frank street.

IMPERVIOUS TO WEATHER
All through that blast of snow and winds fresh from the Arctic Friday night, a group of ten or twelve small boys played on the slope of Victoria Park with small bobsleighs, toboggans and broad pieces of cardboard which at least saved the seat of their seats of their pants from excessive wear and tear. At times when the wind was keenly boisterous the youngsters would set up their cardboard against the wind to fend it off, while they hurried in the lee. The wind huffed and puffed on the Court House, but that little group of youngsters toiled up and slid down the park slope with little attention to the weather. Only two remained at 9:30.

New Discovery revolutionizes INSULATION of Houses

Literally a revolution—because of the higher insulating efficiency and other combined qualities of a new and amazing material—has been effected by Fiberglas Building Insulation.

What is FIBERGLAS Insulation?
Nothing less than pure glass—in an amazing new fibrous form, this material is moisture and rot proof, extremely light in weight, repellant to insects and vermin, and provides increased resistance to heat flow. With enclosing envelope of vapor-barrier and vapor-porous material, it resists condensation.

More Comfort, Economy
In three convenient forms—Roll Blankets, Bat Blankets and Junior Bats—Fiberglas Building Insulation is adaptable to any insulation requirement. It will keep your house warmer in winter, cooler in summer, and save money for you indefinitely. Once in place it is permanent — will not sag, rot, mildew or otherwise deteriorate. And it is fire-resistant.

Cotton, Glover To Contest Next Election

Aldermen Cotton and Glover have announced their intention of accepting municipal nominations in the expectation that their names will be put forward again in the approaching planning for the New Year's election.

They are both experienced administrators. In fact Alderman Cotton is completing 18 years as a trustee of the people, and is the dean of the council. Against that long service Alderman Glover and most of the others are comparatively newcomers.

The five members of the present council whose terms are expiring are: Aldermen Cotton, Glover, Gordon, Curtis and Mark.

Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the Utilities Commission, is completing another three year term with the Commission, and will have to seek nomination again and the members of the Board of Education who will also require new mandates are: Mr. W. R. Morris, T. J. Carley, K.C., G. W. Craw, D. V. Canning and D. G. H. Melton.

Mr. Melton has already announcement his retirement from the Board.

Young Airman Appreciates Box

"I had a most pleasant surprise the other day, a box from Mrs. George Roper of the Peterborough Auxiliary of the R.C.A.F.," writes a young airman from some place on the west coast of England "I opened it amongst a crowd of about 15 or so, and there, first thing, was a lovely maple leaf; you can't imagine how that affected me. And then the finest gifts all gaily packaged. It was perfect. I wish I could tell Mrs. Roper and the ladies who assisted her just how much I appreciated their remembrance. I spend a lot of my time telling these folks over here about the wonders of Canada, and what grand people we have, and here was lovely proof of it. The thought of it gave me a warm feeling and a great happiness in the thought of Canada. I shall write Mrs. Roper at the first opportunity. The ladies achieved a personal touch, something so different from little intimations of large scale distribution. The wrapping was lovely—and the maple leaf was a grand inspiration."

Among those who may share in the gratefulness of this and other letters which the Peterborough R.C.A.F. letters will likely receive are the members of the City Council. They made a contribution of $250 to the R.C.A.F. Christmas purpose, and this foregoing letter is one airman's thanks to the community of Peterborough.

The writer has been transferred to the Mediterranean arena. The following is a glimpse of some snug haven apparently somewhere on the North Sea coast: "I have found a little cafe in a cove by the sea, at the base of 200-feet cliffs. The woman in charge of it is waiting until after the war to come to Canada. She used to work for the C.P.R. Through her contacts with the black market she has supplied us with occasional chicken and goose dinners, whipped cream on trifle. She buys beer for us and some one digs out cigars now and then, and on such occasions we sing and talk after dinner by the fire, while the spray from the sea softly swishes across the window panes. Times like these are pleasant compensations."

Kinsmen Bring Popular Show

The popular show "Combines of 1944' which is giving its services to swell the coffers of the Kinsmen Milk for Britain fund, will be playing Peterborough, December 17, and the sparkling revue, which has taken military camps by storm, will give one of its few civilian public performances here.

Made up of employees of the Massey - Harris company who wanted to make a contribution to the war effort, the performance is a swiftly moving musical comedy with Pat McIntosh as manager of the show and Betty Robertson, whose specialty is the piano accordian, acting as mistress of ceremonies.

Several dance numbers with Spanish interpretations will be given by Cordova; there will be acrobatic dances by Meta and St. John; solos by June Barrett and a chorus of nine girls presenting a group of melodies.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Kinsmen club and the show will be held in the Brock Street Arena. In supporting this entertainment, not only will the public see a fine performance, but will substantially aid in sending necessary supplies to Britain.

RIGHT—TO THE DAY
Some of the customers may remember an item in this column three weeks ago, or thereabouts, to the effect that G. A. Gillespie had been told by some ancient that winter would not set in at least until the full of the December moon. That statement was put on the record for observation. Tonight the moon is at the full, and winter is here, and Mr. Gillespie's oracle receives the Delphic parchment or something.

Slap-Happy Japanese Sink U.S. Fleet In Pipe-Dream News Release At Tokio

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Japanese war claims invariably high-colored for home consumption reached realm of the fantastic today with an imperial headquarters assertion that Japanese naval forces had sunk or damaged 31 Allied battleships, 39 aircraft carriesr and 148 cruisers since the beginning of the war in the Pacific.

The assertion was coupled with a morale-boosting prediction by Premier Hideki Tojo that 1944 "will be our year to win," tempered by a warning that "the war cannot be won easily" and an appeal to the Japanese people to be ready to endure every hardship to attain victory.

According to the Japanese claims, the U.S. Navy now is virtually nonexistent. The imperial headquarters communique boasted that these vessels had been sunk outright:—

Forgot the Planes

Eighteen battleships, 27 aircraft carriers, 92 cruisers, 79 destroyers, 107 submarines, six other warships "of unidentified type," four special ships, eight gunboats, seven minesweepers, 25 torpedo boats and 31 other war vessels.

In addition, the communique listed as damaged 19 battleships, 19 aircraft carriers, 56 cruisers, 47 destroyers, three submarines, five ships of unidentified type, two special ships, six gunboats, one minesweeper, three torpedo-boats and 26 minor war vessels.

On top of this claim the Japanese piled the assertion that they had sunk 688 Allied merchant vessels and damaged 1,260. Allied plane losses were put at 5,158 aircraft.

In accordance with their customary practice of minimizing their own casualties, the Japanese gave their own losses as folows:—

Sunk—One battleship, two aircraft carriers, three cruisers, 22 destroyers. 11 submarines and two special ships.

Damaged—One battleship and two aircraft carriers. five destroyers and five submarines.

Ninety-six other Japanese vessels have been lost, headquarters said, but it did not identify them.

The announcement put Japanese air losses at 1,203 planes—which it said had "crash-dived on enemy objectives."

Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. Spreads Christmas Cheer Abroad

The name of Peter Robinson stands high in the annals of this city's history, for he it was that led the first band of settlers to this district from their native lands thousands of miles away, and to be able to lead people in such a venture and inspire confidence to that extent, tells of an influence which must have been considerably above the average and quite widespread.

Nothing perhaps amplifies this more than the fact that this city was named after him, signifying how well he was thought of in those days, and when the Peter Robinson Chapter of the I.O.D.E. chose his name for their organization to be identified by, it was one which could be said would give all some inspiration to branch out and accomplish some things that were really worth while.

For proof that this has really proved to be the case, one has only to look back on the achievements of this group during the present struggle, among which not the least could be said of their help to the sufferers from air raids over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, which has on a number of occasions benefitted in a substantial manner through their work, and it is recalled that on one occasion alone this amounted to the splendid sum of $300.

Their latest gift is recorded today in an amount of $50 for the special Christmas Donations, thus continuing their sphere of influence to the British Isles, following in true fashion the influence that their namesake wielded in his day and generation, which quite lives up to their ideals as set forth in their own constituttion, and many children will have cause to feel thankful for their goodness at the blessed season of Chrismas.

Many Fraternal Groups

In contrast to the decadence that has set in with some fraternal groups on the Continent of Europe, Fraternal organizations in this country and in particular this city, have fully justified their existence by branching out as a group and doing much good for others besides themselves.

Today no less than four are recorded with Peterborough Lodge A.F. and A.M. No. 155, sending in a cheque for $25.00, and Royal Arthur Lodge A.F. and A.M. No. 523 sending in the sum of $21.19, while the Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, gave $15.00 through their treasurer, C. Wood. All of these groups were represented in the special donations for Christmas at this time last year.

Then the L.O.B.A. No. 650 who gave $5.00 only one month ago through their W.M., Mrs. Mabel Wood, are back again with another splendid gift of $35.20, which they raised through holding a draw for a goose donated by Mrs. C. Rusaw of R.R. 7, Peterborough, and a cushion donated by Mrs. Elsie Tait, with the highest credit in the matter of selling tickets going to Mrs. D. Mitchell, Mrs. R. Tait and Mrs. Margaret Logan.

The draw was made on Wednesday of this week by Mrs. T. Monk and resulted in the goose being won by Ira Althouse with ticket No. 791 and the cushion by Mrs. Catherine O'Toole with ticket No. 720.

Penny Box Nets $10.75

When a penny box goes over the $10 mark it is something to talk about, this result being obtained from a box placed in the store of Miss A. Curtis on George street, who asked for it to be placed there some time ago, proving that she herself was mindful of the good and help it might prove for other less fortunate people.

There are seven personal gifts dotted through this day's list which include donations by Miss F. H. Chiles, A Man of Kent, and four under various press names, while Joel and Peter Moldaver, young children of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Moldaver, are once again listed as giving in memory of their late grandfather, Philip Black, who passed away two years ago.

On Monday night, the students of grade 8 at King Edward School are holding a bazaar commencing at 6 p.m. which is coincident with the Home and School Association meeting being held at the same time. This is to raise money for the Children's Christmas Cheer Fund, in which they had a substantial stake at this time last year as well.

Open Your Home To Boys At Camp

Although a few names have been submitted to the hostess committee of the W.V.S. for women who are willing to take soldiers from the camp into their homes Christmas day, the list is still small, and the W.V.S. is anxious to get things organized as early as possible.

Most of the boys at the camp are so far from home that there is no possibility of them getting back and they have few friends in this district, and it is expected that there will be a big demand for W.V.S. hospitality. The churches have been approached and hostesses can register through that source or with the W.V.S. direct by calling 9377 between 10 and 11:30 a.m. and between 2 and 4 p.m. At that time they can specify the number they will be willing to take.

During the month of November, 91 men from No. 32 CA (B) TC were entertained in Peterborough homes, and there will be many more for Christmas day.

Locke Acquitted By Jury In Auto Case

Dissent from the trial jury's verdict of not guilty was expressed by Judge Smoke last night as he discharged William Locke, 59, of Stratford, who was acquitted of reckless driving in an automobile accident July 18 on the Hastings-Keene road in which Grover Kerr of Hastings was fatally injured.

"In my opinion you are fortunate in having the jury bring in a verdict of 'not guilty,'" Judge Smoke said in addressing Mr. Locke. "It is not my place to reprimand you of something which you have not been found guilty, but I have no hesitation in saying that it would have been different if I were trying the case alone. The jury has every right to disagree with me, as I told them they had the right to do so. They have seen fit to find you not guilty. You are dismissed."

In addressing the jury, Judge Smoke referred to their four hours' deliberations in his comment that they had evidently given the case full consideration.

"You have heard me tell Mr. Locke that if I had been trying the case it would have been different. You probably saw the evidence differently than I did."

The jury retired shortly before six o'clock, and returned at ten, delivering their decision through their foreman, E. Bruce Aikin, 163 Aylmer street. The other members of the panel were:

Small Boy Hurt During Storm

Kenneth Meeks, 10, of 460 Driscoll Terrace, is in St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering from a bad fracture of the left arm at the shoulder, a laceration of the left thigh and possible fracture of the skull, as the result of being knocked down by an automobile on Hunter street, east, shortly before 7 o'clock Friday evening.

Roy Ballantyne, 390 Grady Ave., told police that he was driving his car east at from 20 to 22 miles per hour and that as he was passing Boorman's store, young Meeks ran out from the south side of the street between two parked cars. It was snowing at the time with a high wind blowing and Ballantyne said that he did not see the boy in time to avert the accident.

He said that he put on his brakes and swerved his car to the left but in spite of his efforts young Meeks was struck and was knocked down.

M. Allison, 281 Park street, drove the injured boy to the St. Joseph's Hospital.

Lt.-Col. Robert J. Bolton Is Named O.C. Of Prince Of Wales Rangers

The new O.C. of the Peterborough Rangers (A.F.) is Lt. Col. Robert J. Bolton, E.D., serving "somewhere in Canada", this unit which is made up of many Peterborough men, with its N. C. O.'s

Lt.-Col. Bolton was born in North Crosby, Leeds County in 1898 and has been a resident of Peterborough for many years taking a most active part in militia affairs. He obtained his university degree from Queen's in Kingston and he was principal of the King Edward school for 14 years and of Central School for four years, prior to his enlistment in the Prince of Wales Rangers on July 22, 1941. He has seen continuous service with the Canadian militia since 1920 when he came to Peterborough and was a member of the Peterborough Rangers and later the Prince of Wales Rangers. He was adjutant of the later on the A. and T. staff from June 1931, until the unit was mobilized for active service on March 10, 1942. At that time he was appointed as second-in-command of the unit and shortly afterwards named acting commanding officer for two months while Lt. Col. J. A. Dewart M.C.'s age was being reconsidered by N.D.H.Q. On May 11 he turned over the command of the regiment to Col. Dewart.

Lt. Col. Bolton was awarded the Canadian Efficiency decoration in July 1942 and on December of the same year he was seconded from the Prince of Wales Rangers to the 8th Canadian Division to be General Staff Officer (Ops) and Acting General Staff Officer 1. He held this post until May 1943 when he was relieved of these duties to proceed on special duty to act as Laison Office officer on special defence work until July of 1943.

When Col. Dewart was recently retired along with a lot of other officers in Canada on account of their age Major Bolton was promoted to Lt. Col. and placed in command of the regiment.

Lt. Col. Bolton besides his duties as being O.C. of the Rangers is also the Camp Commandant of the military area in which the Rangers are now stationed.

MARKED FOR BEAUTY—Although spotted furs aren't so frequently encountered this winter, the fine Somali leopard coat is always sure to win plaudits. Gunther uses slim lines to offset the bold markings of this beautiful leopard coat and makes it in wrap-around style with deep turn-back cuffs and a neat, youthful collar.

William J. Kennedy Observes 90th Birthday Anniversary

Four score years and ten of a full and useful life are being completed today, as Mr. W. J. Kennedy, 595 Gilmour street, marks his ninetieth birthday. He is celebrating the occasion very quietly with only members of the immediate family present.

Mr. Kennedy was born in Orono, in 1853, and moved to Omemee when he was seven years old. Recalling childhood days, Mr. Kennedy tells of his school days, and remembers the occasional afternoon when he schemed, and went fishing, careful, of course, to provide himself with proof that he had been to school, by taking his books along with him.

He also remembers the time when wood-burning engines were used on the trains, and shooting at dense flocks of wild pigeons, which seemed, as he says, to fill the sky.

In 1876 Mr. Kennedy married Anne Savigny, of Bowmanville, and six years later moved to Peterborough. A blacksmith by trade, he set up his shop at the corner of Charlotte and George streets, where the Canadian Department Stores branch is now, but which was then the property of a Mrs. Taylor. When Mrs. Kennedy died in 1929, Mr. Kennedy remained at his home at 96 Aylmer street, until three years ago, when he sold his property and went to live with his daughter, Mrs. C. G. Graham, 595 Gilmour street.

Mr. Kennedy's hobby was growing gladioli, and he had a very beautiful garden at his home on Aylmer street. This well-known garden won a horticultural prize for seven years. Mr. Kennedy was a member of the Horticultural Society, and also a member of the Exhibition Board for about five years. He never missed attending the exhibition from the time of its introduction, when it was just an agricultural show, until its closing after the outbreak of war.

Fishing is Mr. Kennedy's favorite pastime, and he fishes on an average of three times a week at Pigdeon Lake during the warm months. He has his own radio, and enjoys listening to news commentators. He is also interested in sports, and follows the hockey broadcasts throughout the winter months. An ardent Maple Leaf fan, Mr. Kennedy is confident that they will hold their own this year in the N.H.L., and improve a great deal with experience.

His daughter, Mrs. C. G. Graham, lives at 595 Gilmour street, and his son, Wallace, died at St. Anne De Belleview hospital from the after-effects of his service in the Great War. Mr. Kennedy has two grandchildren, Mrs. S. J. Black, and Mr. Kenneth Graham, both of Peterborough, and one great grandchild, Susan Graham, who will soon be seven years old.

Mr. Kennedy enjoys good health, and has a quick, keen mind. Believing that you are only as old as you feel, he has enjoyed life to the full and intends to continue to do so. Sincerest wishes are to be extended to Mr. Kennedy for continued health and happiness, and, "good fishing."

Ottawa Official Praises Library

The Women's Voluntary Service held its monthly executive meeting recently, with the chairman, Mrs. N. D. Seaton, presiding. Reports from the different committees were encourging, and much interest is being taken in the knitting of the medicated sox urgently requested by the Navy League, and forty-one pairs have already been given out.

The library convener reported a visit to the librray at the Training Centre from the Erucational Officer of Ottawa. This official highly recommended the work being done by the organization in this connection.

One hundred girls were sent to the Victory Loan dance at the Training Centre, and six girls to the Y.M.C.A., to a dance sponsored by the Citizen's committee, while 263 hours had been spent at the canteen.

The meeting of the Peterborough District Council of the A.Y.P.A. was held at St. George's Church, on Thursday, and the election of officers for 1944 was held. The following is the slate of officers: Patron, Right Reverend Derwyn T. Owen, Primate of Canada; honorary president, Canon W. P. Robertson; chaplain, Rev. E. C. Moore; past president, Mr. Ken Gibson; president, Nelson Hewitt; first vice-president, Edith Abraham; second vice-president, Frances Legon; secretary, Lily Haughton; treasurer, Selena Buck; publicity secretary, Pearl Gynane. A social hour was held following the business meeting, and the installation of officers will take place at the next meeting, to be held January 20, at St. George's Church, at 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gordon Faux Heads W.A.

HASTINGS, Dec. 11 — (ENS).— The Ladies Association of Trinity United Church met in the basement on Thursday afternoon to elect their new officers, as follows: President, Mrs. Gordon Faux; vice-president, Mrs. George Richardson, Jr.; secretary, Mrs. H. Edwards; treasurer, Miss Carrie Doxsee; group 1 convener, Mrs. J. E. Glover; group 2 convener, Miss Kate German; group 3 convener, Mrs. George Richardson.

The various reports for the year were given which were very gratifying. The president closed the meeting.

Elgin Red Cross

The Elgin Red Cross met in the Elgin School on Wednesday afternoon. There were eight ladies present and quilted two large quilts and one small one. The pieced quilt tops were donated by Mrs. George Richardson and Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe. It was decided that the Red Cross members would not meet again until February. Each member will be responsible at that meeting to bring a quilt completed for the Red Cross.

L.O.L. Holds Euchre Party

Eight tables of progressive euchre were played in the Orange Hall on Wednesday evening. Prizes were awarded as follows; ladies' first, Mrs. Bert Preston, second, Mrs. Rita Johnston. Gentlemen's first, Cecil Scriver, second, Charles Bray, Westwood. A consolation prize was won by Earl Lobb of Westwood.

Hostess to Red Cross

Mrs. S. Fife was hostess to the Red Cross of the Fife's Community for their regular meeting. There were 10 ladies present and during the afternoon they quilted a quilt.

There were three draws, the lucky winners were: a duck, by Mrs. R. Bannon; a plant, Mrs. Breckenridge; a plant by Paul Humphries.

The travelling towel was then opened and Mrs. Percy Graham was winner of the towel. The hostess served dainty refreshments. Proceeds for the afternoon from the towel, draw and lunch amountted to $18.00.

The January meeting will be held at the same home.

EVERY BRIDE LOVES DIAMONDS—The diamond engagement ring and wedding band ensemble shown above is a budget item. It's the only girl's for about one hundred dollars. Note curved band, which fits side of the engagement ring. Seven stones in band; eight and a solitaire in ring. An engagement ring can be any band, set with any stone, that the happy couple prefer . . it can be a band of ribbon tied about the proper finger so that a girl won't forget her beau. But most girls look forward to a diamond engagement ring. If it can be coupled with a diamond wedding ring, come The Day, better still.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, December 12

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE stresses the social, romantic, artistic and domestic activities rather than any serious or commonplace interests. The latter may be under threat of delay, or disappointment, dangerous, illicit and subtle intrigues, illicit operations, or snares, in which finances, good name and standing may be in jeopardy. Safeguard these and try to placate elders or others who may eventually prove not only helpful but generous. Separations or loss may be suffered.

Those whose birthday it is may have a difficult and dangerous year to endure unless they are keen on sidestepping all sorts of dangerous, illicit and subtle intrigues, both in business and private relations. Reputation, fortune and confidence of elders may be at stake, unless extreme precaution is taken against false positions or dubious alliances. With care there may be solid benefits and very happy and desirable social or affectional affiliations.

If It Is Your Birthday

A child born on this day should have desirable social and affectional qualities, which should bring happiness and stability, yet may be easily victimized or lured to false predicaments or loss of standing, through duplicity

For Monday, December 13

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a moderately active day, with many things' moving along despite much excitement, fret unrest and other personal commotions or disturbances. With inner calm and proper restraints restored there may be constructive work. However, there is need of precaution with all writings, signatures, speech and correspondence. Be careful with health.

Those whose birthday it is are promised fair success and constructive work if they will safeguard their health, maintain composure and suppress tempestuous impulses, particularly in words and writings. Safeguard all papers and documents and try to be amiable with influential persons.

A child born on this day may be impulsive, impatient, restless, nervous and inclined to self-defeat through its own lack of restraint and composure. It would profit by early discipline and attention to its physical condition.

W.A. Re-elects Officers for 1944

BETHANY, ec. 11 — (ENS). — The monthly meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church was held in the parsonage with 20 in attendance. The topic of the meeting was "Following the Star." The Scripture lesson Matthew 2, 1-10, was read by Miss Hannah Staples, while thoughts on the lesson were given by Mrs. Harding. The various groups gave the annual reports and also handed in moneys which totalled $4.00. The treasurer reported $112 on hand. A talk on the Missionary and Maintenance Fund was given by Mr. Harding.

Moved by Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Veale that $25 go to the fund this year. (Letters of appreciation from boys in Newfoundland who had received parcels were read. A report of the temperance convention held at Port Hope was read by Mrs. Jackson, and the program was taken by Mrs. Veale, leader of Group Five. A duet "Ivory Palaces" was sung by Mrs. H. Fallis and Miss Richardson, accompanied by Mrs. McNeil. Mrs. Harding read the story of the hymn, "Silent Night." Mr. Harding took the chair for the election of officers, resulting in the re-election of all. Collection was $3.30.

Personals.

Mrs. Charles Reynolds was a visitor to Lindsay on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs Walter Neals, accompanied by Mrs. White, Mrs. Phillips, and Miss Marguerite Neals visited Peterborough Thursday.

Commissioner Enrolls Ten New Guides

MILLBROOK, Dec. 11 (ENS) — An impressive ceremony took place in the Continuation School library Thursday evening, when Mrs. O. S. Hobbs, of Oshawa, District Commissioner for the Girl Guides, enrolled the local Patrol Leaders and their Seconds, the list including: Betty Thornton and Melba Ball (the Swallows); Mary Sanderson and Rosemary Stinson (the Bluebirds); Ada Earle and Lola Gardiner (the Kingfishers); Marguerite Murney and Margaret Elson (the Wrens); Kathryn Elson and Dorothy Coulter (the Scarlet Tanagers).

The local Guides are under Captain Honor Gibson, who introduced Mrs. Hobbs, who, in turn, presented each leader and each second, with the words: "Company, I present to you a new Guide," following the solemn ceremony of enrolment, and inserting the girl's name. The color party, carrying the large flag, which saluted by each newly-enrolled Guide, included Esther Armstrong, who carried the standard, Joan Martin and Audrey Armstrong. Previous to enrolment, the District Commissioner inspected the Company, and made suggestions.

Cheerful Service

Betty Wright, who has passed her Tenderfoot test, was the only other one of the other members who was enrolled, and completing the ritual, Mrs. Hobbs pinned on each girl's red tie the Guide pin. In her brief address, Mrs. Hobbs stressed to the Guides the importance of doing, in the home or elsewhere, cheerfully, willingly, and usefully, "for done in this spirit, service, which your pledge demands of you in helping others every day, is worth so much more than if it is dragged out of us."

A sing-song led by Captain Gibson, and a memory test led by Kathryn Elson, followed by all standing in a big circle and singing "Taps," completed an interesting evening.

Parents, and other members of the local Women's Association formed to back up the Guide movement, were special guests. When all have passed the Tenderfoot test, and uniforms have been secured for each member, there will be another enrolment ceremony. Thirty-two girls are to date enrolled in the local Company.

Institute Hears Yuletide Talk

TRENT RIVER, Dec. 11—(ENS). — The December meeting of the Trent River Women's Institute was held at the war workers' rooms in the village this week. There were 19 present.

Rev. and Mrs. Wilkinson of Havelock United Church were present to assist with the meeting, and a war prayer was given by Rev. Mr. Wilkinson, who then gave a talk on "Nativity of the Star and the Angels." The program consisted of Christmas carols and a solo by Mr. Wilkinson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilkinson.

A report of the convention recently held in Toronto was given by Mrs. E. Little, who was the delegate. The motto for the meeting was "Citizenship in a post-war world," and was read by Mrs. E. Drain. It was decided to donate a pair of stockings to help out the ditty bag at the school, and an appeal was read for blood donors. A number of letters were received from overseas boys expressing thanks for parcels sent by the war workers.

It was decided to join with Belmont and Havelock Institutes in a community meeting on nutrition. Gifts were exchanged by the members and lunch was served at the close by the hostesses. The next meeting will be in the war workers' rooms on January 14.

Bancroft News

Lois, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. More of Bancroft having suffered an acute attack of appendicitis, was operated on in the Red Cross Hospital, Bancroft, by Dr. S. Y. Walsh of Peterborough assisted by Dr. O. W. Anderson the family physician, of Bancroft.

Members of Bancroft Lodge, A. F. and A.M. No. 482 held a bridge and euchre party this week entertaining members of the Eastern Star and friends. The evening was spent in cards after which a dainty lunch was served by the committee in charge. Winners of the bridge were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davey. Winners of euchre were Mrs. I. Severin and Mr. Reginald Wiggins.

Sgt. and Mrs. G. Vardy of Toronto were in town Thursday attending the funeral of the late Archibald Vardy from his residence in Dungannon township.

Mrs. Thomas Murphy of Herscel township passed away at the home of her son Lawrence Murphy in Trenton Thursday morning. Her remains were conveyed to her late residence Thursday afternoon. Funeral to take place today.

CHARMING COSTUME JEWELRY—The basic frock and good costume jewelry with which to give charm and fresh beauty play a big role in the fashion world. Restrictions and shortages of materials and labor have not impeded jewelry designers but have inspired them to new and greater efforts. Nina Wolf, the talented young designer — famous for her shell jewelry—turns her hand to other media. For these pins and earrings she uses gilt covered metal, firmly wrought and centered with rhinestones.

Y.W.C.A. Club Doings

The Vagabonds cancelled their meeting on Tuesday due to the illness of Dorothy Hepburn, and the absence of the program convener, Mary Taylor.

The All-Nations Club met in the club room and after listening to the broadcast "Of Things to Come" held an interesting discussion on post-war and refugee problems. There will not be another meeting of this group until the New Year when it is hoped that many new members will be present.

A meeting of the girls' council executive and committees for the "Hanging of the Greens" program was held on Wednesday at 7 o'clock in the committee room. Friday, December 17, was decided upon as the best date for this event. Reports from committees were heard and plans are well underway. A choir practice will be held on Monday and Wednesday at 7 p.m. for club and gym girls not residence in the "Y" who are taking part in the Vesper program, under Roberta Kiefer. Residence girls who find it more convenient to meet at 6:30 will practice under the leadership of Mary Taylor. Many lovely and less familar carols have been chosen for this part of the program.

The '38 Club held their regular meeting on Wednesday in the club room. In the absence of the president, Leona McMillan, and the vice-president, Lena Dewart, Margaret Edmison, past-president, presided over the meeting. Reports from committees working on the service project were heard and discussed. Members are planning on attending the "Hanging of the Greens" program instead of having another meeting before Christmas, and will bring white gifts for the Christmas tree.

The Gym-Swim club met in the club room on Thursday after gym. They are planning a Christmas party for next Thursday and will write a club letter to their members in the services. After the business meeting members took part in a "carol-sing" and played games. Hilda McConkey, June McConkey, Ruth Lancaster, and Elinor Kingsborough were in charge of the refreshments. Members are planning on attending the "Hanging of the Greens" on the 17th and each will bring a guest.

The Saturday Juniors started their club again last Saturday with Miss Millburn in charge assisted by Mrs. Rehill, sponsor, from the Girls' Work Committee. The members made posters to advertise their club, played games and sang carols. They will meet each Saturday afternoon from 2.30 to 4 o'clock, and invite their young friends from the ages of 4 to 12 years, or older girls up to Grade 8.

More Citizens Visit Library

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 11 (ENS) — The Lakefield Library Board met in the council chamber this week and Mr Everett Sloan presided for the meeting.

In the report for November, Librarian Miss Grace Young, stated there was an increase of seventy books in the circulation over that of the previous month. Books were refused one child during the month because of impetigo.

The library was open thirteen times during the month with a circulation of 852 books, classed as follows:—adult fiction 174, adult non-fiction 60, juvenile fiction 515, juvenile non-fiction 83.

New members for November totalled 12, with 11 renewals. $1.30 was collected in fees and fines. Miss Yonge presented the revised list of new books and was instructed to send for $150 of juvenile fiction and $50 adult fiction and $25 of non-fiction.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. A. Davis, Mrs. W. W. Leonard, Mrs. Reg. Doubt, Miss Grace Yonge and Mr. E. Sloan.

Guard-Stools Removed From Don Jail

TORONTO, Dec. 11 (CP). —Two attempted breaks from the Don Jail in Toronto within the last three weeks have resulted in the suspension of one guard with 31 years experience and disciplinary measures against others, Deputy Provincial Secretary C. F. Neelands announced today.

The prisoners involved in the attempted breaks were not identified, and the name of the guard suspended was not given. His suspension will stand until reviewed by Provincial Secretary G. H. Dunbar. The disciplining of other guards took the form of removing their corridor-stools and ordering them to stand during their hours of duty.

The first attempted escape came three weeks ago, Mr. Neelands said. A wall at one end of the corridor on the second floor of the north-west wing had been chopped, with a few bricks removed, before it was discovered. At that time, T. M. Gourlay, inspector of jails and reformatories held an investigation and told guards they should have heard the noise.

The second attempt came last Sunday, when an inside window screen was removed and an attempt made to pry open a window. After further investigation, Inspector Gourlay ordered suspension of the guard in the corridor and removal of guard-stools from all corridors.

In both instances, had the prisoners succeeded they would have been able to get into the jail yard. They still would have had to scale a 16-foot outside wall to gain freedom.

Girl Guides Hold Interesting Ceremony

GORE'S LANDING, Dec. 11 — (ENS).—An investiture of the Girl Guides was held in the basement of St. George's-on-the-hill on Wednesday evening, with the mothers and friends of the girls present.

Opening wtih a drill the girls formed into two patrols, led by Geraldine Waldon and Eileen MacIntosh. Mrs. Delaney is leader of the Guides and conducted the investiture. Escorted by patrol leader Geraldine Waldon, Viola Harris and Selina Gilpin were each presented the interesting ceremony of becoming a Girl Guide. Patrol Leader Eileen MacIntosh presented Laura Eagleson, after which the Guides repeated their pledge and closed with prayer and the singing of "Taps."

The party then proceeded to the rectory where the girls served tea and sandwiches. A sing-song of Christmas carols was enjoyed as the girls plan to sing the carols on Christmas eve throughout the village.

Amongst those present were Mrs. Ames, Mrs. Wilbert Harris, Mrs. Eagleson, Mrs. Clare Harris, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Vern Harris, Mrs. Melville Harris, Mrs. MacIntosh, Mrs. Fred Harris, Mrs. Meggs, Mrs Lyle Ball, Mrs. Thackeray and the 12 Girl Guides.

Bancroft News

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's United church held its annual bazaar and afternoon tea in the basement of the church Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Thomas Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy and Mr. Leo Murphy left for Trenton Tuesday, having received word earlier in the day that Mrs. Thomas Murphy was seriously ill at the home of her son Lawrence, of Trenton.

The Department of Highways, Bancroft, were kept quite busy Monday and early Tuesday with their snowplough equipment, following the five inch fall of snow at Bancroft and district. Some of the hills on Highway 62 south of Bancroft were reported very slippery, and motorists and the Bancroft-Belleville bus had difficulty in travelling.

REPATRIATES SING HYMN OF THANKSGIVING—Raising their voices in song, this group of repatriates aboard the S.S. Gripsholm, somewhere at sea, sing a hymn of thanksgiving as part of the Thanksgiving Day services. This was the first Thanksgiving Day these people were able to celebrate in three years.

Urge Legislation To Control Venereal Disease

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (CP).— The drawing up of new legislation to make the control of venereal diseases more effective in Canada was urged today at the concluding session of a four-day international conference on venereal diseases.

The conference, attended by delegates from the United Kingdom, United States, Australia and Canada, urged that the suggested legislation be drafted by the Dominion Council of Health and that it be based on existing provincial venereal disease control acts. The legislation would be submitted to the provincial governments for approval.

The Dominion Council of Health is made up of the health ministers of the nine provinces.

Also recommended by the conference were amendments to the Criminal Code to stiffen penalties for inmates and operators of houses of prostitution.

Provision of greater recreational facilities for young people was suggested.

The conference did not formally recommend that premarital, prenatal and pre-employment blood tests be made compulsory.

Maj. J. A. Leroux, a venereal disease control officer for the Canadian Army, said a conference committee which he headed did not have an opportunity of studying the advisability of making such tests compulsory.

He said he met three members of the committee before the concluding session of the conference started and they felt the idea of compulsion "was sound and should be studied by the departments of health."

A committee of administration, headed by Lt.-Col. D. H. Williams, venereal disease control officer for the Canadian Army and for the Federal Pensions Department, urged that the criminal code be amended so as to make jail sentences mandatory for men found in houses of prostitution.

The holding of national, regional and local conferences to discuss venereal disease control was suggested. The Dominion would be divided into three areas for purposes of the regional conferences. One area would include the Maritime provinces, the second Ontario and Quebec, and the third Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Dr. Gordon Bates, general director of the Health League of Canada, asked the conference to recommend that figures on the number of venereal disease cases be made public.

Dr. R. E. Wodehouse, deputy minister of pensions, said the conference could not make such a recommendation. Publication of the figures of cases in the armed forces was a matter which could only be decided by the Federal cabinet.

The conference, however, did adopt Dr. Bates' suggestion that a national survey of the diseases be undertaken and that these figures be made public when the survey was completed.

It was recommended that the first Wednesday of Febuary be designated "social hygiene day" and that an order-in-council be passed to that effect. The day would coincide with social hygiene day in the United States.

Never To Cease Pounding Enemy

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 — (CP). — The R.C.A.F. is going to "pound the enemy ceaselessly, relentlessly, and with ever-increasing force until he is down on his knees happy to accept terms of unconditional surrender, Air Marshal L. S. Breadner, who soon will assume new duties as Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief, R.C.A.F. Overseas, said to-day in a farewell message to Air Force personnel at Headquarters and throughout Canada.

Air Marshal Breadner is succeeded as Chief of Air Staff by Air Vice-Marshal Robert Leckie.

Air Marshal Breadner's message said in part:

"I know full well that many a man and woman among you would give a great deal for the opportunity that has been given me of getting nearer to the great drama being enacted overseas, in which our Air Force is playing such a stellar role.

"In relinquishing my post as Chief of the Air Staff I leave behind me at Headquarters many staunch friends, whose loyalty, devotion to duty, and comradeship made my stay there one I shall always remember with pleasure. I know my successors will command the same loyalty and devotion....

"Everything that we, for our part, can do to hasten the war's end we shall do. Rest assured about that. It is my cherished hope that when next I return to Canada peace will again have come to the world."

I.O.O.F. Honors Noble Grand

MILLBROOK, Wec. 11 (ENS).—A special feature of the regular meeting of Millbrook Lodge I.O.O.F. No. 308, on Tuesday evening, was the presentation of the "Travelling Bible," from the Noble Grand of Port Hope Lodge, to Rev. A. L. Sisco, Noble Grand of the local Oddfellows' organization. The Bible is a handsome one, bound in French morocco, printed in large, clear type, padded round corners, and blue under gilt edges. It is enclosed in a zippered case of French Seal leather, and this case also holds the leather-encased roll bearing the names of the Lodges, and other information relative to the Oddfellows' societies where the Bible has already been presented; it is in the keeping of the individual Lodge for one month and must then be passed on to another Lodge in another district.

The idea of the "Travelling Bible" originated with Stella Lodge, I.O.O.F., of Carleton Place, and to this Lodge it must be returned once in every two years, when the record of its travels is noted before it goes on its way again. The basic idea was to promote visitation between Lodges of different districts, thus making for a wider interpretation of the three links—Friendship, Love and Truth—on which Oddfellowship is founded.

Twenty-four members of the Port Hope fraternity were guests on Tuesday evening, including the degree team of the Lodge, and a candidate who was given the Second Degree, the ritual being put on with marked ability and impressiveness.

The District Deputy Grand Master, Brother A. H. Padgeham, of Bethany, was guest of honor for the evening, making his first official visit to the local Lodge, his address being of a helpful and constructive character.

At the close of the Lodge session, refreshments were served, the social committee of Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge, No. 176, having this matter in charge.

"MONTY" STRESSES A POINT—Wearing a determined expression, General Bernard Montgomery, commander of the British 8th Army and one of the most brilliant military figures in the present war, emphasizes a point during a front-line press conference. This picture was made while "Monty's" men were driving back the German forces in east-central Italy.

More Jam

TORONTO, Dec. 11 (CP).—F. D. Mathers, Prices Board administrator of processed fruits and vegetables at Ottawa, yesterday told a meeting of the Canned Foods Association of Ontario that within the next 10 days 446 tons of British Columbia fruit will be shipped to Eastern Canada for jam-making.

Mrs. E. C. Prentice W.A. President

MARMORA, Dec. 11 — (ENS)— The December and annual meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Association was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. C. Prentice. The president, Mrs. T. Dickson conducted the opening and business periods. Christmas hymns were sung and the story of the Nativity read. Motions were passed to pay two hundred dollars to the Trustee Board of the church and arrangements for the Christmas treat for the children was left in the hands of the executive. Rev. Dr. W. P. Fletcher presided for the election of officers for 1944 which resulted as follows:—

President, Mrs. E. C. Prentice, vice-president, Mrs. P. Gordon, corresponding secretary, Miss M. Brown; financial secretary, Mrs. F. Sweet, treasurer Mrs. F. R. Wells; auditors, Mesdames H. A. Burwash and D. Thomson; parsonage committee, Mesdames E.C. Prentice, H. A. Burwash, M. Kouri and H. Loveless and Miss M. Brown; kitchen committee, Mesdames P. G. Fletcher, W. R. Hamilton and T. Hannah; visiting committee, Mesdames F. R. Wells, A. H. Connor, F. Sweet, and J. Gordenier, T. Dickson, H. W. Sabine, W. J. Pack, H. R. Haacke, Miss F. Boyd.

Pay Increases

Flying Fortress Improved; Has More Guns

By PUGH MOORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP). — The deadly punch of the already-formidable Flying Fortress has been increased by 2,000 pounds of high explosives, while both Fortresses and the Liberators now bristle with additional defensive guns.

In announcing the improvements today, the 8th U.S. Air Force said its heavy bombers are far deadlier weapons with addition of the external bomb racks which increase the Fortresses' bomb load to four tons, together with chin turrets on the Fortresses and two new power turrets on the Liberators.

Some Sacrifice

The new bomb racks mean some sacrifice in range and speed, but these possibilities suggest themselves:

1. Short range, pre-invasion assaults with great loads of explosives carried out under the protection of fighter escort for approximately 350 miles inland.

2. Mass night saturation raiding with the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F.

Speed and defensive armament are less important factors in either type of operation, particularly in the heavy night assaults by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. similar to those which have been carried out recently against Berlin and Leipzig.

In recent weeks the German radio has referred to night raids by "British-American bombers," indicating that American Fortresses may have praticipated in the saturation attacks, but there has been no official statement from London to bear out the German statements.

Another recent innovation in the American aerial assault against Germany is the dive-bombing tactics employed by bomb-carrying Thunderbolts (P-47's).

These powerful, single-engined fighters have been used to attack objectives by diving from high to medium altitudes before releasing the bombs.

The attack is a variation of the old-style dive-bombing practised by the Junkers-87 Stukas, in which the bomber dived to within a short distance of the target before releasing its load. Improved defences have made this type of attack extremely hazardous for the Germans.

The new wing racks carried by the Fortresses weigh roughly 150 pounds and are of the simplest steel construction. Their bombs can be released electrically or manually, and in sequence or in salvo with the bomb bay load. They reduce the big bombers' range because they occupy space ordinarily given over to extra gasoline, and their wind resistance necessarily reduces speed. Through their use, however, the Fortresses gain a much heavier punch.

Couple Shipwrecked Before Marriage

CAIRO, Dec. 11 (CP)—An English nursing sister and Australian sailor—each of whom thought the other had drowned when a British hospital ship was sunk off Sicily—have been married in the tiny chapel of a military hospital in Egypt.

The bride, Nursing Sister Makepeace of Dover, England, had to be wheeled into the chapel for her marriage to third officer Irvine-Brown of Brisbane, Australia, because she suffered a broken leg when struck by a flying timber from the sinking ship while being lowered in a lifeboat.

Despite the injury, she kept afloat 90 minutes and was picked up by a cruiser. The next morning she was transferred to another hospital ship and reunited with Irvine-Brown.

Belmont And Methuen Council Desires New Road

HAVELOCK, Dec. 11 (ENS). — The Belmont and Methuen township council held its December meeting with Reeve Isaac Anderson presiding and councillors Newton, Steenburg, McNeely and Purdy present.

It was moved by councillors McNeely and Newton that William Forsythe be assessed for property of the late Daniel Shorter. The clerk was authorized to notify Fred Brown to have the gate removed from the 5th Concession line of Belmont, opposite Lot 16 this moved by councillor Purdy and Newton and they also moved that the account for repairs to Ontario Cheese Box Company be received and forwarded to the insurance company for investigation.

Post War Planning

The clerk was authorized to send account to the Peterborough Metal Company for $10 for compensation of wood cut by trespass on the Belmont boundary line, this on a motion by councillors Steenburg and McNeely and it was also decided the township council of Belmont and Methuen petition the Department of Highways to build a secondary road, leading north from the intersection of No. 30 and No. 7 highways at Havelock, through the townships of Belmont and Methuen, by way of Oak Lake settlement, connecting with the secondary road in Chandos township, as a post-war project.

This request is made because there is no good road leading to the north from No. 7 highway between the City of Peterborough and Madoc. A copy of this resolution was forwarded to the Department of Highways and to the local member, Harold Scott.

Accounts Paid

The following accounts were ordered paid, on motion by councillors Steenburg and Purdy:

A. D. Buchanan, weed inspecting $26.82; Mrs. J. Roe, caretaker, hall and wood, $10; Arthur Palmateer, one ewe, $14; Irving and Sam Moldaver, refund, $5.30; Treasurer S.S. No. 7, Belmont, 1943 rates, $50; Robert Marshal, refund in 1940 on Jack Lake island 18, $1.29; voucher No. 9, roads, $181.02; Rae Williams, relief, $12; Ed. Fennell, collectors bond, $15; Provincial treasurer, insulin account, $1.24; A. Leeson and Son, relief, $7; Robert Marshal, coll. salary 1941, $25; 1942, $25; and 1943, $50, total $100; Grant Dafoe, part salary, $100.

Council adjourned to meet December 15 at 1 p.m.

Candlelight Service Held By WMS

MILLBROOK, Dec. 11 (ENS).—A candle-lighting service featured the Christmas meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's church, held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Percy Stinson, the hostess taking charge of this impressive period, with all present having a part.

The leader lighted a tall green candle beside her, and from this three members lighted their white tapers, and then the one held by every person present, the dialogue material in which a number took part, and which was interspersed with Christmas hymns, emphasizing the fact that Jesus came to bring the light of salvation to every soul. The individual responsibility in spreading a knowledge of that Light over all the world was also stressed.

The president, Mrs. A. L. Sisco, took the worship period, with Christmas hymns, and the secretary reported a total of $27.70 received at the November meeting. Illness kept a number away, and the annual reports will be heard at the January gathering, which will be at Mrs. Edmund Ball's home. Indications were, however, that the allocation has been reached, and that the stipulated increase of 5 per cent will also be realized when all monies are on hand.

The election of officers followed, the slate being: Honorary presidents, Mrs. H. E. Smith and Mrs. J. H. George; president, Mrs. A. L. Sisco; vice-presidents, Mrs. H. W. Johnston and Mrs. Edmund Ball; corresponding and press secretary, Miss E. L. Hetherington, who was also appointed pianist; recording secretary, Mrs. H Ross Edmunds; treasurer, Miss M. E. Hetherington; Christian stewardship, Mrs. F. J. Smith; Christian citizenship, Mrs. J. Rowland, Mrs. Weston Fallis; strangers' committee, Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. M. McDowell and Miss Maud Finnimore; supply committee, Mrs. J. Spence, Mrs. Harry Earle and Miss A. Thornton; Missionary Monthly and Associate Helpers, Miss Ethel Hatherly; mite-box secretary, Mrs. Maud Hetherington.

Rev. A. L. Sisco closed the meeting with prayer after a pleasant half hour had been spent.

Bears Still Out

Apsley, Dec. 11 (ENS).

IF Bruin must repair to his winter lair before winter sets in, mild weather may be expected for some time. While Herb Lean and Archie Ointment were looking after their trap line Wednesday they found bear tracks along the line. On following them they eventually came on the bear in its den.

2 Elderly People Die From Influenza

HAMILTON, Dec. 11 — (CP).—City Medical Health Officer Dr. J. Edgar Davey reported to-day that cause of death of two elderly Hamilton residents within the past week had been attributed to influenza. Their names were not disclosed.

Hospitals here are crowded with influenza patients and though no restrictions have been ordered by the Board of Health, Dr. Davey said citizens should avond mingling in crowded public places.

A ban on visiting at all local hospitals will remain in effect until further notice.

Army Barracks Lost

HALIFAX, Dec. 11 (CP). —Soldiers escaping from a flaming army barracks here following discovery of fire early today were able to save their equipment from their sleeping quarters although the barracks was almost destroyed. The fire was brought under control after the city fire department and a fire boat had fought the flames for two hours.

The only casualty was the camp cat, which perished in spite of the efforts of the soldiers to rescue it.

LIVES AFTER FALLING 700 FEET—One of the war's most hair-raising experiences belongs to Pte. W. J. Robson, of Burlington, a Canadian paratrooper who dropped 700 feet to the ground in Britain when his parachute became entangled and lived to tell the tale. Suffering severe injuries but on the mend, Robson is pictured in his bed aboard the Canadian Army hospital train carrying war casualties to their homes across Canada. The accident occurred when Robson's chute opened only far enough to make him land on one foot, thus preventing instant death.

This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Hard To Beat

Very Easy to Make.
No Cooking. Saves Big Money.

No matter what you've been using for coughs due to colds, you'll be the first to admit that this surprising relief, mixed in your own kitchen, is hard to beat, for real results.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—anyone can do it. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really excellent cough relief—about 4 times as much for your money. Tastes fine—children love it—and it never spoils.

You can feel this home mixture taking right hold of a cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases soreness and difficult breathing, and lets you sleep. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Just try it, and if not satisfied, your money will be refunded.

Locke Acquitted

191 Charlotte street; Gordon R. Brown, 661 Armour Road.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., defended Locke, and Crown Attorney V. J. McEldery, K.C., conducted the prosecution.

Works For C.N.R.

Mr. Locke is employed with the C.N.R. at Stratford as superviser of buildings and bridges. He and his wife and daughter had motored to Hastings on Saturday, July 17, "to visit my brother-in-law, Grover Kerr." Shortly before 1 p.m. on Sunday, the three visiotrs and Mr. and Mrs. Kerr set out to drive to Peterborough. They were travelling westerly on the road which extends from Hastings through Villiers and Keene. Two miles on their way their car was in collision on a double or "S" turn with an automobile driven by Ralph McQuade of Asphodel who was driving easterly to Hastings.

With Mr. McQuade, were his wife and John Keogan and several children. He reached the road from his farm about the same time that Cecil Lynch came out of the lane on the north side of the road. Mr. Lynch turned easterly toward Hastings, and McQuade followed him at a distance of about three hundred yards. Beyond the "S" turn, the Lynch car passed the westbound Locke party, leaving considerable dust in the air.

Mr. Lynch testified that he had gone only a short distance beyond the turn when he heard a loud crash behind him. He drove on a little further to the home of David H. Walsh for assistance, and when they arrived at the turn they found the two cars locked "almost head on," and most of the ocupants injured. Mr. Kerr was leaning unconsciously out of the open window of the right front door, "froth issuing from his mouth." Mr. Lynch hurried to Hastings and notified Dr. Gallivan who reached the place of the accident before Lynch got back.

Stories Differ

The first men from the neighborhood reaching the scene were David Walsh, Mr. Lynch and Harold Fife. Their account of the position of the two cars was somewhat in variance with the descriptive placing by Chief William Wellman and Edward Jones of Hastings who arrived after them accompanied by John Wilson and Vern Fleming.

Chief Wellman explained that the locked cars were blocking traffic and he decided to move the rear of the McQuade car to open a passage.

Photographs of the later position were produced by Mr. McElderry indicating, he pointed out, that the Locke car was on the wrong side of the road. On the other hand Mr. Walsh said the Locke was about in the centre "of the travelled part of the road," and other evidence bearing on that time and position declared the rear of Mr. McQuade's car to have been four feet from the north side of the road. These were points of variance in the evidence which were left to the jury for their decision as to facts.

The two drivers, Locke and McQuade, swore that they were in their proper traffic lanes when the crash occured.

Defendant's Account

"On the Sunday trip to Peterborough," Mr. Locke recalled in reply to Mr. Gordon's examination, "I was driving and Mr. Kerr was on the front seat with me. My wife and daughter and Mrs. Kerr were at the back. We left Hastings about ten minutes to one. I was driving at less than 20 miles an hour."

Mr. Gordon: "Did you have a clear view ahead on the turn?"—"No."

"Why was that?"—"On account of the dust. It was made by a car I learned afterward was driven by Cecil Lynch."

"What happened next?"—"After I passed him there was a terrible lot of dust. I saw something come out of it, and there was a crash."

"What position were you on the highway when the McQuade car came?"—"I was on my own side, about a foot or a foot and a half out from the side."

"What do you say about the speed of the McQuade car?"—"I really can't say, but it seemed to be coming very fast in the dust."

Witness said there was nothing he could have done to avoid the accident. He couldn't turn because everything happened too quickly.

"How far ahead of the McQuade car would you say the Lynch car was?"—"I'd say 200 or 300 feet."

Mr. McElderry: "Could you see through the dust in front?"—"Yes."

"So the dust didn't intefere with your view ahead?"—"Some."

"Well you thought it was safe to go ahead and you did?"—"Yes."

"So the dust had nothing to do with your vision, or with the accident?"—"Not on my part."

"How did your car get on the wrong side of the road?"—"I can't say."

Mr. Locke said he had no recollection of anything he might have said to Constable Grayling at the hospital.

"Do you remember telling him you could not recall anything after leaving the Hastings pavement?"—"I don't remember what I told him."

"You had concussion in the accident?"—"Yes."

"Is it a fact you had no memory after leaving the pavement?"—"I hadn't then, but I have now."

On The Right Side

Mrs. Maude Kerr, widow of Grover Kerr, said she first saw the McQuade car ten feet in front. Mr. Locke was driving on the north side of the road.

"Mr. McQuade's car came right at us." Witness said she was unconscious several days.

"Is there any doubt in your mind as to the position of the two cars at the moment of the accident?"—"None whatever."

Witness said Mr. Locke was on the right side of the road.

Mrs. Locke, who was next called by Mr. Gordon, said that with the impact of the collision she felt her husband's car slide sideways toward the south side of the road."

David H. Walsh said the accident occurred about half a mile from his gate.

Mr. Gordon: "Did you see Wellman, Jones and Wilson?"—"No, I got there ahead of them."

North Side Blocked

"Where was the Locke car?"—"In the centre of the travelled part of the road. There was just room for a car to pass the Locke car, but a car couldn't pass McQuade's car the north side."

Mr. Gordon: "Did you see any marks behind the McQuade car?"—"Yes, skid marks from brakes, or where it 'slued' around the bend. I wouldn't say which it was. They led right up to the McQuade car."

"How far did these marks extend from the car?"—"Thirty feet or possibly farther."

"Were there any track marks behind the Locke car?"—"None that I saw."

Mr. Walsh said Cecil Lynch drove in and told him he had heard a crash, and both drove to the place of the accdient.

Witness said cars passed by on the south side of the road.

Mr. McEldery: "Have you had a difficulty with McQuade?"

Mr. Walsh: "Never had a word with him in my life. We grew up together."

"Are you good friends now?"—"I expect so."

Cecil Lynch estimated the speed of Locke's car at not more than 20 miles an hour when he passed it on his way east. Shortly afterward he heard a crash and went on to Walsh's house to get him. Witness told Mr. McElderry that cars passed the locked two by moving out partly on the shoulder of the road.

"You could get by the Locke car to the north, but not past the McQuade car."

Harold Fife, son of Howard Fife, residing three miles west of Hastings, said the McQuade car when he first saw it was at an angle on the road. Its rear was three to four feet from the north side of the road. Its left front wheel was up on the fender of the Locke car. He s[illegible] he saw the skid marks behind the McQuade car, which Mr. Walsh had mentioned. Witness said he returned to the scene of the accident some time later and noticed that the rear of the McQuade car was moved two or three feet.

Edward Jones, proprietor of the Clarendon Hoted, described the Locke car when he saw it as about straight on the road, and to the south side. It was two feet from the south shoulder, he said. McQuade's car was facing east at an angle, its rear three feet from the north side.

In his address to the jury Mr. Gordon stressed the evidence of Mr. Walsh, Mr. Lynch and Mr. Fife, particularly relating to the "skid" marks behind the McQuade car. These marks were obliterated by traffic and persons who walked around the cars before Messrs. Wellman and Jones arrived. Those marks showed that the rear of the McQuade car was "within three feet from the north side of the road." Mr. Lynch has testified that Lo[illegible] was driving at a moderate speed when they passed one hundred feet or so east of the "S," turn.

"I ask you to discount McQuade's evidence," Mr. Gordon continued. "He deceived Constable Grayling in saying that he had sent his driver's license to the gasoline controller to get a ration book. You know you send your owners's license, not driver's. He not only lied, but he didn't have a driver's license. He was an outlaw on the highway. McQuade passed out at 12.15 drinking at his house. I suggest he had an alcoholic hang-over the next morning, and an innocent man, Grover Kerr, was killed."

Mr. McElderry recalled to the jury McQuade's evidence that he lay down to sleep at 12.15, and the next morning was up at 8.30 and tended to a flock of 1,000 to 1,500 chickens after he had breakfast. The photographs of the cars clearly indicated that Locke was on the wrong side of the road when the accident occurred. "Mr. Locke says he kept to the right side of the road. I ask you how in the name of heaven that car got over on the wrong side as you see in the pictures."

Judge Smoke told the jury they were not trying McQuade. Their duty was to decide whether Locke was guilty as charged of recklessness.

Doctors Operate In Rough Weather

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 —(AP). —How two Royal Canadian Navy doctors performed an emergency operation on a member of a United States merchantman crew at sea was told to-day by the Navy.

Early in November while their vessel was in a convoy bound for the United States, Boatswain Maurice J. Dwyer of Baltimore, Md., became seriously ill. A call was issued for a doctor. A Canadian destroyer Drew alongside and Surgeon-Lieut. R. H. Cram went aboard the merchantman.

His examination disclosed Dwyer was suffering from ulcers. Surgeon-Lieut. O. B. Richardson came on board from another escort and the operation, a serious one even under favorable conditions, was performed successfully in the mess room in rough weather.

Ten Blood Donors Give Sixth Donation At Peterborough Clinic

Each week the records of the Blood Donors Clinic show that more of the Donors are getting up in the higher brackets for giving blood and during two days this week Herbert Youngs of the C.G.E. gave his 7th donation and there were ten others gave their 6th. In addition to this there were nine people Monday who gave their first.

Nearly all those giving the sixth donation for the two days were from the factories and they are: Richard B. Francis, Clinton Payne, James C. Stevenson, Alex Anderson, Donald Emery, all of the C.G.E.; Roy Lewis from the Nashua; Lionel C. King and George Burns from Bridgenorth; Clifton Beacock of the Peterborough Lock Company; and W. E. Saunders of the C.N.R.

At the present time 9,500 donations have been made and the Clinic is sponsoring a drive to get the 10,000th donation by New Year's. Since supplies are being used rapidly, all clinics are doing their best to keep up the quotas.

Donors on Monday were:

Needs Unity

HALIFAX, Dec. 11 (CP).—Canada lacks the unity that Britain has shown during the war years, Capt. Harold S. Coulter, Canadian army intelligence officer and former Vancouver lawyer, said in an interview here Wednesday night. He said the Dominion has a long way to go to attain the unity needed to play her full part in world and empire affairs.

Benes At Moscow To Sign Pact

LONDON, Dec. 11 (CP) Edouard Benes, President of the Czecho-Slovak government in London, has arrived in Russia, presumably to sign a pact for which negotiations recently were concluded in London, Czech circles disclosed today.

It was expected here the agreement would have important repercussions of the post-war Central European set-up by providing an opening for Poland to join in a territorial barricade against Germany's traditional urge to "drive to the East."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

USE THE UNBID SUIT

IN SELECTING between two suits for an opening lead against a No Trump game contract, one of which you had bid and the other of which you had not mentioned, there should not be much of a problem. You know, from his going on, that the declarer is ready to protect himself against the suit you called, or at least thinks he is. But there may be plenty of doubt about adequate stoppers in the other one.

North: ♠ 3; ♥ 10 7 6 4 3; ♦ K 6 3; ♣ 9 8 5 2

West: ♠ J 9 7 4; ♥ 8; ♦ A Q J 8 5; ♣ K 7 3

East: ♠ A 8 6 5; ♥ A 9 5; ♦ 10 7; ♣ A Q 6 4

South: ♠ K Q 10 2; ♥ K Q J 2; ♦ 9 4 2; ♣ J 10

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♦	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT

Violating a fundamental of sound defense, South led his wrong suit, the one he had bid, the spade K. East won that pronto, seeing that the J was a second stopper in the dummy, and then finessed the diamond 10 to the K. Unable to return a spade if he wanted to, North led the heart 4 back. With game now certain, East came in with the A and ran four diamonds and three clubs. These, plus his major aces, gave him his game.

Even if the heart suit had not been better than the spades, to the extent of an important J instead of a 10, the correct lead was a heart, the K. Whether East used his A at once or later, he would have been set, for he had to try the diamond finesse. As soon as he did, North would have got in with the K and the hearts would have been run.

To Release More Farm Machinery

TORONTO, Dec. 11 (CP). — H. H. Bloom, Prices Board administrator of farm machinery, said here to-day an additional 2,500 tons of farm machinery urgently needed in Eastern and Western Canada will be made available this year following a United States' War Production Board ruling announced yesterday.

(In Washington the W.P.B. disclosed a slight increase will be permitted in the total tonnage of farm machinery permitted to be exported to Canada this year.)

Included in the machinery are hay loaders, manure spreaders, water pressure systems, swathers, pick-ups, orchard sprayers, side delivery rakes, potato diggers, garden tractors, electric fencers and potato planters, Bloom said.

The Washington announcement said the increase would restore most of the overall tonnage reduction which was subtracted from the Canadian allocation in a redivision of quotas last August.

Wants 6th Wife

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP). —Henry M. Roe, 95-year-old war worker from St. Louis, has his own post-war plan. Roe, who is among a group of war-workers honored at the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers, has had five wives. After the war is over, he said today, he is going to look for a sixth.

Bracken Says

Mr Bracken said that wherever revolutionary methods had placed the state in control the standard of living had dropped and freedom had disappeared. Neither Communism nor industrialism had succeeded in giving the Russian people as high a standard of living on the average as the lowest-paid section of the people of Britain.

The spending power of Government in Canada should be used not only to build public works and provide social services, but also to supplement private enterprise when investment began to dwindle.

Should Decentralize.

Efficiency would be aided if administrative functions were decentralized, said Mr. Bracken.

"There can hardly be a person within sound of my voice who has not had personal experience of the confusion and waste of time which has followed the creation of the great bureaucracy in Ottawa."

The possession of power by a highly-centralized authority was "very dangerous,' since the will to power was more sinister than the demand for profit.

If the people of Canada chose to buy security at the price of liberty they would lose not only liberty but the opportunity to achieve the high standard of living which was possible only if all the talents, vigor, experience and powers of leadership among the people were given the widest possible scope.

Canada desired an expanding economy, with an increasing national income and a just distribution of production, with a minimum loss of liberty. The Dominion had a reservoir of potential wealth of brains and experience, technical knowledge and power of leadership, labor and resources which remained to be tapped.

"But there is not yet enough capital equipment to make every man's work yield the best possible results considering the resources at his disposal," Mr. Bracken continued.

Canadian Ace Gets Two Planes

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN ITALY Dec. 11 (CP Cable). — A French Canadian air ace, Sqdn. Ldr. Albert Houle, D.F.C., of Massey, Ont., has downed two Messerschmitts near the Sangro River, bringing his score to seven.

Houle, newly-appointed commander of the City of Windsor Squadron, was patrolling with two other Spitfires when he sighted seven Messerschmitts preparing to strafe British troops.

Houle—a veteran of the Battle of North Africa—opened fire on one Messerschmitt which dove towards earth and exploded and then fired at another enemy plane. A few seconds later, a second German went down.

Back at the airdrome, an armament mechanic found that Houle had used short bursts of only 15 shells to down each of his victims. This economy in the use of ammunition is considered outstanding precision firing.

CITY FATHERS FINED

LONDON (CP). — The mayor, aldermen and burgesses of the Borough of Wembly, were fined 150 pounds and 21 pounds costs for supplying food without licence at a salvage drive function and at two municipal dances.

Obituary

WILBERT RUSSEL WILSON

APSLEY, Dec. 11 (ENS). —The death of Wilbert Russel Wilson occurred in St. Andrew's Hospital, Midland, where he had been a patient for the past month. He was born in Burleigh 46 years ago and when a young man learned the barber trade.

Twenty years ago he went to Victoria Harbor, where he carried on a barber business until eight years ago, when ill health forced him to retire..

During his lengthy illness he bore his suffering very patiently. He was kindly and cheerful even when suffering. He was a member of A. F. & A.M. and attended St. Paul's Presbyterian church.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, nee Dorothy Lyall, one daughter, Betty, in Toronto, a son Donald on the boat, "The Key," and a daughter Peggy at home. His mother, Mrs. Flora Wilson, two sisters, Mrs. Don Newberry and Mrs. Walter Tucker, one brother, Archie of Apsley and one brother, D'Eyncourt of Peterborough.

The funeral service took place from his late residence to St. Paul's Presbyterian church on Tuesday and was conducted by Rev. L. E. Gosselin. Pallbearers were W. Grigg, Bruce Crooke, W. Moore, Ray Belcher, John Quinlan and Albert Martin.

The numerous beautiful floral tributes testified the high esteem he was held in by all who knew him. The funeral was largely attended by friends from Apsley, Toronto, Peterborough, Port McNichol and other points.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the family in their bereavement.

MODERATOR DIES

BELFAST — (CP). — Rev. Dr. Phineas McKee, 63, Moderator of the Irish Presbyterian Church, died here.

Colombia Says Army Available

BOGOTA, Columbia, Dec. 11 — (AP).—The Colombian Government, which recently declared a state of belligerency against Germany, announced last night its armed forces would co-operate fully with the United States in a joint defence program involving the establishment of sea and air bases on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

The announcement followed a three-hour meeting between Acting President Dario Echandia and Lt.-Gen. George H. Brett, chief of the U.S. defence command in the Caribbean.

Colombia's geographical position is strategically important in the Western Hemisphere defence scheme, situated as it is immediately south of the Panama Canal with a two-ocean coastline running across the top of South America.

Daley Says Little On New Wage Order

TORONTO, Dec. 11 — (CP). — Minister of Labor Daley said here Friday that "the new federal wage order appears to accomplish two desirable ends by removing the threat of strikes by workers and of lockouts by employers."

"So far as it can be judged now, I am not criticising it," he said in an interview. "I think the regional War Labor Board will be able to function under it, although I don't know exactly how the order will affect the regional board."

Mr. Daly is chairman of the Ontario regional War Labor Board.

Veterans Fliers Win Pilot Wings

DUNNVILLE, Ont. Dec. 11 (CP) —Three pilots who have completed between them a total of more than 90 operational flights in various war theatres are among the class pilots graduating from the No. 6 Service Flying Training School near here today.

They are FOs P. Teatro of Lindsay, Ont., and T. E. Carter of St. Thomas, Ont. who served in the European theatre of operations, and WO. R. J. Johnston of Toronto, who has served on anti-submarine patrol in the Atlantic and North Pacific.

An air gunner, WO. Johnston had served on planes credited with destruction of two submarines, FO. Carter had been an observer and FO. Teatro a wireless air gunner.

while, quoted persons familiar with Hungary as saying that satellite state has faced a growing threat of complete occupation by the Germans since the Teheran and Cairo conferences.

The Hungarian people and even the government were pictured as convinced that Germany had lost the war and that a "way out" for Hungary must be found soon. The most concrete evidence of that sentiment was said to be found in the co-operation of two parties — the Peasant, or small landowner, and the Social Democratic, representing the opinion of 85 to 90 per cent of the population. They are reported to be pressing hard for peace.

Reports of mounting tension in Rumania also continued to come in as that country faced the threat of the Red Army advancing in Southern Russia.

Young People Hold Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 11 — (ENS).—Rev. Maxwell was guest speaker at a joint meeting of young people from Hoards and Tabernacle churches on Wednesday evening, when the latter group were the hosts of the occasion. In his remarks Rev. Maxwell drew an interesting analogy between the human body and the parts of an automobile and he emphasized the importance of each one playing his own part on the road of life. President Alex. Stephens opened the meeting, extending a welcome to the visitors, and other numbers on the program included a selection by the Junior Choir of Tabernacle church; reading by Mrs. Edna Little; violin solo by Raymond Tinney, accompanied by Miss Cozette Archer; mouth organ selection, Mrs. James Grills; reading, Mrs. Alex Stephens and a piano solo by Miss Cozette Archer.

WHEN ALLIED INVASION FORCES STRIKE at enemy shores, servicing commandos of the air force are among the first units ashore. With the help of the Engineers they level captured airfields which have been plowed by the enemy with furrows two feet deep. Rugged Canadian-built trucks fill up bomb craters with tons of rock, and rush in fuel, oil, supplies and maintenance equipment from the bridgehead.

In an incredibly short time after the start of the invasion, fighter planes are operating close behind the front lines, thus increasing their fighting range and saving tons of precious fuel.

It is a source of great satisfaction to the men who make Ford military vehicles to know that these vehicles are playing an important part in air warfare in many parts of the world. Directly or indirectly, they serve the squadrons which carry the bombing offensive to the heart of Germany, as well as the fighter squadrons which play such an important part in every great offensive.

"In this war of men and machines, the lives of many men can be saved by the dependability and efficiency of machines. It is our job to see that not a single part of any Ford vehicle shall fail our sons and brothers in the critical hour of battle."

Helicopters To Change Air Transport

Munitions Minister Warns Canada To Boost Air Plans

TORONTO, Dec. 13.—(CP).—The Helicopter as the airborne counterpart of the automobile for short distance flying....The flying wing and jet-propulsion engine revolutionizing air transport as we know it....This was the picture presented to Toronto Canadian Club today by Munitions Minister Howe —"looking three or four years into the future."

The man who directs civil aviation for the government said Canada hold a strategic position on the air-travel map and that an aggressive post-war aviation policy can provide an occupation for the pilots, radio electricians and airplane mechanics who now are on active service.

He said franchises for new air routes in Canada are being held open for Canadians now carrying the air war to the enemy.

Mr. Howe spoke of production in Canadian plants of Lancaster bombers, De Haviland Mosquitoes, Catalina Flying Boats, Curtis Helldivers and the Noorduyn Norseman, each in the top rank of its type.

"Our designers now are planning conversions to civilian transport types, in the hope of being ready for the post-war demand," he said.

Rank Third.

"Today we are probably the third, and certainly the fourth, in air power among the Allied nations. Our strategic location will command consideration from other countries, as will our prestige in military aviation."

Trans-Canada Air Lines has experienced spectacular development, Mr. Howe said, but "we know that the limited service now being given is wholly inadequate to meet travel requirements." Canadian Pacific Airlines, formed two years ago, had a similar experience.

A glance at a globe or an air map showed that every direct air route between North America and Europe or Asia crosses Canadian territory, said Mr. Howe. The end of the war would find Canada with the groundwork for a giant airport system

GOING ISN'T EASY — Here Dispatch Rider Jerry Jobsey of Winnipeg, Man., had to do motorcycle acrobatics to get across this wrecked power dam which Germans smashed in their retreat from Canadians advancing on Colle d' Anchise, Italy. Now Canadians are chasing the Germans up the Adriatic in a new and powerful move against the enemy.

Howe Gives 9 Post-war Ideas

TORONTO, Dec. 13—(CP).—Munitions Minister Howe called on Canadians today to avoid post-war planning based on public works and the dole and set forth as his alternative nine objectives aimed at making this nation of 12,000,000 persons "the happiest people on God's green earth."

"If we can preserve the spirit of the past four years, I am convinced that Canada is capable of doing anything that it will undertake to do," the 57-year-old engineer who has planned the Dominion's war production said in a speech prepared for delivery to Toronto Canadian Club.

These are his nine suggested objectives:

1. Raise the Canadian standard of living, an aim which would mean "jobs of the right kind."

2. Apply wartime inventions to peacetime use, requiring expansion of research organizations.

3. Obtain for Canada a place in civil and international aviation, comparable with the place it now holds in military aviation.

4. Provide a merchant marine worthy of the Dominion's export position.

Rebuild Mining.

5. Rebuild and expand the mining industry.

6. Make the forest industries a permanent source of wealth by reforestation.

7. Recapture old markets abroad and open up new ones.

8. Rebuild marketing and distribution systems at home.

9. "Let's build our post-war plans not on the narrow base of public works and the dole but rather on the broad base of private industry, agriculture and our forests, mines and fisheries.

"Let us continue that close partnership of government, industry, the producer and the worker that has built the Canada of today, and use it to build a Canada of tomorrow."

"With our post-war planners thinking in terms of public works and a government dole, is it any wonder that the advocates of Socialism are finding many disciples?" Mr. Howe asked.

"Since the early days of the war, professional apostles of discontent have been abroad in the land, in-

Bulgaria Menaced By Bombs Nazis Fear Balkan Crisis

By JUDSON O'QUINN—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 13—(AP).—A peace or war crisis, inspired in part by fear of an expected Allied invasion of the Balkans, was shaking Bulgaria to her foundations today amid some indications the world has little more time to wait for the promised east-west-south knockout blows against Hitler.

The next 100 days "will be as important in the history of the world as the 100 days before Waterloo," declared Lord Strabolgi, chief Labor whip in the House of Lords, in a speech yesterday at Luton. "Then Napoleon met his fate and Hitler will meet his if we act bravely and swiftly."

Defeat in the 1918 debacle of the Germanic raiders again is treading a similar path, and continental reports told of the dispatch of more German troops there.

Reluctant to break with Germany but anxious to continue her traditional friendship with Russia, this key central Balkan kingdom is wobbling precariously under the impact of both Allied and Nazi propaganda as well as the more direct menace of Hitler bayonets and further and still heavier loads of Allied aerial bombs.

Near End Of Rope.

"Bulgaria as a Nazi power is reaching the end of her tether," wrote the London Times diplomatic correspondent, who formerly was stationed in Sofia, the Bulgarian capital.

Like Bulgaria, Hitler's other vassals in southeastern Europe—Hungary and Rumania—also are wavering, while in Yugoslavia Marshal Josip Broz (Tito), his own position strengthened by the recent formation of a rump government in opposition to the Royalist government-in-exile, dramatically appealed to his scattered Partisan followers yesterday to rise up everywhere and wage battle against a major German drive to crush them.

Bulgarian cabinet ministers made week-end tours of the provinces presumably to obtain the opinion of the population on the question of continuing the alliance with Germany or to quiet their obvious fears.

A Hungarian radio broadcast, heard here, said virtually all the ministers were out on these trips and they covered the country nearly from one end to the other.

The radio inferentially denied reports that Premier Dobri Bojilov had resigned by saying he received several callers Saturday, among them the Fascist Italian charge d'affaires and a Rumanian trade delegation.

The Brazzaville (French) radio quoted Ankara reports that the Germans were building new airdromes and communication lines throughout Bulgaria.

Amid German defence preparations, however, the Cairo radio said anti-German feeling was becoming more apparent than ever in Bulgaria, which now has entered a crisis similar to that which preceded its surrender in 1918.

Nazis Halted In Drive At Kiev Bulge

Russians Retreat For a Month Before Lines Hold

LONDON, Dec. 13 (CP)—German broadcasts inferentially admitted a turn in the flow of battle today in the Kiev bulge, where massed German divisions have been on the counter - offensive, and indicated that the Red Army to the south in the Dnieper Bend was swarming down upon Kirovograd, threatening that industrial and railroad town with encirclement.

The German communique said the Soviets had brought up fresh forces and launched "fierce counter-attacks" in the crucial battle of the Kiev bulge. The Russians, in their latest communiques, said they had gone over to the offensive in that area after several weeks of defensive fighting. The Germans said they were waging "defensive fighting unabatedly."

Although the Germans claimed the Soviet attacks were repulsed, the Russians said they had seized several strong points from the Germans and were attacking south and southwest of Malin, 55 miles west of the Ukrainian capital, Kiev. Previously the Russians had reported the battle swaying to the southeast of Malin.

Nazis Claim Gains

The German communique also claimed Russian bridgeheads were wiped out on the west bank of the Teterev, a tributary of the Dnieper which rises just northeast of Zhitomir and flows to the northeast.

In the battle of the Dnieper bend, where the Russians announced the capture of Chigirin, northwest of Kirovograd, the taking of eight other populated places, a D.N.B. broadcast from Berlin reported that the Red Army had broken into the Nazi front at several points in the attacks both northeast and southeast of Kirovograd.

Another Germans news broadcast spoke of powerful tank-supported Soviet attacks west of Kirovograd, indicating a deep thrust had been made partly isolating the city.

The Red Army appeared to have concentrated sufficient forces inside the Kiev salient to overcome any new threat by the Germans, whose powerful mechanized thrusts had pushed the Russians steadily back in the Zhitomir and Korosten sectors.

Heavy Bombers Out In Force Over Germany

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(AP).—Strong forces of American heavy bombers thundered through concentrations of enemy fighter planes and flak to-day in a new daylight assault on one of the most heavily bombed regions of the world — Northwest Germany.

Specific targets were not immediately named in the 8th Air Force announcement but some of the most important cities in the Reich lie in the north-west territory, including battered Hamburg, Wilhelmshaven, Bremen and Emden.

It was over Emden Saturday that German air force sacrificed 138 of its fighters in a futile attempt to block the big American bombers from a pulverizing assault on the city.

Britain's tireless fleet of Mosquito bombers penetrated Germany for the third successive night last night for a series of lightning attacks on targets in the western Reich.

The ascending scale of operations by these swift, all-wood raiders—alarming city after city in their sweeping course—is similar to the light bombing program which preceded the last group of heavy attacks on half-devastated Berlin.

The Mosquitoes went to work during the day Friday with low-level attacks in northwestern Germany, returning that night and again on Saturday night when they ranged over western Germany.

An Air Ministry communique said one of the twin-engined bombers in missing from last night's operations.

The foray followed a similar operation by the Mosquitoes Saturday night in which a number of unidentified targets were attacked, and a sweep by Canadian-manned Mosquitoes over France by daylight yesterday in which a twin-engined

MONTREAL, Dec. 13—(CP).—The "narrow margin" by which the British-American Fifth Army won the Salerno beach-head battle at the outset of the Italian campaign can be credited to Canadians and the lessons learned at Dieppe, L. S. B. Shapiro, Montreal war correspondent, said here today.

Canadians Form Spearhead In Bitter Fighting Widen River Bridgeheads

6,000 Prisoners Taken By Allies Since Campaign Started; Italian Air Force Fights With Allies

By N. NORGAARD—Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 13—(AP).—Cracking a portion of the new 15-mile-long Adriatic line on which the Germans have massed three divisions, the British 8th Army with Canadian troops in the lead has captured elevated ground overlooking the seacoast town of Ortona—anchor of enemy defences guarding roads to both Pescara and Chieti.

Official advices today reported fierce fighting along the entire sector, extending from Ortona, which is three miles north of the Moro River, through Orsogna to Guardiagrele on the slopes of the Miella Mountains which tower up to 8,000 feet, 15 miles in from the sea.

The new limited gains by Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's warriors, which included widening of two more bridgeheads, came in the face of strong enemy counter-attacks in that sector while a lull prevailed on the 5th Army front.

Counters Fail.

Headquarters announced meanwhile that a total of 6,000 German prisoners have been taken by the 5th and 8th Armies since the first landings in Italy.

German attempts yesterday to regain lost ground from Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's troops met with no more success than tank-led Nazi blows which British artillery broke up on the previous day.

Offensive activity yesterday on the 8th Army sector on the west was limited to patrolling, after United States troops threw back a German force which attempted on Saturday to recover an important height a mile west of Filignano.

The German air force was out in some strength over the battle area Saturday, throwing an estimated 130 sorties into the air during the day, but relapsed into its usual inactivity yesterday.

Bad weather likewise curtailed Allied air operations although fighters and fighter-bombers on offensive patrols destroyed a number of motor vehicles near Chieti in the Adriatic coastal sector and attacked Itri on the Appian Way just above Gaeta in the western sector.

Medium bombers also ranged up the Appian Way and attacked the railway yards and an airfield at Terracina, 20 miles northwest of Gaeta. All aircraft returned from the day's activities.

Meanwhile an official announcement disclosed that the Italian air force, as well as Italian troops, have begun active operations with the Allies.

A formation of Italian Savoia Marchetti transport planes, escorted by fighters, recently went to the aid of a beleaguered Italian garrison in the mountains in the interior of Yugoslavia, dropping tons of supplies. One of the transports landed and evacuated eight wounded Italian

Canadian Unit Moves Up Coastal Road

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 11 (Delayed) —(CP) —Asking Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of the British 8th Army, about the fighting qualities of the Canadians who lead the army's advance up the Adriatic coastal side of Italy is almost an unneccesary question.

"There is no need to ask how the Canadians are fighting because they always fight well," he told correspondents at the Canadian headquarters today (Saturday) during a visit to the front. The wiry general appeared satisfied with the battle's progress but the only other thing he would say to the correspondents was to ask "when is the war going to end?"

Meantime the Canadians deepened their Moro River bridgehead despite fierce German resistance and neared the coastal town of Ortona, about eight miles southeast of the important port of Pescara.

Pass San Leonardo

They had passed San Leonardo, four miles south of Ortona, after anchoring their positions on each side of the town. Two days ago (Thursday) the Germans counter-attacked and forced them to withdraw from a position directly to the east of San Leonardo but the position now has been fully restored.

Japanese Troops Get No News

By SPENCER NOOSA
Associated Press War Correspondent

CHUNGKING, Dec. 13—(AP)—Japanese troops in China are getting precious little news about Axis reverses, foreign correspondents found out today in a talk with prisoners of war in a camp in downtown Chungking.

Nine Japanese privates in the group and two non-commissioned officers among the prisoners said they had not heard of Allied reconquest of Guadacanal or the German disaster at Stalingrad.

Private Akano Hironaka, 23, who said he came from a large family of farmers, declared "the Japanese peasants will rise in revolt if the war continues another two or three years." He added that the peasants were hostile to the government which buys their crops for fixed low prices and leave them far from enough to eat.

TORONTO, Dec. 13 —(CP)—The complete surgical equipment of Major A. H. Cameron-Smith who died several years ago has been given by his sister, Helen Cameron-Smith of Powassan, Ont., to Stalingrad for use in some hospital of Toronto's adopted sister city.

Maj. Cameron-Smith served overseas in the First Great War with the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps and after his returned practiced in Northern Ontario.

3 Gunmen Seize Load Of Liquor

TORONTO, Dec. 13. — (CP).—Three gunmen held up and kidnapped a liquor-truck driver here early to-day and escaped with the truck and its cargo of 600 cases of Hiram Walker and Sons whisky en route to an Ontario Liquor Control Board warehouse.

Police said the gunmen tied the truck-driver, George Butcher, 38, of Chatham, and left him at a lonely spot on the outskirts of Toronto while they escaped with the load of liquor, valued unofficially at $25,000.

The truck had just pulled into the western freight lines parking lot in Toronto after a trip from Chatham when the gunmen appeared and forced Butcher from his cab. He was bound and blindfolded, he told police, then transferred to an automobile and taken to the outskirts of North York township and left there. When he got free, he telephoned police.

Butcher, a veteran of 10 years driving with the Western Freight Lines, said he believed the truck followed the automobile in which he was taken from the city.

Czechs-Reds Sign Pact

20-Year Mutual Assistance Agreement

MOSCOW, Dec. 13 — (AP). — A mutual assistance pact designed to establish close post-war co-operation between the Soviet Union and Czecho-Slovakia has been signed by Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov and Czech Ambassador Zdenek Fierlinger.

The ceremony took place yesterday in the Kremlin. The text of the 20-year agreement is expected to be made public Tuesday.

A major implication of the pact was that it brought the two states into direct collaboration, in opposition to the principle of a federation of small eastern European countries—to which the Russians have frequently voiced objection. British and United States representatives had no direct part in the negotiations of the pact, but it was believed they had been informed of the contents of the document and had approved.

It was understood that the Soviet Union desired a similar accord with Poland, pre-war neighbor of both the Soviet Union and Czecho-Slovakia, although relations between the Poles and Russians now are broken.

Three Thrones Totter in Balkan Tempest

Tito's Army Dominating Factor, Shows Liking For Communism

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Among the most dramatic situation, and I believe one of most important—thus far recorded in an active week-end rests in the politico-military events in the explosive Balkans.

That theatre not only is of military moment to the Allies, but there we have underway significant politcal developments which will mean much to the post - war world.

Three thrones—those of Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Greece— are rocking like small boats in a hurricane. The governments of Rumania and Hungary also are being lashed by the storm.

The Yugoslav crisis is of vast importance, and this revolts around the colorful leadership of Marshal Josip—"Tito," they call him—commander of the Partisan guerillas forces, which are made up of peasants and hardy mountain folk.

As the cards now lie, Tito is going to have a major role in the smashing of the Hitlerite forces in the Balkan peninsula. But that is likely to be only part of his mission. Looking ahead through the smoke of battle, I think we shall find him influencing the political future of his own country and consequently of the rest of the Balkans.

Many of Tito's followers wear the badges of Communism and they salute with the clenched fist. They are opposed to the government of youthful King Peter, and recently Tito proclaimed a Partisan government. The Turkish radio says Moscow has recognized this government, though Moscow has not confirmed this.

Tito started his resistance against the Germans with a handful of crudely-armed men and boys. Under his leadership this force grew until he has 200,000 or more— a motley crowd wearing divers uniforms, or ordinary garb.

So well has the Marshal done that we have the extraordinary development of the Anglo-American allies throwing the most of their military support to him, although they had been backing King Peter's government in Cairo and his little army in the field under his minister of war, Gen. Mihailovich. This is a doubly interesting situation, inasmuch as the two armies are at loggerheads and have even had armed clashes.

November Air Raids Claimed 119 Britons

LONDON, Dec. 13—(CP).—Civilian air raid casualties in November totalled 119 killed and 238 injured, the Ministry of Home Security announced today.

This compared with 118 killed or missing and believed dead and 283 injured in October, a sharp increase over September when five persons were killed and 11 hurt. September's total was the lowest since May, 1940.

Ontario Shivers In Latest Cold Wave

TORONTO, Dec. 13—(CP).—All Ontario shivered under frigid temperatures over the week-end with southwestern and Niagara Peninsula points most fortunate. Snow fell at some centres.

Coldest spot in the province was Nakina with 28 below—three degrees colder than the mark of 25 below at White River. At Parry Sound and Port Arthur, it was 15 below.

Ottawa citizens shivered in a cold wind that sent the mercury nine degrees below zero. It also was nine below in Sault Ste. Marie.

In the Toronto area the thermometer fell from 39 degrees yesterday to one degree above this morning. London temperature was eight above and Windsor seven above.

Other cold points were: Peterborough 11 below; Kingston, two below, and Oshawa, six below.

Workmen were still cleaning up at Wasaga Beach, where scores of summer buildings were damaged Friday night during a two-hour gale.

Water rose three feet during the storm and swept many buildings from their foundations.

Fully-Clothed Aviator Swims To Dinghy

AN EAST COAST R. C. A. F. STATION, Dec. 13 — (CP).— For even moderately good swimmers it is not particularly difficult to swim 100 yards—but to make this distance in heavy flying clothes through ice water to reach a rubber dinghy and tow it back to a sinking plane is another matter.

Sgt. Gordon A. Hare of Toronto did this when both engines of an Anson aircraft patrolling from this station failed near Magdalen Island, and his crewmates think he is one of the handiest swimmers afloat.

Hare didn't think he had time to take off his flying suit, and he was right—for five minutes after his three mates climbed into the dinghy their Anson went to the bottom. Manning the plane were PO. T. G. Tustin of Niagara Falls, Ont. First Navigator; PO. A. B. Paul, Vancouver, Second Navigator; Flt. Sgt. William Sorg, pilot, Pittsburgh, Pa. and Sgt. Hare.

FO. Ted Mosher said in an R.C.A.F. press release today that water rose fast in the sabin after Sorg set the plane down. The crew climbed out on the wings, wearing their "Mae Wests" but the water was icy and they knew they couldn't last long.

Forty minutes, later, a rescue plane dropped a rubber dinghy. Hare swam to get the dinghy but tired three quarters of the way back and Tustin helped him bring it the rest of the way to the downed plane where the crew then climbed in to await a rescue launch.

Sunday Charges Finally Cleared

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — (CP). — Charges that Chief Robert Alexander of the nearby York Township Police Force had abused his authority in laying charges against three township farmers for working on Sunday were dismissed here after a three-day probe by the Township Police Commission, it was announced to-day.

Other charges against the Chief, brought by Councillor William Beech, included discouraging enlistment in the armed forces of men of the police force and incompetence for the position. In exonerating Alexander on all counts the Commission criticized Beech for "making a political issue of the matter."

Some time ago Alexander preferred charges against three farmers and their helpers for working on Sunday, but the charges were withdrawn later.

CANADIANS SPEARHEAD — Canadians in a swift and secret move have smashed a path through the German defences beyond the Moro River, Italy, and are forcing the enemy to give ground. Assigned the important task of being the spearhead of Montgomery's 8th Army, the Canadians are now driving up the Adriatic coast as indicated by a dark arrow in the Central Press Canadian map ABOVE. The Fifth Army on the west coast is also smashing holes in the German "winter line," as the second arrow shows.

Partisan Units Score Again

LONDON, Dec. 13—(CP)—Rallying to an appeal by Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) to smash new powerful Nazi thrusts in Yugoslavia, Partisan forces have hurled back strong German attacks in Bosnia and Croatia, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy, the free XLP radio announced today.

In his appeal yesterday Tito said the attacking Germans were reinforced with formations of Ustachis and Chetniks, Bulgarian units, Albanian Quislings and a motley formation composed of fighters from Nazi-occupied countries.

Today's communique said only small-scale action was taking place in other parts of the country.

Shortage Of Knitters For Soldiers' Socks

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 13 — (ENS). — Epidemic of flu in this town caused the I.O.D.E. Bemersyde Chapter to cancel plans for annual dinner Friday night. Instead they held a short business meeting conducted by the Regent Miss Eleanor Ferris. During the evening they decided what to put in Christmas boxes to be sent boys serving with the armed forces in Canada. Cigarettes and tobacco will form the principal items and providing sufficient socks are completed these also will be included but up to the present there is a shortage of knitters. It was pointed out that volunteers could obtain a supply of wool for this purpose either from the Regent or from Mrs. J. D. McEachearn.

More than 100 enemy ships and 15 warships were sunk or probably sunk during 1942 by British and Allied submarines, excluding American.

Chinese Advance Near Rice Bowl

CHUNGKING, Dec. 13 — (AP). —Chinese forces, following up their success in re-occupying Changteh, were reported today to have driven the Japanese from another stronghold at Panlungkiao, 20 miles northwest of the strategic "rice bowl" city.

The report indicated a considerable advance during the past 24 hours on the part of the Chinese who announced yesterday that they had cleared the enemy from a 13-mile zone northwest of Changteh.

Chinese advices, however, said the Japanese had reinforced their positions in the Ansiang sector 45 miles northeast of Changteh and were counter-attacking fiercely.

Heavy fighting, meanwhile, was reported around the Yangtse River port of Ichang, where the Chinese said their troops were attacking the outer defences of the Japanese base after hand to hand engagements in which they captured several villages.

Toronto University Gifts Total $54,000

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — Donations totalling $54,000, to be used for scholarships and research work, were acknowledged at the week-end by Dr. H. J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto.

Largest donation is one of $40,000, made by the Eli Lilly Company to augment the Medical Research Fund of the university. Research work on silicosis in the Banting and Best Department of Medical Research will benefit by a donation of $4,000 made by the Ontario Mining Association.

The Nutrition Foundation Inc. of New York has provided $3,000 for investigation of "The retention of various B vitamins in rats on various diets." The research will be carried out under Dr. E. W. McHenry of the university's School of Hygiene. The Rockefeller Foundation has forwarded a cheque for $2,000 to be used for research in social sciences.

The estate of the late Prof. H. A. McTaggart, who for many years was a member of the staff in the department of physics, has sent $1,500, the interest of which is to be used for a prize in physics. Additional teaching in the university's School of Nursing will be facilitated by a $1,500 donation made by the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario.

Fears New War

KITCHENER, Ont., Dec. 13—(CP) —When peace comes—"let us hope within the next few months—we must decide we'll conduct ourselves so that our children won't be back there 25 years from now," declared John Bracken, national leader of the Progresive Conservative party, at a meeting of the Waterloo County Federation of Agriculture Saturday.

Montreal Fears General Strike

MONTREAL, Dec. 13 — (CP).— The city of Montreal today faced prospects of a strike of policemen, firemen and public works department employees with a deadline set for 11 a.m. tomorrow.

At a meeting attended by 800 workers last night, it was decided that the city would be given 24 hours in which to recognize the Canadian Congress of Labor as a bargaining agent for employees of the three departments, with the ultimatum period starting this morning.

A resolution was adopted at the meeting providing for the ultimatum to be delivered to Honor Parent, director of city services, at his offices this morning.

The resolution called on the city officials to adopt the majority report of an arbitration board which had recommended recognition of the C.C.L. as bargaining agent. It provided a committee with power to call the strike should the city not announce its decision on the majority report before the deadline, or should the city's announcement be "negative."

Before the resolution was passed, Paul Marquette, organizer for the C.C.L. told the meeting he was in favor of "reasonable action" but that "I am also in favor of getting for you what you deserve as citizens and workers of the city of Montreal."

He mentioned specifically "advocates of the Socialist state," "the self-appointed labor agitator," and persons who told the farmer he is the "forgotten man." A section of the daily press was "adding to the prevailing pessimism."

"Strangely enough I do not find any trace of pessimism among manufacturers when they are discussing the future of their own business. They all seem to be well aware that a period of prosperity has followed every war in history, and they seem to expect a period of prosperity after this war."

Change In One Month.

When business men were asked about the time required to change plants for manufacture to peacetime goods their "usual answer" was that "if I will release floor space and the manpower and raw materials, production of peacetime goods in their factories will commence next month."

He had heard the viewpoint that there must be a depression immediately after this war, for the reason that a period of depression followed the last war. But Canada had succeeded in avoiding in this war many of the calamities of the last war.

"Since we have prevented uncontrolled inflation, we will not be required to go through deflation, which was the cause of the 1921 depression.

"Provision has already been made against a drop in the price of agricultural commodities in the immediate post-war years.

"We are being asked to contract for our normal output of lumber for a considerable period after the war at present-day prices."

Mr. Howe said Canadians must stop thinking in terms of "making jobs." To last and give satisfaction a job must exist for the purpose of getting something done.

"When the war ends, 700,000 or 800,000 men and women now in the armed services will be looking for something to do.

"We owe them a big, confident Canada that knows how to keep its people employed. We owe them opportunity, adventure, a new challenge to their energies and their minds.

"Canada, above any country in the world, should be able to fulfil this obligation."

Use Gas

Sgt. Mitsui Katsuo, 25, like other prisoners, said Japanese troops were equipped with a non-toxic suffocating tear and sneezing gas, four cylinders of which are supplied every front line platoon. These gases, he said, are employed to take stubbornly-defended points or break through encirclements.

He asserted all Japanese troops were issued gas masks as a part of regular equipment, and each Japanese division had gas sections equipped with special anti-gas clothing.

Katsuo seemed a little confused in his ideas. He said he believed in implicit obedience to orders, regarding the emperor as infallible and said "I was fighting for his majesty."

Yet he said he surrendered last July 29, because of difficulties with his company commander, a hot-tempered bully with a vitriolic tongue. He said he now wanted to become a Chinese citizen.

A number of men who were in the boat with her died before surviving castaways were rescued. She is a cousin of Mrs. Darley-Bentley of Peterborough.

Roosevelt's Secretary Marvin McIntyre Dead

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP). — Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary to President Roosevelt throughout Mr. Roosevelt's 10 years in the White House, died today, aged 65.

McIntyre succumbed to a long illness at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fred Warren.

A native of La Grange, Ky., McIntyre had been associated with President Roosevelt more than two decades, serving as his publicity representative during the vice-presidential campaign of 1920. Prior to that, he was a newspaperman.

Mr. Roosevelt, on his way home from historic conferences in Cairo and Teheran, was notified immediately of McIntyre's death. In a message to the White House he said:

"Another faithful servant is lost to the public service in the death of Marvin McIntyre.... We shall remember him as a public servant whose whole career emphasized fidelity and integrity in the performance of the many tasks which made up his busy day."

"it was strange and rather disconcerting for those of us overseas to hear that Dieppe had not only become a political football in Canada, but that it was blandly considered in some civilian quarters as a failure and a disaster."

The speaker described it as Canada's most valuable contribution to the Allied cause and added "the lads who died at Dieppe saved hundreds of Allied lives in the North African assault." He said that at Salerno where he was the only Canadian reporter, Gen. Mark Clark put into effect all the lessons learned at Dieppe.

Mr. Shapiro praised the Canadians in the Mediterranean theatre. "I think," he said, "the history of the Sicily campaign will show that General Montgomery used the Canadians whenever he had a tough and intricate assignment which simply must not fail. The left hook which finally broke the Mount Etna line and the entire German position in Sicily was launched by Canadians and carried throughout under conditions which are almost indescribable."

Fred S. Potter Is Promoted

Fred S. Potter, who since February 1935 has been manager of the local branch of the Bank of Toronto, will be leaving in a few days to assume the management of the Main Office of the bank in Hamilton.

Under Mr. Potter's management the business of the Peterborough branch has shown a substantial expansion and his well earned promotion is an indication of his ability as a banker. His many Peterborough friends wish him every success in his new position.

J. L. Thompson, who has been manager of the Preston branch for the past eight years, and previously had managerial experience at several branches both in the east and in the west, succeeds Mr. Potter as manager here.

advanced to within a short distance of an important road junction north of SanLeonardo while men of an eastern unit, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, moved north along the coastal road to Ortona. The Hasty-Petes found their march much easier than the westerners who met stiff German opposition.

A tank-supported counter-attack in the direction of San Leonardo during the afternoon was repelled without much difficulty by Western Canada Highlanders (the Seaforths of Vancouver).

In battles yesterday (Friday) the enemy threw in tanks, self-propelled guns and armored cars as he counter-attacked on various sections of the Canadian line, but these thrusts were turned back one after another. Reports from the front say the ground on the northwestern side of the Moro Valley, where the heavy fighting went on, is littered with German dead and they are so numerous that the task of burying them will take three days.

Take Prisoners.

Canadians have taken several hundred prisoners in three days of fighting. Since the first troops filed down into the Moro Valley and across the river Wednesday when the main attack was launched. tanks, supporting weapons in increasing numbers and more infantry have been pushed across.

The Canadian armor was brought through the valley over a crossing built by sappers who worked under unceasing fire. These sappers pushed over the river a 300-yard corduroy road and suffered no fatal casualties despite the incessant shelling to which they were subjected. There were some wounded, however.

The sappers, commanded by Maj R. B. Fraser, of Toronto and Montreal, worked without rest and produced a job which their commanding officer, said could not have been better even if completed in the comparative quiet of a training manoeuvre.

Butcher told the police the hold-up occurred at 6.30 a.m. It was 9 a.m. when he walked into a dairy in North York and telephoned police. He said he had been held for about two hours before the men set him free, and his belief that his truck and trailer were nearby during that time came from a conversation he overheard—one man telling another that "there were only 20 cases left in the truck." Presumably during that time the liquor had been transferred to other vehicles, although Butcher's truck and trailer have not been recovered.

Police said the robbery was well-planned, because the men knew the exact time Butcher would arrive at the parking lot in downtown Toronto. Police throughout Western Ontario from Toronto to Windsor have been warned to be on the lookout for men and vehicles which may have been involved.

Howe Flays Papers Re Lay-offs

TORONTO, Dec. 13 (CP)—Munitions Minister Howe said today in an address prepared for delivery to Toronto Canadian Club that "a section of our daily press is adding to the prevailing pessimism" that after the war there must be a return to widespread unemployment.

The minister said war production is at its peak and there are frequent changes and adjustments which cause temporary readjustments in employment. He added:—

"When a section of a factory must close down for retooling, with a displacement of, say, 1,000 workers, that situation is invariably headlined in our newspapers, and my office is flooded with telegrams of protest.

"Usually the employees are absorbed in other departments of the same plant, which have been short of manpower, but that fact is never mentioned in press stories, or admitted in wires of protest.

"By the same token, when retooling has been carried out and 1,000 new employees are added to the plant payroll, such news never finds the headlines. Plant lay-offs are news, but new employment is not news. Perhaps you can tell me why?"

"From reading the newspapers over the past several months, a reader would reasonably reach the conclusion that our war employment must be falling sharply. This is wholly untrue.

"My statisticians advise me that employment in war plants reached a new high peak in November last, and that every month of this year has seen an increase in employment in war plants."

$9,000 Is Voted Town Council

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 13 (ENS) —This town's public utilities will show its biggest revenue since it was founded when the annual statements for 1943 are prepared for ratepayers here this month. Indication that gross receipts would be close to $55,000 this year was given by Chairman James Benor at the December meeting of the commission. After reviewing the financial statement for the eleven months ending November 30, Mr. Benor expressed confidence that the year's operation would yield an all time record. Pointing to an unforseen expenditure the corporation would have this year as a result of the wood buying program designed to help citizens this winter in case of an acute shortage, Mayor Frank Long asked the Commission for an additional $3,000 grant which would cover this expenditure and leave council without any notes or overdraft to carry over into 1944.

Chairman Benor was of the opinion the wood purchased should be considered an asset since it was proposed to sell it rather than give it away as in years when there were families on relief. He recalled also that at the beginning of the year it had been decided to give council $6,000 from the Utilities' surplus plus another $2,000 if it were necessary. However, on motion of Commissioner Davidson the additional grant for the current year was made $3,000 making the total for 1943 turned over to the corporation $9,000.

Terming the office personnel—secretary and treasurer—were the forgotten men of the staff as all other employees had been granted salary increases, Chairman Benor suggested both men should receive $25 a year bonuses "for the duration." His proposal met with the approval of other commissioners and a motion to this effect was duly passed.

Women's Institute Plans Yule Help

FENELLA, Dec. 13. — (ENS).— Mrs. Bruce Macklin was hostess to the Fenella W.I. recently, when 32 ladies were at her home.

A donation of $2 was received from Mrs. C. McNaught and a quilt top from Mrs. T. Madge. It was decided to send $5 to help British children and also to have the institute Good Cheer committee send Christmas boxes to the shut-ins in the community. It was reported $32.90 was realized from the bazaar.

Mrs. C. Childs offered to have the January meeting in the hall with Mrs. Jewell and Mrs. Montgomery program committee, the roll call response to be a heavy quilt block 18" by 21." The collection for war work amounted to $2.16 and the $2 donated was added to that fund

The program consisted of a reading by Mrs. Jewell, a solo, "Star of the East," by Mrs. F. Minor, a paper by Mrs. W. H. Sandercock and contests by Mrs. P. Macklin and Mrs. W. Montgomery.

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — The auctioneer held up a small, whimpering dog and bidding began briskly. No one seemed in the least surprised that an auction sale of articles left on street cars should include a small, whimpering dog.

Bidding had reached a sizable sum before the auctioneer had time to announce that the dog was a stray, and did any one own him?

And so this unique auction continued. There were trousers, a rolling-pin, a two-way stretch girdle, a salt shaker and a gentleman's night shirt.

Naturally then, no one was incredulous when the dog appeared. Last year, 22 sets of false teeth were auctioned and if 22 people can leave their dental crockery in street cars there is no reason to suppose a dog might not be misplaced.

Largest in 28 Years

This year was the T.T.C.'s biggest auction sale. Held, as usual, for the last 28 years, in the Lansdowne barns, it attracted some 400 people, also more than usual, who bid higher than usual. Included in the 24,925 articles that moved under the gavel of Frank Waddington were two child's wagons, a handsome table-model radio, 70 watches, a steamer trunk weighing 160 pounds and a hot-water bottle.

Divisional Superintendent T. E. Goodwin, who has been watching these auctions for years, has lost his initial wonder at the peculiarities of some people. He treats the articles as so much bulk. "There's 930 umbrellas and 1,000 lunch pails," he said without bitterness. "I guess about 500 books. We have them tied in bundles of 30."

Sale Brings $1,000

"We'll realize about $1,000 on this auction," put in John Dodd, of the head office. "That's hardly enough for the trouble. Two men run our lost and found department and this year they handled 31,691 articles. It's astonishing."

Among the "priceless" articles sold at the bat of an eyelash were silk stockings, cigaret lighters, rubber bathing caps, pliers, wrenches, lawn clippers, saws, a can opener and a box of cleansing tissues.

More than somewhat inexplicable were the riding breeches, the long red winter underwear and the ladies' overalls mysteriously left behind.

Potatoes Missing At Chilly Market

Winter descended on the outdoor market Saturday, leaving only half a dozen hardy producers, including Norman Moncrief from nearby North Monaghan and the Snowden's from Bowmanville. Not a bag of potatoes braved the near zero atmosphere as the weather began to improve slightly from its first blasts of the season

Poultry was plentiful in the upstairs section. Geese were 33 cents a pound at 11 o'clock, ducks 35 cents and chickens 33 to 35 cents. Eggs ranged from 45 to 55 cents a dozen, and business was fairly active in spite of the chill upon the routine of getting to market, both for buyers and sellers.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN H. BAXTER

ROSENEATH, Dec. 13.—(ENS).— Funeral services for Mrs. John H Baxter were held on Saturday afternoon at the family residence, Alnwick township and in Roseneath United church, with the pastor, Rev E. H. Unstead officiating.

Mrs. Baxter's death occurred on December 9 at her residence. Althought confined to bed for only two weeks, she had been in failing health for many months.

Mrs. Baxter was in her 69th year and previous to her marriage was Miss Wealthy White, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nelson White of Havelock. Mr. and Mrs Baxter have lived on their farm in Alnwick for upwards of forty years She was a member of Roseneath United church and a member of the W.A. flower committee. With her passing the church and community have lost a Christian gentlewoman, one of the best of friends and neighbours.

Flower culture was her hobby and these were contributed generously to the church, and after service carried to the sick or shut-ins. Left to mourn her passing are her husband, one son, Herbert, and one grandson, Eldred Baxter, all of Alnwick, and one brother, Alexander White, of Orillia.

During the church service Ambrose Atkinson sang "Good Morning Up There."

The casket, covered and surrounded with flowers, was carried by M D. Brown, Andrew Brown, James S. Brown, Alex Spiers of Alnwick, George Hoar of Toronto, and Seymour Waller of Oshawa. Interment was made at Merrill's cemetery.

Invasion Planning

ALGIERS, Dec. 13—(AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, president of the French National Committee, told a mass meeting at Constantine in Eastern Algeria yesterday that "a concentrated assault" on Germany is being prepared "at this moment from the east, west and south."

Girl Is Injured

COBOURG, Dec. 13—(ENS)—Jean Dunk of Cobourg was taken to Cobourg Hospital with a cut tendon in the left hand as a result of injuries received in a motor accident. She was a passenger in a car driven by Phillip Ashcroft of Cobourg which went out of control and upset west of Port Hope when the right rear tire blew out. Jim Gamble and Arthur Waller, who were also passengers in the car, escaped injury.

Large Farmer Crowd Attends Stock Sale

Farm machinery sold well, and cows sold from $100 to $145, calves at $31. A fine team of chestnut horses sold for $281. Seed oats at 66c a bushel. The sale was conducted by Mr. Battisby of Campbellford and Ray Williams of Hoard's Station. Mr. Van Volkenburg has rented his farm to Raymond Free.

Fairview Friends Honor Newlyweds

FAIRVIEW, Dec. 13—(ENS)—A large number of friends and neighbors gathered recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Rosborough in honor of their daughter, Eleanor, a recent bride and her husband, Willis Cunningham of Fraserville.

Miss Ferne Armstrong read an address and the young couple were presented with a beautiful walnut table and a casserole by Mrs. Wesley Bell and Mrs. C. Heard. The bride and groom both made neat little speeches thanking everyone for the lovely gifts and invited all to visit them in their new home in Peterborough.

The evening was pleasantly spent in playing cards. Lunch was served drawing a pleasant evening to a close.

Cobourg Legion Elects Officers

COBOURG, Dec. 13 — (ENS) — James Rollings was elected president at the annual meeting of Cobourg branch of the Legion. Other officers elected were: R. Jackson, 1st vice-president; A. Waller, 2nd vice-president; David Carr, secretary; A. Hall, treasurer; A. Cunningham, sergeant-at-arms.

Reports for the past year revealed that over $1,000 had been invested in Victory Bonds and that more than $300 worth of cigarettes had been sent during the year to Cobourg boys on active service.

Lawyer Dies

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — (CP). — Britten Osler, K.C., regarded as a Canadian authority on corporation law, died Saturday night at his home here. He was 69.

Roosevelt Sees Sicily Troops

ALGIERS, Dec. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt visited Sicily on his recent trip to the Mediterranean and reviewed the American 7th Army troops commanded by Lt.-Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., it was announced officially today.

The President flew from Malta to Castelvetrano airfield in his big transport plane, accompanied by 12 fighters.

At the airport he entered a jeep and with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower drove up and down in front of hundreds of troops lining the runway.

Flanked by Patton, Eisenhower and Lt.-Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the Allied 5th Army in Italy, the President decorated several officers for bravery. After the ceremony he and his party flew to Eisenhower's Villa in Tunisia.

It is understood that the President wanted to visit the Italian battleront but secret service men and army officers charged with his safety flatly vetoed the idea.

God Loveth a Cheerful Giver

We have no reluctence about asking our readers to make a Christmas contribution to the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund. There are not many of us who are so sorely pressed for money that we cannot spare something to help those who have lost everything they owned. The greatest enemy raids on Britain were three years ago, and there are still hundreds of thousands of men, women and children who are suffering from those raids. Many of them will suffer as long as they live; many have lost their homes and the possessions which they had collected during a lifetime; many children are without homes or parents. We in Peterborough have made our contribution to the war in men and women, in work, and in money, but we have not been called upon to suffer the terror and bitterness of enemy raids. Clearly it is our duty as humane people to give every aid we can to those who have undergone the worst that the war can bring to civilians.

We shall not repeat the full story of the British War Victims' Fund. Everybody who reads this paper knows what it is, and how it is conducted. We do not think that its virtues need to be trumpeted; they speak for themselves. Every penny which has been collected for the Fund has gone to Britain and has been put to good use there. The response of the Peterborough people, both of the city and the county, has been splendid; it has not been necessary to plead, or cajole, or extort money in order to keep the Fund going; no day has passed that a sum has not been deposited in the bank to its credit. Industries have given generously, both from management and labour funds; private citizens have made gifts according to their means; schools have given concerts; children have given entertainments and bazaars to raise money; the goodwill toward the Fund has been heart-warming.

And that is why we feel no reluctance about asking for Christmas donations; we know that they will be forthcoming. At Christmas we give to our friends, and to those who are less fortunate than ourselves. The people in Britain who have suffered through the war are our very good friends, and at present they are less fortunate than we. Our gifts to them are in no sense charity; they are the gifts of friends to friends, freely offered in the spirit of friendship and brotherly love. "God loveth a cheerful giver" says St. Paul. The people of this city and district have been cheerful givers since 1940, and we know that they will not let Christmas go by without giving generously again.

The C.C.F. And Catholicism

The Roman Catholic Church has for the past fifty years shown itself friendly to governments and movements which strive to improve the lot of the working class and free men and women in humble circumstances from the dread of poverty; it has also set its face against socialism. The Church believes in the theory of private property and will not smile on any party which challenges that theory. Therefore Archbishop McGuigan of Toronto put the C.C.F. in a tight corner when he spoke to the Bishops' Committee for Social Action on the nature of socialism; he made it necessary for the C.C.F. to declare itself a socialist party or not.

That, of course, is something which the C.C.F. is reluctant to do. The chief concern of that party at present is to gain power, and it can only do so by blowing hot and cold with the same breath. Mr Coldwell has tried to manoeuvre his party out of the corner into which it was backed by the Archbishop, and he has not done so without some loss of face. The C.C.F., he said, was a socialist party, "but not in the way defined and condemned by the Catholic Church". We do not think that the Archbishop or any other intelligent Catholic will be satisfied with that answer.

Socialism strives to concentrate the economic power of the nation in the hands of the government. It seeks to own and operate all big business by and for the state, and to dominate small business by means of economic controls. As we have said before in these columns, such a system means that the whole machinery of the law, and the whole economic organization of the country is concentrated in the hands of a few government officials, and their power is immense. It is a totalitarian system, and totalitarian systems do not tolerate opposition. Therefore protest against the action of the government would be ineffective and impossible, and our government would cease to be democratic and would become wholly bureaucratic. Freedom would not live long under such conditions. The Church opposes socialism because it believes that freedom is a right bestowed on man by God, and that a violation of that right is a violation of God's law.

The C.C.F. cannot wriggle out of this situation by protesting that it merely stands for a half-baked sort of socialism which will give us all the benefits of the system without any of the disadvantages. The Archbishop has faced the new party with a straight question and it has hedged on the answer. The disadvantages of capitalism are well known to us, but it is possible for us to gain some measure of redress from them. But in socialism such security as might be ours would depend wholly on the discretion of the government, and the means of redress against the government would be taken from us. Politically and economically we would be at the disposal of our bureaucrats. Our freedom would be purely nominal. Very wisely we do not trust any group to the extent where we will sell ourselves to it so completely as that.

About Drunken Driving

When a case of careless or dangerous driving is brought into court, it is very hard to prove a charge of drunken driving, and for that reason the charge is not made as often as it justly might be. And yet we all know of accidents in which drunken drivers have caused great damage, or in which one or more people have been killed, and in which the culprit has escaped with a small fine, or a warning, or scot-free, according to the evidence presented or according to his luck. The fault cannot be laid at the door of the courts; they try men on the charges laid against them, and if no charge of drunkenness is made they are powerless to do anything about it.

A few drinks may or may not make a man incapable of driving a car safely; the ability of the individual to control himself and his car under such circumstances varies greatly. But there are far too many drivers who run great risks in this respect, and trust to luck to keep them out of accidents. In taking this course they endanger the lives of others. And yet, if they have an accident, they may be sober enough to make a charge of drunken driving very risky for the police, or the accident may sober them up in the course of a minute or so. They are very dangerous people, and there should be provision for their special circumstances.

That is why we advance the suggestion that in cases where there is a reasonable suspicion of drunkenness, but in which a definite charge of drunken driving cannot be laid, the penalties imposed should be doubled by the courts. Admittedly this is not a solution to the problem, but it might work as a deterrent. The problem of the driver who is drunk enough to be a potential menace, but who is not drunk enough to make a drunken driving charge possible, is becoming greater, and something must be done to cope with it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Hitler has moved his headquarters seven times in nine months. Restlessness has always been one of his chief troubles.

"Profiteering Landlords Find Ways of Evading Rent Ceiling", says a headline. Nothing like a war to bring out the full ingenuity of a nation.

John Bracken's publicity man says that the CBC is "steeped in politics". Worse than that—it's asleep in the steep.

The Port Elgin town council is reported to be considering a bylaw which would prevent tourist homes from accepting Jewish guests. The spirit of tolerance and freedom expressed in this move will be a great inspiration to our fighting forces overseas.

When Mr. Churchill set cut for the recent round of conferences he had a cold and a temperature of 100; he counted on the Egyptian sun to cure it, and apparently he was right. Or could it have been those 34 toasts which were drunk at the Teheran banquet?

Farming News and Views

By
HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

THE first week in December was very fine and bright and we can put up with a good deal of this. In driving out in the country here I found the fall wheat had come on rather well and was very green. The land seems to be well laid by for winter and about here the fall ploughing seems to be well completed and quite a lot of surface drains have been made with the plough and shovelled out clean to let surface water get away freely. There are a great many items of this kind that are important for a farmer to do which makes his occupation one that requires more study by observation than almost any other business, and as the weather can do so much to his crops there is only one safe plan for him to pursue, to provide as well as possible for the worst that may happen.

The International Show at Chicago has been postponed for the duration, largely because the railways would not be able to handle the large shipments of breeding livestock, but it was decided to hold a market show, not as large as usual, but a quite outstanding one, as the Corn Belt can provide a good few fat beasts from distances not too great from Chicago. There was also quite a large exhibition by Calf Club boys and girls.

The Grand Champion Steer over all breeds and ages was a 1,000 lb. Hereford exhibited by 17-year-old T. Richard Lacy of Kansas, Illinois. Before winning the Grand Championship award this steer had to defeat a total entry of 451 steers fitted by boys and girls of the 4-H Clubs. The outstanding feature of this performance is that this is the third consecutive year in which Richard Lacy has won the grand championship at Chicago. Last year his second win was regarded phenomenal as it had never been done before but making a third win this year was smashing all precedents and while he had very keen competition the victory was regarded as justly earned.

THIS was a Hereford year in the market cattle at Chicago as not only did Lacy win the Steer Grand Championship with a Hereford but Karl Hoffman, of Ida Grove, Iowa, won the Grand Championship for the car load with a group of Hereford steers. There were 96 car loads entered in the competition. Hoffman won this competition last year so it was two victories in a row for Hoffman and Herefords. This load of steers were lighter than winners of this competition usually are, and averaged 927 lbs.

◇ ◇ ◇

It is worthy of note that in fitting these steers Mr. Hoffman places great emphasis on oats. He begins with whole oats on a blue grass pasture. Gradually he introduces cracked corn until the feed is half corn and oats. Later some protein supplement was fed and the cattle were taken off the grass and fed in a dry lot. Alfalfa hay and molasses were fed after they were enclosed in the lot and no more grass nor was silage fed at all.

THE grand champion steer sold at $4.00 per lb., and as he weighed 1,000 lbs., he brought $4,000 which was a fine award for the feeder. The champion car lot brought 35c per lb., when sold by auction, which would amount to $324.15 each for the 15 head.

We hear a good deal these days about County Agricultural Committees to be organized in Ontario and we are told they are to be along similar lines to the War Agricultural Committees in Britain. That, of course, is by no means likely. In Britain the Committees are appointed to enforce the regulations and policies of the Government but the different Ministries formulate the policies as does every government that has policies to formulate. For example, in its proposals for an increased production of potatoes, the Ministry of Food lays down definite plans for growing and marketing of potatoes.

Some of the rules for marketing run in this fashion:

1. A farmer who grows potatoes can sell them to a licensed potato merchant, or a licensed potato buyer.

2. He can employ a licensed auctioneer to sell his potatoes by public auction, but the auctioneer must have a special license to sell potatoes.

3. A farmer who obtains a grower-salesman's license enabling him to sell his own potatoes direct to the public, must also have a retail license from his local Food Control Committee.

4. A grower may sell potatoes to any servant employed by him for consumption in the household of that servant, but not for re-sale.

5. A grower may sell potatoes in quantities not exceeding 1 cwt. if such a sale constitutes one transaction and not a part of a series of transactions, but the total quantity sold in this way must not exceed 1 ton.

The War Agricultural Committes have regulations of this kind to enforce, and have further power to insist upon a farmer working his land to the best advantage on penalty of having his lease cancelled and the farm taken over by the committee. This can be done and the farmer denied any appeal from the committee's ruling, with the result that farmers and farmers' organizations are making vigorous protests. The committees do not formulate or suggest policies, they only enforce very exacting war-time regulations. We will not likely have much of that in this country.

W. J. BRODIE of Stouffville, Ont., won the championship for car lot of lambs at Chicago. This is the tenth consecutive year for Mr Brodie to win this award. He won as usual with Southdowns of which Mr Brodie is a very successful breeder.

At the Shorthorn auction at Chicago the grand champion bull, bred by T. E. Wilson of Edellyn Farms, Ill., was sold for $3,650 and was purchased by Green and Mumford, Hampton, Ont. This young bull was sired by Calrossie Mercury, Mr Wilson's imported Perth champion.

The entire exportable surplus of meat of the Argentine Republic, up to Sept. 30, 1944, has been sold to the British Ministry of Food acting on behalf of the United Nations. It includes frozen, canned and dried meats and these supplies will be allocated in accordance with the recommendations of the Combined Food Board. An effort has been made to make a similar purchase from the Brazilian and Uruguayan Governments, but I have not seen that it has been completed.

Growing Up With Shakespeare

I CAN make no pretension to deep Shakespearean scholarship. I first made his acquaintance many years ago, just about the time when I first learned to master in print such a sentence as "The cat sat on the mat." My mother was then moved to observe that "To be or not to be" should lie equally within my power and indignantly repudiated on my behalf any such intermediaries as Lamb's Tales....

My own Shakespearean education, after the inevitable collegiate appearance as Portia and Puck, was greatly advanced by Sir Philip Ben Greet, in whose company I played many plays in many places, usually in the open air and under the oddest conditions, apt to be productive of more hilarity than art. The Ben Greet productions were not of the highest standard, but his companies were filled with eager young people, none of them awed by the works of the master and all of them ready to tackle anything. You had to learn to make a running exit of anything from twenty to a hundred yards, tossing blank verse blithely but audibly over your left shoulder as you went; to play Lady Macbeth up and down a fire escape and convince an audience of irreverent school children that you really were sleep-walking at the same time; to climb stone walls in an Elizabethan farthingale, crawl behind a hedge or two, and emerge in view of the audience unruffled in dress or speech; and to be heard in great open spaces above the sound of the wind and the tossing branches of the trees above your head. You had to sink or swim. There wasn't much finesse about it, but it gave you a sense of freedom and of power. You had the feeling that Shakespeare himself would have felt at home there and enjoyed the sensation of driving the play clear through against the odds, as you hold a boat against a high wind.

After various interludes, I had the good fortune to play a season at the Old Vic in London and to meet there a tradition of Shakespearean production which in its essentials is probably as sound as any now practiced in the English-speaking theatre....Here Shakespeare was both exciting and familiar; the atmosphere was full of challenge, not of awe. I realized the enormous value of this sense of comradeship among actors, audience, and author. Here, too, Shakespeare was played almost uncut. The Old Vic public would have resented blue-pencil evasions of difficult passages, on the part of the director or the actors. This led, necessarily, to a much closer study of Shakespeare's dramatic intention in its less facile aspects. It resulted in a greater appreciation of his theatre reasoning and also in a healthier respect for the full texts which recent scholarship has unearthed from beneath a mass of wanton "editing." Nevertheless, the audiences expected entertainment, "theatre," in its best sense. Entertainment, it appeared, was not incompatible with scholarship. — From "Shakespeare Without Tears," by Margaret Webster. (New York: Whittlesey House.)

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

FOR nearly half a century this column has been the Wailing Wall to which the lovelorn have come to weep over their heart troubles. Adolescent boys and girls, suffering from their first acute attack of calf love. Senile, rich old men having a momentary flash of sanity in which they wonder if girls young enough to be their granddaughters are marrying them for themselves alone. Fat old widows debating whether to invest their husbands' insurance money in a boy husband or not.

Wives who have lost their taste for their husbands, and husbands who have found the Other Woman. Multitudes of men and women who are miserable because they ARE married, and other multitudes of men and women who are miserable because they are NOT married, have dumped their perplexities in my lap and sobbed out on my shoulder the story that is as old as humanity and as new as the first kiss, but to which no one has ever found out an answer.

But, common as are blighted affections, fickle lovers, and misfit marriages, it has taken this war to bring about a sentimental situation that is producing almost as many tragedies as the war itself. And perhaps bitterer ones, for it is not so hard to lose one we love by death as it is by faithlessness. And the irony of it all is that these crimes are not committed intentionally. They are just the result of Nature working out to its inexorable ends.

The foundation for the unhappiness that is wrecking so many young lives lies in the war hysteria which has flooded the country and swept all but the strongest and best balanced off of their feet. Everyone has been keyed up to the highest emotional pitch. No one sees straight any more.

Boys who have never thought of Kate and Susie as anything but the girls they went to school with since their kindergarten days and play around with as they did with their sisters, suddenly imagine they entertain a deathless passion for them. Girls see the heroes of their dreams in every commonplace lad in uniform. And so they rush into marriages with those whom they would never have thought of choosing as mates in normal times.

Thousands of youngsters have married just because everybody else is doing it. Thousands of girls have married because they were afraid of being old maids, and because they felt left out of things when all the other girls have husbands and they have none. Thousands of other girls have married to have swanky war weddings, with bridal cakes that they could cut with a sword. Thousands of other girls married because they thought it was romantic to have a husband at the Front whom they could talk about. And tens of thousands of boys married because they were homesick at leaving everyone they knew, and wanted to feel that they had someone who belonged to them who would be watching and waiting for them to come home.

And so they got engaged, or they were married, and the boys went off to the war. And for a little while the engaged girl and the bride have been content to sit at home of evenings with Mama and Papa and knit sweaters and write letters to the absent ones. But after a bit this begins to pall on girls who are used to having dates, and they begin stepping out and going places.

They intend no disloyalty to their fiances and husbands, but in thousands of cases the inevitable has happened. Absence and separation has wiped out the last vestige of feeling they had for the boys to whom they became betrothed or married, and they fall desperately in love with men to whom they can give the kind of love that lasts.

And thousands of boys have had this same experience. They have grown up in the army. They are men now who have seen the world and the different types of women who are in it, and it makes them tired even to think of the girls back home with whom they thought they were in love. Worse still, sometimes they have found the girls who could be their real mates.

Now neither the girls back home nor the boys at the Front want to hurt those who trust them. They don't deliberately fall in love with someone else. It just happened. And what troubles them is what to do about the situation. Shall they go on and marry those for whom they have lost their affection and spend their lives paying for a mistake of their youth? Or shall they honestly and frankly confess that their unruly hearts have found new shrines at which to worship?

And, if they do, shall they tell the bad news at once, or go on keeping up a pretense of affection they no longer feel for the duration? Every mail brings me scores of letters telling of some war romance that has failed and asking these questions, and they are written by youngsters who want to do what is right and who do not know that often we have to be cruel to be kind.

But doesn't it look as if the war has brought us enough grief and anxiety without adding love troubles to it?

Parlor Stove

The parlor stove—base burner, some prefer to call it—is part of the history of America. Boys and girls have looked through the mica square in the stove's door and dreamed youth's dreams as they watched the flames curl from the chunks of maple, oak and hickory.

In many farm homes today, setting up the parlor stove in the Fall and removing it to the back kitchen or woodshed in the Spring are regular semi-annual tasks. The countryman has special hardwood rollers on which to push it back and forth. It sits on a square of zinc in the living room, placed reasonably far from the wall. Not so much, as one might think, to heat the whole room as to give opportunity to all members of the family to sit around it. For a stove is merely a caged fire, and who likes to sit far from the hearth?

In Winter, second only to the kitchen range, the parlor stove is the heart of family life. Tall, capacious and sturdy, it defies the elements. Its black surfaces polished to a gleaming lustre, its nickel scrollwork shining like silver and its ornamental top pointing heavenward, it serves its purpose well.—New York Times.

A Bible Message

The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot. The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage....

I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved. (Ps. 16: 5, 6, 8.)

Thy mercy, O Lord, is in the heavens; and thy faithfulness reacheth unto the clouds. Thy righteousness is like the great mountains; thy judgments are a great deep: O Lord, thou preservest man and beast.

How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings. They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures. For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light.

O continue thy lovingkindness unto them that know thee; and thy righteousness to the upright in heart. (Ps. 36: 5-10.)

And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him.

Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world. (I John 4: 16, 17.)

"What was in that fat envelope you got from Washington this morning?" asked the wife, errand boy and proof-reader of the Weekly Bugle. Bugle.

"Oh," sighed the editor, owner, printer, salesman and printshop foreman of the same paper, "it was another article from the Head Office telling us to avoid wasting paper."

Talking Turkey

The main thing about your Christmas turkey is that it should be tender, brown and well-stuffed. It matters little whether the breed was a Bronze, White Holland, Bourbon Red, Black Norfolk, Narragansett, or Slate. The proof of a bird is in the eating. However, your turkey holds more than gastronomic interest, according to ornithologists of the Royal Ontario Museum. Young as it may be, its history stems back several centuries.

Indians of the American Southwest first domesticated the turkey, a species found native only on this continent. Spanish explorers took Mexican breeding stock to Spain from whence it spread to other countries of the Old World. It reached England between 1520 and 1540. It was brought back to America by the early settlers. In the course of time the several varieties mentioned above were developed by breeding. Apparently all originated from Mexican stock. The wild race which was once plentiful in eastern North America seems to have contributed nothing to your Christmas dinner, although your pioneer forefathers feasted on it. Wild turkeys which once roamed the woods of Southern Ontario are preserved as specimens in the Royal Ontario Museum.

Lorry Drivers Perform Herculean Task

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH CANADIAN FORCES IN ITALY, Dec. 10 (Delayed) (CP Cable) — Highest tribute is due to members of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps for making possible the great artillery barrage which the Canadian and British gunners concentrated on German positions in the opening stages of the Canadian offensive across the Moro River.

Forced to use amphibious ducks to bring in much of the ammunition because of congestions at the bridges across the fast-flowing Sangro River, the Army Service Corps kept guns supplied with all the shells they could use and plenty in reserve.

The R.C.A.S.C. was told at 11 a.m. hom much ammuntion it had to take forward and although the Canadian commander said he did not think it could be done the job was completed by 4 a.m. the following morning.

Since then a similar number of shells has been delivered to the gunners.

"The boys kept their vehicles rolling all night," said Capt. E. F. Munro of Sydney, N.S., member of the R.C.A.S.C. headquarters staff. "For the men in the lorries it was a case of load and drive all the time while some men on river banks worked without a break for 48 hours.

"There were about 200 lorry loads of ammunition to deliver and we had only 38 vehicles to do the job but got loan of 25 others. We were given priority on the roads and whenever a provost saw a Canadian lorry coming he whistled it right through."

Capt. Munro said the "ducks" which brought ammunition and then evacuated casualties, and prisoners were indispensable. They were unloaded right into lorries by members of an ammunition supply company working under Capts. J. B. S. McElhiney and R. H. Ribbans of Quebec.

Calgary Officer

Capt. Bill Mercer of Calgary supervised the supply job on the southern side of the Sangro while liaison with the artillery was carried out by another Calgary captain, Gerry Vogel.

At one time during the night the men had to empty 120 "ducks" at the same time and load the shells into vehicles travelling over a one-way road bordered on either side by mine-fields. Cooks made 72 gallons of tea for the men.

Among the men was Sgt. C. H. Ellis of Chatham, Ont.

Privates included Les Hale of Oshawa, Ont., Tom Awrenson of London, Ont., Jock Lindsay of Hamilton, Ont., Bob Peffers of London, Ont., Joe Kobalak of Welland, Ont., and Jimmy Rochford and A. W. Plumb both of Hamilton, Ont.

Lieut. R. G. Shearer of Blenheim, Ont., was officer commanding one R.C.A.S.C. company and Lieut. Bill Turnbill of Toronto, administration officer, said their men had been working five or six days without scarcely a letup. They were moving troops and when they finished that they dumped everything from the "ducks" except kitchen equipment and weapons, and filled up with ammunition for the artillery.

Both gave highest praise to the drivers who in addition to covering many miles of the toughest Italian roads kept their vehicles in tiptop shape.

Farmers Urged To Cut Firewood

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 (CP). — To prevent a shortage of firewood in the winter of 1944-45, Munitions Minister Howe yesterday urged the farmers to cut as much green wood as possible this winter.

Normally, fuelwood is cut during the winter, hauled to a convenient shipping location, seasoned during the summer and distributed in the next autumn and winter. Because of the severity of the winter of 1942-43 little wood was felled until spring and much cutting had to be done during the summer.

"If farmers will intensify their cutting operations this winter, we should be able to get back to normal," said Mr. Howe. "Thus we would avoid having to arrange for cutting wood after the usual cutting seasons is past, with consequent extraordinary demands for wood cutters in the summer months.

Mr. Howe indicated the period for payment of the $1-a-cord production subsidy on fuel wood will be extended from December 31 to next March 31.

He said no householder is likely to go cold this winter, but that both coal and wood must be conserved.

Nazis Wipe Out Entire Platoon

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 11.—(Delayed) (CP). —A platoon of Canadian infantrymen, walking forward to accept the surrender of German infantrymen, was "murdered in cold blood" by machine-gunners waiting in ambush on the flank, Canadian troops were informed to-day.

Attention of all Canadians on the Moro River front has been drawn to the incident by the Canadian commander in a message designed to serve as a warning to all troops to be on their guard when they take prisoners.

The platoon was wiped out yesterday (Friday) after fierce fighting north of San Leonardo. The Germans had put up a stiff battle, but eventually raised their arms in surrender.

When the Canadians went forward to round up the prisoners they were met with a withering fire from ambushing machine-gunners and every man killed. It was, as the Canadian commander described it, "murder in cold blood."

A similar incident was reported earlier by Engineers who built a road over the Moro. German snipers picked off strecher-bearers carrying wounded men from the battlefield, the engineers said.

Major R. B. Fraser of Toronto and Montreal, commander of the engineering company, saw it happen and said there was no doubt in his mind that it was deliberate.

"The stretcher-bearers were plainly visible and wearing armbands with Red Cross markings," he said. "There was no question the Germans knew what they were doing."

AT CONFERENCE — Attending the Dominion-Provincial agricultural conference in Ottawa was the Hon. Walter Jones, ABOVE, Premier and Minister of Agriculture for Prince Edward Island which has suffered keenly in its hog industry through restrictions of coastal trade and shortage of farm labor.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Most Peterborough wrestling fans seem to think that the Pitiless Pole Jan Gotch is just the right sort of person to hand out to the loud-talking Texan, Karl Davis, just what the Krippler needs. Gotch has never had many friends here but right now the majority of the enthusiasts are pulling for him to make the tall southerner look like a dude ranch cowboy. They have taken an instantaneous dislike to the boastful Davis whose mannerisms in and out of the ring are not of the endearing type. For instance the Texan went on the air before his last appearance in Peterborough and said that Pierre DeGlane the French grappler he had met the week before was "just a punk" and intimated the rest of the mat artists he had been in this neck of the woods were of the same variety. He gave the impression that he felt there was nobody around in his class and so local fans are hoping that Gotch, who showed no signs of backing up in his three clashes with Whipper Billy Watson will really give the Krippler the works when the two clash here tomorrow night in the main attraction of the Tunney wrestling bill at the Brock Street Arena. Gotch is experienced and powerful enough to make it plenty tough for the Texan, especialy if he uses the same tactics he did against the Whipper. This is one time the Pole can turn it on without taking a ride from the crowd. They will be with him no matter what he does to the tough baby from the Lone Star State.

* * * * * *

Promoter Tunney is evidently determined to make the Tuesday show a memorable one for his talent for the night includes a head-liner in the person of Ralph Garibaldi who has agreed to accept semi-final booking on this occasion and has been matched against Jack the Ripper Reeder, a bad man in his own right. Garibaldi is a brother of the famous Gino Garibaldi and across the line is regarded as powerful and as formidable as that famous mat artist. The Garibaldi-Reeder bout will be on a level with the main battle in point of interest for the Italian's prowess is widely known and Reeder has shown himself in recent bouts here to be a tough and cagey battler who not only can hand it out but take it as well. In fact Garibaldi will have to prove as good as his advance notices or else be prepared to take a lacing from the hard-boiled Indiana lad who plays no favorites and dishes out the dirty stuff to all and sundry. With a good opening bout added to these four-star attractions Tunney has built up one of the most interesting cards of the season for tomorrow night. The Arena, of course, will be comfortably heated.

Life is evidently just one storm after another for Bert Maxwell, the Toronto wrestling referee who gets more Bronx cheers when he is introduced here than the worst of the mat villains. The other night in Belleville the fans broke through police cordon trying to protect the official and gave Maxwell quite a beating before he was finally rescued and taken to the dressing-room. According to the press reports several solid blows landed on Maxwell's face and at one time he was knocked off his feet. Ken Colling comments on the incident thusly in his column: Any person who tries to tell you Belleville wrestling fans don't take their favorite sport diversion seriously weren't at the Hume Arena last night when scores of patrons physically and pugnaciously attacked Referee Bert Maxwell as he was leaving the ring after the main bout. Maxwell was punched and kicked around by an angry mob to sustain more physical punishment than any of the wrestlers of the night and sustained a cut lip and discolored optic as the result of the melee. Actually Maxwell brought his troubles on his own shoulders for the manner in which he handled the main bout, when even Billie Watson was protesting. And it isn't too often "The Whip" squawks. However, the fans proved just how their feelings were and no doubt Maxwell will think twice before accepting another refereeing assignment in Belleville.

One of the better football stories of a rather scrambled United States college football schedule concerns halfback Johnny Rudan and lineman Steve Enich, of the Marquette University eleven, says an Ottawa exchange. It seems the pair decided they might have the bulge on the opposition by resorting to their native tongue. So, after every Marquette huddle and in the few seconds the ball was snapped, Rudan and Enich reviewed the play in Serbian. Everything went well for most of the season. They checked up with one another after each huddle in Serbian, and Marquette benefited by the last minute exchange. But disaster struck when Marquette played Purdue. Late in the second half, after the Boilermakers had the game clinched and were leading by a score of 21-0, five Purdue players joined in the conversation. There's another yarn related about the Brown brothers who played on opposing teams. Charlie played at centre for Princeton while his twin brother, Walter, was end for Yale. At one stage of the Princeton-Yale game, Charlie crashed into brother Walter and floored him. When the battered one squirmed on the gridiron, Charlie returned to the scene of the crash and helped his brother to his feet. In the following Princeton huddle Charlie felt some excuse was needed. When the Tiger players had gathered around for the signal Charlie blurted out: "That's O.K. fellows, I only picked him up so that I could knock him down again."

There was plenty of action on the N.H.L. front over the week-end and the big sensation of course was the fact that the New York Rangers after going fifteen games without a solitary victory, finally got help enough from the law of averages to beat the Boston Bruins Sunday night. Chuck Scherza, formerly of the Oshawa Generals and the veteran right-winger Bryan Hextall were the big factors in the win of the New York Rangers, each firing two goals past Gardiner as the Rangers took the decision 6 to 4, coming from behind to turn the trick. Bill Calladine got one of the four Boston goals on a solo effort. The Bruins had beaten the Rangers the night before in Boston 9 to 6 to take over third place in the league race. Scherza and Hextall also went well in that game and if the former is out of action for some time as the result of an accident in New York last night in which he collided with a goal post, the Rangers are going to miss his services badly. Herb Cain, Buzz Boll and Art Jackson all got two goals each in the Boston Saturday night win.

The Toronto Leafs broke even over the week-end. On Saturday night they came from behind to nose out the weakened Canadiens 4 to 2 in Toronto but they lost the advantage they had gained in that win by being oosed out of the picture in Chicago Sunday night when the Black Hawks won on a third period goal by Cully Dahlstrom. The Leafs were ahead 2 to 1 half way through the game but eventually were nosed out 3 to 2 and the Black Hawks climbed up on the second-place shelf along with the losers. Chicago had a crowd of 17,365 fans at the game, the best attendance of the season at any one game in the loop. Apparently the lowering of the quality of hockey has no effect upon the gates. There are so many folk with money to spend that no questions are asked.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Canadiens were without O'Connor, Lach and Toe Blake over the week-end....Under the circumstances they were lucky to break even in two games on the road....Young Kennedy, seventeen-year-old Port Colborne kid was the Toronto star Saturday night.... Neil Tremblay of the Quebec Aces is another one of those rare birds, a switch shot, almost beat Ottawa Commandos single handed by scoring three goals and setting up another as the Aces won 5 to 3....Oshawa Generals continue to pile up scores on the opposition. They cooled off the hot Hamilton Whizzers Saturday night by beating them 9 to 3 in Oshawa....Meanwhile down at Kingston the Frontenacs got the jump on the Navy by scoring a mess of early goals that were enough to enable them to beat Pick Hines' Gobs 5 to 3. The Sailors had the edge in the play after the first five minutes but the best they could do was to score a couple of goals in the final session to close the gap a bit....Fans will be delighted to hear that a new referee will officiate in tomorrow night's wrestling bouts....The Czar comes back for his third appearance in Peterborough to meet Nick Elitch, the Syracuse grappler in the opening bout on the card, making the bill an all-star affair.

Bears Lose, Tie Hold Top Spot

(By The Canadian Press)

Hershey Bears today remained atop the American Hockey League with a one-point margin after bowing to Providence Reds 4-3 last night and pulling a 1-1 draw out of Saturday night's encounter with Indianapolis Capitals.

In second place with a total of 24 points were the Cleveland Barons—leaders of the western section—who had a more successful week-end. Saturday night they whipped Providence Reds 5-1 and last night they tied Buffalo Bisons 1-1.

Bisons gained the week-end's only shutout by blanking Pittsburgh Hornets 4-0 Saturday night. But Hornets came through with a 5-3 victory over Capitals last night.

Indianapolis defenceman Roy Glover scored the first goal at Hershey Saturday night and Peggy O'Neill evened the count.

In last night's game at Providence, the Reds had a 3-1 lead over Hershey at the end of the second period. George Patterson scored Bears' second goal early in the third, only to have Gabby Sherwood retaliate less than a minute later. At 6:03 Gaston Gauthier tallied for Hershey, but after that repeated attempts to score were foiled by the determined Reds.

Centre Les Cunningham scored three goals and assisted in another one as Cleveland Barons trimmed Reds 5-1 Saturday night. Cleveland led all the way and was ahead 3-0 at the end of the second. Dock Adolph knocked in the other two goals while Red's only counter was collected by Bill Whittet.

In the Bison-Hornet encounter at Pittsburgh Saturday night right winger Maxie Bennett tallied twice for Buffalo, while Frank Beisler and Eldred Kobussen collected the other two counters.

Last night Bisons' Bob Dill got their lone goal in their 1-1 tie with Barons. Les Cunningham tied the score on a pass from Pete Bessone.

Big Victor Lynn, 16-year-old defenceman collected two goals in 16 seconds late in the game to give Indianapolis their 5-3 victory over Hornets last night.

Wisconsin Bowler Wins 10-Pin Title

CHICAGO, Dec. 13—(AP)—Ned Day is $2,000 richer today and again possessor of the national match-game bowling championship of the United States he held four years before yielding it in 1942 to Connie Schwoegler.

Day, of West Allis, Wis., had a total pinfall of 13,371, averaging better than 208 for each game he rolled, and he had a brilliant lost-won mark of 47 and 17. Under the Petersen point system he was awarded a quota of 315.21, to 298.15 for runnerup Paul Krumske of Chicago and 296.14 for third-place Rudy Pugel of Milwaukee, Wis Buddy Bomar of Chicago was fourth with 294.30, while Crimmins' fifth-place total was 294.11.

Algerines Hold Top Position

Joe Stewart's Algerines are still riding out in front in the Y.M.C.A. House League and the Fairmiles remain in second place close on the heels of the leaders as the result of Saturday night's doubleheader. Algerines walloped Gord Johnston's Cruisers 55 to 16 and the Fairmiles came down in front in their game with Destroyer 42 to 17.

The leaders had little trouble in beating the Cruisers with the Stewart boys setting the pace for the winners. Joe tossed in 13 field baskest for a total of 26 points and his younger brother Al also took a big hand in the offensive with a total of 12.

Against that kind of sniping the Cruisers had little answer. They were outscored 19 to 8 in the first half and after the rest Algerines stepped up the pace to pile up 36 points in the second half. R. Johnston and Hardill with two baskets each were top scorers for the losers.

Algerines (55)—A. Stewart 12, J. Stewart 26, Jones 5, Davis 6, Kidd 2, Griffin 2, Thomas 2.

Cruisers (16)—R. Johnston 4, Ketchebau, G. Mathhews 1, J. Matthews 2, Geraghty 1, Hardill 4, Sisson 2, Grierson 2.

Harry Currie's Destroyers made a battle of their game with Fairmiles in the early stages of the conflict and opened up a lead but Pete McArthur's team finally got moving and before half time had drawn out in front 14 to 10.

The winners, taking better advantage of their scoring opportunities than did the Destroyers continued to draw away, outscoring their opposition 28 to 7 in the second half. McCuaig, Baird and McArthur were the big three in the Fairmile attack while Currie paced his own team's attack with eight points.

The teams:

Fairmiles (42)—J. Csumrik 5, Courtney 6, McQuaig 12, Baird 9, McArthur 8, Ellis 2.

Destroyers (16)—Shadgett 6, Fallen 2, Seabrook 2, Northcott, Alcock, Currie 8.

Referees—R. Johnston, G. Johnston.

The horse of the year is Mrs. John D. Hertz's Count Fleet, according to a vote announced Saturday at New York by a number of track correspondents, handicappers and turf columnists. Selection was based on a record of wins in all six starts during the season.

The annual poll, conducted by the Daily Racing Form and the Morning Telegraph, resulted in the choice of George D. Widener's Platter as the best two-year-old, with Brownell Combs' Durazna being favored as the best juvenile filly. Widener's Stefanita secured the vote as the outstanding three-year-old filly while the honors for handicap horse were divided between Lou Tufano's Market Wise and Mrs. Payne Whitney's Devil Diver. The pick of the steeplechasers was considered to be Harold Talbott's Brother Jones Count Fleet, of course, carried the vote for the best three-year-old colt as well as that for the best all-round performer.

Robert R. M. Carpenter, Sr., who put up the dough to buy Bill Cox's share of the Phillies, used to be a ball player himself. . . . One day while pitching for the Dupont Company Powder Yard team Carpenter made a hit that looked like a sure homer . . .But when his cap blew off as he made tracks around the baselines, he stopped to pick it up and was thrown out. . . . His teammates promptly threw him out of the game.

Monday Matinee

When Lefty O'Doul was east for the baseball meetings, he tipped Mel Ott that Bill Rigney, the shortstop who figured in the deal to make Dolph Camilli Oakland manager, was the best he has seen in 15 years. . . . Ensign Ollie Hunter, who was nominated as "Notre Dame's second Greg Rrice," has begun training for the winter track season on the Columbia board track. Ollie recently was graduated from the Navy Midshipmen's School at Columbia and took a nine-months assignment as assistant athletic director and track coach at the school.

The Time of His Life

Bob Higgins, Penn State football coach, will be 50 years old Dec. 24 (the unlucky guy) and recently some of his pals professed to be wondering if Bob could continue his coaching duties at that "advanced" age. . . . Looking back on a none-too-successful season, Bob replied: "I hope the first 50 years are the hardest."

Toronto Leafs Win, Lose Over Week-end

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Unlike last season when their rags-to-riches act provided some of the National Hockey League's best theatre, Boston Bruins were building up to burlesque billing to-day as "straight men" in ending two of the league's most tedious streaks.

Bruins descended to the role of foil a week ago Sunday when they shaded Montreal Canadiens 5-4 to halt Montreal's undefeated sequence in 14 games. Last night, Boston was "in the middle" again, losing 6-4 as New York Rangers startled 15,369 indulgent home fans with their first triumph in 16 starts.

Third period goals by Ott Heller, Ossie Aubuchon and Chuck Scherza powered Rangers to victory, highlight of week-end combat which saw league standings remain unchanged after five games drew cumulative paid attendance of 64,460. Four teams saw action twice and all broke even, the two winning teams Saturday taking the short end Sunday while Saturday's vanquished won their Sabbath engagements.

Beat Canadiens.

Toronto Maple Leafs caught Canadiens with their ranks thinned by influenza and injury, winning 4-2 Saturday as 17 year old Ted Kennedy streaked for two goals and helped set up another. He or his linemates, Mel Hill and George Boothman, figured in every Toronto goal.

At Boston Saturday Herb Cain collected two goals in Bruins' 9-6 verdict over Rangers, stretching his season's total to 17 for the league high in that department. Buzz Boll and Art Jackson followed suit with two apiece.

It looked like a repeat dose at New York Sunday when Bep Guidolin and Bill Cowley shot Bruins into a two-goal lead, but Rangers kept nibbling at that margin until finally they entered the third period on even terms, 3-3. Heller, Aubuchon and Scherza then fired the decisive goals before Cowley got his second for Bruins.

Scherza crashed into a goal upright in the third period and was taken to hospital, where it was announced a rupture was possible although no bones were broken.

Leafs, who gained sole possession of second place Saturday, dropped back into a second-place tied with Chicago Black Hawks by losing 3-2 at Chicago Sunday. A goal by Cully Dahlstrom midway through the third period broke up a tensely-waged duel and gave Hawks their seventh straight victory on home ice.

Canadiens regained their nine-point margin over the field by conquering Detroit Red Wings 5-1 Sunday. The decision fashioned on two-goal effort by Ray Getliffe and Leo Lamoureux, marked the first victory for a road team since Nov. 21.

JACK TARS BATTLE IT OUT—Able Seaman Ralph H. Frayne of St. Catharines, of H.M.C.S. Haida (back to camera) and Leading Seaman Harold M. Roberts of Ottawa, of H.M.C.S. Iroquois fought a fast bout to a draw, when the two Canadian Tribal destroyers staged an intership boxing competition at a British port recently. Frayne and Roberts fought in the 170-pound class. Commander J. C. Hibbard, commanding officer of Iroquois, shown at the ringside, was referee.

Calladine Adds Single Assist

BOSTON, Dec. 13 — (AP). — New York Rangers played their 15th National Hockey League game of the season without a victory, bowing Saturday night to Boston Bruins 9-6 before a skimpy crowd of 6,500 at Boston Garden. The triumph enabled Bruins to stretch their string of undefeated home starts to seven games and moved them into third place in the standing.

Cain Becomes Leader

Bruins' scoring total was a high for the Boston team for the season, and Herb Cain drove two of the pucks through Goalie Ken McAuley to become the league's top goalmaker with a total of 17.

Two other Boston veterans, Buzz Boll and Art Jackson, also scored twice. The other Bruins to beat McAuley were Rookie Russ Kopak, Busher Jackson and Bill Cowley.

Boston: Goal, Gardiner; defence Clapper, Crawford; centre, Cowley wings, Cain, A. Jackson; subs, Guidolin, Gallinger, Calladine, and Hollet, H. Jackson, Kopak, Boll.

Rangers: Goal, McAuley; defence, Heller, W. McDonald; centre, Demarco; wings, Hextall, Heller; subs, G. Warwick, Aubuchon, J. McDonald, W. Warwick, Goodin, Scherza, Leger.

Referee, Clancy, linesmen, Ag. Smith and Bill Cleary.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Dec. 13.— (CP).— There's a move afoot to give Canadian professional boxing more centralized government. Lionel Conacher, chairman of the Ontario Athletic Commission, wrote to Charlie Jones, head of the Vancouver Boxing Commission, suggesting the coast organization might wish to affiliate with the Canadian Boxing Federation, which governs eastern boxing. Jones, it is reported, expressed interest and Conacher has forwarded details of the negotiations to Frank Hogan, Montreal chairman of the C.B.F.

A western Canada Federation with headquarters at Edmonton, controls western boxing and for a time relations between it and the C.B.F. were strained — to put it mildly. I'm assured by Elmer Ferguson, secretary of the C.B.F., that nothing but affection and kind words passes now between eastern and western organizations. Perhaps the time is ripe for a wedding.

Monday Wash:

Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara reports Quebec Senior Hockey League attendance is declining in Montreal and the executives are worrying....Before the First Great War Phil Taylor and Norm Falkner were speed-skating and barrel-jumping rivals in Saskatoon. They went to war and Falkner returned without a leg. Taylor became one of the most internationally famous trick skaters, his daughter, Megan, is one of the great woman figure skaters. Falkner became a one-legged skater featured at United States rinks but now skates only for recreation. Taylor, visiting Toronto with a touring ice troupe, and Falkner were re-united for a visit last week....What do professional girl athletes do in the off season? Helen Nichol, who pitched for Kenosha in the American Glamor Softball League, is selling sports goods in a Calgary department store.

Mixed Up:

Johnny Mahaffy was a professional hockey player with Montreal Canadiens until he joined the army. As a soldier he was automatically an amateur again so he played for Montreal Royals. Then he got his army discharge and found that he could no longer play for Royals because, as a civilian, he was still Canadiens' property. He could have become an amateur if all N.H.L. clubs had waived on him and the C.A.H.A. had okayed him. But New York Rangers wanted him so he's a professional. Fun, isn't it?

Bracken Curls

KITCHENER, Ont., Dec. 13. — (AP).— "Curling," grinned John Bracken at Kitchener Granite Club Saturday afternoon "is the only thing that kept me alive for 20 years of political life—some people hold that against the game." The Progressive Conservative National leader played against Robert Gourley, former Canadian curling champion from Winnipeg's Strathcona Club and came out on the short end of a 9-8 decision.

Mr. Bracken skipped a rink consisting of Bert Hall, former Canadian champion, Tom Seagram and Jack Laing. The Gourley rink was made up of Ace Hoffman, Dr. Frank Harvey and A. E. Pernfus.

McCarthy Guest

FORT ERIE, Ont., Dec. 13.— (CP).—Joe McCarthy, manager of New York Yankees, world baseball champions, will be a guest at a testimonial dinner of Erie Downs Golf and County Club next Wednesday, it was announced last night. McCarthy lives in Buffalo, N.Y.

Quebec Aces Lead Senior Series

MONTREAL, Dec. 13 — (CP).— Quebec province will have to draw its Allan Cup contender from a single senior loop this season, and the same thing will apply for its Memorial Cup bid despite an upsurge in junior hockey this season.

The only senior circuit in operation is the Quebec Senior Hockey League, at present a four-team loop after it had been successively cut from six and then five teams. Several intermediate or unaffiliated loops are in operation but they will be making no bid for provincial honors.

The Q.S.H.L. hit tough going at the start, when Montreal Army and then Cornwall Army dropped out because of player losses. The four remaining teams appear to have settled down to the second revision of their schedule now, despite occasional rumors that the league might be further cut before the end of the season.

Quebec Aces lead with five wins and a draw in their first six games. Montreal Air Force has been hard hit by injuries and by player losses and is two games behind Aces. Ottawa Commandos are third, a game behind the Air Force, and Montreal Royals are fourth.

The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association has adpoted "A" and "B" ratings for its junior teams this season, and the Montreal Junior Amateur Hockey Association is the only loop drawing "A" rating and therefore the loop that will declare a Memorial Cup contestant.

Royals have jumped away to a fast start in the "A" series and on their showing to date are considered the team most likely to seek the Memorial Cup for Quebec. Their present 13 points give them a five-point margin on the Canadiens, with Concordia and the winless Verdun squad trailing.

Kingston Drubs Toronto Navy

By The Canadian Press

Scoring four times in the first five minutes of the contest at Kingston Saturday night, Frontenac Army coasted to a 5-3 win over Toronto Navy in the only scheduled game of the Senior O.H.A. of the evening. The win gave the Limestone City Soldiers sole possession of second position in the league standing with a record of six victories and three losses, two points behind Hamilton Majors and four points ahead of St. Catharines.

Tisdale led off in the scoring for Kingston 30 seconds after the opening and, after Doran had whizzed No. 2 past goalie Red Gilbert, notched another a minute later to give him top honors of the set-to with two goals. Corrigan and Foster scored for Kingston, following Joe Klukay's initial tally for the Tars. All of the scoring came in the first six minutes of the encounter to provide Frontenacs with a 5-1 margin.

There was no more scoring until the third stanza when Art Thomson and Scotty Mair each found the target for the Gobs.

U.S. Battleships Rake Nauru Island

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 13.—(AP).—The American Navy's invitation to the Japanese grand fleet to come out and fight bore a postscript today written by United States battleships which participated in the attack on Nauru Island, west of the Gilberts.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday that the fleet's big boys added their steel to the surface craft poured on to Nauru deluge which carrier planes and Dec. 8.

Nauru, Japanese air base and phosphate producing centre, is about 450 statute miles east and slightly south of the Gilbert Islands.

After the Tarawa-Makin successes in the Gilberts, Tokyo radio said the United States' invasion constituted a threat to the Japanese-held Marshalls and "presages a real decisive battle of the fleets."

Hit Repeatedly.

Since then, the Marshalls have been hit repeatedly by United States planes.

The attacks on the Marshalls and Nauru, the last one emphasized by presence of the battleships, was in line with Nimitz remark after the Gilbert fightings that "we shall continue constant pressure on the Japs."

To Tokyo's vague talk about a "decisive battle of the fleet," United States Navy Secretary Frank Knox remarked that if the Japanese had brought their "whole fleet from Truk out there we would have been delighted to have them come."

Heavy bombers in the South Pacific made 2,600- and 2,400-mile round trips from Australia to Borneo and Celebes Island, respectively, Friday to destroy oil refineries and storage tanks at Balikpapan on the south-east coast of Borneo and wharves at Makassar, big port on the south-west coast of Celebes Island. It was the third raid on Balikpapan and the fifth on Makassar.

The Allied communique to-day made the first reference to Australian cavalry fighting on New Guinea. The horsemen and infantry met the Japanese in sharp clashes in the Ramu Fiver valley Saturday.

Australian infantry, tanks and artillery overcame stiff opposition to advance one mile up the Huon Peninsula coast to the Sowi River. The enemy was driven from prepared positions in precipitous Tunom River Valley, leaving more than 100 dead.

BRITISH GUNS FINISH U-BOAT—Another U-boat, of Hitler's fast diminishing underseas craft, had the misfortune of being spotted by the British corvette, H.M.S. Starwort, and other British craft on the Atlantic recently. The Nazi sub was brought to the top by depth charges and then promptly sent to Davy Jones locker by fire from the heavy guns. In the photo Nazi crewmen line the deck of the sub after she was brought up. A few minutes later they dove overboard to be picked up.

Canadians who previously punched out the first bridgehead over the Moro River by driving up the Adriatic coast through strong enemy fortifications, rammed through to the high ground overlooking Ortona.

Farther inland, other 8th Army units fought their way to positions dominating the lateral road from Ortona to Orsogna and from these heights were able to prevent the Germans from using the highway.

Alarmed over the progress of the 8th Army toward Pescara, the German command massed three divisions, plus other smaller units in their line. These divisions were the 90th Armored Grenadiers along the coast, the 26th Armored Division in the centre and in the vicinity of Orsogna, and the 65th Infantry farther inland toward Guardiagrele. Highly-trained Alpine units also were helping hold the mountain positions inland.

Berlin has dispatched Hans Neubacher, Balkan problem specialist, on a mystery mission to Budapest amid reports of one Hungarian cabinet meeting after another. Tension was said to be spreading through the country after the Hungarian peace party distributed pamphlets urging resistance to the war effort.

Although obviously concerned with their Balkan position and doing everything possible to strengthen it, German military experts are represented as expecting the biggest Allied blow from the west. With that in mind, they are said to have shifted Marshal Erwin Rommel, now touring Norway, from the Italian-Balkan command and put him in the western driver's seat.

But even before any new landings the Nazis undoubtedly will have new worries over the "24-hour, 360-degree bombing" of Germany and her satellites which Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commander of the U.S. army air forces, predicts is "about ready to start."

He told correspondents in Italy yesterday, "the R.A.F. will bomb every city in Germany by night and by day."

Backed by German arms, the puppet Bulgarian government is fighting growing revolt from the worried, pro-Russian population. Reports persisted of the resignation of the Bulgarian foreign minister, Georgi Shishmanov.

His position, if he still is in office, was made even more of a headache through Russian recognition of Tito's newly-proclaimed Yugoslav government—reported by the Turkish radio but not yet confirmed by Moscow.

This recognition, if true, would serve notice on Sofia that the Kremlin, having by-passed King Peter's Yugoslav government, might accord the same treatment later to the present Bulgarian regime.

Through their war on the side of Germany, the Slavic-minded Bulgarians always have pinned their hope of salvation—if necessary—on the Russians. Russia and Bulgaria are not at war with each other although each is on the opposite side in the world's warring camps.

Germans Win First Battle With Italians

By DON WHITEHEAD

ITALIAN BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS, 5th Army, Dec. 9 (Delayed)—(AP).—The entrance of Italian troops into the war on the side of the United Nations ended in a tragic defeat today and Italy paid another instalment in blood for the sins of fascism.

On the barren, rocky slopes of Mount Lungo, near Mignano, the Italian unit failed in an attack on German positions. There was no criticism of their bravery. They advanced headlong into withering enemy fire to suffer more casualties than the small force could absorb and continue the assault.

One American officer said: "They fought too bravely because they were foolhardy in advancing across open fields of fire."

The general reaction among Americans was one of regret that the Italians had been unable to make a better showing. Military observers said the burden of failure should be attributed to tactical planning by the staff and unexpectedly bitter German resistance rather than any lack of courage on the part of the troops.

Two days ago these troops moved into line to replace an American unit which held the lower slopes of Mount Lungo, a low, hogback ridge on the road to Cassino. They were a token force permitted by the Allies to take their place in the line as a symbol of Free Italy's fight against fascism and nazism.

Their objective was Lungo, which lies between two towering heights which were to be assaulted by the Americans. Thus they had strong support on both flanks in addition to help from American artillery.

After a heavy artillery barrage some Italians advanced straight up the bare ridge toward the heights, while others went around the south slope. As they advanced Germans hidden in caves and pillboxes opened fire. The Italians never had a chance. Within less than three hours they had suffered some 300 casualties.

A strong German counter-attack caught the decimated troops unprepared to stand and fight and the order was given to withdraw to previously held positions.

There was one report that an Italian officer had been caught by the Germans and shot as a warning to the Italians.

Wheat Exports Increase During Year

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 — (CP) —An increase of nearly 100,000,000 bushels in the export of wheat and of wheat flour in the crop year which began last August 1 is expected by Federal Agricultural officials, it was revealed today.

In a report prepared for the Dominion - Provincial Agricultural conference held here last week, allowance of 300,000,000 bushels was made for exports of wheat and wheat flour.

In spite of the anticipated gain in exports, the conference decided not to seek an increased wheat acreage in 1944, leaving the objective the same as this year — 17,487,700 acres, with the largest seeded area to be in Saskatchewan with 10,360,000 acres.

The Canadian wheat surplus is such that greatly expanded shipments can readily be handled from existing stocks, officials said. The balance available for export, with domestic requirements deducted, was placed at 692,474,049 bushels September 1.

In estimating 1943-44 shipments, authorities made provision for substantial exports to the United States and for moderate relief shipments to liberated countries.

The possibility of major Canadian wheat shipments in the form of relief has been tempered by a realization there probably will be wheat surpluses in the United States in another year, as well as in the Argentine and Australia.

The Canadian wheat surplus position is likely to show a major improvement by the end of the present crop year. If export shipments and increased use of wheat for animal feed reach the present estimates, the carryover next July 31 may be down about 300,000,000 bushels—about half the carryover at July 31 this year.

NO POLICE COURT

For the first time in many months there was no Monday morning session of police court and it was a case of white gloves for Magistrate O. A. Langley, .C. There were no arrests over the weekend and no cases, eithey city or county, had been adjourned until today with the result that the police court docket was a complete blank.

LAKES FROZEN OVER

The lakes in the Peterborough district have been sealed over probably until next April by the two cold blasts of the last few days. The drop Friday night partially froze Stoney Lake over and the freezing was complete by nightfall with Sunday night's dip clinching the work. Chemong and Rice Lakes are also frozen over and the Otonabee river in some sections is ice-bound.

C.G.E. Editor Mourns Nephew

Dave Price, editor of the C.G.E. Works News, received word today that his nephew, Lieut. William D. King, 24, of Camp Borden was killed Sunday when his plane, a Harvard trainer, crashed in a sudden snow storm near Penetang. His mother, Mrs. W. C. King, of Aurora, is a sister of Mr. Price.

Overseas eight months with the Canadian Army, Lieut. King returned to Canada to take pilot's training with a view to future participation in army-air force combined operations. He retained his army rank while training.

Lieut. King joined the Toronto Scottish in the first year of war, later transferring to an armored regiment. In England he was shifted to the 7th Reconnaissance Regiment. When his brothers were knocked out of the fight he transferred to the R.C.A.F.

A brother, Sgt. Pilot Dale Terry King, was killed February of this year on his 21st birthday while flying with the R.C.A.F. out of Malta. Another brother, PO. Dale King, a twin of Terry, is a prisoner of war in Germany after his R.C.A.F. plane was shot down on operations on Berlin.

Lieut. King was married seven weeks ago. Surviving are his widow of Shanty Bay, near Barrie, Ont., his mother, Mrs. W. C. King of Aurora, and two half brothers, F. P. Watts of Montreal and J. W. Watts of Weston, near Toronto. Before enlisting Lieut. King was a member of the University of Toronto athletic staff.

Funeral services for Lieut. King will be held in Toronto Wednesday afternoon.

Driver Skids On Ice Strikes Patrol Car

One of the police cruisers was damaged early Sunday morning when an automobile skidded on the icy road and slid into the side of the police vehicle.

Constable Ernest Beatty was on patrol duty and parked the cruiser on the north side of Charlotte street near Park street while he tried the doors of stores in the vicinity.

M. J. Baker, 384½ Water street, was driving east on Charlotte street and when he tried to slow down for the intersection his car skidded on the slippery road surface and collided with the cruiser. The left rear fender and hub cap of the latter were damaged and the front bumper and left headlight of the Baker car suffered from the impact.

Fine Window Breakers

LINDSAY, Dec. 13 — (ENS). — Melville Reeds and Edward Hart, two 17-year-old youths of Lindsay were given one year's suspended sentence and fined $23.60 costs, when they pleaded guilty in Police Court here of breaking windows at Ops School, three miles south of Lindsay. Hart admitted that he had an overpowering inclination to throw rocks at windows and this had led him and Reeds to smash both the storm and inner windows of the school. Charges were laid by Provincial Constable W. McBrien.

$2,550 Required To Complete Christmas Funds

Latest information from the Lord Mayor of London reveals that there are some quarter of a million children in the British Isles who are living in some place other than their own homes, due to their own having been destroyel by enemy attacks from the air, or because the one they called their own was too dangerous by reason of the threat of destruction that might rain on them from the skies.

That represents almost ten times the population of this city, who will not be having the same Christmas on this account, and explains why the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund is again trying to raise a special gift, so that they may have some touch of this blessed spirit that comes to most boys and girls at this time of the year.

Wandering through a few of the stores on George street on Saturday afternoon, one could feel the spirit of Christmas in the air, with many seeking gifts with which to bring pleasure to others, among whom there would undoubtedly be a number whose Christmas will be all the more happier for having given a thought and practical assistance to see that these children will have some thing for Christmas also, while many many others still have that opportunity by taking their part in the gift that will go in their name in a little over a week's time.

At the moment, the fund still needs $2,550 to duplicate last year's gifts, so it can be easily seen that quite some acceleration in the matter of giving for this purpose is needed in order to measure up to the reputation gained previously in this respect.

Two Donations from C.D.S.

The employees of the Canadian Department Stores have already done considerable to help the fund, this in the aggregate already amounting to over $500, a considerable portion of which came from their annual event on March 17 for the past two or three years.

Today there appears two donations in their name, with $25 coming from the store through J. H. Jamieson on behalf of the staff, and a box in the Ready-to-Wear Department added another $5.50 to mark the 4th time it has given a helping hand. The sales ladies in this group originated this themselves with some system of penalties attached to it, from which a goodly share has come, and the staff as a whole are already planning next Irish Day's event to give the fund a further boost.

Five more different people are going to have a personal share in this year's gifts for the Christmas Cheer Fund, through the names as recorded in today's list, of whom Annie Blackburn has been one of the young girls on call to help on many occasions in various ways.

Buckhorn War Workers

This active group of helpers in the war effort have given help on a number of occasions to this fund, which represents but a part of their effort to help things along. Today they are credited with the nice sum o $25, through their treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Smith, and Mrs. Margaret B. Hall, which was specially designated for the Christmas Cheer Fund.

Then the pupils of Confederation School just outside the city limits, who have helped many times, have come forward with another $10, through Mrs. H. B. Jackson their principal, and it is recalled that only a few days ago the tiny tots of Grade 1 were listed as well, in addition to which the whole school turned in a fine donation only a little more than one month ago.

Two other groups, the W.A. of Lily Lake, and the Roundabout Euchre Club of Otonabee through Mrs. Ernest Fife are back once more with gifts, this time specially marked for the Christmas Cheer Fund, and both have also given on very recent occasions, thus adding to their share in these particular donations or this Christmas.

Cow Honored

KITCHENER, Dec. 13 — (CP) — Posch Sally Ormsby is doing her bit for Canada's war effort, and her contribution is appreciated. Sally, a pure-bred Holstein owned by Fred Snyder, Waterloo township farmer, has given 127,080 pounds of milk and 4,213 pounds of fat already and at the age of 11 years is still going strong. She was honored last week with a "long-time production" certificate from the Dominion Holstein Association of Canada.

Obituaries

CHARLES L. FINN

The death occurred this morning of Charles L. Finn of Lot 15, concession 2, Asphodel. Following a short illness, Mr Finn passed away at his home at the age of 66.

Born in Fenelon Falls the son of the late Margaret Christie and John Finn, he had lived in the township of Asphodel for the past 44 years. He was a member of St. Paul's church, Norwood, and of the Holy Name Society. Unmarried, he is survived by a brother, Joseph, and a sister, Jennie, both of whom live at home.

The funeral will leave the late residence at 9.30 a.m. Wednesday and will go to St. Paul's church, Norwood, where mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment will be made in St. Paul's cemetery, Norwood.

JOHN CUMMINGS

The death of John Cummings, 155 Hart avenue, occurred Sunday at his residence following an illness of a month. He was in his 86th year.

A resident of Peterborough for 40 years, Mr. Cummings was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Cummings, and he farmed in Ennismore until he retired to the city. Always keenly interested in sports, he attended wrestling and hockey matches at the Arena until recently. He was a member of the Salvation Army. His wife, Margaret McCall, predeceased him in 1929.

Surviving are two sons and three daughters: Wesley of Toronto; James of Oshawa; Mrs. W. James of Belleville; Mrs. James Mansell of Toronto, and Mrs. Stanley Ivis of Peterborough. A sister, Mrs. Thomas Davis, lives in Bridgenorth.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, with services conducted by Major A. Dixon of the Salvation Army. Interment will be made in Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. LAWRENCE J. HALCROW

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Moffit Halcrow, 629 George street, took place Saturday from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, with services conducted by Major A. Dixon of the Salvation Army. Interment was made in Little Lake Cemetery.

Mrs. Halcrow died on Thursday in her 63rd year after an illness of two weeks. Born in South Shields, County Durham, England, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Moffit, she came to Peterborough 19 years ago from England. She was a member of the Salvation Army. Her husband, Lawrence John Halcrow, predeceased her 13 years ago.

She is survived by a daughter and three sons: Mrs. Charles Ward and Lawrence, of Peterborough; and Ernest and Roland, both of the Royal Canadian Navy, the former stationed in Toronto. There is a sister, Mrs. J. Mowbray, and three brothers, William, Thomas and Robert Moffit in England.

Pallbearers were S. Richardson, J. Custance, S. Revoy, P. King, K. King and K. Merdeth.

THOMAS DAVIS

There was laid to rest on Saturday in Little Lake Cemetery, Thomas Davis. Mr. Davis passed away in Nicholls Hospital on Wednesday after a lingering illness at the age of 68 years. A veteran of the last war he was a native of London, England, and previous to going overseas he was employed with the Canadian General Electric Company. For the last eight years he has been a resident of the Anson House.

One sister who resides in London, England, survives.

MRS. RICHARD WALSH

The death of Mrs. Richard Walsh of 160 Antrim street, occurred at her residence on Sunday following a lengthy illness. She was 31 years old.

Born the daughter of Mrs. Alice Pinn and the late R. G. Pinn in Middlesex, England, the former Gwendolyn Ethel Pinn had resided in the city for 23 years.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, Richard Walsh and a daughter Jeanne. There are also two sisters, Mrs. D. Green of Alberta and Mrs. M. Heslop of Peterborough, and five brothers Albert, Jack, and Wilfred of Peterborough, Harry, R.C.A.F., and Edwin, R.C.N.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Nesbitt Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte Street, with service conducted by Canon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church, of which the deceased was a member. Interment will take place in Little Lake Cemetery.

DAVID CASEY.

The funeral of the late David Casey was held from the residence of Mrs. P. O'Brien, 51 Wolsley Street, to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Saturday, when requiem mass was offered by Rev. James Greenan, who also delivered the sermon to a large crowd.

In his passing Peterborough County has lost another life-long citizen. The late Mr. Casey was the son of Thomas Casey and Mary Fitzgerald, pioneers who settled only a few miles east of Peterborough over a century ago.

Mr. Casey, who was in his 82nd year, retired from his farm in Otonabee in 1939 and leaves to mourn his loss two daughters, Mrs. P. O'Brien and Mrs. T. D. Johnston of Peterborough, and six sons, John of Peterborough, David, Thomas, James and William Casey of Detroit, and Edward of New Orleans, the latter coming 1,600 miles by plane to attend the funeral. There is a brother William in Milbury, Mass.

Interment was made in St. Peter's Cemetery, with Father Killen conducting the graveside service. Pall-bearers were his six sons, John, Thomas, James, William, David, and Edward. The many floral tributes showed the esteem in which Mr. Casey was held.

During his lifetime the late Mr. Casey had been a parishioner of the Imamuclate Conception Church since its dedication and was also a member of the Holy Name Society.

REPORTED MISSING—Leading Cook James Stillwell, Royal Navy, a former Peterborough boy, and grandson of Mrs. S. Stickles, 280 McDonnel Street, has been reported missing after three years in the East. His mother is in England.

Col. J. L. Ralston Lauds Young Officers

LONDON, Dec. 13 — (CP Cable) —Col. J. L. Ralston, Canadian defence minister, today declined to comment on rumors of the possible retirement of Lt.- Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Army Overseas, and brushed aside another rumor that he himself might succeed Sir Lyman Moore Duff as Chief Justice of Canada.

"I have not hear anything official about this report I might succeed Sir Lyman," Col. Ralston said. "You know, the same rumor came up a year ago. I said then that even if I were honored with the offer, I felt I could not accept it so long as there was a war job to be done."

He said there were some things he had found wrong which he hoped to get put right, and mentioned problems such as mail for the troops, films and newspapers. Getting news to the troops is most important to their welfare, he added.

The youth of the commanders impressed him greatly, Col. Ralston said, as well as their keenness and the faith the men have in them.

Keenness and interest of the troops in what they are doing and the apparent "quiet self-reliance" they had and confidence they could do the job were also outstanding impressions.

The Minister said he talked with Gens. Dwight Eisenhower, Sir Harold Alexander and Sir Bernard Montgomery during his tour and saw preparations being made for the present Moro River battle.

On the lone road leading to the Moro front the Minister got a most vivid impression of transport difficulties facing the troops. He said he had great admiration for the sappers working on bridging and road building to aid the attacks.

The Minister visited "Canada Town," a captured town which the Canadians have made their own with a "Beaver Club" and "Royal York Hotel."

Col. Ralston plans to fly to Canada in about a week after holding more conferences here, including additional talks with Gen. McNaughton.

No Secret Weapon

LONDON, Dec. 13 (CP)—A Daily Mail dispatch from the German frontier today said Germany's principal scientists were asked at a recent Munich meeting to devote every effort to produce a super-weapon so badly needed by the Reich. The secret weapon propaganda now is providing a boomerang, the dispatch said, with the German people clamoring for its immediate use. The belief is gaining ground, the dispatch said, that the weapon's development met some setback.

A Barrel Of Luck

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 13 — (AP). — Donald MacNicoll wanted to hunt. He rented a gun, bought a hunting license, talked Charles Siebeck out of four shotgun shells, and took a taxi to the city's outskirts. He was back in an hour, with the limit of two pheasants—and one unused shell.

Large Crowd Attends YMCA Carol Service

The annual Christmas Carol singsong of the Friday Night Club of the Y.M.C.A. was held in the Peterborough Collegiate Sunday night between 7:30 and 10 o'clock, and the assembly hall was practically filled.

The Peterborough Temple Band of the Salvation Army played a concert of music under the direction of Gerald Routly, bandmaster, and Quirt McKinney of the Peterborough Normal School led in the singing. Harry and Stan Northrop were at the two pianos, and Norman Allan was chairman of the program.

The entire program was dedicated to the boys on active service, and Major A. Dixon led in a prayer for the servicemen. The meeting was closed with a benediction by Rev. Dr. Young of St. Andrew's Church.

After-Church Service Attracts Large Crowd

A large audience was present at the Centre Theatre Sunday night to hear Rev. Norman Rowan of Stoufville and to enjoy the singing of Mrs. Charles Baster of Toronto. The musical program has been an outstanding feature of these "after-church" services. The song leader, Mr. Bernard Aldridge of Toronto has been able to bring out the latent singing ability of the audience and together with Ashton Fife of Peterborough at the piano made the singing at these meeting a pleasure.

Before the song service Ashton Fife delighted the audience with a number of request numbers and Christmas Carols on the piano.

The theme of Rev. Mr. Rowan's address last evening was "Be not deceived" taken from the verse in Galatians reading "'Be not deceived God is not mocked for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." The speaker in his address stressed the necessity of every one meeting the appeal of the Gospel message fairly and frankly.

Used Her Shoe

67 Unmarried Parent Cases Come From City

Deputy Reeve Alex Archibald at a recent session of the County Council read a report from the Children's Aid Society stating that there were 102 unmarried parent cases under their supervision for the first ten months of this year.

This total of 102, according to Miss R. Young of Children's Aid Society, was broken up into 67 from the city and 35 from the county. Of the 67 in the city, 37 of the cases were mothers with babies born in 1943 and 23 cases were situations where supervision was still being carried on to prevent neglect of the child which had been born in 1942. In addition, there were seven cases of unmarried mothers with children who had been born in other counties, and the only duties of the Children's Aid in such cases is to contact the father for support.

There were 21 girls in the county who had babies born out of wedlock in 1943; 11 unmarried mothers from the year before were under supervision and there were three interviews with fathers of children born in other counties. Miss Young said there might be more unmarried mothers in the county about whom thev might not have heard.

Given Help

All illegitimate children who are born in the city of Peterborough are reported to the Children's Aid Society which then contacts the mother to offer their services. If they are desired they give advice, try to help the mother make satisfactory plans for herself and the baby, try to secure maintenance from the father and if necessary take charge of legal procedings and also endeavor to supply layettes and medical care. If the mother needs to work, then the Society tries to arrange a boarding home for the baby.

Miss Young remarked that with the exception of a very few cases all the mothers welcomed their assistance when their policy was explained.

A Slip, No Doubt

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Dec. 13 — (CP). — Workmen at Farrow's Mill at Tara, 15 miles west of here, had difficulty filling one of a bundle of grain bags brought recently by a district farmer. Investigation showed the leaky sack was a woman's slip. The embarrassed farmer blamed a practical joker rather than the bag shortage.

Soldiers Entertained

A delicious lunch of sandwiches and cakes rounded out an afternoon of games and community singing at the Uptown Recreation Centre Sunday afternoon, when a large number of soldiers from the local Training Centre were entertained by about 70 of the Sunday Canteen girls. Major Bamsey was M.C. for the entertainment, and led the group in Christmas carole, with Barbara Nicholls and Morris Duke at the piano. Guests from Toronto and Hamilton were present, and also a Flt. Sgt. of the R.A.F. and three other sergeants of the R.A.F. The crowd was in a holiday mood, and everyone had a most enjoyable time.

Evening Wedding Held In Marmora

MARMORA, Dec. 13.—(ENS).—St Paul's Anglican church, Marmora, was the scene of a pretty wedding at 8 p.m. on Saturday when Mary Hawara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawara, of Peterborough and formerly of Deloro, became the bride of Gnr. Kenneth Truman Cooney, son of Mr. William Cooney and the late Mrs. Cooney of Ivanhoe. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. A. B. Caldwell.

Given in marriage by Mr Ernest Horton of Marmora, the bride was becomingly attred in a two-piece white wool dress with shoulder-length veil and wore silver slippers. Her corsage was of red roses. Her bridesmaid was Miss Edith Harte-Maxwell of Peterborough, who wore a blue crepe dress with brown accessories, her corsage being of Betstertime roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Gordon Scott, of Marmora. Wedding music was played by the organist, Mrs. L. R. Rundle, wo also sang "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

A reception attended by close relatives and friends, was later held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Horton, sister and brother-in-law of the groom. The groom is shortly returning to Petawawa Camp, while Mrs. Cooney will take up residence in Marmora.

Home Nursing Plan Needed

With the ever-growing shortage of doctors and nurses throughout Canada, the teaching of Home Nursing by the St. John Ambulance Association has become increasingly important, and the number of classes and attendance has been on the upgrade for several months.

To keep teaching methods and manuals in line with modern practice, the Nursing Advisory Committee of the Association and Brigade has met in Ottawa to go over the entire field of training and instruction. All Home Nursing Classes now are conducted under the St. John-Red Cross Joint Committee.

The Nursing Advisory Committee of St. John consists of several prominent men and women in the medical profession, and plans to study and advise St. John on all matters pertaining to Home Nursing and will give special attention to the needs of refresher courses for teachers.

Christmas Party At St. James

Santa Claus made a personal appearance Saturday evening, at the bazaar, tea, and Christmas concert of the Primary Department of St. James' Sunday School, and distributed gifts to each child present, from a beautifully decorated Christmas tree.

Fancy goods and homemade cooking were on sale at the bazaar, and an autograph quilt, made by the teachers, was on display. Following the bazaar, a delicious lunch was served, and a program was presented by the children of the Primary Department.

All the children took part in the opening, "Merry Christmas to You" and also the following choruses: Fishers of Men; He Careth for You; Away in a Manger; Christmas Bells; Silent Night; and a group of songs directed by Miss Leggett.

There were recitations by Patricia Watson, Ann Cripps, Kenny Butler, and Roy Murduff; solos by Fluroine Searles and Barbara Wallace; dialogue by Nancy Zolyomy and Mable Turner; and Thelma Wood, Ronald Bryan, and Ronald Leggitt.

"The Christmas Story" was presented by a number of children, and Donald Rose also told "The Christmas Story" and a chorus by Mrs. Hunter's girls and a duet by the Latchford boys rounded out the program.

A BIT OF SUNSHINE—Yellow, cheerful, sunshiny yellow, is cited as an important shade for late winter and early spring, both for solid fabrics and for prints. Sunlit yellow is the lovely shade used for a crepe dress that was designed to take pretty Virginia Patton through the afternoon and into the evening. It uses shirring to soften the bodice and to trim the sleeves.

DINNERS OF THE WEEK

By MARY MOORE

SUNDAY
Rolled Shoulder of Lamb
Mint Jelly
Pan Roasted Potatoes
Green Peas (canned frozen or dried)
Head Lettuce Salad
French Dressing
Lemon Sherbert (note) Coffee

Note: To make the sherbert you will need 1¼ cups sugar, ½ teaspoon soda (this reduces tartness of lemons), juice of 4 lemons, juice of 1 orange, grated rind 1 lemon, 3 egg whites, ½ cup cream from tops of 2 bottles Jersey milk. Dissolve sugar in 4 cups water, and boil 10 minutes. Strain and add juices and then soda to syrup. Add rind and mix well and chill almost to freezing then fold in the egg whites and cream which have been beaten until stiff.

MONDAY (Economical)
Lamb and Lima Casserole
Chinese Lettuce Salad
Boiled Dressing
Hot Apple-Gingerbread Tea

TUESDAY (Meatless)
Poached Eggs on Toast with Tomato Sauce
Baked Potatoes
Baked Squash
Baked Apples Coffee

WEDNESDAY

Jam Roll with Top Milk
Coffee

FRIDAY
Codfish Cakes Tartar Sauce
Scalloped Cabbage
Raw Celery and Carrots Strips
Canned Plums Cookies

SATURDAY
Veal Chop Suey Rice
Red Currant Jelly Roll (note)
Coffee

Note: To make a rather economical and very good jelly roll, beat 2 eggs very well and add ¾ cup sugar and beat well, then add grated rind 1 lemon and beat very well. Sift 1 cup flour with 1½ teaspoons baking powder and ¼ teaspoon salt, and sift it into the egg mixture alternately with 3 tablespoons milk, mixing just enough to blend. Pour into shallow pan about 14 by 10 inches, lined with wax paper. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 15 to 20 minutes. Turn out on damp cloth, spread with currant jelly, cut off stiff edges and roll up immediately — you must work quickly. Wrap in wax paper and cool. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

200 Soldiers Attend Bingo

Over 200 soldiers from the local Training Centre attended the Bingo, sponsored by the Citizen's Committee, which was held in the Uptown Recreation Centre Saturday evening. With the approaching Christmas season, the interest in the three major prizes is keener than ever, and because of a tie, three boys were the winners of phone calls.

Pte. C. P. Weist, of Belgonie Sask. won the call sponsored by the Peterborough Lumber Company, Pte. Irving Robinovitch, of Montreal, won the J. K. Hughes call, and Pte. R. Savoie, Lamaque, N. B., the call sponsored by W. T. Belleghem. The Cripps' Studio award went to Pte. Charles Gillespie, of Toronto.

The games were in charge of Miss Caroline Littlefield, assisted by Mr. Chester Mowry. Following the Bingo, a singsong rounded out the evening's entertainment. The singing was convened by Mrs. Adam Sands, and Mr. M. Latimer, who was M. C. assisted her. Miss Musa Cox and Mr. Mortley Pluard were at the piano.

During the evening, apples from a hamper sent up by Anthony's Fruit Market were distributed to the boys, and were greatly appreciated. Theatre tickets, donated by the three theatres, meal tickets, donated by the Paris Cafe, and cigarettes, donated by J. Steinkraus, were other prizes, and competition was keen.

Roseneath

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Forman (nee Leah Sherwin) a recent bridal couple, were honored by the community when they were tendered a miscellaneous shower of gifts and a dance on Friday night in the Orange Hall. An orchestra from Cobourg provided the music for dancing.

Village and community were plunged into darkness on Friday night when the power line was broken near Harwood during high gales. However, this did not deter the committee in charge of a party in the Orange Hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Forman from proceeding with their plans. Gas lanterns, coal oil lamps and other lighting facilities of yesteryear were brought into use again and the party went merrily on.

A special collection was taken in the United Sunday School Sunday to be applied to the Christmas cheer fund for British children.

Among those from a distance attending the funeral of Mrs. J. H. Baxter were Mrs. Gordon Brown of Detroit, Sgt. and Mrs. Wilson Thomas of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Blodgett of Colborne, Mr. and Mrs. William Mouncey of Baltimore, George Hoar of Toronto, Alexander White of Orillia, Mr and Mrs. Bex Baxter of Havelock, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baxter of Cobourg, and Mr and Mrs. Seymour Waller of Oshawa.

Included among those attending the Blood Donors' Clinic in Cobourg during the week were: Mrs. G. L. Tucker, Mrs. Andrew Brown, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, M. D. Brown, James S. Brown, and Fred Norris.

Miss Hildred Taylor has arrived home following a visit with relatives at New Liskeard, and assumed her duties as manager at Brown & Welsh's.

Mrs. E. Sandercock, who has been visiting relatives in Toronto, arrived home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sandercock were in Toronto on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Tucker have received word of the safe arrival in Italy of their son Ewart.

Mrs. John Curtis have gone to Cobourg to spend the winter with Mrs. Clara Delaney.

Mrs. Earl Braithwaite received word on Saturday of the death in New Ontario of her sister, Mrs. Roy Pacey.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Macklin visited relatives at Bronte and Strathroy during the week-end.

Miss Sheila Burrison of Gore's Landing visited her cousins Barbara and Mary Skuce during the week-end.

Discover Life Far From Dull In Sub-Arctic

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CAMP CANOL N. W. T. Dec. 13—(CP)—If Santa Claus wants to be popular with the 100-odd girls who work at this Eastern terminus of the Canol pipeline, he should take each one a combination beauty parlor and dry-cleaning establishment compact enough to stow in the corner of a cozy prefabricated "igloo."

Dainty frocks aren't the usual wear in the big construction camp five miles west of the Mackenzie River and just 100 miles south of the Arctic Circle. But comes the time for dancing and parties and getting prettied up provides a major problem.

However, most of the girls are philosophical about such drawbacks and "we don't feel very much like pioneers, as we now have running hot and cold water that they tell us will be available all winter, and electricity, "says Margaret Fleming of Victoria, an employee of Bechtel-price-Callahan, contracters for the pipeline being put through from Norman Wells to Whitehorse, N. T.

Miss Fleming speaks with authority, for she was one of the first six girls to Camp Canol. When she arrived last June the camp was a collection of log huts by the river side and bathing facilities were limited to little tubs about 14 inches in diameter.

"When, sometime in August, we had showers installed, most of the girls caught cold," she recalls. "Now we are in quarters we expect to occupy for the winter. We live in "igloos" with dome-shaped walls and roof. Some of the girls who have written home mentioning the igloos have been amused and surprised when they were asked by their friends if they were really built of ice, and if we had to crawl into them."

Huts Well-Equiped

The girls huts are equipped with big cupboards and dressing-tables and connected by a covered ramp to the offices, post-office and mess-hall. The latter, a three-storey, steam-heated structure, is the centre of social activities, for here movies are shown and dances are held to the tunes of a juke-box. There's no dearth of partners with 2,000 men in camp.

Virginia Telfer of Minneapolis, who believes she is the northernmost female switchboard operator in the world, shares these views and says "probably the rest of the world thinks that the poor isolated people at Canol have nothing to do in their spare time, but this is far from being true.

"Keeping clean, washing and ironing and keeping up with one's correspondence is almost enough to fill up all time after working hours. Besides doing the things that must be done, we have various diversions, such as reading, playing cards, dancing, going to the movies and dating."

Another enthusiast for life at Canol is Olga (Tiny) Lewko of Edmonton, who, like most of the girls admits that two things—adventure and money—lured her into the northland. Her only complaint is that mail isn't received often enough.

The girls are employed chiefly as office workers, though some of them are waitresses and laundresses. But all work the same hours as the men—seven days a week and often 10 to 11 hours a day.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, December 14

ACCORDING TO the astral configurations bearing on the affairs of this day, there should be definite and tangible results for earnest application, perseverance with attention to details and system. There may be a serious determination to reach desired objectives and fulfilled ambitions, even though the rewards be modest and rational. This applies to business, professions and sound efforts toward a stable career, and future security, although there may be a lack of cooperation from elders or employers. Suppress erratic tendencies or actions based on emotional impulses rather than logic and sound policies.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect sound and meritorious culminations to patient, persistent and diligent efforts to put the affairs on a stable and enduring basis, although there may be little support or recognition from elders or superiors. With restless or erratic impulses subdued in favor of logical and practical foundations there may be real rewards and fruition for reasonable ambitions. Make changes cautiously, be steadfast to high purpose and long-run aspirations.

A child born on this day should have sound and worthy ambitions, furthered by practical plans, assisted by a certain element of luck or good fortune.

Does Your Stomach Rebel After the Meals You Eat?

The bloated, heavy feeling after meals; the empty, sinking, gnawing before meals; the belching of gas and flatulency between meals; the rising and souring of food, all these, and more, fall to the lot of those suffering from stomach trouble.

Burdock Blood Bitters helps to stimulate the sluggish action of the digestive and intestinal system by promoting the flow of the important gastric juices so necessary for the proper digestion of food.

Corned Beef and Cabbage

Jiggs' favourite meal is tops from a nutritional point of view

If there's one dish all men go for, it's Corned Beef and Cabbage. And it's a fine nourishing meal into the bargain!

To Cook Corned Beef and Cabbage

Ask your butcher for a suitable piece from the brisket, rump or plate. Cover with boiling water and simmer (do not boil) until tender—for a 5 lb. piece allow 3½ hours. Add cabbage cut in sections 20 minutes before cooking is complete. Serve dumplings as extender. Cook enough to serve once hot, once cold and once as sizzling, savoury corned beef hash.

Got your copy of "Meat Complete" yet? No? Then send 10¢ for Martha Logan's famous hand book of meat cookery to Swift Canadian Co. Limited, Dept. OK48, Toronto.

Corn your own Beef

If your butcher doesn't have corned beef, you may like to pickle a piece from the round, or brisket yourself. Here is an easy way:

The Pickle

2 quarts cold water
½ lb. salt
½ cup (packed) brown sugar
⅛ oz. salt peter

Boil together for ten minutes, skimming frequently. Strain into an earthen-ware crock. As soon as the pickle is cold, put in your meat and leave it for 10 days. If the pickle does not cover the meat, turn it once a day.

Mrs. George Chiles, President Of W.M. Society

HAVELOCK, Dec. 13 (ENS). — The slate of officers for 1944 was presented at the Christmas meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church at the home of Mrs. Harrison Wing. The president, Mrs. George Chiles, presided and there was a good attendance. Rev. J. W. Wilkinson presided for the election of officers as follows: President, Mrs. George Chiles; first vice-president, Mrs. Annie Anderson; 2nd vice-president Mrs. John Cochrane; treasurer, Mrs. S. J. W. Clarke; recording secretary, Mrs. C. Spencer; corresponding and press secretary, Miss M. Seeney; Strangers and Associate Helpers, Mrs. C. Price; financial secretary, Mrs. H. Wing; Baby Band secretary, Mrs. C. Spencer; Mission Band leaders, Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson and Mrs. J. Kinnaird; Literature secretary, Mrs. Edward Fennell; Supply secretary, Mrs. Annie Anderson; Temperance, Miss Annie Young; pianist, Mrs. Harry Watson. Following this, Mr. Wilkinson led in a prayer of thankfulness for all that had been accomplished for missions during the past year.

Present Play.

The devotional exercises were taken from the Missionary Monthly and Scripture passages were read by Mrs. G. Chiles. Mrs. H. Wing conducted a playette on Stewardship, with Mrs. H. Watson, Mrs. J. Cochrane, Mrs. H. Peters, and Mrs. C. Spencer assisting. A letter was read from the Presbyterial asking for nominations for 4th vice-president, Baby Band secretary, C.G.I.T. secretary, and Christian Stewardship, but owing to transportation difficulties existing at the present time no names were forwarded. An executive meeting will be held at the home of the president early in January to plan the program for the New Year. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Herbert Williams. A solo was sung by Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson, accompanied by Mrs. H. Watson.

Trend of Times.

"The Joy of Work Skilfully Done" was the chapter outlined from the study book by Mrs. R. Campney, dealing with the farmers and industrial workers in Asia and Africa. She said missionaries have done much to stimulate interest in poultry-raising, dairying, improvements in farm machinery, distribution of improved seeds, and organizing of co-operative credit societies. The women are studying home economics, carefully planned and attractive meals.

Shortage Of Gift Commodities Stimulates Wave Of Buying

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadians have bounced back from the rigors of shopping for overseas parcels into the even more hectic competition of buying Christmas presents for their Canadian relatives and friends, and the second great buying spree of the year is in progress across Canada now.

A country-wide survey by The Canadian Press showed today that this year's Christmas shopping really started late in October to catch the deadline on overseas parcels. Then there was a lull until about two weeks ago.

Dealers said that Canadians are buying for Christmas this year from 10 days to two weeks earlier than usual. But they admit it has nothing to do with the selling tactics of previous years when Canadians were met on every side by exhortations of "do your Christmas shopping early." This year Canadians don't have to be persuaded. They want to get there early, before everything is gone.

Metal Toys Gone

There are many shortages in goods usually popular as gifts, but usually the shortages differ with each region. Metal toys are off the market almost everywhere, of course, and among other gifts for children even the sleighs have wooden runners and the wagons wooden wheels. Some clothing is scarce, and in Vancouver, for instance, the people who have been handing out shirts and socks to their friends for years will have to find substitutes. Those two articles are practically unobtainable there.

As in all other Canadian shopping centres, the customers are accepting substitutes with reasonably good grace when they can't get what they want.

Dealers in Edmonton and Calgary look for a slackening of trade just before Christmas, because of the heavy buying now.

The Christmas rush is reported even greater than last year in Winnipeg. Heavy luxury buying is reported, and in addition to the demand through regular retail channels newspaper want ads indicate there also is a heavy trade in second-hand goods. Similar conditions are reported from Port Arthur and Fort William, and in Toronto the large departments stores and smaller retailers report the shopping rush started early, and is continuing.

Purchases are up from 12 to 15 per cent in Ottawa, with some gift lines in short supply. Merchants are hoping to clear out their shelves during this Christmas rush to be ready for new stock when it becomes available.

Stores in Montreal are handling one of the biggest rushes in history, and are handicapped by short staffs because of influenza. Supplies generally are good.

There is a great similarity in reports from smaller Ontario cities—heavy demand, short stocks, and early buying. An even greater crush probably is about to start in Galt, too, because a Christmas Savings Club put cheques for a total of $155,000 into the mail Thursday for members who have been saving all year to pay for their Christmas buying.

Hard Candy Scarce

Toys are reported in good supply in Kingston, but another delight of the children—hard candy—is hard to get. North Bay stores report reasonably good stocks, with a firm demand, and similar conditions exist in London, Brantford, Cornwall, St. Catharines, Kitchener and Peterborough. Fears that shelves would be empty by Christmas week were expressed by retailers in Stratford and Guelph. Hamilton reports Christmas business 25 per cent heavier than usual, with the possibility an alltime record will be set. Some goods were reported extremely scarce in Brockville—with one large dealer saying he had been unable to find any rayon hose for his stocks for six weeks, and another reporting that he had on hand only a single suit of men's pyjamas, usually a popular gift.

Gift buying is reported more practical this year in New Brunswick, with a tendency to better quality, and not so much attention paid to prices.

Store hours have been cut in most Nova Scotia stores, a move tending to create larger shopping crowds during the open hours. Luggage, men's furnishing and sport goods are quite scarce, with jewelry, fountain pens and records in good supply. In Prince Edward Island one jeweler said that his Christmas rush "started so long ago I've forgotten when" and it appears possible stocks will be exhausted by Christmas.

Suggest Licensing Lindsay Plumbers

LINDSAY, Dec. 13 — (ENS). — A recommendation that plumbers in Lindsay should be licensed was recommended by sanitary inspector T. H. Davies at the meeting of the Board of Health. In submitting his annual report, Mr. Davies stated that Lindsay had been exceptionally free of contagious diseases and that only seven cases of scarlet fever and six of measles were placarded during the year. There had not been a case of diptheria in Lindsay for two years he said.

Mr. Davies reported that thirty-one homes had installed sanitary conveniences. In regard to a proposed swimming poll for the town he suggested that it should be supplied by a continuous stream of running water as the spread of infantile paralysis was attributed in many cases to unsanitary bathing places. Richard Raymond was appointed town scavenger for 1944.

Favor C.W.A.C.'s

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 (CP).— The members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps now will be able to maintain that freshly-pressed look after travelling. The Defence Department, announced last night that C.W.A.C. personnel now may carry a suitcase or club bag when travelling individually. Previously, they were allowed only army issue luggage — kit bag and haversack— and the crushed clothing was a major difficulty.

New Ration Cards

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 —(CP)— The Prices Board announced last night that, effective Dec. 15, special ration cards will be issued to members of the armed services on 48, 72 and 96-hour leaves. The cards are designed to ensure that servicemen and women visiting their homes on week-ends or while being entertained in Canadian homes on short leaves do not strain their hostesses' supplies of rationed foods.

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC (Delayed) —(AP).—The rat colony on Guadalcanal had plenty of reason to rejoice today—35-year-old Edwin E. Perley was back on the high seas.

In six months on the battle-torn island the boatswain's mate—a naval veteran of 16 years—accounted for well over 2,000 marauding rodents. He used only patience, marine field biscuit and makeshift steel and bucket traps.

Attendance At Clinic Hurt By Flu Epidemic

MARMORA, Dec. 13 — (ENS). — The local epidemic of colds affected the attendance of blood donors from the district at the bi-monthly Blood Clinic at Belleville Sunday.

The eleven making the trip were: Fourth donation: Joseph O'Neill, Harold Price, Fred Mumby; third donation: Hugh Forsyth, Cecil Holland, Mrs. R. G. Neal; second donation: Joseph Lashwa, Clayton Robertson, Lorne Gawley, Douglas Stocker; first donation: Mrs. W. Hamilton.

The next clinic for local donors will be held at Belleville on January 3 because of the Christmas season.

Bethany News

Lieut. George Sackville and his bride from Vancouver were guests this week with the former's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Halcot Benson. Lieut. Sackville has not visited this community since a young boy. Both his parents were former residents here.

Among the blood donors at Mobile Clinic in Port Hope this week from Bewdley were Miss Eleanor Retallick (2) and Mrs. Harold McCallister.

Mrs. Halcot Benson and Mrs. Cliff Manley attended the afternoon tea and display of knitting and sewing war work at the Port Hope High School Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCallister and Arleigh were tea guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Barnard, Bensfort.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Sidey spent a few days in Hamilton.

Release Metal

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 —(CP)— The Prices Board last night announced an order, effective Jan. 1 next, providing that larger quantities of metal may be used in metal furniture, upholstered furniture, bedding and parts in 1944.

Must Watch Pasture

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Dec. 13 — (CP).—Prof. J. C. Steckley director of the Rdgetown Experimental Farm, last night told members of the Elgin Sounty Holstein Breeders' Association at their annual banquet that if Ontario is to maintain its present position n the agrcultural life of Canada it must pay more attention to the pasture crop.

Band Entertains At Tea And Sale

HAVELOCK, Dec. 13.—(ENS).— Despite the severity of the weather Saturday afternoon, the Daisy Mission Band of the United church held a successful afternoon tea and sale in the basement of the church.

The guests were received and welcomed by Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson and Miss Mary Seeney. The church was decorated with Christmas bells and wreaths. The president of the W.M.S., Mrs. George Chiles, poured tea from an attractively decorated table, complete with a silver tea service on a lace cloth. Five small tea tables were served by the girls of the Band, namely Betty Brown, Eleanor Forsyth, Elva Derrett, Betty Post, Stella Wilkinson, Sandra Vansickle, Joan Page, Blanche Derrett and Helen Anderson.

The chairman for the program was Rev. J. W. Wilkinson and consisted of a chorus by the Band members, "Whisper Song," a recitation by Sandra Vansickle, "An Important Call"; a duet by Helen Anderson and Joan Page, "Tell Me the Stories of Jesus"; a chorus, "The Ten Commandment Song." The memory verses, which have been learned this season, were repeated in unison, and Betty Post gave a piano solo, "Apple Blossoms."

BOWLER— In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mary Ethel Foley, beloved wife of Milton H. Bowler, who passed away December 12, 1936.

As long as life our hearts shall hold,
Thy memory ever dear,
And o'er thy grave in loving grief
Shall fall a silent tear.
The world may change from year to year
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one we love
From memory pass away.

—Ever remembered by her husband and children.

STEVENSON— In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. William H. Stevenson, who passed away, December 13, 1938.

No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain,
We have suffered, since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true
There is not a day dear mother,
That we do not think of you.

—Sadly missed but ever remembered by husband and family.

CARDS OF THANKS

New Referee Slated For Big Bout

With a new referee in the person of Irish Tommy Nelson on the job Jan Gotch will beat Karl Davis tomorrow night on the Brock Arena mat and then demand another match with Whipper Watson; says Jan the Optimist. But one thing must certainly be admitted about Gotch. He is just as tough as he talks and anything short of the superlative science and condition of the Whipper is liable to be smashed down by the sensational Pole. Gotch feels very strongly about what he calls "that gyp decision" which was given to Watson the last time they met here. And, with a large hunk of resentment in his crop, the Pole will tie into big Davis tomorrow night in an all-out effort to re-establish himself here as top mat villain.

But it may well be that the threatening Mr. Gotch has bitten of more than he can handle. From what Karl Davis has shown here against De Glane and McCready, the giant Texan well deserves the nickname of "Krippler". Davis pulled the cartilage out of Earl McCready's kne[e in] their terrific match the other night and the Canadian has been forced to take special treatment on the injured leg. And this is far from the first time Davis has injured an opponent. In one way or another, but generally on the leg-holds Karl "the Krippler" has managed to put over two score opponents in the hospital. It's a record that some men would not be too proud of, but the two hundred and fifty pound Texan delights in what he calls his "finishing technique."

When Davis and Gotch come together tomorrow night the fans should see a real knock-down-drag-'em-out affair.

The flying form of spectacular Ralph Garibaldi generally excites admiring comment wherever the great St. Louis athlete appears. On Tuesday's card Garibaldi will fill the semi-final spot with tough and ornery Jack Reeder of Indiana. In the third and completing match that man of mystery, The Czar, wrestles stocky Nick Elitch of Syracuse.

M. Behan Takes Two Top Scores

Friday night in the Catholic Youth Bowling League M. Behan again topped both ladies' high single and ladies' high three with 611. C. McGillen rolled men's high single of 261 and T. Mattucci toppled men's high three of 656. Scores were as follows:

Pin Boys (4)—J. Thomas 549, B. Begley 433, J. Hoar 594, A. Schiarizza 443, B. Gannon 400, M. Thomas 101, Dummy 200. Total 2720.

Refused Alarm Clock

Halifax, Dec. 13 (CP).

WHEN Flt. Lt. W. L. (Red) Chisholm, D.F.C. and bar, of Kentville, N.S., entered a store here to buy an alarm clock, he was met with a stoney stare by the female clerk and told there were no clocks for him—he didn't look like a war worker.

The manager was called. Chisholm — back in Canada with 200 hours active combat flying in Africa to his credit—explained he needed the clock to get him up early next morning to lecture an airforce personnel class.

He got the clock, and the red-faced female clerk explained she hadn't recognized the young sky hero.

Loss In Men, Materials To Date Far Exceeds That Of World War I

By LEWIS HAWKINS

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP). —This war, which long ago eclipsed the first Great War in suffering and material destruction, will exceed it in length December 16, and although an Allied victory is certain, the war must go on until it builds a still more terrible monument to human misery.

Starting July 28, 1914, when the Austrians attacked Serbia, the first Great War ran 1,568 days through November 11, 1918, killing from 10,000,000 to 13,000000 persons in battle and by disease, costing more than $275,000,000,000 and planting the seeds for its successor — a truly world-wide war.

The new war flared September 1, 1939, when the Germany Army smashed into Poland and will pass its 1,568th day, December 16. Its ghastly debit sheet is still open. But the entries certainly include more than 8,000,000 dead in battle alone, plus civilian massacre, slavery, starvation and property ruin not even approached in the preceding conflict.

Death Toll High

Up to within a few months of the 1918 armistice the Germans had a gambling chance of winning and almost did so in Gen. Erich Ludendorff's great 1918 summer drive. In contrast, this time Germany is stronger in the field now than she was in 1918, but beset by so much more combined strength that her leaders must have abandoned hope of full victory months ago and turned to a stubborn defence aimed at stalemate and a compromise peace.

Of the major Western belligerents, only Germany and Russia have death lists that greatly exceed the totals of the last war, which killed 1,773,000 Germans and 1,700,000 Russians. This time the Russians have reported between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 dead and the Germans claim the Sovet dead total 6,000,000 and 7,000,000. Moscow puts the German dead around 5,000,000.

The physical devastation of the Soviets' richest farm and industrial territory runs into billions of dollars still unestimated, and so does the toll of Allied air raids on German cities—another factor not present in the last war, in which only a relatively small strip of Belgium and France was directly ravaged by fighting.

Germany's unprecented enslavement of some 130,000,000 European people is one explanation of her relative strength in this war; but it is also a source of weakness now that she is forced to spread herself out from Norway to Greece.

The British Empire has had a much shorter battle death list so far in this war than in the last. Latest figures show Empire losses in the first three years of fighting were 92,089 killed, 226,719 missing and 107,891 captured. The totals have risen considerably recently, but hardly at a pace to equal that which killed 947,000 in the other war.

But in the last war Britain did not have more than 50,000 civilians killed by bombing and hundreds of millions worth of property destroyed by that form of attack.

Canada's Losses Less Severe

(Canada's casualties also have been lighter in this war—about 10,000 dead—than in the first Great War, when 62,817 dead and 166,105 wounded were reported.

(So far in this war, the Dominion's losses in human lives have been heaviest in the R.C.A.F. Air Minister Power announced Dec. 5 total R.C.A.F. casualties so far of 10,025—among them 3,654 dead, 3,249 presumed dead, 2,068 missing, and 1,039 prisoners.

(Deaths in action in the army so far total 1,851, with 932 missing, 2,228 wounded, 3,341 prisoners. The Royal Canadian Navy has reported 1,078 dead, 1 missing, 160 wounded, 8 prisoners.

(In expenditure of treasure, Canada has also suffered much more than in the first Great War. In 1942, last year for which complete figures are available, more than $3,000,000,000 was spent on the army, navy and air force and shipments of munitions and other war supplies. This total for one year of modern war is approximately twice Canada's total war expenditures from 1914 to 1920, including the cost of demobilization.)

On Dec. 16 the United States will have been in this war 740 days, in comparison with a total of 585 in the first Great War.

Up to mid-November the United States had listed 27,481 in all services killed in action in this war, against 50,475 army men and 414 of the navy, marines and Coast Guard who were killed in action or died of wounds in the first Great War. In addition the previous war caused about 75,000 deaths from disease, many more than in this war so far.

Spending Much Greater

But if the cost to the United States in lives has not yet been as heavy as before, spending and wholesale commitment to war are far greater. Against the other war's total direct spending of some $40,000,000,000 the United States this time has spent or is committed to spend more than $200,000,000,000.

Accepting the Chinese-Japanese war as part of the main struggle, the scale of death and destruction in the Orient is not far behind Europe's, and casualties there must be expected to pile up after the Allies win in Europe.

By the most conservative estimate the Japanese have lost 1,000,000 killed in battle and the chinese 3,000,000 to 4,000,000.

The Japanese probably have twice as many subject millions as the Germans. So far there have been no reports of such wholesale civilian slaughter as have come from Europe —where the Germans are accused variously of killing from 1,000,000 to 6,000,000—but the opportunity is there, and it must be recognized that a losing Japan might do an even more thorough job of frightfulness than the Nazis.

Raw Fur Prices Show New Gains

WINNIPEG, Dec. 13 — (CP). — Fur prices showed an increase ranging from 25 to 200 per cent, compared with a year ago at the Dominion Fur Auction Sales Company sales here this week.

Mink showed the greatest gain, advancing 200 per cent to a high of $33.50. The 9,807 pelts offered were 90 per cent sold. Silver fox advanced 100 per cent to a high of 140, while ermine skins were up 70 per cent at $3.28.

Cross fox sold up to $53; otter, $35.50; skunk, $5.57; squirrel, 69 cents; wolf, $27.50; timber wolf, $36.00.

TORONTO, Dec. 13 (CP)—Delegates at the Ontario Labor Youth Federation passed a resolution last night urging government legislation to extend the franchise to every person older than 18 in federal and provincial elections and in municipal elections irrespective of property status.

Flu Kills 709 Across Britain

LONDON, Dec. 13 (CP) — The worst epidemic of the second Great War threatened Britain today as the influenza death toll was disclosed to have jumped to 709 in 126 major towns of England and Wales for the week ending Dec. 4, and tens of thousands were sent to bed by the disease.

This outbreak was far from the scope and virulence of the epidemic of 1918 which killed 112,329 in England and Wales, but it threatens to eclipse that of 1940, previously the worst year of this war, when influenza caused about 4,500 deaths in January, February and March.

In that winter the worst week—at the end of February—brought only 628 deaths.

The total of 709 deaths for the week ending Dec. 4 was a jump of nearly 100 per cent from the previous week's 375, and it was the highest for any seven-day period since the first week of February of 1937, when 976 died.

"The increase in the deaths from influenza is unusually great for this time of year, and the epidemic still is affecting most parts of the country," said a Ministry of Health official. "The increase in the deaths is due to a greater number of cases and not to a change in the severity of the disease."

The influenza is described as an ordinary type from which most victims recover in two or three days, and so far most of the deaths have been in the over-55 age group.

REWARDS OF SOUNDNESS

AGAINST THE times when bad play would have worked better than good play are many more cases of soundness bringing extra rewards. One of these comes from the taking of a finesse you seldom see tried, against both the queen and the jack, when it appears to be the only reasonable chance to make the contract. If it comes off as per schedule, it may then develop a later play for an extra trick or tricks.

North: ♠ Q 10 4; ♥ 5 2; ♦ A K 8 6 5; ♣ K 9 5

West: ♠ A K J 9 5; ♥ None; ♦ Q J 7 3 2; ♣ Q J 6

East: ♠ 6 3 2; ♥ J 10 8 7 6 3; ♦ None; ♣ 8 4 3 2

South: ♠ 8 7; ♥ A K Q 9 4; ♦ 10 9 4; ♣ A 10 7

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	1 ♠
1 NT	Pass	2 ♥	2 ♠
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT

West "pulled a fast one" on North when he put the J on the first spade trick, forcing that worthy to take the trick and then try to run a total of nine in a row or be set. As soon as either East or West might get in, the disastrous spade tricks would wreck North.

Seeing that he had to run game without ever losing the lead, North tried first the chance of finding the hearts divided, but the very first trick of the suit showed that this was hopeless. Only one reasonable chance remained, that West had both the Q and J in diamonds, regardless of whether guarded or not.

Trying for that, North sent the diamond 10 through, and it held. Next the diamond 9 was covered by the J and K. To the heart K came North and the diamond 8 was finessed. The club A made the seventh trick, the heart Q the eighth and the club K the ninth. Card reading now had shown North what West had left, the spade A, club Q and diamond Q-3. So he threw West in with the club. The defender also scored the spade A, but then had to lead into the diamond A-6, giving North the last two tricks, two extras above his contract.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 8 (Delayed)—(CP. Cable).—Bravery of a Canadian artillery officer who, although wounded and encircled by the Germans, evacuated his troops and then crawled 300 yards to safety, was cited tonight (Wednesday) by men of his battery as one of the individual highlights of their campaign in Italy.

Because he is a casualty, the officer's name cannot be disclosed until his next-of-kin is notified but fellow-gunners said: "He had more guts than all the rest of the Canadian army put together."

L. Bdr. Ray Savage of Chatham, N.B., was with the captain who was attached to an infantry forward observation unit. Two other gunners on the same job have not yet returned to their unit although they are believed to be safe.

"This was a two-day job," said Savage as he summarized in five minutes enough hair-raising experiences to last a lifetime. "We were dug in the first night with some Seaforths and when we woke up the next morning we found ourselves 150 yards from the Germans.

"There was a steady advance during the day (Thursday) athough we were under constant fire from shells and mortars. The Seaforths took mans.

A Good Target.

"We set up our observation post in a house that night and just got settled when a guard told us the Jerries were coming. They made a perfect target in the moonlight The guard told them to halt and they halted and closed up. All we had in the house were a Bren and a Tommy-gun and I emptied the Tommy-gun right into them.

"The captain told me to round up some more men. The first attempt I made to leave the house I was lighted up by a flare. I couldn't find any men so tried to get back but there were a couple Jerries behind me and I went on.

"I heard someone running and I got the thrill of my life when I found it was a Canadian. I joined up with some Seaforths and they told me the captain had been shot.

"That man had more guts than all the rest of the Canadian army put together. Though wounded, he got all the men out before he got out himself.

"He crawled from the observation post to another house about 300 to 400 yards away and if he went the same way I did he must have had to cross open ground."

Despite his wounds the captain was evacuated safely and was reported recovering.

HOW TURKEY CAN OPEN NEW DOORS TO VICTORY—Turkey holds the key to a spectacular new phase in the "all out" smash on Germany promised at the big three conferences in Teheran. Turkish aid to the Allies may mean invasion through the Balkans; opening up of the Aegean Sea; air, sea and land avenues to hastier victory. The British 9th and 10th Armies have been standing idle in Syria, Iraq and Iran and, as shown by the map, some 1,300,000 troops are eager to move against the Bulgarian front, to which the Nazis have rushed reinforcements. Turkish air bases await British and U.S. fliers for opening up the Aegean and starting operations against Nazi-occupied Greece. A march through Yugoslavia would find the tough guerilla armies in the south and the north waiting for help. Shorter supply routes to Russia can be made available. What is more, reliable reports indicate that the Bulgars and Rumanians are in little mood to put up a fight. And finally, Turkey has close to 2,000,000 men under arms and good mechanized equipment and planes.

Special Farming To Take Place Of Mixed Farming Jersey Men Told

The Jersey Cattle Breeders of Peterborough district held their annual banquet and entertainment at Kawartha Golf and Country Club on Friday, December 10. The presence of 160 breeders and their wives indicated the whole-hearted desire to maintain their organization as a mainspring to present agricultural production and as a starting point for post-war rehabilitation in agriculture. In an effort to retain and increase rural and urban goodwill and understanding the Jersey breeders' policy of including representatives of other urban and agricultural societies was complete. The city of Peterborough was represented by Ald. Adam Sands, who brought the greetings of Mayor Hamilton. The Kiwanis, Rotary, Kinsmen, Lions, and Y's Men's Clubs were designated and represented as a gesture of sympathy for their splendid service achievements in Peterborough by the Jersey Breeders.

The agricultural representatives from Bowmanville and Peterborough, Ed. Sommers and Frank C. Paterson, respectively, congratulated the Breeders on their outstanding growth during their five years as an organization. Lorne Reynolds, the president, in a few terse remarks, briefly reviewed the club's progress, and cautiously guided the future in view of to-day's unsettled conditions. It was due to the whole-hearted co-operation of the Breeders that such progress was possible.

Mr. Reynolds called on Joseph Bremner, secretary-manager of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club, the parent organization in Toronto, who emphasized the need as a result of war problems of breeding better and better cattle if Canadians wish to maintain production and progress.

Following an intimate introduction by S. S. Staples of the guest speaker, Professor A. D. Runions, this old acquaintance of Peterborough farmers, received prolonged applause. Prof. Runions, the agricultural representative in Peterborough some six years ago, is now an assistant in the Animal Husbandry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, having left his appointment as the head of the Animal Husbandry Department of Kemptville Agricultural College to take up his new duties during the past summer.

Prof. Runions' subject was "Post-war Breeding Program." He subtly asked many rhetorical questions, and then proceeded to outline the possible replies. The speaker maintained that during the period of readjustment immediately following the war there would of necessity be certain hardships in markets and production that must be met, but the all-engrossing problem was our grasp and appreciation of the period following this readjustment. The impossibility of returning to pre-war conditions was obvious, so as a result agriculture and particularly dairymen must make definite post-war plans. The speaker maintained there were three post-war factors that would help mould an agricultural policy if Canadians took advantage of the results. First a great increase in European immigration with the resulting influx of experienced agricultural workers did not mean, in his estimation, a reversion to peasant farming, but rather a source of agricultural workers experienced far beyond our present standards to assist and revamp much of our frontier type of soil management. At present there are 180,000 farmers in Ontario, all of whom could benefit by additional experienced held at the present time. These immigrants, more familiar with soil tillage than we in Canada, have in this country a natural haven for their efforts.

Thus, the speaker said, Canada can expect this arrival of central Europeans to stabilize and intensify her soil program of production. Phase two as a moulding factor in agriculture is the increased mechanization of farming. Returning warriors are not going to be satisfied with a slow moving one-horse plow or corn scuffler, but rather are going to demand a speed-up in keeping with the present speed of combat. Tractors, he believed, would more and more replace horses on the farm, the market would see many smaller and more practical tractors for the small operator.

Power Farming

In a recent survey in Oxford County, 75 out of every 100 farms were equipped with tractor power. This he believed was a criterion of what we might expect to develop after the war.

The result of this mechanization should be increased yields and more intensive farming, because by virtue of the special and efficiency of machines the jobs can be done at the proper time for proper growth.

The agriculturist by greater use of machinery, will be able to advantageously do his cultivating, etc. at the proper period without the delay caused by lack of help and equipment. Farming will also become an industry of spped.

Phase three in agricultural moulding is industrial expansion. Canada's war effort has been supremely magnificient. Her rapid change from peacetime to wartime occupations has been rapid and rigid. Will not her change back to peacetime industry be just as intense? Granting this we must expect that Canada's great industrial growth will be likewise used to advantage in a post war industrial Canada.

Many new urban centers have been established, new intensification of communities have resulted, which will lead to greater post war concentration of industrial enterprise. As these centres of population grow, the marginal farmer and the extensive agriculturalist must move farther and farther from industry because the higher costs of operation forbid any agricultural program that does not approximate intensive cultivation. In this respect dairy industry with its intensive working dairy cow augments to replace the beef breeds, pushing them farther and farther back as centres of industry grow.

The change over will mean a change over from mixed to special farming with its greater use of equipment and labor. Here in the opinion of the speaker is the opportunity for Jersey breeders to assist in this change over from mixed to special, more efficient farming.

The evening ended with dancing to Graydon Sheldon's orchestra in a real social and hilarious manner.

A Sucker Night

TORONTO, Dec. 13 (CP). — A cynical, anonymous manager of one of Toronto's night spots, preparing already against a wild and woolly welcoming of 1944, in an interview today described New Year's Eve as strictly a sucker's night." LONDON, Ont. Dec. 13 —(CP) —Air Vice-Marshal A. T. Warn Japanese Need Exists For More Planes

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (CP). — Tokyo radio in a broadcast to Japanese areas today warned the Japanese people that "part of the enemy's aims of advancing against our mainland have been achieved" by striking toward the Marshall Islands and appealed for greater efforts on the home front to remedy a lack of planes and warships.

The broadcast, echoing the grave note in Premier Hideki Tojo's speech on Dec. 7, the anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, was recorded by United States Government Monitors.

The broadcast said the "war situation now is indeed grave for us" and appealed for patience and unity and a readiness to "sacrifice all" for the sake of victory.

"We cannot help but think," the broadcast said, "that our officers and men on the front lines are troubled many times for, though they have the spirit, it is regrettable that they are without weapons."

Citing "the enemy's abundance of material means, despite repeated defeat," the Tokyo radio said that "the battles in the south are now indeed battles against numerical strength" in planes and warships. The broadcast admonished the Japanese people that "it is by no means a time for us to have our attention engrossed on the war results right before our eyes."

It added: "We must think of the future of the increasingly ghastly and bitter war situation without relaxing our spirit because of the greatness of the war results, and in order to make these war results more brilliant, we 100,000,000 people must exert our whole hearts and our whole efforts on increasing planes first of all, and then warships.

Pub Owner Pays

EDINBURGH, Dec. 13 (CP) —A Canadian soldier paid £1 ($4.45) for a bottle at a local pub and discovered later it contained not whiskey but cold tea. A judge, sentencing the pub owner to 30 days, observed: "Such an act is calculated to produce dismay and discouragement among His Majesty's forces."

Omemee Young Folk Winners In Debate

MILLBROOK, Dec. 13 (ENS) — An interested audience gathered in the Parish Hall Thursday for the debate between the A.Y.P.A. of St. Thomas' church, and a team from the Omemee organization.

The rector, Rev. Chevis, welcomed the guests; the subject for the debate being: Resolved that reading has greater educational advantages than travel." The affirmative was well presented by the Omemee young people, Kathryn Skuce and William Nurse, while ably defending the negative were Jean Smith and Lyle McMahon, of the St. Thomas' branch. Acting as judges were Mrs. W. R. Howard and Miss Gladys Williamson, who finally awarded the decision to the visiting contestants.

A social hour, with lunch served, completed the occasion.

Russian Army Takes Last Remaining German Stronghold

By EDWARD D. BALL

LONDON, Dec. 14 —(AP)—Cherkasy, last remaining German stronghold on the Middle Dnieper River between Kremenchug and Kiev, fell today to the Red Army.

Marshal Joseph Stalin announced the victory in an order of the day broadcast by Moscow radio.

The new Soviet triumph of arms came as Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's 1st Ukrainian Army turned the die against Field Marshal Ritz Von Mannstein in the bloody battle of the Kiev bulge.

Two Armies Can Now Join

Cherkasy is a strategic river port on the main railway linking Minsk and Gomel with Odessa on the Black Sea. Its capture paves the way for the junction of Russian forces operating out of the Kremenchug bridgehead with those on the southern edge of the Kiev salient.

The reluctance of the Germans to evacuate Cherkasy was emphasized by the desperate and costly battle they fought to cling to this Dnieper port of 50,000 population, the outskirts of which were reached and bypassed on Nov. 19 by the Red Army.

Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's 1st Ukrainian Army continued to make steady progress west of Kiev yesterday, crushing repeated German counter-attacks and im roving its positions south of Malin, a Moscow war bulletin announced today.

While Vatutin thus hammered out small gains for the third straight day in the battle of the Kiev bulge, another Russian army under Gen. Ivan S. Konev struck out from Kremenchug, 200 miles to the southeast, in a drive apparently aimed at relieving Soviet forces holding the Cherkasy bridgehead.

Other Red Army forces continued to advance toward the important German-held base of Kirovograd, beating off fierce tank assaults and capturing several towns.

Powerful Russian guerilla forces operating behind the German lines in the Kiev bulge have captured two railway stations near Zhitomir, 40 miles southwest of the Malin sector, the bulletin declared. The guerillas also destroyed four German military trains loaded with troops and supplies, presumably reserves for Marshal Fritz von Mannstein's army. The guerillas are still holding the stations, the bulletin added.

KIRKLAND LAKE, Dec. 14 —(CP).—Coal supplies in this northern mining centre dwindled visibly today as during the night residents strove to meet a 52-below zero temperature. At eight o'clock the thermomoter read 40 below and the temperature continued its downward slide until the 52-below mark was recorded.

British Leaders Fear Loss World Markets

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 14.—(AP).—British industrialists are worried more and more over what they believe is a determination in the United States to take over leadership in world trade and economics, and they are making no attempt to hide their feelings.

As they see it, the trend in the United States is to promote the flow of American goods and services all over the world after the war, but with, as the London Times puts it, "few, if any, signs of preoccupation with measures to provide facilities and opportunities for a corresponding influx of foreign goods and services into the United States."

As the world's greatest trader in the 19th century, Britain's position was different and frequently misunderstood, the Times argues, saying her economic power rested not only on her position as the greatest exporter and lender but, more important on her position as the greatest import market and clearing house of the world.

Refinements of multilateral trading should not be allowed to obscure the essential character of trade as an act of barter, the Times said, adding that calamity lies in a policy "which seeks to inflate exports without applying an equal stimulus to imports."

It is felt here that unless the United States balances her exports by expanding her imports to provide a means for other countries to pay for goods, disaster will result.

Britain, having sold millions of dollars worth of her foreign investments during the war, especially in the United States, is in a position where her means of payments for imports will depend almost entirely on her exports.

With America one of Britain's best markets, the Times said "British economic policy in international aspects cannot be framed without regard to the question of whether British goods or goods of countries buying from Britain will find an open and receptive market in the United States after the war."

Another concern here is the announced American intention to carry most of her own goods—entering a field which Britain found extremely profitable before the war.

Germans Fail To Stop 8th Advance

Indians Capture Prisoners With 5th Army

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 14 —(AP)—Indian troops attacking in the centre of the British 8th Army front in Italy crashed through German defences and captured a number of prisoners, headquarters announced today, while Canadians along the Adriatic coast hurled back Nazi armored attacks, wrecking tanks and inflicting casualties.

Main ground fighting took place on the 8th Army front. The Germans made a furious attempt to halt Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's offensive which is proceeding methodically toward the strategic road junction of Ortona.

British and Canadian guns knocked out a number of German tanks which tried to break through in counter-attacks and inflicted casualties on the attackers. The 8th then resumed its advance and broadened its bridgeheads south and southwest of Ortona in a number of local engagements.

Losses Heavy

Activity of the 5th Army front was confined to artillery duels and patrols, particularly in the Liri Valley but Nazi prisoners taken by patrols said the German 10th Army had suffered heavy losses in recent mountains fighting against British and American troops which captured heights west of Mignano.

German self-propelled artillery and mortars were extremely active, shelling Allied positions along the Liri Valley. American big guns replied in a brisk artillery duel.

In the air war, American medium bombers attacked a German oil depot at the Yugoslav port of Split and also blasted warehouses at Sibenik, farther up the coast.

In other air operations yesterday, fighter bombers and fighters attacked German gun positions and communications and set fire to motor transport.

Units taking these spots were identified in front line dispatches as the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment from Ontario, a Maritime unit and Western Canad troops.

Opposing the 8th Army in its drive were three crack German divisions, the 90th Armored Grenadiers, the 26th Armored Division, and the 65th Infantry, along with numerous smaller units.

Chinese Recapture Town Of Shihmen

CHUNGKING, Dec. 14 — (AP). — Chinese troops yesterday recaptured Shihmen, important town 40 miles northwest of Changteh, while other forces, attacking from several directions, closed in on the highway junction of Linli, 25 miles north of Changteh, dispatches from the front declared today.

The Chinese are trying to smash their way eastward to cut the highway which twists northwestward from Linli to the Yangtse River port of Shasi. Chinese field dispatches said the Japanese were suffering heavy casualties.

FORMER "FIGHTING 69TH" LANDS AT MAKIN—Troops of the 165th U.S. Infantry, New York's former "Fighting 69th," advance toward Japanese beach positions on Butaritari Beach, Makin Island. The beach positions are blazing from direct hits made by American naval forces. Medium tanks have already reached the shore and are busily cleaning out enemy machine-gun positions.

Flu Blamed For 71 Deaths Disease Steadily Abating

By The Canadian Press.

The outbreak of influenza which has caused more than 70 deaths across Canada has passed its peak. A survey by The Canadian Press today showed that the disease is abating in most centres.

Directly or indirectly the malady has been blamed for 42 deaths in Quebec, 14 in Ontario, seven in Manitoba, two in Saskatchewan, five in Alberta, and one in Halifax. Accurate check of the toll will not be available, however, until official reports have been studied in Ottawa.

The outbreak was far less severe that the great epidemic of 1918, and considerably less serious than a current outbreak in England and Wales.

Dr. J. J. Heagerty, director of Public Health Services at Ottawa, said last night the present epidemic has passed its peak. "There certainly is a general decrease in the number of cases across the country," he added.

Weather Helps

In Montreal, where the 'flu is said to have been a contributory cause in 42 deaths during the past two weeks, Dr. Adelard Groulx, the Health Department director, said that there are indications the epidemic today is less serious than it was and this may be due to the cold spell. Generally colder weather throughout the Dominion appears to have been a factor in the lower incidence of the disease.

Word that the disease is abating came also from Ottawa, Winnipeg and Edmonton, and Ontario centres.

Mild In Maritimes.

There have been no cases of virulent influenza in Nova Scotia although many school children and workers have been forced to take

Slavs To Form OwnGovernment

By ERNEST AGNEW
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 14 (AP)—Yugoslavia will have a chance to choose its own government after the war, Foreign Secretary Eden told Commons today. He said both King Peter II and Marshal Josip Broz (Tito), who recently formed a government of his own, have agreed to lay down their authority the moment the war is over and permit the country to choose freely how it wishes to be ruled.

Meanwhile a broadcast communique from the "Free Yugoslav" radio said Tito's Partisans now are engaged in the heaviest defensive fighting since they began their activities against the Germans.

The Nazis, heavily reinforced, and using planes and tanks, are pressing hard to suppress Partisan resistance and have advanced in some sectors, but at tremendous costs communique indicated.

The Partisans claimed more than 1,500 Germans killed and the capture of large quantities of war materials. They said the centre of the fighting was in Eastern Bosnia and Dalmatia and that in Eastern Bosnia alone the Germans have brought to bear six divisions.

Teheran Talk Certain To Shorten War

Eden Tells Commons Churchill Has Still Work To Do

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Dec. 14 — (AP). — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, reporting to the Commons on the Teheran-Cairo conferences, declared to-day "the war will be shortened" by decisions reached with Premier Stalin, and again pledged Britain to battle to the final destruction of Japan.

He told the cheering House that Prime Minister Churchill has "still more work to do in the sphere where he is now." Mr. Churchill had stayed on in Cairo, meeting last week with leaders of smaller Powers.

Quicker defeat of the Axis was ensured by the "close co-operation of our military plans" at the Teheran meeting of President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin, and Mr. Churchill, Mr. Eden declared.

Timing Agreed On.

"Every plan is now agreed upon. The timing is now agreed upon, and in due course the decisions of Teheran will be unrolled on the field of battle.'"

"The military missions agreed in Cairo" at the Anglo-American-Chinese meeting "on future military operations against Japan."

Mr Eden termed Japan as much a menace to Britain as to the United States and China, and said Britain is "a principal in the Far Eastern War" because "to destroy Germany and then make a compromise peace with Japan would only sow the seeds of a third World War."

Other highlights of the foreign secretary's report:

Turkey: The conference with President Ismet Inonu gave "good hopes" for a "sound basis for future co-operation between ourselves, Soviet Russia, America and Turkey," and was "encouraging. Further than that I cannot go today."

Post-War: Complete co-operation of Britain, Russia and the United States is assured. "We three can work together," Mr. Eden said. "The current threat of war can only be met if there is an international order firmer in strength and unity and an enemy could seek to challenge."

Will Unite Slavs

Balkans: A British military mission has been with forces of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) in Yugoslavia since last spring, and Britain is doing everything to supply them with munitions and other help. Politically, the Allies are working to unite dissident groups in Yugoslavia, and both King Peter and the government of Tito have agreed to let the country choose its own form of government after the war.

Warning against an attitude of "easy optimism," the foreign secretary declared:

"The very magnitude of the plans to which we have set our hands will call for an immense effort...We have set ourselves a hard task in determination to achieve victory at the earliest possible moment.

"Dealing further with military cooperation he said that "military

Canadians Face Bitter Fight Near Ortona

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 14 —(CP Cable)—The grim battle for Ortona on the Adriatic coast in Italy is reaching a bitter climax as Canadians, with some fresh troops now in the line, fight yard by yard against the sternest German opposition they have yet encountered.

The enemy is hurling fierce counter-attacks against them, using armor, infantry and concentrations of mortars, but the Canadians are slowly gaining heights overlooking Ortona. Once they are consolidated there, the fall of the coastal town is inevitable.

The Canadians replaced the famed British 78th Division which successfully stormed the Sangro River, taking its place on the right flank of the 8th Army for the Moro River attack. This was disclosed officially today in the House of Commons by Foreign Secretary Eden.

The whole current 8th Army thrust hinges on success of the Canadians in capturing Ortona. Fierceness of the fighting is emphasized by the fact that for nearly a week the action has been going on in a two-mile-wide strip between Moro and the lateral road leading inland from Ortona 12 miles to Orsogna.

Elements of three German divisions appear to be fighting in this area but in heavy action in muddy, shell-pocket hills the Canadians are forcing the enemy back to the important lateral road.

Mr. Eden also disclosed that the New Zealand 2nd Division is attacking high ground on the left flank of the Canadians. This should relieve some of the pressure on the coastal sector.

Indians Move Up.

Further west in the central sector of the 8th Army fron the Indian 8th Division is advancing.

In the Canadian sector the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment from Ontario is advancing with Canadian tanks up a narrow road along the coast.

British Casualties In Italy Total 16,074

LONDON, Dec. 14 (CP Cable) — Foreign Secretary Eden today told the House of Commons that British casualties in Italy from the landing in September up to November 25 totalled 16,074, of whom 3,212 were killed, 9,709 wounded and 3,153 are missing.

He gave American casualties for the same period as 10,649 of whom 2,603 were killed, 6,391 wounded and 1,685 are missing.

Clement Attlee, Deputy Prime Minister, said the total number of casualties in the Empire's armed forces for the first four years of war is being prepared and will be published as soon as it can be done without assisting the enemy.

He said it was necessary to consult the Dominions.

City Workers Out Elevators Idle Garbage Uncollected

MONTREAL, Dec. 14 — (CP).—With R.C.M.P., provincial and volunteer police standing by and the skeleton fire detachments on duty the million odd in Canada's largest city found snow piles and garbage the only early inconvenience of a strike of about 3,400 police, fire and public works employees that started this morning shortly after deadline of an ultimatum demanding union recognition.

The figure on the number of strikers was estimated by both union and City Hall officials. Officials of the Firemen's Union said 95 per cent of the city's 1,000 firemen were out, but there was no definite figure for the number of men on strike from the police force of 1,560 men and the Public Works Department which employs more than 3,000 men and women. Canadian Congress of Labor unions claim the majority of the employees of these departments are C.C.L. members and will be on strike.

Mounties and Provincials were augmented by detachments from the Auxiliary Mobile Police Force branch of the Civilian Protection Committee (ARP). This force has 400 men already sworn in as special constables.

The strike officially began at 11:45 a.m.—45 minutes after the deadline of an ultimatum calling for recognition of the C.C.L. union.

Start of the strike was announced at a mass meeting of employees in a big east end labor hall where men—not on duty—had gathered to wait out the deadline and see if city hall officials would make any last minute proposals to stop action.

When the ultimatum was served yesterday morning city fathers had offered a compromise which included recognition of a public works department C.C.L. union but refused recognition of anything but a "house union" for police or firemen. However wage increases, averaging $500, were offered as an alternative to the jurisdictional demand.

Money Interests Form Conspiracy

VANCOUVER, Dec. 14 (CP) — Pensions Minister Mackenzie in an address last night before the Vancouver Association said that a "financial conspiracy aimed at the protection of vested interests against socialism" is being "deflected" against the Federal Liberal Government.

After urging his listeners to follow the safe middle course of Liberalism," Mr. Mackensie said:

"On the one hand you have the Communist revolutionary speeches and on the other you have the equally obnoxious financial conspiracy aimed at the protection of vested interests against Socialism and this in turn deflected against the government.

"I want to know—and I demand to know—where the funds are coming from for work organized by a railway corporation, a tool from Trail and a Vancouver Lawyer, Locke.

"I intend to expose the whole conspiracy, lock, stock and barrel, unless they disband to their foxholes tomorrow."

In the minster's prepared address he coupled an outline of the Liberal party's present and future policy with an attack on opposition parties.

King George Spends 48th Birthday Quietly

LONDON, Dec. 14 (CP) — The King, recovering from influenza, today spent his 48th birthday quietly with the Queen and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret.

Flags were flown over public buildings and messages of congratulation poured in from all parts of the Empire.

Thanking citizens of London for their good wishes, His Majesty expressed hope that "the coming year may give the people of London an even clearer prospect of the blessings of peace which their courage and endurance have so well earned."

His Majesty will deliver the usual address to the Empire in a Christmas Day broadcast, it was announced yesterday.

Coal Shortage Affects Canada

OTTAWA, Dec. 14—(CP).—United States concern over coal stocks and distribution, outlined in a statement issued by the Office of War Information in Washington, is shared by Canada which now is seeking to spread limited supplies of fuel over the winter.

O.W.I. said that if stocks cannot be replenished next summer the situation will approach catastrophe."

United States anthracite supplies most of the Ontario and Quebec needs for this type of fuel, while substantial quantities of bituminous coal also are imported. In a normal year, about 13,000,000 tons of United States coal enters Canada, and the demand has arisen tremendously since the outbreak of war.

U.S. Expects To Strike Heavier Blows Soon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Navy Secretary Frank Knox predicted today "hard blows" against the Japanese in the Pacific in the near future.

"We are getting stronger and stronger," he told a news conference: "The preliminaries are out of the way. We are getting ready to drive home some hard blows."

He gave no indication of where the United States fleet could be expected to strike.

Knox reviewed the war of attrition and added:

"Of course, the whole strategy is becoming apparent. It is perfectly obvious now what seemed to be only nibbling has been carried on with the express purpose of decimating the enemy's strength. He has contributed by sending down small task forces which have been regularly overwhelmed."

Discussing the air warfare, he said that the actual figure of the losses show that six or eight enemy planes now are being shot down for every American plane lost.

Generally he said, operations all over the Pacific are "going forward very satisfactorily. We have had a period of preparation and training. Now we have the equipment and men to do a complete job."

Troops Being Manoeuvred Into Position For Great Winter Push

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Red Army's sudden recovery of the initiative in the bloody battle which is raging along the great Kiev salient, and southward into the Dnieper Bend, represents a major step towards making good the recent Allied pledge at Teheran to crush Germany by concerted blows from east, south and west.

What this means is that Marshal Stalin is trying to manoeuvre his forces into favorable position for another devastating winter offensive. Hitler faces a further fierce crisis amidst the snow and ice and subzero weather of the wind-swept steppes.

Such an offensive must be an integral part of the grand strategy which is calculated by all-round pressure to deliver the coup de grace to one of the most barbarous conquerors of history. Hitler's forces must be kept engaged in Russia while the western Allies get set for their establishment of that crucial front in France.

That's also the explanation of the Allied pressure in the Balkans. It's the reason too for the intensification of the Allied drive in Italy, and the devastating aerial assault on western Europe, and Germany.

For a month past the Hitlerites have been hitting the Red front in the Kiev sector with all they had.

Nazi Marshal Mannstein has had his temporary successes in this month of death, due in part to the fact that bad weather grounded much of the Red air force. However, while he appears to have employed every resource at his disposal, he hasn't been able thus far to wipe out that vast Kiev salient which is bending inward like a giant mountain to crush him. Doubtless he hasn't had his full fling yet, but the fact that the Red forces have seized the initiative again bodes ill for the Hitlerites.

Once the Nazis are torn loose from their present positions, and have lost their north-and-south railway communications, the likelihood is that they'll have to pull their line back to central Poland, where they were when they started their attack on Russia in 1941.

National Calamity Looms On Fuel Front

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP).—The United States' Office of War Information reported to-day the coal shortage in America is so acute that if stocks cannot be replenished next summer the situation will "approach catastrophe."

The plain fact is, says O.W.I., that the United States isn't digging as much coal as it is using. Therefore there has been a progressive shortage throughout 1943. Stockpiles in the bins of industrial users and retail dealers will have declined from 86,000,000 tons last Jan. 1 to about 60,000,000 tons at the end of the year.

That is only a little more than a month's supply. By March 31 the stocks will be considerably less than a month's supply.

AMG Heads Crack Down

Warn Italian Students To Stay In Line

NAPLES, Italy, Dec. 14.—(AP).—The Allied Military Government cracked down to-day on Italian political parties and on student groups from the Naples University who clashed with Italian police Saturday.

Formally banning all political meetings at the University, Lt.-Col. Carl Kraege of AMG reprimanded Dr. Roldolfo Omodeo, rector, for Saturday's incidents and warned him not to use his position as head of the University nor the University premises for political campaigning.

Lt.-Col. Walter Doherty, head of AMG's public security section, reminded Neapolitans of the Allied proclamation which provides for a 48-hour notification of political meetings along with the names of speakers and subjects of their addresses.

Following on Saturday's incidents, the students and the Italian Committee of National Liberation, made up of six political parties, protested to AMG authorities and informally announced another meeting on University grounds next Saturday.

Doherty said the police were instructed to break up and disperse any unauthorized gatherings.

Public Health Department Loses 2 Nurses

Members of the Board of Health have decided the Board must be unpopular when they received three resignations at a meeting held this morning. Two of the Public Health nurses and D. G. H. Melton, a member of the Board, announced that they were severing connections with this body.

Miss Geraldine Connelly, public health nurse, tendered her resignation as she is accepting a position in Kingston at the beginning of January. She expressed her regret at leaving Peterborough and the chairman, James Dutton, praised her for the organization which he said she had built up since she came. Other members of the Board expressed their regret and accepted her resignation on a motion by Mr. Melton and Mr. Sullivan.

Public Health nurse in the Separate Schools, Mrs. Margaret Shaw forwarded her resignation to take effect November 30. To fill the vacancy, Mrs. I. Gibson has been engaged as of December 1, on a motion of Mr. Sullivan and Mayor Hamilton. She is to be paid at the rate of $1,300, plus the cost of living bonus, and her appointment is for three months only. In the same category is the appointment of Miss Velma Bell, as supervisor of the Isolation Hospital, who is replacing Miss Elizabeth Wright, who has reported to the R.C.A.F. Miss Bell has been engaged as night nurse.

Poor Housing

While overcrowded housing is not as bad as it was some months ago the Board of Health was puzzling ways and means of clearing up situations which have become chronic. The public health nurses, the Sanitary Inspector and the Fire Chief have visited one home where they found conditions intolerable and a great fire hazard.

Inspector R. M. MacPherson reported that a large family were existing in rooms with hardly any furniture, broken windows, and a definite lack of food.

Would Remove Children

Alderman Sullivan was of the opinion that the children should be removed from such unhealthy environment and he was backed by Miss Connelly. Mayor Hamilton asked why the Fire Chief had not acted and Inspector MacPherson stated he was acting on his report and giving 30 days notice.

Mr. Dutton, chairman, declared that although the Board always explored every avenue to clear up conditions before they took harsh action, they had the power to act in such a situation and would have to use it. Miss Connelly described it as a most desolate home, and all agreed that by simply improving conditions and leaving the family where they were would not help, because in such cases they invariably slipped back into old habits within three or four months. It was pointed out to the Board, that when health authorities went in and tried to improve conditions in such homes, they received no cooperation and aroused great resentment.

Want a Nurse

Applications for a public health nurse to replace Miss Connelly were considered, but none were public health graduates. A local nurse who had applied was given preference, but it was pointed out that any appointment of a non-qualified nurse, would only be allowed by the Department until June, when a new class of public health nurses would be graduating. She also stressed how difficult it was for graduate nurses to take over this work without adequate training, since it was an entirely new field.

Mr. Dutton said something would have to be done, and the matter was referred to the M.O.H., Dr. R. A. Kelly, for review, and a special meeting will be called again this month to consider the matter.

The Sanitary Inspector reported that a thorough check of bakeries, restaurants and booths, and pasteurizing plants had been made and recommendations were made to one pasteurizing plant, about better methods of sanitation.

Lose Member

Members expressed their regret at losing Mr. Melton as a member representing the Board of Education. He has announced he will not seek re-election. Mr. Dutton commented on the interest which Mr. Melton has taken in health work and praised the work of the school medical and dental officers. Mr. Melton said that because of the heavy pressure under which the officers were working there was a necessary curtailment of their activities.

ANOTHER KNOCKOUT BLOW COMING UP? — About the most unenviable spot in the Balkans is now occupied by Bulgaria. On one side of her the partisans of Yugoslavia are making it increasingly tough, while on the other, Turkey is now definitely committed to a policy of "benevolent non-belligerency," leaning to the Allies, with rumor busy to the effect that Turkey may actually march with the United Nations. U.S. bombers have given Bulgaria a thunderous hint that she'd better quit the Nazis when they bombed Sofia, the capital.

Bulgaria Sends Envoy To Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey, Dec. 14. — (AP). —Reports were current here to-day that a Bulgarian mission will arrive soon in Turkey to seek Turkish aid in extricating Bulgaria from her alliance with Germany.

(There have been widespread reports recently that Bulgaria, traditionally friendly with Russia and worried over a possible Allied invasion of the Balkans as well as the threat of greater air raids, has been seeking "a way out.")

The rumor of a Bulgarian mission to Turkey came as a German broadcast said that all Bulgarian cabinet ministers had left bomb-scarred Sofia, the capital, for different parts of the country to try to explain the government's policy to the people.

A reliable informant said, however, that Foreign Minister Chichmanov stayed in Sofia to remain in contact with foreign governments. He conferred with the German ambassador and the Bulgarian Minister to Berlin yesterday, it was said.

(There have been persistent, though unconfirmed, reports recently that Chichmanov had resigned.)

Transport Girls Swamp Normal

In the most one-sided battle of the season Transports defeated the Normal School girls in a Ladies' Basketball League game at the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium last night by 58 points to 2, thus winding up the first round of the schedule without a loss.

Normals tried hard but never had a chance against the power-packed Transports whose accurate sniping, smart ball-handling and close checking were too much for the school teachers.

With the almost whole cast taking part in the scoring the Transports piled up 26 points in the 1st half while the best the Normalites could do was a solitary basket tossed by R. Chapelle. After the rest it was worse for the winners racked up seventeen field goals without a reply from the luckless losers.

Jean Castle with 18 points and Beryl Dobbin with 16 led the parade for the Transports but the whole team played smart basketball to crush the Normal team.

The teams:

Transports (58): Beryl Dobbin, 16, Helen Miller 2, Isobel Crary, 4, F. Bestard 4, Dot Bestard, Ruth Hewitt 12, Irene Stewart, R. Fleming 2, Jean Castle 18.

Normals (2): R. Chapelle 2, H. Heffernan, G. Griffin, H. Baird, M. Vanderwater, E. Fritz, M. Duffett, A. Nelson, V. McNally, F. Sexsmith.

Refree: Howie Macdonald. Umpire, Eleanor Craig.

Montreal Faces Big Tie-Up Police, Firemen To Strike

MONTREAL, Dec. 14—(CP).—With a strike call due for its big test at 11 a.m., residents of Montreal prepared today to see how their metropolis would function without police or fire protection and without waterworks operators, garbage collectors, snow removal gangs and other public works employees.

The strike call went out from a 15-man committee last night, telling policemen, firemen and public works department workers to go on strike at 11 a.m. to back up demands for recognition of the Canadian Congress of Labor as their bargaining agent.

How many municipal employees would respond to the call remained the big question, but it was generally believed sufficient men would be available to maintain essential services and provide an emergency police and fire-fighting squad.

The 15-man committee voted for the strike after considering counter-proposals from the city to their demands for union recognition. The counter-proposals granted the union recognition to the public works department, but refused it for police and firemen, substituting wage increases averaging $500 a year in its place.

Expect Big Snow.

The committee received its authorization to call the strike at a meeting of 800 of the estimated 2,300 employees of the three departments the night before. At that time, an ultimatum was drawn up, giving the city until 11 a.m. today to recognize the C.C.L. as bargaining agent.

Complicating the situation was a sub-zero temperature. There were prospects of more snow too, with the possibility a heavy fall could completely snarl city traffic.

Amid it all, rumors spread through Montreal that tramway workers would walk out in sympathy with the municipal workers should the strike materialize. The tramway employees are affiliated with the C.C.L., having won union recognition in a three-day strike last March.

The tramway employees met last night and approved a new contract to be presented to Montreal Tramways. Officially, they confined their reference to the proposed municipal strike to a vote of sympathy for the city employees, but after the meeting several groups of tram workers discussed the possibility of another strike.

Plans Unknown

Meanwhile, the plans of Montreal to meet the strike, should it develop remained unknown. City officials remained silent on steps they had taken and army provost corps chiefs would throw no light on the matter although Montreal radio stations last night carried announcements telling all provost corps personnel to report to barracks immediately.

It was understood, however, the city had turned down offers of assistance from the civilian protection committee and from a provincially - organized mobile emergency squad.

Police Chief Fernand Dufresne called a meeting of all police cap-to bed for a day or so.

The outbreak was also of a very mild type in New Brunswick. Prince Edward Island reported no cases of influenza.

Cold weather of the past few days brought relief to Ontario districts. This was noticeable at Niagara Falls and Galt. Woodstock, like many other districts, reported no fatalities, but a noticeable reduction in attendance at schools and factories.

The five civilian hospitals in the Hamilton area are still closed to visitors. A small number of case of virulent influenza have been reported there, with three deaths Thousands of people are temporarily laid up but the number of new cases is decreasing.

Colder weather is also bringing a reduction in the outbreak in Brantford, Chatham, St. Thomas, Kitchener and Guelph. At London it is estimated 8,000 persons are currently laid up with a mild type of 'flu but there have been no deaths there directly attributable to the disease.

Carrier Planes

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 — (AP). — Rear-Admiral Dewitt C. Ramsey, Chief of the United States Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, said last night that carried-based planes constitute the spearhead of the Allied westward drive in the Central Pacific.

LONDON—The French radio at Algiers said today a Bulgarian opposition party has presented an ultimatum to the government—to take Bulgaria out of the war or resign.

OrangemenFight Refugee Plan

KINGSTON, Dec. 14 — Opposition of Orangemen to the admission into Canada of large groups of European war refugees of non British stock was expressed Monday in a statement by Col. T. A. Kidd, Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of British North America.

Te urged upon the Government "the vital necessity of building a nation imbued with British and democratic ideals," which, he said "cannot be attained by admitting large groups of non-British stock." The whole matter should be considered, he felt, in the light of the postwar period.

Col. Kidd declared: "The Government has not freely consulted the people in regard to its policy over the past five years, and, though it is desirable that these refugees should receive humanitarian treatment, yet it is to be deprecated if any action on the part of the Government now shoul part of the Government now should interfere in the future having to do with Anglo-Saxon immigration.

Too Costly

"We have spent much and will spend more in lives, material and money to defend and preserve the principles behind the Battle of Britain," said Col. Kidd. "We would hesitate to embark on any policy that would weaken the principles of citizenship on such service."

The proposal to admit refugees should be considered, he said, in the light of national policy. Some suspect, he added, "that the Government welcomes the clamor of the petitioners in order that its course in admitting Southern European nationals shall not be subject to public censure."

The number of refugees had been given at 10,000. "This may well be but the thin end of the wedge or the beginning of a definite attempt to open the country to the further immigration of unassimilable Southern European," the statement set out. 'Many Canadian citizens could not express an opinion on a matter of such vital import."

Cooperating

Mr. Eden, in his discussion of the Balkan situation, said "The Partisans are engaging a large number of German divisions and we are doing all we can to supply them with munitions and to support them in every possible way." He added Britain has had a military mission with Tito since last Spring.

The "Free Yugoslav" radio announced that Tito had formulated plans for a government on a six-unit federal basis after the war. The six units named in the federal plan were Serbia, Croatia, Slovenia, Montenegro, Bosnia - Hercegovina and Sanjac-Macedonia.

A dispatch from Budapest to the newspaper Social Demokraten in Stockholm reported two Bulgarian army battalions had deserted in the last month and joined the Partisans.

Earlier today the Moscow radio announced a Russian military mission will be sent to Yugoslavia to obtain more detailed information on the guerilla organizations, as has been done by Britain.

In a broadcast recorded by the Soviet Monitor, a special statement by the Peoples' Commissariat of foreign affairs reviewed the setting of a Provisional Yugoslav Government by the forces of Marshal Josip Broz (Drug Tito).

The broadcast added:

"These events in Yugoslavia which have met with a sympathetic response in Britain and the United States, are regarded by the Soviet government as positive facts facilitating the future sccessful struggle of the peoples of Yugoslavia against Hitlerite Germany.

"They also witness the significant success of the new leaders of Yugoslavia in uniting all the National forces in Yugoslavia."

"From this point of view," the statement concluded, "the activities of Gen. (Draja) Mihailovic's Chetniks, who according to reports have up to the present not helped but rather brought harm to the struggles of the Yugoslav people against the German invaders, could not therefore but meet with a negative attitude on the part of the Union of Socialist Soviet Unions."

bers of the big Montreal cops, clad in their distinctive Oxford gray greatcoats and black pony-hair peaked caps, left their beats soon after the 11 a.m. deadline when union organizers circulated through the city informing them of the city's refusal of union recognition. But it was 45 minutes before the strike was officially announced by Paul Marquette, C.C.L. organizer.

In many fire stations, crews left their equipment and made their way to the labor hall where a marathon meeting was started.

Public works department men, whose demands were recognized yesterday but who struck in sympathy, also joined the labor rally. But first they drove snow removal equipment to the various city garages. They had been busily engaged right up to deadline moving the city's first big snow fall of the season.

Roger Lavigueur, president of the C.C.L. Firemen's Union, announced that stations Nos. 31 and 41 were taken over by the Canadian Army shortly after their crews walked out.

Mounties Move In.

Police chiefs announced that Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Quebec Provincial Police and civilian protection committee (ARP) men had started a police patrol of the city. They did not mention whether the Canadian Army Provost Corps, who had been suddenly called to report to barracks last night, would also be used.

At the public works department it was announced that skeleton crews were standing by to look after the city's water supply.

A cold snap and heavily-stoked furnaces and stoves increases the fire hazard. Heavy Yuletide traffic increased the possibility of delaying snarls throughout the city, while wintry weather has already overtaxed a fully-staffed public works department.

Members of the three affected departments left their jobs in large numbers after the 11 a.m. deadline passed.

Among the first signs of the strike in this big inland port-metropolis of more than 1,000,000 was snarled traffic at the busy, congested intersections in the old down-town area where streets are narrow and where there are no traffic lights. Elevators stopped running in public buildings and piles of snow and cans of garbage stood untouched along the streets.

In neighboring Westmount, Verdun, Outremont, the town of Mount Royal, Hampstead, and smaller centres which go to make up Greater Montreal, the strike had no effect, although Outremont police took a sympathy vote.

All morning newsmen tried to chase down rumors that circulated the city. A speaker at the strikers' meeting said that Montreal tramways employees — who struck in March—were going to take a strike vote at 1 p.m. to-day. This could not be immediately confirmed. Another rumor, which was promptly denied by an officer, said that the Montreal Division of the R.C.M.P. were going out in a sympathy strike.

In the school areas youthful monitors took over the street-crossing duties which Montreal police do each day in shepherding children safely across the busy intersections.

At the Labor Hall various speakers urged the strikers to stand pat in their demand for union recognition and later a committee representing the three departments was selected and planned to go to City Hall this afternoon and interview city officials on the prospects of a settlement.

At City Hall where officials were forced to walk stairways after the elevator men quit, Mayor Adhemar Raynault and department chiefs held long meetings discussing various emergency measures to be taken.

At Quebec, Premier Godbout and Attorney-General Casgrain were closeted all morning in a meeting called to discuss the Montreal labor situation. They made no announcement.

Wages Too Low

The provincial government has a special interest in Montreal, which was taken over by the Quebec Municipalities Commission when the city was unable to meet some of its financial commitments.

Mayor Raynault, speaking of the city's offer to raise the salaries of police and firemen, said he was happy the Montreal wage scales would be raised to the level of Toronto and other Canadian cities. He said the taxpayers would have to shoulder the extra burden but he added that the wage increases might start a general increase of salaries in Quebec province which would see workers of this province getting equal compensation with workers in other parts of Canada. "So we can say," he added, "that all is well that ends well."

Striking police and firemen immediately set to work organizing two emergency squads which they promised would be sent to the scene of any major fire or crime.

Rough Terrain Slows Aussie Fighters

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 14—(AP) —Latest war reports along a 1,700-mile Pacific chain of outpost Japanese defences told to-day of new air blows against the enemy in the Marshalls and Solomons and slow, steady progress of Australian soldiers in the jungles of New Guinea's Huon Peninsula.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported a 50-ton bombing by 7th United States Army Air Force bombers of a Japanese cargo ship and shore installations at Emidj in Jaluit atoll of the Mid-Pacific Marshalls Saturday.

Admiral William F. Halsey reported that his Solomons Air Force made 175 sorties the same day as the Jaluit raid on Bougainville Island in the Northern Solomons.

On Huon Peninsula, part of New Guinea nearest Japan-held New Britain Island, Australian soldiers were reported to have advanced to a point nearly 12 miles north of Finschhafen.

The Aussies, who have utilized planes, tanks, mortars and cavalry in a campaign fought over difficult terrain, still are less than halfway up the 60-mile-long peninsula shore.

More Killings Sweep France

BARCELONA, Dec. 14—(AP)— The Vichy government, through a communique published in newspapers throughout France, has urged French workers to ignore underground and Allied radio appeals for a general strike, which chief of government Pierre Laval apparently fears might precipitate a national crisis.

The communique declared strikes in France are illegal and hinted they would be suppressed by force if necessary.

At the same time French newspapers carried an account of the assassination of Jean Lidore, chief inspector of police in Limoges, who had been directing a campaign against guerillas operating in the Limousin mountains.

Also reported assassinated were Pierre Arnaud, secretary-general of the Miners' Federation in the Loire department, and Louis Faure Pulguely, president-judges of the Lyon court of appeals. Both men were said to have been pro-German collaborationists.

The assassinated officials were among scores of collaborationists and leaders of various pro-Nazi political parties said to have been slain in the past few days.

The newspaper Action Francaise said that 2,799 "terrorists" had been arrested throughout France in the last two weeks in an attempt to halt the wave of killings.

Hall Accident Judgment Is Reserved

Mr. Justice Plaxton reserved judgment Monday in the first case of the docket of the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario in which Mrs. Annie Hall of Buckhorn, a widow sixty-five years old, sued Hilton Black of Port Hope for $5,502 damages for injuries, loss of income and expenses resulting from a traffic accident at Walton and Cavan streets, Port Hope, Saturday night, October 18, 1941.

Mrs. Hall was confined to the Port Hope hospital from the night of the accident until March 3, 1942, suffering from a broken plevis, shock and nervous condition. The bill of damages in her claim was: Port Hope hospital, $402.20; doctor's bill, $100; loss of earnings, present and prospective, $1,000; and pain and suffering and permanent injury, $4,000.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., represented Mrs. Hall, and F. C. Richardson of Cobourg was counsel for the defendant.

Poor Vision

For nearly two years prior to the accident Mrs. Hall was working as housekeeper for George Gould, retail dealer in shoes, Port Hope, and his four children. About 8:30 on the night of the accident she was walking across Walton street, the main highway through the town, from the south to the north side, with Harry . Armstrong of Brockville, a C.N.R. foreman. It was raining and foggy and visibility was unusually low.

Mr. Armstrong and Mrs. Hall testified that they both looked up and down the street before stepping off the south curb, and did not see an approaching car. Mr. Armstrong was carrying Mrs. Hall's parasol over them, and she was holding his left arm.

"How much of the automobile did you see before the accident?" Mr. Gordon asked Armstrong.

"I didn't see any of it. I didn't hear a horn or see any lights. I was knocked unconscious and didn't know what hit me."

Armstrong said he was laid up for a month by injuries to his right leg and arm.

Mrs. Hall said she saw Black's car just a moment before being struck and thrown to the pavement. Her fleeting impression was that its lights were "dim looking."

Barely Moving

The defendant, Hilton Black, told the Court he had arrived with his wife into Port Hope from his father's farm and his car lights must have been on at full illumination. He followed a west bound car up the hill at a speed of twelve to fifteen miles an hour, and was going "only at snail's pace," as the automobile ahead of him turned to the north into Cavan street. He was then moving westerly, and at the same time another car coming down the hill from the west, with strong lights, increased his difficulty of seeing the traffic ahead. His first glimpse of Mrs. Hall and Mr. Armstrong, under their parasol, was simply as "a dark object two or three feet ahead and slightly to the left" of his car. He heard an impact and stopped his automobile within a length or a length and a half.

Clarence Wetherup, Port Hope constable in October, 1941, testified that Mrs. Hall was lying unconscious on the pavement in front of Black's car, which was on its right side of the roadway.

Bruce Hall of Buckhorn, son of the plaintiff who is now living at his home, said his mother was in "perfect health prior to the accident" and now could not do much of anything. Dr. Herbert N. Young said he examined Mrs. Hall yesterday and expressed an opinion that the shock of the accident and her long confinement could have an effect on her whole system from which she might never recover.

Dr C. M. Scott recalled that Mrs. Hall was a patient of his in the summer of 1942. She complained then of general weakness, sleeplessness and a nervous disturbance. Her symptoms then, in July and August, were subjective.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Scouters' Club

The regular meeting of the Scouters' Club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hope on Wednesday last. A very good turn out of officers was on hand. Following the business session singing and games were enjoyed by all and the small Christmas gifts distributed. Refreshments were served. It was decided to hold the next meeting at the Dixon House.

All Saints'

Twenty-three members were on parade, including the leaders with the main items of instruction being inter patrol work. The Bull dog patrol won the pennant for the fourth week in succession. During the evening Bill Hatchet passed his compass work.

St. Lukes'

The Cubs: The Pack meeting opened with Gordon Barker leading the Grand Howl. The Cheer-up fund was added to. Games of "Circle Relay" and "Over the Hills and Under the Trees" added to the fun of the evening. In Six Corners, test work was carried out with Norman Thomas passing his Union Jack tests. Jack King, modelling. On Friday evening Akela and Baloo with four Seconders were made very welcome at the northend Parkhill Community Pack meeting.

On Dec. 21 the Pack will meet at 6:30 p.m. instead of 7 p.m. and then proceed to the Collegiate auditorium to join in the Christmas carol service that is being held in that building. All Cubs are requested to attend in full uniform, and parents are asked not to worry should the boys be a little late getting home.

The Scouts: A very brief meeting was held. Martin Van Allen came through with his compass work. Tenderfoot instruction was the leading work of the evening.

Sacred Heart

The Pack: The members of the Mother's Auxiliary visited the Pack at the last meeting to watch the Cubs in action. Baloo Grady was in charge. The competition between the Sixes, aroused enthusiasm, each Cub doing his best to push his Six ahead. The Red Six came through with flying colors for the week.

Test work took the form of a quiz with Bagheera Dionne assisting Baloo. The chief feature of the evening was the presentation of the Cub Colors to the Pack by President Mrs. Freeman. Baloo Grady accepted the colors on behalf of the Pack and Jack Kennaley gave a vote of thanks. The lucky winner of the Quilt recently made by the Mother's Auxiliary was Mrs. B. Smith, 228 Perry street.

St. John's

The Pack:— Jim Wallace visited the Pack and took part in the activities of the evening and before parting presented Akela with sufficient funds to purchase a Cub Statuette to be present each month to the Six gaining the most points.

At the opening of the evening Trevor Mitchell, Tom Lewis and Ken Lewis added their names to the world wide Brotherhood of Scouting as they took their Cub promise before the Pack and to Akela promising to do their best to carry out the Cub Laws.

Ian Blaiklock was presented with his First Star. Douglas Robertson passed Book balancing and Skipping to complete his first Star work. Announcements were made for the Christmas party for this coming Friday. Parents are invited to attend and join in the fun. Every Cub is to bring a small gift for exchange. Some of the members have been warned to bring sandwiches and cookies.

The Troop:— The outstanding event of the evening in the Troop activities was the presentation of the leaping wolf badges to Wilfred Woodcock and Carrol Sergeant two former members of the Pack.

Murray Street Pack

The Pack met with only 20 Cubs present, the flu epidemic having stricken 16 of the other members.

The opening Grand Howl was led by Cub Jimmy Johnson, and that was followed by several games led by Baloo Jennings.

Instruction was given in the Observer Badge by Akela on the habits and characteristics of the Porcupine.

Three New Chums were invested, in the persons of Lewis McClennan, Jimmy Drury and Ronald Nicholls.

At Redflower the Pack heard a short story before the closing Grand Howl was led by Kenneth Dack, followed by Announcements, Prayers and Goodnight.

The Pack missed Bagheera and Raksha who were not able to be present on account of examinations.

Tests passed:

Flags: Jim Peltz, Donald Cooper, Jack Read, Morley Tuck, George White.

Knots: Jack Read, Keith Reid, Robert Rusk.

Cleanliness: Harold Ball, Morley Tuck, Jimmy Drury.

Skipping: Morley Tuck.

Book Balancing: Norman Nicholls.

Time—Norman Nicholls.

First Star: Jimmy Peltz, Keith Reid, Jack Read, Donald Cooper, Morley Tuck.

Cheese Output Down 10 Percent

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 14 (ENS) —The persistent talk of lowered cheese production heard during the summer has now, with the regular factory season completed, been converted into some rather disappointing figures. Actually the suggestion made months ago, that production was dropping off considerably from last year, was only too true. At least that is the case in so far as the twenty factories in the district covered by Instructor J. A. Murray, are concerned. Their overall production during the normal factory period—April 30 to December 1—is down by 10 per cent or about 360,000 pounds of cheese. Taken over the year the contrast is even greater as one factory in that district operated all winter a year ago while most of the others maintained a longer than normal production period. The decrease on the year amounts to 23 per cent or 39,988 boxes in 1943 as compared to 52,000 boxes in 1942. Assuming the average weight of a box of cheese to be 90 pounds this would indicate a decrease of slightly in excess of 1 million pounds for this one district.

4 Belleville Youths Charged With Theft

COBOURG, Dec. 14.— (ENS). — Four Belleville youths were arrested yesterday morning by Provincial Constable Douglas Wilson of Colborne and charged with car theft. Police said that a car owned by S. Ganyo of Colborne, was stolen yesterday morning and Constable Wilson spotted the stolen car a short time later near Colborne. He arrested the four youths who were in it and brought them to Cobourg and locked them up. The accused are Thomas Derushie, Walter Rodden, Orsen Wells, Bernard Labarge and Carl Everet Smith, all of Belleville. They pleaded guilty and were remanded for a week while police make enquiries to learn if they have records.

Grist Mill Burned

COBOURG, Dec. 14.— (ENS) — Willis Jones' grist mill, located near Newtonville, was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday night. Newcastle fire department battled the flames for several hours, and although it was impossible to put out the fire, the brigade was able to save the residence of Cecil Burley, situated nearby. Considerable grain and chop were destroyed. Cause of the fire has not been determined and there is no insurance.

R. Hendry Heads Jolly Beggars

Robert Hendry was elected last night first president of "The Jolly Beggars," a group of local Scotsmen who have adopted as their collective name the title of a series of poems by Robert Burns, some of them satiric, a sort of cantata depicting a noisy revel of a motley company in a tavern night.

The other officers are: Vice-president, William Anderson; secretary-treasurer, A. E. McDougall; and general executive committee: J. Taylor, Alex Anderson, William Petrie, John A. Smith, Alderman Adam B. Sands, Alex Kirkaldy and Alex W. Archibald.

Membership in "The Jolly Beggars" is open to all men of Scottish birth and ancestry. Their purpose is to maintain and increase among Scotsmen of the city and district a greater interest in the literature and music, the traditions and customs of Scotland and also in the observance of its national anniversaries, such as St. Andrew's Day and Burns' Day.

The association was loosely formed a year or so ago, has two splendid celebration to its credit, and its new executive will begin at once planning for the Burns anniversary on January 25.

Present Constitution

Alex Clarke presided as chairman of the meeting in the city council chamber last night with John A. Smith as acting secretary. A draft constitution was prepared by A. E. McDougall and was accepted as it came from the special committee which was authorized at the recent St. Andrew's Day dinner to lay the plans of organization.

The officers were elected as proposed by the nominating committee, but the seven executive members were chosen by ballot from ten submitted by the committee. The object of "The Jolly Beggars" Club is largely social in affording to Scotsmen an opportunity of meeting together, of welcoming Scots new-coming to the city, of rekindling the spirit of St. Andrew's Day, refreshing the traditional memories of Burns, and also of arranging any other events which the association may decide.

Bar Association Gives Welcome To Justice

On behalf of the members of the Peterborough Bar, G. N. Gordon, K.C., extended a greeting of welcome and congratulation to Mr. Justice Plaxton at the opening of the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of the province Monday afternoon.

"We welcome and congratulate you on having attained the high and honorable position as one of His Majesty's Justices of the Supreme Court of Ontario," Mr. Gordon said. "While you have been appointed a considerable length of time, this is the first time you have had the privilege of coming to Peterborough, and we trust your visits will be more frequent."

Among the members of the Bar present were Mr. Gordon, Police Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., W. F. Huycke, K.C., W. J. A. Fair, J. F. Bradshaw, W. C. Grant, W. R. Philp, P D. Scollard, and F. C. Richardson of Cobourg.

2 Registration Cards Cost Defendant $50

COBOURG, Dec. 14—(ENS).—Remanded from last week on a charge of having two registration cards in his possession, Donald Ellis of Jasper was fined $50 and costs in police court yesterday. He was arrested some time ago by Constable Frank Atkinson at Brighton and charged with being drunk, on which count he was fined $10 and costs last week. With his arrest police found Ellis' own registration card and one which had been lost, along with $52 in a wallet, by a Smiths Falls resident. Ellis denied any knowledge of the money, sticking to his story that he found the card last spring in the snow. The accused told the court that he intended to send the card to the address it bore, but had omitted doing so.

Tweed Native Dies

TORONTO, Dec. 14 (CP)—Frederick F. Bowell, 80, died yesterday at his home here. A native of Tweed, Ont., he had been a Toronto resident for more than 50 years. He was a nephew of the late Sir Mackenzie Bowell, one-time Prime Minister of Canada.

Free Enterprise Only Road To Full Employment

Strong confidence in free enterprise as the only road to lead to full employment and better economic and social pportunities for all was voiced by S. H. Logan, President of The Canadian Bank of Commerce in addressing the Annual Meeting of the Bank's shareholders in Toronto to-day. The other choice, the one of bureaucratic or socialistic control, had elements of danger for all classes, including over 1,250,000 owners of farms, factories, workshops and stores, as well as labour. Mr. Logan declared that complete socialism was possible only through absolute control of every business unit, large and small.

If the Canadian banking system were nationalized, said Mr. Logan, the result would be monopolistic banking in the true sense of the word, for then all the banking business of the people of Canada would be under political control and each individual's account woul be subject to scrutiny by a representative of socialistic authority. He referred to the idea that seems to persist among advocates of nationalized banking that the chartered banks monopolized credit in some measure for the so-called 'big interests' and went on to say: "Moreover, it is implied that the banks control, partly or wholly, the 'big interests,' or that the 'big interests' control them, erroneous assumptions, since no bank, so far as we know, has any large stock holdings in any trading corporation, nor has any 'big interest' any important holding in bank stocks. The banks of this country are owned by the public, the average holding being about 30 shares. The greater part of the business of our ten chartered banks, which are highly competitive, is directly with the general public through over 3,000 branches manned by staffs trained to render impartial community service principally on their individual responsibility." He cited the example of his own institution, in which branch managers dealt directly with fully 90 per cent of the borrowing transactions through their own offices, and the special activities of its Personal Loan Department, which in the last few years had lent about $64,000,000 to nearly 400,000 people, mainly to help them pay debts which were beyond their ability to meet promptly from current income and to provide for the expenses of illness and other emergencies.

The General Manager, S. M. Wedd, in addressing the shareholders drew attention to the figures of the Bank's Statement issued for the year ending 30th October last, with total assets standing at $1,003,183,000, the highest in the Bank's history, and total quick assets equivalent to 75 per cent of total liabilities to the public.

During the year the Bank made over 200,000 loans, of which more than 60 per cent were for amounts of $200 or less. Counterbalancing these were the liabilities to a great number of individual depositors, as the Bank had 1,132,000 deposit accounts, of which 97 per cent were those of individuals.

A new record of industrial activity has been set during the past year. The last of the newly built plants and extensions undertaken to provide facilities for producing war materials had been brought into operation, and Canada was now the fourth largest arsenal among the United Nations. On the other hand, the primary industries of agriculture, forestry, mining and fishing, all showed lower production records than in 1942, the general crop outturn being reduced by nearly one-third, while forestry products declined about 15 per cent and mineral output by about 10 per cent." J. A. Keyes is the manager of the Peterborough branch of Bank of Commerce.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN VARCOE.

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 14. — (ENS). — Funeral services for Emily Isabella Anderson who passed away at her home in Seymour Township were largely attended on Sunday afternoon. The deceased lady, who was the wife of John Varcoe, died unexpectedly following a brief illness.

Born in Rawdon Township 56 years ago, she moved to Seymour Township as a young lady in the year 1908 and there she married John Varcoe. She had won many friends as a result of her pleasant nature of generosity and will long be remembered as the friend of the sick in her community. Mrs. Varcoe was a devoted member of the Presbyterian Church and an enthusiastic church worker.

There survive besides her husband one son Alexander of Birdsalls, three daughters, Mrs. Edgar Fisher (Margaret), Olive and Isabell, all of Peterborough, and four brothers, Maxwell, Edward and Frank, all of Allan's Mills, and John of Edson, Alta Two sisters, Mrs. Alexander Green (Mary) of Campbellford and Mrs. Roy Merrills (Clara) of Morris, Mich., also survive.

The funeral was conducted at Burnbrae Presbyterian Church by Rev. J. O. Ralston, and many lovely floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which she was held by a multitude of friends.

The pall-bearers were W. Roy Loucks, W. C. Todd, Melville McKeown, T. W. Bennett, John Bennett and Alfred Stephens. Flower-bearers were Ronald Loucks, Carol Loucks, Murray Bennett, Morley Bennett, Bert Wallace, Murray Meiklejohn.

Interment was made in Burnbrae Cemetery.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 — (AP).— Maj.-Gen. Norman T. Kirk, United States Army Surgeon-General, announced yesterday that penicillin would be available in "adequate supplies for military and civilian needs within the next six months."

SYSTEM OF FREE ENTERPRISE DEEMED BEST FOR CANADA

S. H. Logan, President, The Canadian Bank of Commerce, Declares War Being Fought to Preserve Freedom Not Bureaucracy

S. M. Wedd, General Manager, Emphasizes Bank's Wide-spread Service to Public

At the Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, held in the Head Office of the Bank in the City of Toronto December 14th, Mr. S. H. Logan, President, and Mr. S. M. Wedd, General Manager, presented the Annual Statement of the Bank's operations in the past year, together with a review of Business Conditions. Mr. Logan's address to the meeting follows:

After four years of war we are told that we have approached the beginning of the end and that we can be justifiably optimistic as to the outcome of this, the greatest and costliest war in all history.

Marshalled in support of the united war effort has been the full power of these physical resources of the Allied Nations. Although at times seeming slow to move, its impetus has increased until there is now poised and ready to strike against Germany and Japan and their remaining satellites a weight of overpowering armament about three times greater than can be commanded by the Axis—a weight which is increasing day by day against an opposing output which decreases rather than rises.

ALLIES' WAR PRODUCTION

The British Commonwealth of Nations has been and is producing nearly one-quarter of all the supplies and armament of the United Nations, exceeding the combined output of Germany, Austria and occupied Czechoslovakia. Of this great total the United Kingdom produces three-quarters, and of that share three-quarters is being sent abroad.

Now the great production of the United States rolls on—war expenditures of $90,000,000,000 this year—a half of this in fighting material—guns, munitions, planes, tanks, motor vehicles, ships, etc.—enough to equip 10,000,000 men in their own services and furnish Lend-Lease supplies to Allied forces and civilians of $9,000,000,000 annually.

In Canada production of armament has not been as large this year as was at first projected. There have been excess accumulations of certain supplies, scarcity of materials, time spent on re-engineering resulting from simplified specifications and cost-saving devices, and in some areas labour shortages and unfortunate labour disturbances. Yet the national effort as a whole this year was on a vastly greater scale than in 1942, expenditures of the Dominion of Canada for war purposes increasing by 40 per cent. to $3,947,000,000.

ENTERPRISE MENACED

Such has Canada done as a nation at war. Despite these accomplishments, both of labour and the men by whose own initiative and under whose guidance have been built great enterprises and who have given the benefit of their years of personal experience, there is being fostered in some quarters an agitation against free enterprise, whether it be individual or corporate. These reflections are aimed to cast doubt, suspicion and prejudice against any business—first against the large corporations calling them monopolistic, but aimed also at any individual enterprise. Apparently distrusting all motives and capabilities but their own, those behind the movement advocate a new system under which all production, labour and distribution would be directed by them alone. They forget, or ignore, the advancements and achievements that have been made under an enterprise system. They overlook or gloss over the increases in production and the efforts to lower the cost to the consumer, to provide employment and generally to raise the living standards of all.

DANGERS TO ALL CLASSES

Any such programme demands thoughtful examination by every citizen, for however well-intentioned these proposal for bureaucratic control may be, they have elements of danger for all classes: farmers and other producers, manufacturers, tradesmen, professional people and wage-earners. The inevitable end of such a system is a form of dictatorship and domination of the national economy, with capital, production and labour committed to whatever ventures, whether economic or political, a few leaders may decide.

Apart altogether from shareholders in corporations, our system of individual enterprise actually is made up of over 1,250,000 proprietors of business in Canada. These proprietors are the owners of farms, factories, mills, workships, retail stores and other small business establishments. The interests of this vast number of citizens engaged in enterprise on their own account, as well as others, would be greatly endangered by permanent economic control, and they should not be misguided by the argument that complete socialism is feasible merely by control of key industries. Socialism cannot stop short of absolute control of every individual business unit, small and large.

DANGERS TO LABOUR

Labour, too, is a vital part of our existing system, and labour should not be misled into believing that its interests would be served better by any form of socialism based on a regimentation of the country at large. The loss of labour's freedom to unionize and to bargain for better conditions wherever socialism or State capitalism has become dominant impelled one of the great leaders of the times, Mr. William Green, President of the American Federation of Labour, to give this emphatic endorsement of the free enterprise system:

"If this country (United States) ever gets a system of governmental regimentation, labour will suffer most. Labour, therefore, is deeply interested in the preservation of private business and labour should everlastingly maintain that the owners and managers of business are entitled to a fair and just return upon their investments."

BANKING

The most ardent supporters of governmental regimentation extend their arguments to nationalization of banking. So far, they do not claim that the Canadian banking system is inadequate or inefficient.

It seems that there persists among advocates of nationalized banking the idea that the chartered banks monopolize credit in some measure for the so-called "big interests." Moreover, it is implied that the banks control, partly or wholly, the "big interests," or that the "big interests" control them, erroneous assumptions since no bank, so far as we know, has any large stock holdings in any trading corporation, nor had any "big interests" any important holding in bank stocks. The greater part of the business of our ten chartered banks, which are highly competitive, is directly with the general public through over 3,000 branches manned by staffs trained to render impartial community service, principally on their individual responsblity. In this Bank, for example, branch managers deal directly with fully nine-tenths of the borrowing transactions through their own offices, making thousands of loans each year to all classes of the public, manufacturers, traders, farmers, wage-earners and others. Again, to note the activities of this Bank, its Personal Loan Department, in addition to the above loans, in the last few years has lent about $64,000,000 to nearly 400,000 people, an average of $150 per loan.

Nationalization of the Canadian banking system would be monopolistic banking in the true sense of the word, for then all the banking business of the people of Canada would be under political control and each individual's account be subject to scrutiny by a representative of socialistic authority. Surely the millions of people who constitute the banking public—the four million depositors and the hundreds of thousands of borrowers—would not wish to submit to such results of nationalization.

ENTERPRISE THE BEST ROAD

The people of Canada have the choice of two roads. One is paved with promises that a socialistic government—no matter how the result is to be obtained—can guarantee security and an abundant life for all from some imaginary source of wealth and well-being. Always this road has ended in economic disaster.

The other road is our present system of free enterprise. We do not say that it has been altogether smooth, and that no mistakes have been made by those who have followed it, but we do say definitely that it led to Canada's great progress.

We also say with strong confidence that this thoroughfare of enterprise is the only one that can lead to business expansion, full employment and better economic and social opportunities for all. It is the road that will be travelled by a free and happy people.

POST-WAR CONDITIONS

Much of Canada's prosperity comes from the export of her primary producers—the grain growers of the West, the livestock raisers, the miners of metals, the lumbermen, the fishermen and fruit growers—and after the war many more of our manufacturers. To carry on our foreign trade after the war we must be prepared to meet the needs of world consumers in a highly competitive market, consumers who will make their own choice of goods and who will pay only the price that they can afford. Make no mistake, Canada does not set the export price; that is determined by what the world is willing to pay for what we have to sell, and we must also buy from countries abroad if our export trade is to be maintained.

When peace comes—and we cannot tell what form it will take, whether it will be an armistice with a period of gradual readjustment or whether it will be an abrupt ending which will demand of all of us speedy readjustment to peacetime needs—there is one thing of which we are sure, and that is that we must be prepared to make this period one of the minimum uncertainty. Returning members of the Armed Forces must be absorbed into the routine of commercial life with well-planned efficiency. We may reasonably expect, after the first uncertainties, demands for civilian degree of employment and generally goods which will bring about a high active business. Some of those now trained solely for war work will have to be retrained for peacetime operations, and to accomplish this smoothly there will be required a fine degree of co-operation between labour and management to ensure, that both employers and employees will receive their due measure of return for the services which they render.

PERSONAL INITIATIVE NECESSARY TO PROGRESS

We must remember that Canada's magnificent effort in this war has been due in large measure to the support and initiative of her million odd business enterprises. If political action is allowed to destroy or weaken that initiative, advancement of this country will greatly be retarded, and its natural virility tend to become decadent.

A grave warning from no less a person than the British Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, against bureaucracy was issued in these words, which we quote:

"We must beware of trying to build a society in which nobody counts for anything except the politician or official, a society where enterprise gains no reward and thrift no privileges. I say 'try to build' because of all the races in the world our people would be the last to consent to be governed by a bureaucracy. Freedom is their life-blood . . . We must expect taxation after the war to be heavier than it was before the war, but we do not intend to shape our plans or levy taxation in a way which by removing personal incentive would destroy initiative and enterprise."

There are still great opportunities in this country—as great as ever in the past—for people with initiative, ability and a progressive spirit. They must be free to go forward as the result of their own individuality and enterprise and feel that this war was fought to preserve that freedom and not to develop and build up a bureaucracy.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

The Financial Statement now presented shows the aggregate assets of the Bank at $1,003,183,000, the highest in our history and representing an increase of $116,522,000 over the corresponding figure of the previous fiscal year. Cash reserves are $165,559,000 and total quick assets at $714,660,000 are equivalent to 75.10 per cent. of the Bank's total liabilities to the public.

Our total deposits now stand at $913,879,000, an increase of $121,319,000 over last year. This increase is made up principally of $65,648,000 in demand deposits and $50,611,000 in deposits bearing interest, the latter notwithstanding the very substantial investments which have been made by our customers in Victory Loan bonds.

It may be interesting at this time to analyze in a general way the make-up of the figures which have just been presented. In the first place we have 1,132,973 deposit accounts, of which 97 per cent are accounts of individuals. In view of this large number of accounts entrusted to the Bank which we operate solely on the direction of the respective depositors according to their needs, it is necessary for us to maintain large cash reserves, the first line of which is the Bank's holdings of notes of the Bank of Canada and the large balances which it carries at all times on deposit with that institution. Following this first line there is the large investment in the short and medium term securities of the Dominion of Canada. After this background of liquidity there are the Bank's loans to individuals and industry.

The Canadian banks are, of course, at all times anxious to develop their loaning business and in this way assist in the financing of the needs of agriculture, business and enterprise generally. In the past twelve months this Bank has made 201,697 individual loans to its customers and it might be mentioned here that of these over 60 per cent. were for amounts of $200 or less.

There is then the investment in the Capital Stock of the Bank. There are 12,228 shareholders and of these 7,630 reside in Canada; the others almost entirely in Great Britain and the United States. The average holding is about 24 shares.

An examination of the figures which I have just outlined shows that while the assets of the Bank are large in the aggregate they mainly counter-balance the liabilities to a great number of individual depositors.

FINE STAFF RECORD

The integral and vitalizing factor in the production of our Balance Sheet is, of course, the staff of the Bank. In the past year the banking system, in addition to its already enlarged day-to-day responsibilities due to war activities, has taken on among other governmental services "coupon banking" for the Ration Board.

In the past year 323 additional members of the staff have joined the services, bringing the total up to 1,618. Of these 45 have given their lives for their country and we shall miss them deeply. I am sure you will join with me in extending to their relatives our sympathy.

With respect to our young men and women now in the services, we would like to add that it is our hope that they will soon be back in civil life and to say that our foremost thought is to see that employment is immediately available for them in the Bank.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

The past year has set a new high record in industrial activity in Canada in response to the greatest requirements for war materials ever known. There have also been brought into operation the last of the newly-built plants and extensions undertaken in earlier years to provide facilities for the vast and well-rounded armament production that has made Canada the fourth largest arsenal among the United Nations.

On the other hand, the primary industries, agriculture, forestry, mining and fishing, all showed lower production records than in 1942.

General crop out-turns were nearly one-third below those of last year. Apart from the farm labour shortage acute in some of the largest production areas, was the most unfavourable planting and growing weather in many years in Central and Eastern Canada.

Labour shortages account for a drop of about 15 per cent. in forestry products and nearly 10 per cent. in minerals, although even sharper declines occurred in gold production and at some individual base metal mines.

As we all know, the shift from a peace to a war economy involves many complicated problems, but the readjustment from a war to a peace basis, which we have to face, presents even greater difficulties. This is because in the first place the shift to war production is a shift from production to meet varied and uncertain requirements of thousands of individual consumers to production to meet a concentrated demand for munitions of war and, in the second place, because under the impulse of patriotic emotion people accept more readily the sacrifices and inconveniences involved. However, the smooth readjustment to peace conditions is hardly less important than the converse and it can be achieved if we all work together with the same determined purpose that has characterized our outstanding national contribution to the successful prosecution of the War.

Mr. King As a Broadcaster

On Saturday, December 4, the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King made a speech about inflation on the radio, and it appears that not many people heard him. We are not surprised. The radio, whatever its possibilities, is regarded chiefly as a source of entertainment, and a speech by the Prime Minister on an economic matter is no place to go for a laugh. The speech was well-reasoned and important, but it was caviar to the general. Mr. King, who is himself a person of intellectual and donnish tastes, does not seem to realize just how uninterested the great majority of Canadians are in inflation, or in any economic problem. And he does not seem to know how hard it is to follow an involved economic discussion delivered by word of mouth. The way to master that sort of thing is to read it, and we imagine that the majority of the people who are interested in inflation read Mr. King's speech in the papers on Monday, December 6.

Let us repeat those two points to make them clear; in any population, 80 per cent. are too ignorant or too indifferent, or both, to comprehend a speech about inflation, and the other 20 per cent. will understand the argument better if they can read it at leisure. It is observable that when Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt speak on the radio they never say anything which cannot be comprehended by the slowest wit, and they say it with brilliance and vigour: Mr. King talks over the heads of the radio audience, and his delivery is professorial.

The solution is plain, and we make no apology for putting it forward. Mr. King should use the newspapers to spread his messages. They reach the largest audience of any information-dispersing agency in Canada, they can be considered at leisure, and they provide summaries, as well as verbatim reports, of all long speeches. The radio is not Mr. King's field, though he is the ablest politician on the platform in this country. He should put his trust in the printed word when no platform is handy.

Lower Butter Ration

The suggestion that it may be necessary to cut the butter ration in Canada appears to have surprised some of the men who would have been most likely to know if such a move were necessary. R. J. Scott, the president of the U.F.O., apparently foresaw no such necessity; Stanley Thurston, the secretary of the Ontario Creamerymen's Association, said that he was surprised by the idea. Mr. K. H. Oliver, the administrator of dairy products for the W.P.T.B., shed some light on the matter by explaining that the withdrawals of butter from store were greater in November than at any time since the introduction of rationing.

If we are to have less butter, the public will expect to know why. No one, we are sure, will complain if it is necessary for us to go short in order that more needy folk may benefit. The public will not be pleased, however, if there is any suggestion that the butter situation has been bungled. The present ration is half a pound of butter a week for each person. That is not much, if any home baking is done. If the ration is cut, any sort of home cooking which requires butter will be out of the question, and the cost of feeding a household will rise accordingly. We shall wait for further information with curiosity.

The Fate Of Mr. X

A few weeks ago a mysterious Mr. X made a triumphal progress about Ontario, handing out $100 bills, fur coats and other dainties with the utmost freedom. He caused a great deal of innocent joy to those who were the recipients of his benefactions, and he roused the curiosity of those who did not happen to meet him. Thinking of our income tax, and the many calls upon what is left to us after the government has had its slice, we wondered who this man was who could give away thousands in a single day and not feel a pang. But Mr. X preserved his secret until an indiscreet reporter let the cat out of the bag and told the world that Mr. X was Harry MacLean of Merricksville.

As soon as the secret was out, Mr. MacLean began to receive letters by the hundred from everywhere on the continent. The needy, the destitute, the deserving, the unrecognized geniuses, and the grabby, the greedy, the shameless and the outcast all wrote to him asking for a handout. He says that he has so many letters that he cannot even begin to answer them. He is now a mark for every beggar in North America.

It is his own fault. He made a display of wealth, and inevitably the secret of his indentity was shattered. And yet we can feel for him. One of the pleasures of great wealth would undoubtedly be to stroll through hospitals handing out $100 bills to amazed soldiers, to buy fur coats for all the pretty girls one saw, to shower children with candies, to clothe the naked and feed the hungry—in short, to give personally and munificently wherever one's fancy dictated.

But the spirit of our age is all against such conduct. The rich man must hug his wealth, and make his charitable donations anonymously. The government of his country, the most insatiable and threatening of all beggars, wants the lion's share of any surplus he has, and the penny-post makes it as easy for a beggar in Mexico to touch him as the one who sits on his doorstep. Pleasure in the possession of wealth is not a thing of our time, and will not return until our civilization has faded, and another risen to take its place.

To Curb Venereal Disease

Every intelligent Canadian will be glad that measures are now being planned which will reveal the actual extent of venereal infection in this country, and will take steps to curb it. There is no reason why we cannot reduce venereal disease to a negligible minimum if we determine to do so.

But we think that the speaker at the Ottawa conference on the subject was over-optimistic who urged that "discussion of V.D. should be on a par with discussion of the common cold". Venereal disease is usually the result of illicit sexual intercourse and a potent atmosphere of shame surrounds it; the men and women who are infected very often conceal the fact, and both syphilis and gonorrhoea conceal themselves from all but the most searching medical examination. It might be desirable to lift the moral stigma from these ills — particularly for the sake of those who contract them innocently—but we do not see much possibility of doing so. Many people regard them as "the wages of sin", and will not depart from that opinion.

We think that there is much to be said in favour of the suggestion of the Hon. Ian Mackenzie, the Minister of Pensions and National Health, that couples contemplating marriage should undergo tests for these diseases. The saddest victims of venereal disease are the children who inherit the infection from a parent; bitter, too, is the case of the young man or woman who marries, and finds that his partner has a venereal disease—a discovery which may be delayed for years. Refusal to issue marriage licenses to infected persons would send many sufferers in search of a cure.

Such a regulation would certainly be an invasion of liberty. But we suffer willingly many invasions which are not so badly needed. We hope to hear that action has been taken to put Mr. Mackenzie's suggestion into practice.

More Honor For Malta

Last June His Majesty King George visited the island of Malta, and personally made the presentation to its collective inhabitants of the George Cross, as an acknowledgement of the valiant stand which that little speck of rock in the Mediterranean made during the worst days of the war. Last week President Roosevelt called at the island, and, on behalf of the United States, thanked Malta for its service to humanity. "I salute the island of Malta and its people and its defenders who in the cause of freedom and justice and decency throughout the world have rendered valorous service far above and beyond the call of duty", those were the President's words in his citation. Malta, we may be sure, was proud to be so addressed.

It is not size or geographical position which makes a people great. It is the quality of spirit which they show in circumstances which try them to the uttermost. The Maltese have shown themselves great in this war, and their story will always shine brightly in the pages of history. No honour done to Malta can be too much.

India Sails The Seas

By F. R. DARNVALA

THE Merchant Navy in peacetime, like the Royal Navy, is a silent service. But in Wartime, when the sea lanes are crowded with shipping exposed to great danger, it is inevitable that Britain become more acutely aware of her ships. Submarines lurk waiting to send merchantmen to their doom. Enemy aircraft sweep out of the skies to make surprise attacks. Yet convoys steadily ply.

It is only when food and other essential supplies are scarce in the shops that one begins in Britain to realize faintly the hazards faced by the gallant and uncomplaining men of the merchant marine in bringing vital supplies across the oceans of the world.

Take for instance the Indian Merchant Marine. It is in reality a part of the British Merchant Navy, but when one takes stock of the huge number of men (about 40,000) employed in it, one may be forgiven for giving it the status of an institution which it now really is.

THE King has recently decorated two brave Indian seamen—Suleiman Sobrathi, engine-room sarang and Ahmedullah Abdarullah, deck sarang, both in the employ of the Brocklebank Line—with the British Empire Medal, before a brilliant gathering of heroes with their wives and families.

Both Ahmedullah and Suleiman, veteran sailors, have sailed the Seven Seas, and are familiar with the hazards of seafaring life. The sea is their home, and it has very largely moulded their outlook on life. They are men, who, having grown accustomed to danger, have learnt to face it with natural calm.

Ahmedullah, when his ship was attacked one morning by Axis bombers in Algerian waters, went down to the stokehold while the machine-gun bullets were puncturing the deck and bombs were falling all round the ship. He helped to keep up the spirits of the firemen on watch, telling them to carry on with their duties. He got the remaining members of the crew to stand by with their life jackets and kept all the men together.

Ahmedullah is fifty, and has been thirty-four years at sea, all the time with the Brocklebank Line. A sarang during the last war, he has worked in his present ship for the past twelve years. Assam, and particularly his native village of Abespur, in SylIet, where his wife and five children live, should feel justly proud of Ahmedullah's brave work.

SULEIMAN has spent twenty of his thirty-five years at sea. When his ship was attacked by waves of Axis bombers in the same Algerian waters, and he saw his comrades falling around him, he organized his sailors and stood by at an A.R.P. station. Fire broke out on board ship and, after an hour's hard struggle the flames were brought under control. Under constant attack, Suleiman tended wounded sailors till the enemy planes were driven off. He comes from Jainpore, Benares, and has a son two years old.

Sometimes, these Indians seamen come to London or some other United Kingdom port to rest while they await a ship. It makes no difference to his pay if an Indian seaman comes ashore here, since all of them sign contracts on a round-trip basis with the Government of India. While here, they are well looked after by the Indian Seamen's Welfare Committee.

They are not confined to merchant ships. They serve in all types of craft and in all trades. They rank with the finest sailors in the world.

The outbreak of the war brought certain problems. Prior to the war, there was sufficient hostel accommodation for them, but since 1939 new hostels have been opened up in Glasgow and other places.

Sir Azizul Huque took a personal interest in their welfare, and with the co-operation of the Ministry of War Transport, a mansion called "Mere Head" was taken over in Birkenhead, suitably adapted, and opened as a hostel for Indian seamen by the shipowner's committee.

By a recommendation of the International Labour Conference of 1936, H.M. Government accepted ultimate responsibility for the welfare of all seamen while in this country.

BY the appointment of three welfare officers, in London, Glasgow and Liverpool, language and other difficulties have been solved. These officers maintain a close touch with Indian seamen arriving in the U.K. and certainly do a useful job of work. This includes visiting seamen in hospital, giving advice regarding their diet, interpreting when necessary, helping to send broadcast messages to relatives in India, and settling claims for compensation for war loss or damage.

There are recreational centres and clubs in Birkenhead, Liverpool, Salford, Hull and Swansea (with facilities in some of them for cinema shows) where in can be obtained books in Urdu, Bengali, Marathi and other Indian languages Gramophone records of Indian music and games are also provided by the Indian Comforts Fund, which furnishes, among other things, a parcel of warm clothing for each seaman once every six months. The British Council, the Overseas League and the Victoria League do their share of assisting and entertaining.

ONE evening I visited the East End to see how Indian seamen live in the hostels. I met several of them and heard from them varied and exciting experiences at sea. Several of the men who were awaiting ships, showed signs of being bored in spite of their comforts ashore. They were keen to get back to sea.

Sonu, for instance, a bright-eyed lad from Bombay started talking to me in fluent Marathi. He sailed from Australia in a ship carrying a cargo of cheese, wool and other essential munitions of war. After leaving America, his ship was torpedoed off Iceland. Sonu and some of his friends were in the icy waters for over two hours before being picked up by a British destroyer.

Fazal Khan, a tall athletic Pathan from the North West Frontier Province, Dawood Mohomed from Patna, Ali Hussein, Salem Cummis Mohomed Ali and Nazir Ahmed all from Calcutta were all seamen anxious to get back to sea.

So in this grim war are to be found men of all creeds. And if one asks why Indian seamen should regard the present cause as their own and risk their lives against the common foe, the answer is that there exists in the British Merchant Navy a high sense of comradeship which sweeps away all differences and brings the Commonwealth together at its closest and best.

Hearing noises at night, a householder lit a candle to investigate.

Put that light out!" called a stern voice.

Air Raid Warden, decided the householder, and retired.

Next morning his coal shed was empty.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

DEAR MISS DIX: Has a husband the right to forbid his wife to smoke? I have two friends, both fine people and who love each other, but whose marriage is about to be wrecked over the wife's smoking. She does not smoke in public or at home when they have callers, nor when she is in the company of other women who do not smoke, but her husband claims that it is only the women of the street who smoke, and that any man who sees a strange woman smoking believes her to be an easy pickup.

The wife considers that he insults her when he says such things to her, and his constant nagging has gotten on her nerves so that it is gradually killing her love for him. Twice during their marriage she has given up smoking because of his objection to it, but now she feels that he is narrow-minded and that she has a perfect right to smoke if she wants to. What do you think about this?

PUZZLED FRIEND.

ANSWER: Husbands and wives have plenty of rights in marriage, but the trouble is they can't collect them without wrecking it. Abstractly, a wife has just the same right to smoke, or eat onions as her husband has, but if he objects to cigarette stubs being strewn all over the place and garlic flavoured kisses, she should sacrifice her own tastes in the interests of peace and harmony.

Unless, of course, she gets more pleasure out of a cigarette than she does out of her husband's society. You remember Mr. Kipling's hero's conclusion in the same matter was that "a woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke." And that goes equally for both sexes.

Possibly what's gotten your friend's back up about her smoking is her husband's antiquated views on the subject, for nothing could be more ridiculous than his assertion that every woman who smokes is of loose character. If that were true, we would be in a sad state morally, because practically everybody does it, from Grandma up and down, and it no more reflects on a woman's character than it does on a man's.

Of course, there are women who object to smoking just as strenuously as your friend's husband does, and who nag their husbands about it. I have known men who were not allowed to smoke in their own houses and who had to go out and sit on the back steps when they took a few puffs at their pipe, and to listen to a sermon on the evils of tobacco when they were finally allowed to return to their firesides after having taken a brisk walk to get the "horrid smell" out of their clothes.

But I have never known a happy household in which the husband was not permitted to smoke if he wanted to. The truth is that dearer to us than any human affection are our pet habits, and anyone interferes with them at his or her peril.

So the solution to this problem depends upon the husband and wife using a little common sense and fairness in dealing with each other. Let them accord each other a right to their little ways. Surely keeping a home together is worth the price of a cigarette.

DEAR MISS DIX: How much should education be allowed to influence a person's life? I am secretly engaged to a boy who is very honest and good and kind, who has every quality that I would desire in a husband, but who is lacking in education. My friends shun him because of his crude speech and awkward actions, and my family would be very upset if I married him. I love him, but am afraid our marriage would fail, so keep putting it off. What would you advise?

RUTH.

ANSWER: Education influences every single thing in our lives, and it is the one thing that you should consider more than anything else in choosing the man with whom you are proposing to spend the balance of your days. On your husband's education will depend you congeniality, all of your mutual interests, his ability to get along in the world, your social status, even how long your love lasts, the thousands of little things that make marriage a failure or a success.

What you now think is love is a physical attraction, but that isn't enough to stretch over the long years of marriage. For that you need companionship, and you cannot have it with a husband who doesn't speak your language and with whom you can never discuss a book, or a play, or even the news of the day. You would be bored to death with him before the honeymoon was over.

An ignorant man in these days has little chance of making a success, so you would probably always be poor. Your old friends would gradually drop you because your husband would not fit into their circle, and you would find yourself declining to his level in every way.

Men seem to be able to marry women who are not in their class and be happy with them, but a woman has to be proud of her husband if she stays in love with him.

Super Battleship

A little bigger sister of the Iowa and New Jersey was launched in Philadelphia on Dec. 7, another terrible reply to the Japanese challenge of 1941.

A battleship or super-battleship of this class is a sixth of a mile long. Decks and platforms take up nine acres and a half. The shafting that drives the vessel is a fifth of a mile long. The piping put in one length would register 80 miles, the welding 800 miles.

Some careful statistician calculated that the Iowa would displace enough water to flood 46 acres of land or 933 city lots one foot deep." The Wisconsin's displacement "at full load" is 52,000 tons. She cost something like 90 million dollars.

To compare small things with great, let us go back to the earlier Wisconsin, one of the so-called Alabama class authorized in 1896. This elder Wisconsin went into the water in 1903. She was 368 feet long. Her displacement as calculated by the Navy Department was 11,525 tons but was expected to reach something more than 12,000, less than a quarter of that of the later leviathan. She was armed with 14 6-inch rapid-fire guns in broadside and two turrets of two 13-inch guns.

According to Jane of the Fighting Ships the younger Wisconsin's main battery will consist of nine 16-inch guns and she will have a speed of 33 knots.—New York Times.

Priorities For Pie

When Little Jack Horner secluded himself in a corner to eat his Christmas pie he probably responded to a presentiment that the time would come when his right to possess such a product of the pastry maker's art would become a problem of profound controversy, if not of priorities.

Many the perplexing questions with which the Boston police have struggled during the past twelve months, including certain matters concerning turnovers, and there should be no obscurity as to what is the correct procedure at this moment. Opinions appear to differ, however, as to whether the owner of Ye Olde Province Tavern was justified or not, when he refused to sell a piece of apple pie to a man who was not "a regular customer." The city's Licensing Board, though it cannot settle the dispute, is reported to be deep in research related to victualing laws.

When Simple Simon met a pieman going to the fair, and asked if he might taste his ware, he was instructed to "Show me first your penny." The fact that he said, "Sir, I have not any," is entirely irrelevant. The inescapable impression is that had he produced the required coin, the coveted morsel would have been handed over to him. Now, why couldn't our Boston merchant have observed this long established tradition?—Christian Science Monitor.

Chronometer

A lieutenant who had just taken charge of the meteorology department at one of the Army Air Force navigation schools noticed that his secretary's telephone rang every morning at approximately a quarter to twelve. She would glance at the wall clock, announce the time, and hang up. Finally he asked who was doing the calling. "I don't know," she said. "I never thought to ask. They just call up and ask the time, and I tell them." Being a tidy soul, the lieutenant instructed her to find out who was calling, and why. The next day, after interrogating the caller, the secretary told him that it was the post fire department. "They want the right time so they can sound the noon siren," she said. "Well, how do you know that our clock has the right time?" he asked. "I don't," she said. "Not now. I've been checking it by the noon siren." — The New Yorker.

Der Fuehrer

"I cannot tolerate conduct which puts in doubt the sincerity and sagacity of the chief himself."

Who is the Great Man who has thus delivered himself? Mussolini in the days that are gone? Mosley before he was cooled off by four years' internment? Hitler in a rage?

None of these. This is homebrew. It is a Canadian political chief who is speaking—Maxime Raymond, the self-appointed leader of the Bloc Populaire.

A Bible Message

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the waters.

And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.... And God said, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven. (Gen. 1: 1-3, 20.)

O Lord, our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! who hast set thy glory above the heavens....

When I consider the heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon, and the stars, which thou hast ordained; what is man, that thou art mindful of him?.... Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands: thou hast put all things under his feet. (Ps. 8: 1, 3, 4, 6.)

Now unto God and our Father be glory for ever and ever. (Phil. 4: 20.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The sirens had sounded and the retired plumber was on his way to the outdoor shelter, his garters trailing after him. His wife, coming behind, stepped on one of the garters and on the release, it struck the old man's leg with a smart smack.

Old Man (bravely)—You carry on, Mary. They've got me.

Andy called at the big business house to apply for a job that he had seen advertised.

Manager—But my dear man, you are much too late! Why, I've had over a hundred applications already.

Andy (thoughtfully)—Well, how about employing me to classify the applications?

One of the best instances of absent-mindedness is told of a man who had dined with a friend one night.

The next day he wrote to his friend as follows: "I left my pipe at your lodgings yesterday; please send it back to me if you find it. P.S.—Never mind sending the pipe, as I have found it."

Smaller Crop

Australia's wheat crop this season will be only 89,000,000 bushels, compared with the average of 156,000,000 over the past eight years, according to a preliminary estimate by the Australian Wheat Board. The nation's record crop was 210,000,000 bushels in the first year of the war.

The area under crop has fluctuated during recent years, but showed a big fall last season, when the total area fell to approximately 9,500,000 acres. In recent years the greatest area sown in Australia was 14,346,380 acres in 1938-39.—Australian News Letter.

Too Many Tight Pants

The Services Division of the War Department has found out that two out of five men in the Army consider their pants too tight.

From its thousands of 'gripe sheets" or questionnaires distributed among the soldiers here and abroad it has learned also that, contrary to tradition, most of them—four-fifths, in fact—are satisfied with their food. On their own testimony it is fresh and hot and plentiful.

There may be a direct relationship between these two discoveries — the better the food the tighter the pants. On the other hand, one wonders: Why should the pants particularly feel the pressure of their wearer's nourishment? — New York Herald Tribune.

Life Membership Given President

The Christmas meeting of the Jean Wagar Mission Circle was held on Monday night, at the home of Mrs. Wagar, the advisory president, with a fine attendance.

Carol singing opened the meeting with Anne Deyell at the piano, followed by the service of worship: Theme, "The Wise Men," led by Constance Wagar, assisted by several members. A reading "Silent Night," telling the story of how this beautiful carol was written, was read by Jean Hammond, and the carol was sweetly sung by Mrs. Gerry Cuff. Greeting from St. James W.M.S. were voiced by Mrs. W. Rose, the president.

The reading of a special Christmas message to her Circle members from Mrs. Wagar followed.

"The Job that Jack Lost" was an excellent temperance reading by the temperance secretary, Lottie Leggett.

Mrs. George Martin the president, conducted the business session, when it was decided to adopt the group system for the coming year. The nominating committee was appointed as follows: Jessie Martin, Anne Deyell and Mrs. Jean Wagar, the latter also being named auditor for 1944. Lottie Leggett was chosen delegate to the Peterborough Presbyterial in January.

A happy feature of the evening was the presentation of a Life Membership Certificate to the newly elected president, Mrs. Lilyan Huggins, and an address of appreciation read by Jessie Martin, while Mrs. Wagar made the presentation.

Rev. Fred Craik conducted the election of officers brought in by the nominating committee, resulting in this new executive for 1944. Advisory president, Mrs. Jean Wagar; president, Lilyan Huggins; 1st vice-president, Jessie Martin; 2nd vice-president, Dorothy Martin; 3rd vice-president, Olive Searles; corresponding secretary, Jean Hammond; recording secretary, Alma Hunter; treasurer, Constance Wagar; Christian stewardship secretary, Vera Leggitt; temperance secretary, Lottie Leggett; Missionary Monthly secretary, Gladys Meredith; study book convener, Anne Deyell; community friendship secretary, Zetta Wood; literature secretary, Jennie Cuff; supply secretary, Mrs. D. Sedgwick, Mrs. William Wood; mite box secretary, Mary Easson; pianist, Gladys Langton; assistant pianist, Anne Deyell; press secretary, Jean Wagar.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted in the service by Jean Hammond, Marion and Connie Wagar.

All Officers Re-elected At St. John's

The proceeds from the piano recital given recently by the pupils of Mrs. R. T. F. Brain were $25.50, it was announced at the annual business meeting of St. John's Women's Auxiliary, Evening Branch, held Monday evening in the Parish Hall, with the vice-president, Miss Agnes Stout, in the chair.

Canon W. P. Robertson gave a prayer, and then a short talk on the last of the Beautitudes, "Blessed are they that are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of Heaven." Canon Robertson has given a series of talks on the Beautitudes, and they have been much appreciated.

Mrs. J. Bell took the Scripture reading, and Miss M. Lancaster read the third chapter of the study book for the year, on South America. The decision was made to send out several Christmas cards to former members and friends of the Branch.

As this was the annual meeting, the officers for the coming year were installed, and the full slate of officers for the past year was re-elected.

It was announced that there would be no further sewing meetings until the first Monday in January, and the meeting closed with prayer, after which refreshments were served.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, December 15

DESPITE TENACIOUS obstacles or some static situation this day should be notable for outstanding accomplishment, which may be best achieved by shrewd, subtle or secret agreements vigorously manipulated from behind-the-scenes sources. Intrigue and strategy may be effective against concrete and stubborn impediments. These barriers may have group or public, or possibly social foundations, best vanquished by surprise moves, and novel or dramatic swerves from old methods.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may eventually triumph against enmity, obstruction, setbacks and postponements, if shrewd, ingenious, swift and subtle tactics be definitely employed rather than open opposition or reprisals. Clever strategies, intrigues or secret understandings may be most effective, in breaking down antagonisms, hatreds, possibly of social, family or community character. A quick grasp of peculiar advantages may prove surprisingly fortunate.

A child born on this day should have much stability of character, with constructive ability as well as shrewdness, subtlety and a happy way of turning antagonism into good will by its personal popularity and integrity.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION—I am an interested reader of your column.

I also am particularly interested in economical recipes, partly from choice and even more from force of circumstances.

In your yesterday's column you mention giving a meat loaf recipe elsewhere on the page but I could not find it. I think meat loaf is just about the best substitute one can find for a roast, so I am asking you to be good enough to let me have this recipe if it is not too much trouble.

E. M. R.

ANSWER — I think meat loaves have to be carefully made, but think if they are—like the following one—they are definitely not a makeshift.

Super Meat Loaf

Two lbs. minced beef, ¼ lb. minced shoulder of pork (not essential), 1 egg, 1 cup milk (or diluted gravy). ¼ cup quick-cooking rolled oats, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 teaspoons to 2 tablespoons grated onion. Have the butcher mince the pork with the beef, then all all remaining ingredients and pack into greased loaf pan and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 1½ hours covered.

◆ ◆ ◆

QUESTION—Will you please give me recipes for Christmas cookies of any kind as soon as you can?

Mrs. Beatrice C.

ANSWER—I have chosen recipes that require ingredients we can buy.

Refrigerator Christmas Cookies

One cup nuts finely chopped, ½ cup butter (or other shortening), 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, beaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups sifted flour, ¼ cup each chopped green and red candied cherries, well floured, 2 teaspoon baking powder, ⅓ teaspoon salt. Cream the fat and sugar and add the egg and vanilla. Sift the dry ingredients together, sifting a little of them over the nuts and fruit, then add the nuts and fruits to the dry mixture. Combine with first mixture. Stir until blended. Chill and form into a roll of desired shape, roll in wax paper and chill thoroughly. When solid, cut crosswise in thin slices with sharp knife. Bake for about 10 to 15 minutes, or until lightly browned, in a moderate oven of 350 to 375 deg. Fahr. Allow the cookies to become crisp on the baking sheet after removing from oven. If desired add 2 squares malted chocolate with the beaten egg and vanilla to the creamed fat and sugar. Replace the cup of brown sugar with a scant cup of white. Delicious.

Canadian Christmas Macaroons

Two egg whites, ½ cup granulated sugar, ½ cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 cups corn flakes, ¼ cup each chopped and floured candied green and red cherries, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat the egg whites until very stiff. Add sugar, flour and other ingredients. Mix well and drop by teaspoonfuls on buttered cookie sheet. Bake 20 minutes in an oven of 350 deg. Fahr. These quantities make 60.

Almond Cookies

One cup light brown sugar, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 cup butter and ½ cup lard or shortening, 3 eggs well beaten together, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 4½ cups flour, ¼ cup finely chopped almonds. Mix sugars and cream the shortening into them well. Mix dry incredients then combine all ingredients. Form into sausage-shaped roll and wrap in wax paper and chill. Cut in thin slices and bake at 350 to 375 deg. Fahr. from 10 to 12 minutes. These will keep for months in tight tin can.

The many friends of Miss Maud Finnimore will be glad to know that she is now on the road to recovery after a serious illness.

There are many cases of flu in the village sometimes three and four in a family being down at the same time. To date no instances seem of a serious character, nor does the epidemic show any immediate signs of having run its course.

Rev. F. Craik At King Edward

Rev. F. W. Craik was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of King Edward Home and School Association held Monday, with the president, Mrs. G. Harris, in the chair. Rev. Craik, introduced by Mr. D. T. Crawford, told the Christmas Story, illustrating his talk with beautiful lantern slides.

The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada", followed by the Lord's Prayer, and a Scripture reading by Mrs. F. Cox. In honor of men and women in the services, a minute of silent prayer was observed, and the president asked people who could have a soldier for Christmas, to please hand their names in as soon as possible.

Mr. Crawford's room won the attendance banner. The Junior Red Cross of Grade 8 held a successful bazaar prior to and immediately after the meeting with proceeds to go to the Children's Christmas Cheer Fund.

After the business session, a playlet, entitled, "Mimi Lights a Candle", was presented by Mrs. J. O. Fife, Mrs. D. McLaren, Mrs. F. Johnston, Misses Helen Dummitt, May Cox, Barbara Johnston, June Gunn, and Mr. Albert Cunningham.

Mr. K. McKee moved a vote of thanks to Rev. Craik, Mrs. H. Turner, who directed the playlet, and to all who took part in the Program, and Rev. Craik closed the meeting with prayer.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Capacity crowds are in prospect for all the bowl games in football on New Year's Day despite an 18.4 per cent drop in College gridiron attendance during the past season. Already every seat has been sold for the Orange Bowl fixture at Miami which will draw together Louisiana State and Texas A. & M. and even the newly-organized Oil Bowl game at Houston, Tex., is expected to attract a full-house of 30,000. At Pasadena, Calif., where Southern California will take on Washington, a throng of 93,000 is anticipated for the Rose Bowl feature.

New Orleans will have its third successive crowd of 73,000 for the Sugar Bowl contest in which the participants will be Tulsa and Georgia Tech. The Cotton Bowl at Dallas will have 35,000 for the game between Texas University and Randolph Field. The Sun Bowl in New Mexico will be the mecca for a holiday game between Southwestern of Texas and New Mexico. At San Francisco a crowd of 58,000 is expected for an East vs. West battle, the proceeds from which will go to Shrine hospitals and war relief agencies.

Fritzie Zivic, veteran of 179 fights, and Ossie Harris are having trouble getting together in their 10-round bout at Pittsburgh. After one postponement, the scrap was scheduled for Thursday night but it has again been postponed to Jan. 3. Harris was reported to be troubled with an infected ear.

Figures released at New York last night showed a decline in 1943 attendance figures for the Giants of 41.6 per cent., Brooklyn Dodgers off 35 per cent., and Yankees down 33 per cent. Branch Rickey blamed the ban on night games, which because of the dimout last summer, was partly responsible for the decrease for Brooklyn.

Sport Conscious.

Russia has become increasingly sport-conscious, according to a declaration published last night from Maurice Indus, an authority on Soviet matters. One of the first things the people do when they return to a liberated city is to organize soccer competition. He suggested the next Olympiad be held in Moscow.

Wally Kilrea of Hershey Bears maintained a four-point lead in the individual standing of the American Hockey League, according to statistics released last night from circuit headquarters in New Haven. Gaston Gauthier, of the same club, was second with 25 points and Tom Burlington of Cleveland had 21 points for third.

Miss Laura Forlich literally paid $2,000 for a dead horse when she claimed The Duck in a race at Fairgrounds, New Orleans. The horse broke its neck during the race but she had to pay for it anyway, plus $10 to haul the carcass away. It was announced last night Miss Forlich could not collect insurance on the thoroughbred, either, because the policy had been sold to the previous owner.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The suggestion has been advanced in some local quarters that it might be possible for Peterborough to still have representation in the O.H.A. intermediate series this winter by getting a bye into the playdowns. Proponents of the idea point out that most of the Petes will be playing hockey in the C.G.E.-Genelco shop league and that they will keep in shape that way and be ready for the provincial series. There are of course some mighty tight obstacles in the path of carrying out that program. In the first place, unless the settling of group championships is speeded up a great deal more than has been the case in recent years, the playdowns will not be reached until well into March. Obviously it would be impossible to keep up the interest of players and fans until that date with no group competition to stir up enthusiasm. Then the transportation problem would still have to be overcome for the games at that late stage would probably have to be played in Oshawa where last year's experience showed no support could be expected from the Motor City fans so that financially the scheme would depend upon the patronage furnished by Peterborough fans. How many of them would be able to motor to Oshawa for games no one can say definitely but it could not be expected that the number would be large enough to guarantee keeping the Petes out of the red.

Peterborough has never been bothered very much by the type of fan who wants to throw bottles on the ice during the progress of a hockey game. We used to have an ardent fan in the old days who signalized every Peterborough goal by tossing his fur cap out on the ice surface, we have had a few thought it was a good joke between periods to toss pennies out for the kids to battle for and a few more showed their displeasure at official rulings by littering the ice with programs but unfortunately bottle throwers have been few and far between. It is an old Oshawa custom, however but may not be so common now that the courts have been called in to deal with offenders. Says George Campbell in his Oshawa sports column: "There's one thing we do feel fairly certain about and that is there will be no shower of bottles on the ice at the Oshawa Arena tonight. In fact, this disgraceful practice is likely squelched for a long while. If not—well—we feel sorry for the next person who forgets himself at a hockey game here and commits such an offence. In the local police court on Thursday morning, a young man who was arrested at the Oshawa Arena for throwing a bottle on the ice in the St. Mike's game here, pleaded guilty and was fined $25.00 and costs. That might sound a little stiff but it's no stiffer than it should be. This habit has to stop. Magistrate Ebbs expressed himself quite firmly on the subject. Down in Ottawa, the first offence draws a fine of $25 and costs and anyone guilty of a second offence is promptly given a one-month term in jail—with no option of a fine. The local magistrate, who is himself a keen hockey fan, calls Ottawa his "home town"—So-o-o-o, a word to the wise should be sufficient."

Plenty Of Action

Tonight's card at Brock Street Arena promises to be as hot as the weather has been cold, with three torrid bouts listed that should keep the customers on the edge of their seats all the way through. If there is a dull moment anywhere in the bill it certainly will be unexpected for Promoter Tunney has grouped three sets of hard-boiled performers who should turn on the heat early and cook with gas the whole evening. The main bout with the loud-talking Karl Davis, the 250-pound Texan who boasts of the number of men he has crippled through the gentle practice of tearing their cartilages from their moorings, matched with Jan Gotch who rejoices in the ring name of the Pitiless Pole, should be a riot. Davis not only talks rough but acts that way and he is meeting a mat artist who will be able to hand out a receipt for everything in the line of rough stuff he receives and is likely to come back with some original ideas of his own fans are asking is that Gotch belt the big fellow from the south with the that will jar not only Mister Davis but all his Texas relatives. All the same gusto as he showed in a dealing with Whipper Billy Watson. They know if he does that tonight's main bout will be about the hottest session of the entire season. It is a best two-of-three affair with an hour time limit and Tommy Nelson has been delegated to officiate.

* * * * * *

The other two battles are on a par with the main attraction in interest. Ralph Garibaldi the pride of St. Louis and a prime favorite across the line meets Jack Reeder in the semi-final and that, neighbors, should quickly develop into a desperate tussle. Garibaldi appeared in Toronto recently and made quite an impression and in his local debut is likely to win friends quickly, especially as he is matched with a mat villain in the person of Jack the Ripper Reeder, who has already won himself unfavorable notice here by reason of his back-alley tactics. And if that wasn't enough skulduggery for one night Promoter Tunney has added another pair of tough eggs in the Hooded Horror The Czar and Nick Elitch, the short but powerful battler from Syracuse, N.Y. The masked Russian who wears his disguise all the time he is in town has shown himself a thoroughly unscrupulous a well as a decidedly powerful mat performer and Mister Elitch is undoubtedly in for a few painful moments. But he has shown that he knows how to take care of himself and he may explode a few depth charges in the path of the red-costumed Czar. The two clash in the opening bout which is billed to start at 8.45 o'clock. There will be plenty of seats and the arena will be heated so that the biggest crowd of the campaign should be on hand for what promises to be one of the liveliest bills yet seen here.

Last night's crushing 58-2 triumph of Transports over the Normal School brought the first round of the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A. to a close and wound up the league activity until after the New Year, inasmuch as it has been decided not to endeavor to carry on during the holiday season. Transports went through the round without losing a game and without ever looking to be in the slightest danger of losing one. The simple truth is the leaders are so packed with scoring power and all round ability that they should go through the season without having their lead challenged, unless of course they slump badly during the later stages. They have the edge on the rest of the field by reason of the fact that they are not depending upon one or two scoring aces to carry them. Any one of the Transports is liable to break out into a scoring rash at any time. Last night it was Jean Castle who topped the scorers. Another game saw Dot Bestard out in front and, another Ruth Hewitt and so it goes. St. John's have finished the round in second place with the Generals in third, Y Cadets fourth and Normals last.

Fear Landis May Release Army Players

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 — (AP).—Ever since Commissioner K. M. Landis put out that recent baseball "revolution" several "chain store" farm system operators have been getting ready for a new headache they're afraid the commissioner is cooking up.

This is the fear that before the winter's out Landis is planning to set free several hundred minor league ball players — some estimates run as high as 1,000—who went to war from the 106 clubs in the 16 leagues which suspended in 1943.

When they entered the armed forces, these hired hands were placed on the National Defence Service lists of those clubs. Since the loops suspended, however, the players were transferred — many for at least $100 a head—to clubs in leagues still doing business at the same old stand. They were placed on the defence lists of the outfits and will report to those clubs when the war ends.

It is at this long string of transfer deals that Landis is now aiming his high hard one, and the reports are that "the head" may declare the whole lot of them as free agents.

Rumors that this was the stew the high commissioner had on the fire were what stirred up the rebellion at the recent winter meetings, thereby turning up the first serious threat in 22 years to the Landis' baseball regime.

Mack Purchases Bobo Newsom

By ED CREACH
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14—(AP).—Louis Norman (Buck) Newsom, the nominee of Leo Durocher among others for baseball's No. 1 problem child, will get a fresh start come spring under the refining influence of Connie Mack.

Big Bobo, who led the historic Brooklyn Dodgers revolt against Durocher in the middle of last season, will join the Athletics' pitching staff in exchange for Roly-Poly Roger Wolff, the relief hurler who has pulled more than one of Jesse Flores' tamles from the fire.

Wolff, of course, goes to the Washington Senators. The trade was announced last night although negotiations between Mack and Clark Griffith began at the recent major league meeting in New York. It involves no cash or other players, according to the official announcement.

"I think we'll get along fine," Mack said at Frederick, Md., where he was inspecting the A's spring training site. "As to Newsom's past, I'm not worrying about that. Instead I'm figuring on what he is going to do for us in the future."

As for Bobo, "I know absolutely nothing about the deal and do not care to comment," he said at his Hartsville, S.C., home when a reporter broke the news.

School Hockey Teams Organized In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 14 — (ENS). — The subject of school hockey has come to life in this town and is going to get the biggest boost it ever received this year as the local Rotary Club has taken over the organization among the three schools and engaged an ex-professional as coach. This startling announcement, was made at noon yesterday when the club met for its regular luncheon to hear a report on the findings of a hockey committee headed by Bill Hogle.

Members unanimously endorsed the plans outlined by Rotarian Hogle and greeted with enthusiasm his announcement that Pat Shannon had been engaged to act as instructor and organizer three hours a day, five days a week from December 15 to March 15. He said he had discussed the plan with both the High and Public School principals and with Rev. Father J. P. Collins who spoke on behalf of St. Joseph's School.

Form 10 Teams

Actually the proposal at present calls for the formation of ten teams and will embrace boys from 9 years of age up in the primary schools where 75 per cent of the hockey material will be derived. A survey conducted at the high school reveals approximately 25 boys there who desire to play hockey and will come in on the scheme which is open to both the boys and girls and caused some surprises when it was shown there were 28 high school boys who have already signed up to play.

All in all it is the biggest venture ever undertaken by the club and members felt that once the organization was complete hockey would receive strong support from citizens of the town. To provide over-all direction to the scheme a six man board of directors was formed. It will comprise School Principals E. H. Greig, C. S. Haig, Rev. J. P. Collins, Pat Shannon, W. A. Hogle and Rotary President E. A. Stuart.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (AP)—Anniversary....the year 1944 will mark the 50th anniversary of the time Harry Stevens had a bright idea and printed score scards to sell at baseball games....And you still can't tell the players without 'em—especially this year....It also will be the 75th anniversary of the beginning of intercollegiate football in the United States.

Leo wasn't Lion:

Leo (The Lion) Houck, Penn State's veteran boxing coach, gave up boxing with his pupils after Billy Soose and Steve Hamas left college, but he had to go back in harness this season because of the manpower shortage....The other day Leo was doing pretty well for a guy 55 years old when an onlooker asked: "Why don't you put on the gloves oftener, Leo?"....Houck merely opened his mouth, pointed at his bridgework and replied: "There's gold in them mountings, feller."

Sports notes:

The Utica, N.Y., Eastern League ball club can claim a novelty record of some sort. Its the only one jointly owned by a woman, Mrs. Frances McConnell, and a priest, Rev. Harold J. Martin. What's this story that Craig Wood was signed up as a golf pro for a big mail order house?

Tough Babies Set For Big Clash

When a heavyweight wrestler calls himself the "Rough-house Champ" and another grappler styles himself "the Top Tough Guy" and then they meet, anything can happen; and usually does. Tonight at the Brock Arena Karl "Krippler" Davis takes on Jarring Jan Gotch the Pitiless Pole in the main bout of a top-notch wrestling card. Gotch sincerely regards himself as the ruggedest of all the heavyweights while Davis boasts of both his wrestling ability and his back-alley technique. So tonight should really settle something even though the bout itself means nothing in the way of championship or other official importance.

Those who like their wrestling action done in a particularly strenuous fashion are apt to enjoy plenty of entertainment tonight and not a little excitement. For seldom have two such characters as Davis and Gotch come together. As a general rule the mat "badmen" like to be matched with the less rugged type of opponent, but in the case of both Gotch and Davis, each feels he must dispose of the other in order to maintain his claim as the hardest bruiser and bouncer.

Another famous name, that of Ralph Garibaldi, is listed for action this evening. The current sensation of the famous wrestling family meets Jack "the Ripper" Reeder in the semi-final bout and that one is also of main-bout calibre.

In the first bout, squat, powerful Nick Elitch comes back to match muscles with the masked wrestler who competes under the intriguing name of the Czar. If Elitch beats the hooded one, the Czar must remove his mask and reveal his identity.

Referee Tommy Nelson will officiate.

ISN'T IT THE TRUTH? By Ti-Jos No. 27

"DON'T SHOOT, HE'S DOING HIS BEST!"
All restrictions are a nuisance, which we tolerate only in order to avoid the greater interference that would result from defeat or even victory plus inflation. It's easy to blame any regulations that affect one's own convenience. But remember that every regulation has been drafted by men who know what they are doing to meet a specific need. In the words of the song "Don't shoot the man at the piano, he's doing his best."

TORONTO, Dec. 14 — (CP). — Tip-off: Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning says Winnipeg Monarchs are as close a thing to a "packed" junior hockey team Manitoba has seen since the 1932 Monarchs. And the 1932 Monarchs lost in the Memorial Cup final to Sudbury Wolves .....Coach Brian Timmis and his Hamilton Wildcats are being well feted in Hamilton since they won the national grid title. The other evening Knights of Columbus staged a "Timmis Night" and plans are under way for a civic dinner in January when the players will be presented with watches by the city.

Sailor sadness:

Halifax Navy was counting on a nice senior hockey season until the postings sent many players elsewhere. Transfers out of Halifax involved Gaye Stewart, Bob Goldham, Bill Shill, and Bill Benson, all former N.H.L. players, and Chuck Millman, Spike Larabie, Bill Sorrell, Jack Fritz, Gordon and Alexander Watt, Art O'Brien, Mallie Hughes, and Zep Greene. Remaining Navy players in Halifax include John Toplay, Les Wade, Wilf Chisholm, and George Mara, all of Toronto; Bill Boorman, Hugh Millen, and Harry Moslenko, all of Winnipeg; Gordon Barefoot, Moose Jaw, Pat Robinson, Hamilton, Jimmy Jempson, Calgary, and Slick Snyder, Niagara Falls.

Tuesday hash:

Eric (Eck) Duggan of Edmonton, who refereed the Dominion football final between Winnipeg and Ottawa in 1941, now is a squadron leader and adjutant with an operational R.C.A.F. squadron overseas.....Winnipeg Army hockey team lost two outstanding players with the posting of George Agar and discharge of Paul Lavallee.... Larry Haynes, former all-star outside wing with Calgary and Vancouver in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, has won his R.C.A.F. pilot's wings at Calgary ....Andy Blair, who led Manitoba Varsity to the Allan Cup in 1928, started an N.H.L. career with Toronto that same year and wound up with Chicago Black Hawks in 1937, has graduated from a Canadian naval officers' training course at Deep Brook, N.S.... Lieut. Des Smith, former Boston Bruins defenceman, now is at Vernon, B.C., taking an Army course....A sign outside Vancouver's Hastings race track reads: "Speed limit 10 miles per hour." Some wag added the postscript: "Horses excepted."

Dizzy Dean Says No To Movie Contract

LANCASTER, Texas, Dec. 14—(AP) —Dizzy Dean has not desire to be a glamor boy—besides, it would interfere with his farming.

That was his story today as he spiked reports that he was going to Hollywood to make western pictures. Sure, there had been something to it, he had even signed a contract, but didn't mail it.

"I didn't want any part of Hollywood," said the former star major league pitcher. "I work six months a year broadcasting baseball and I want to be at home on the farm the rest of the time. You know, I'm just a farmer at heart."

Dean is selling his prize Herefords at his 200-acre farm because he can't get help in taking care of them, but he's not giving up his place, he said.

Bruins Coming Closer To Top

By The Canadian Press.

Montreal Canadiens may have the National Hockey League leadership sewed up for the time being, but the odds are that Boston Bruins will be alone in second place after tonight's single game. The Bruins entertain the Chicago Black Hawks, and the Bruins have yet to be beaten on their home ice this season.

Right now Chicago and Toronto Maple Leafs are tied for second place, nine points back of the Habitants, but Boston is only another point behind in fourth place. With the Leafs idle, tonight's winner at Boston edges into undisputed hold on second place.

The Bruins on their home ice should be especially tough for the Hawks tonight, in view of the affair Sunday at New York when the Rangers surprised a big home crowd by taking Boston with their first victory in 16 starts. That defeat came on the heels of a 9-6 win for the Bruins over Rangers at Boston Saturday.

Chicago's last effort was a 3-2 victory at home over Toronto on Sunday night. The last time Boston and Chicago met at Boston it turned into a 6-5 victory for the Bruins.

Only one other mid-week game is scheduled before the usual weekend jam. Detroit travels to Toronto Thursday night.

Veterans Laud Bill Nicholson

SARASOTA, Fla., Dec. 14—(AP) —Three National League veterans put their heads together Monday and came up with the unanimous opinion that the Cubs' slugging outfielder, Bill Nicholson, is the best player now active in baseball.

"He's tops for either league," said Paul Derringer, who pitches for Chicago.

"I'll take him," chimed in Brooklyn outfielder Paul Waner.

"That goes for me too," agreed Johnny Cooney, also a Dodger outfielder.

The three men wintering in Florida may have started an argument with their verdict, but each spoke from long experience. For 13 years Derringer has looked over National League stars from the vantage point of the mound. The 41-year-old Cooney has seen them from both the pitcher's hill and the outfield, while Waner has been an active player since the 1920's.

Although Nicholson placed seventh among the league hitters last season with an average of .310, he showed the way in runs batted in, with 128, and in home runs with 29.

"Nicholson is the most determined player in the game," Cooney commented about the 27-year-old slugger. "He may have had some faults when he was breaking in, but he has worked hard to cure them."

"He's out there practicing fielding ground balls when the pitchers take their batting practice long before the game starts," Derringer added.

"He gets his base hits, knocks in a lot of runs and hits plenty of homers. He just gets out there and plays a great game—and never yet has said 'Boo' to an umpire."

Derringer told a story about Casey Stengel, Boston manager, to show how Nicholson is feared by other National League teams.

"Casey came out of the dugout before we played Boston one day, and yelled to Jimmy Wilson, our manager'" Derringer related.

"'Take that guy out of there,' and he pointed to Nicholson out in right field.

"'Take him out and I'll let you play two men in his place, and I'll agree to use only eight men against your ten. Just take him out.'

"Casey had reason to yell. Nicholson's hits beat the Braves several times during the season."

Change In Schedule

TORONTO, Dec. 14 (CP)—O.H.A. officials announced today changes in the schedule affecting the Dec. 17 and 27 games between Hamilton and Kingston senior teams.

The Dec. 17 game, scheduled to be played in Hamilton, has been moved to Kingston and the Hamilton-Kingston game scheduled for Dec. 27, has been moved to Hamilton. The changes were made because of rink commitments in Hamilton.

Patton Angry At Soldier Minus Leggings

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—War Secretary Henry Stimson said in a report to the Senate today that Lt.-Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., had "spoken threateningly and with undue harshness" to a soldier who failed to wear his leggings on combat duty because his ankles were swollen.

This was the only criticism of this nature made against Patton except previously reported incidents in which the General "cuffed" one soldier and upbraided another in Sicilian hospitals, Stimson said in a further report on the Patton case which has been under investigation by the Senate Military Committee.

Stimson confirmed that one hospital incident involved Pte. Charles L. Kuhl, that it took place Aug. 3 and that it was followed by a similar incident in another hospital Aug. 10. His letter did not make clear which soldier was struck by Patton.

"Gen. Eisenhower was, however, informed by reliable newspaper correspondents of a case wherein Gen. Patton spoke threateningly and with undue harshness to a soldier for failing to wear his leggings because his ankles were swollen but who, nevertheless, was doing full combat duty," Stimson said.

It was also disclosed here that President Roosevelt met Gen. Patton on his visit to Sicily. Asked whether this meeting meant that the President had "put his O.K. on Patton," Presidential Secretary Stephen Early told reporters that he did not know what his questioner was talking about.

Early said he couldn't imagine anything the White House had to do with the matter, since it does not assign officers to commands either in the United States or Abroad.

Lindsay Kiwanis Club Makes Gift Of Gong

LINDSAY, Dec. 14 — (ENS). — Lindsay Kiwanis Club will present the newly-formed Kiwanis Club at Cobourg with a regulation gong and gavel. The gift will be made at a charter night being held in Cobourg in January.

By a unanimous vote the club decided to give a grant of $50 to the Navy League through the local branch. It was also decided to send suitable gifts to members of the club now on active service. The president, J. MacMillan, reported that the Lindsay Club had been congratulated by Kiwanis International headquarters for their success in sponsoring a recent radio program.

Union Delegate Indignant Over Ruling

TORONTO, Dec. 14. — (CP).—Alex Reith, representative of the International Association of Machinists (A.F.L.), issued a statement to-day terming a "miscarriage of justice" the Ontario Labor Court ruling last week naming the employees' council bargaining agent at the Kingston, Ont., plant of the Aluminium Company of Canada.

The I.A.M. and the Aluminum Workers of America (C.I.O.) were interveners in hearing of the employees' council application for certification. Mr. Justice G. F. McFarland certified the employees' council without ordering a vote to be taken among employees at the plant.

Mr. Reith's statement said that the ruling was given "despite the fact that the United Aluminum Workers of America and the International Association of Machinists both had in their respective groups a majority of the plant employees as members."

The statement criticized the Ontario Labor Court, saying that the legislation under which the court was created "made endeavour to abolish company unions," but that the court had certified them "at the rate of two to every legitimate union."

Police Recover Load Of Rye And Gin

TORONTO, Dec. 14 — Six men were held by Toronto police last night in connection with the theft of a truckload of 7,200 bottles of whiskey and gin yesterday from a Toronto freight yard. One of the men is James Shorting of Claude Ave., Toronto, operator of the "Lazy L" ranch in Etobicoke township, on which property the liquor was recovered 10 hours after three armed men kidnapped the driver and stole the truck and its contents.

Shorting, 39, was arrested in Toronto late yesterday by Dets. George Holmes and Adolphus Payne and was charged with receiving. He sublet the ranch property about the first of November from Mrs. Kathleen Jackson. No bail was allowed.

Another of seven men taken in the police roundup was a 17-year-old boy who is being held as a material witness. Four others are held on vagrancy charges for further investigation and the seventh was released.

$40 a Case

Police learned that the ring planned to make a quick turnover to a ready market for the liquor at $40 a case. Only two of the 600 cases are not accounted for. The rest are back in lawful custody.

Mrs. Jackson reported to police that she had seen nine men about the ranch barn unloading the liquor and later yesterday Inspector Wilford J. Franks of the Provincial Police C.I.D. and Inspector John Vernon and Det. Sgt. William Coleman of the Toronto police went to Chatham and Windsor to try to locate the missing trio.

Curiosity of a resident of Etobicoke Township brought about recovery of the cargo, valued by the distillers and Liquor Control Board at $28,000, but which would have brought between $58,000 and $86,000 to the illicit purveyors—almost net profit—at present prices on the bootleg market.

The load of potable liquid had been brought into a Wellington St. freight yard from Walkerville for transfer to a local warehouse: 300 cases each of rye and gin.

The next thing George Butcher of Chatham knew was that three men armed with guns told him to get out from behind the wheel of the transport and climb into a waiting motor car. For an hour, he said, he was compelled to lie on the floor of the car. He added that the hijackers were not too rough; that they even supplied him with a pillow. This started about 6.30 a.m.

About an hour after being forced into the car, Butcher said his captors took him for a ride blindfolded, dumping him out in the northern part of the city. He walked to a dairy at Bathurst and Brook Sts. in North York Township and from there, about 9.10, notified police. Then he hurried to police headquarters.

Citizen Suspicious

Most important lead in the recovery of the cargo came to police attention when Ted Hogan, who lives near the barn, walked into Etobicoke Police Station and said that he had seen a strange truck driven into the barn, and that about nine men had been active about the scene.

Police headed by Deputy Commissioner of Provincial Police Herbert McCready, Sgt. of Detectives Archie McCathie of the Toronto police and Chief Constable John McConnell of Etobicoke started for the barn and soon found the cached liquor.

It was evident from the scene that the hijackers had been forced to choose the hay mow as a hiding place in a hurry, for the heavy transport truck's wheels had broken through the floor planking of the barn and the vehicle rested on its axles, immobilized.

HI-JACKERS GOT HIM — George Butcher, transport driver of Chatham, Ont., is pictured as he arrived at Toronto detective headquarters to report that three armed hi-jackers kidnapped him and his truck from a downtown Toronto street and made off with the truck and $25,000 worth of liquor after freeing him in a Toronto suburb. The liquor was consigned to an Ontario Liquor Control Board store in Toronto from Walkerville distilleries.

"I am not going to give you any orders to stay at your stations tomorrow," he said. "I expect you to act as men of honor with a sense of duty and responsibility toward the citiziens who look to you for protection.

"I am giving no orders, because those that want to go will go any way, and I do not want to add the crime of indiscipline to any crime sheet. You are asked to stay and man your stations and be true to your oath."

Apparently the city was entirely on its own in seeking a solution to the situation. In Ottawa, the Federal Labor Department officials said that the strike was not within their jurisdiction, while at Quebec, Attorney - General Leon Casgrain said "this is the city of Montreal's problem."

Waddell Pays Tribute To Missing Pilot

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN ENGLAND, Dec. 14 (CP) — The latest word on Flt. Lt. D. M. (Bitsy) Grant, D.F.C., Watrous, Sask., who has been listed as "missing, presumed killed," is that he was flying at a low altitude over France when his Mosquito was struck by flak.

The stocky blond, a fighter commander in what was the first Canadian squadron to come overseas, was a fighter-reconnaissance pilot whose duties called for photographic and tactical reconnaissance. However, he managed to find time to become a great exponent of "train-busting" and to shoot down three German aircraft.

"He was not only an exceptional pilot, but a fine navigator, which is highly important in our type of work," said Wing Cmdr. Bunt Waddell, D.F.C., Peterborough, Ont., Grant's commanding officer.

"He inspired a lot of confidence in the boys and coupled his other attributes with a good personality. His gunnery, too, was very high class, which would explain a lot of his success against locomotives."

On one sortie into France, Grant was credited with shooting up 12 locomotives within 12 minutes.

missions agreed in Cairo on future military operations against Japan." The remark was greeted with renewed cheering.

Mr. Eden disclosed that Britain has had a military mission with the Yugoslav Partisans headed by Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) since last Spring.

"From all reports we have received it is clear that the Partisans under Tito are containing and engaging a large number of German divisions and we are doing all we can to supply them with munitions and support them in every possible way," he said.

Recalling that Mr. Churchill had warned Japan in 1940 that if she attacked the United States, Britain would declare war upon her within the hour, Mr. Eden declared:

"From that moment we have been committed to objectives now set out for the first time internationally in the Cairo agreement.

"We are committed to them because we understood that to destroy Germany and then make a compromise peace will be to sow the seeds of a third World War.

"We should be utterly unworthy of our heritage and our tradition if we did not at the earliest possible moment deploy all our resources for the purpose of establishing the security of the dominions on a firm basis. For that we have to fight Japan to the bitter end, whatever the cost, however long it takes."

He disclosed that Soviet Envoy Sergei Vishinsky intended to be present at the conference among Mr. Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt and President Chiang Kai-Shek but was visiting in Italy and could not get to Egypt until the conference was over.

United Nations Going To Face Another Tough Year In Europe

The prediction that the United Nations will have another tough year, at least in Europe to go through, and then two more years to clean up the Eastern situation was made at Monday's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club by Dr. A. J. Brace, world secretary of the Y.M.C.A., who addressed the club on the subject "The Cost of a New World."

Dr Brace also declared that if the United States and Britain did not play ball with Russia in the making of a just peace after the conflict was over the world would look forward to another war that would make the present struggle seem like child's play. "If Russia ever teams up with India and China the Lord help us," the speaker said.

Introduced by Rotarian Ross L. Dobbin, Dr. Brace who spent 25 years in China, devoted a considerable portion of his address to eulogizing General Chiang-Kai-Shek and the Chinese people for the heroic stand they had made against Japan. He recalled the "blue print" issued by the Japanese in 1927, that laid out a program for world domination commencing with the conquering of Manchuria. People in the western world had laughed at the program then, but the laugh was on the other side of their face now, the speaker said, pointing out that it was only the courage and grim determination of the Chinese that had slowed up the whole scheme and made the Japanese gains small in comparison with the hopes of the Japanese war lords.

Division Took Singapore.

"Don't make the mistake of thinking that the Japanese have been using inferior troops against the Chinese," said Dr. Brace. As a matter of fact one of the divisions that was being used in the attempt to conquer the Chinese rice bowl was, he said, a division that had taken Singapore.

Dr. Brace told the story of how Chiang-Kai-Shek had undertaken the building of a new Burma Road with such vigor and determination that already 1,000 miles had been constructed. He told how the steel used in that road work had been carried thousands of miles from over-run Chinese territory on the shoulders of thousands of Chinese. The Chinese had re-conquered cities in the occupied territory and after carrying off the movable booty then tackled the railways, burning the ties and moving the rails westward on the shoulders of thousands of men. By providing fresh relays all along the route, he said, the steel had been carried 2,000 miles.

Dr. Brace made a plea for the removal of some of the restrictions that now hamper Chinese in Canada.

He urged necessity of approaching the problem of the peace with Christian faith in order that the foundation for proper world peace might be firmly laid. In no other way could a permanent peace be expected, he said.

Rotarian C. S. Cummer moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for his informative address.

Rotarian George A. Gillespie, who has been chosen as president of the Peterborough Rotary Club to complete the term of M. H. Riddle who has been moved out of Peterborough, presided at Monday's luncheon. Rotarian Gillespie is a charter member of the club. His son John L. Gillespie has also had the honor of being elected president of the organization.

L. Cpl. A. Smith Dies In Kingston

Lance Corporal Adam Smith, a veteran of the last war, who enlisted in the present conflict and spent three years with the Hastings, Prince Edward Regiment overseas, died on Saturday evening at the Kingston General Hospital in his 55th year. He had been ill a month.

L.-Cpl. Smith, who made Peterborough his home during the past 30 years, lived at 468 Reid street. He came here from Scotland, the land of his birth.

Still on active service at the time of his passing, L.-Cpl. Smith returned to Canada last May. In the First World War he had served with the 20th Battalion. He worked as a section man with the C.N.R. for 18 years, was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, of L.O.L. No. 80 and of the A.F. & A.M. in Scotland.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, the former Annie Stewart and three sons and three daughters. Cpl. Alex Smith is in England and Lieut. James Smith is stationed at Brockville. Mrs. James Brown lives in Toronto, while Clifford, Helen and Catharine are at home. He leaves also two brothers and six sisters living in England.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Belleghem Funeral Home, 190 Hunter street, with the padre of the Military Training Centre, Capt. S. Profitt, officiating. Interment will be made in Little Lake cemetery.

Our Design for Living in HARMONY

INVENTIVE genius which has contributed so notably during the past century toward building and welding our country into a great and strong nation, thrives best in the atmosphere of individual enterprise as it is found in Canada.

Here, the business man and the working man, working together, are able to take advantage of many opportunities for advancement and success that would be impossible in a totalitarian state.

Though questions and differences may arise, both management and workers must stand united in defense of the maintenance of free enterprise and the preservation of the joint benefits which flow therefrom.

REACHES ENGLAND.

Mrs. Ethel Rutherford of Crawford's Grove, has received a cable from her son, Tpr. Ernest Rutherford, announcing his safe arrival overseas.

QUIET DAY.

The Fire Department spent a quiet time on Monday with only one alarm being turned in. At 3.02 p.m. they answered a call at 207 Perry street at the home of Mrs. S. T. Harris, when the pipes fell down.

FIGHTING IN ITALY.

Mrs. Edith Lean, 417 Rogers Street, has received word that her youngest son, Sgt. Raymond C. Lean, serving with the Irish Regiment of Canada, has arrived safely in Italy.

A MINOR ACCIDENT.

Not much damage was done when two automobiles sideswiped each other on the slippery surface of Highway 28, near the Filtration Plant Monday night. Elmer Davis, Lasswade, was driving north and Neil McNaughton, Nassau, proceeding toward Peterborough when the two cars clicked in passing. Both vehicles remained on the road after the accident.

DISEASES UP.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., reported to the Board of Health today that there was an increase in cases of mumps and chickenpox and whooping cough over last month, with 18 cases of mumps, 77 of chickenpox and 16 of whooping cough.

NEW BUSINESS.

Forty-three new homes were added to the list visited by Miss G. Connelly, public health nurse, making a total of 271 homes, it was reported to the Board of Health today. The number of individuals visited was 312, of which 68 were new on public health lists.

NOT GENERALLY KNOWN.

When a house is let there is no implied warranty as to its condition and unless the landlord covenants to make repairs, the tenant takes it as it stands. The landlord is not obliged to repair the furnace or install new pipes or do any repairing during the term of the lease, unless he expressly agreed to do so at the beginning. If he promised and then failed to keep the bargain, the tenant may bring an action for breach of agreement.

Elderly Lady Sues For Wages

An action by Mrs. Margaret Lyons for $1,[illegible]8.97 against the estate of the late John James Meharry who lived at 110 Monaghan Road for her services as housekeeper during the period from September 25, 1931, to February 11, 1943, was heard this morning by Mr. Justice Plaxton in the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Lyons said she was engaged by Mr. Meharry on the basis of $15 a month and her board, and by that arrangement had received $356.03 of the total amount of $2,055 earned, leaving a balance of $1,698.97. She claimed that sum and costs of the action. G. N. Gordon, K.C., was counsel for Mrs. Lyons, and John A. Bradshaw for the defendant.

The defendant was Charles E. Mann, executor of the last will and testament of J. J. Meharry, who died on February 11, 1943.

Friends For Years

"We had been friends for over sixty years," Mrs. Lyons said. "Mr. Meharry had no one to take care of him. I was a widow and he had never married. I went there on one occasion wtih Mrs. Alex Lyons. I said I had never thought of leaving my own home, but I agreed to go, and I worked with him until he died."

Plaintiff said Mr. Meharry owned the house at 110 Monaghan Road. She briefly outlined the keeping of the house, and to Mr. Gordon she said there was no washing machine, but the old wash board and home made tubs. At times there were boarders and roomers, with extra work but no extra pay for the housekeeper. The wage she received was $15 a month and board.

Died In February

Meharry died last February. He was 81 and plaintiff said she would be 82 next July. Meharry had operated a work shop at the rear of his Monaghan Road lot where he sharpened saws and did other small jobs.

Mrs. Lyons denied that in October 1936 her plan of engagement was changed, omitting the $15 a month, and working for lodging alone. She said she had never heard of anything like that.

Mr. Meharry's will included a legacy of $100 "to my house-keeper."

Replying to Mr. Bradshaw in cross-examination, Mrs. Lyons said Mr. Meharry owned the Monaghan Road house, two wood lot farms and a house on Frank street. He had mortgaged the latter house and eventually with little money remaining after the loan was settled.

A little unconscious note of pathos must have stirred in the spacious court room, and all its vacant public gallery as Mrs. Lyons mentioned that she had suffered a slight heart attack this year after taking of the late George Dunkley, Westcott street, for whom she had worked some fourt months. Two deaths and two sales had involved considerable extra work—for a woman who will be 82 next July.

Knew Her Husband

"Mr. Meharry was a very close friend of my husband before we were married," and the friendship had survived the years without interruption. "He made the home as comfortable as he could, and so did I."

It transpired that regular payment of wages ceased after two or three years, but the original agreement was never changed.

"I did not insist on payment, because I knew he did not have the means in cash to pay me.

Mr. Bradshaw—"Do you remember a conversation in the fall of 1942 with Mr. Meharry and you, and you said the agreement ended after three years?"

Plaintiff said she did not.

"And as the depression got worse and Mr. Meharry had little work, you made a new agreement to work for board alone?"

Mrs. Lyons again replied negatively.

Mr. Bradshaw—"And you were glad to take it because you had no other home?"

"No sir. I had another home; my own home."

To another question, Mrs. Lyons told Mr. Bradshaw she had sold her place in 1936 or 1937.

Mrs. Jean Lyons, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, testified she was present when Mrs. Lyons, her mother-in-law was offered $15 a month and board by Mr. Meharry if she would keep house for him.

Defence Witness

William McColl, Brown street, called for the defence by Mr. Bradshaw, testified Mrs. Lyons told him a year ago that after three years as housekeeper Mr. Meharry said carpenter jobs were getting scarce and he couldn't pay her any more wages, but she could stay for her board.

Mrs. Vera James, Toronto, niece of Mr. Meharry said Mrs. Lyons told her in 1935 or 1936 that she was not getting any money. It was not said in a complaining sense, witness said. "She seemed content."

Mr. Bradshaw read questions and answers from his examination of the plaintiff for discovery indicating that regular payment of her wages ceased in about the third year.

Mr. Meharry "ran out of means but he said everything would be all right." Mrs. Lyons said she received nothing for ten years. By "all right" she thought he might sell his property and give her some. She did not leave because it was a comfortable home. Mr. Meharry "knew his place," was agreeable, and they got along well.

Less Interest Shown In Elections

A warning that the lack of interest by voters in municipal elections and the apparent complacency of the average man to the affairs of his community will inevitably result in the loss of many privileges, was given by Alderman James Dutton in an address to the Peterborough Lions Club Monday evening.

Alderman Dutton surprised the Lions with statistics which indicated that in 1942 only 28 per cent. of the voters had exercised their voting privilege in municipal election. In 1941, it was 31 per cent. and in 1940 33 per cent. While he admitted that during these years there were no mayoralty contests, nevertheless the exceptionally small percentages was a definite indication of the lack of intreest, a condition that prevails generally across the province.

Introduced by Alderman Max Swanston, Alderman Dutton paid tribute to the Lions' Club for their service work, saying in part, "What you have accomplished is marvelous and of great benefit to the community."

He said the morale of a community depends on the willingness of each individual to meet a fair share of his responsibility.

"Too many feel that when they have cast their votes, they have discharged their responsibilities, and others carry on by criticising those elected to office, not trying at any time to put forth constructive criticism. If there is to be sound government there must be men who have the courge to find fault, but in fault-finding our aim should be constructive and for the common good."

Fight For Right To Vote

Referring to the deplorable lack of interest in municipal elections and municipal affairs, Alderman Dutton said: "We must remind ourselves that today we are fighting the greatest war in history, fighting for the right to live and think as we please, but at the same time there is grave danger of us losing the very things we are fighting for even though we win the war.

"Many abuses that plague society today exist not because of legislation, but because of civilian indifference, which ignored small irregularities until they became a fixed major abuse.

"Our prosperity in the future will not depend so much on our natural resources, but upon our seeing that we have men who will carry on the traditions of the British Empire. In obtaining a new order we must see that it is a right order.

"We still have many people who think the country owes them a living and they want to do nothing. Actually a community owes this type of person nothing at all, but he who makes a worth-while contribution is entitled to all the services of a modern community."

Making Community Better

Mr. Dutton enumerated many ways in which a person might try to make his community a better one, then in speaking of one's pride in one's home town, he sketched the financial position of Peterborough.

The taxes in the city during 1942 were $168,682 less than in the year 1932, and moreover there has been a reduction in every department of civic economy except in education and health. The city debt has been reduced $1,185,137 in the past eight years and now stands at $2,975,516. Against this debt there is the sinking fund of the City Trust which amounts to $1,704,809.

In eight years Peterborough spent of her own money, $297,739.00 for relief, plus of course what was granted by the Government.

Alderman Dutton spoke also of the services which must be maintained, such as caring for the destitute, and in this bracket he mentioned such care has cost Canada nine million dollars in the decade of depression.

The thanks of the members was voiced by Pete McGillen, and passed along by speaker's son, Jim Dutton, Jr., who is president of the Lions' Club.

The club draw for a shirt donated by J. E. Girven was won by Frank Edgar.

New Alloy Steel

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14 —(AP). —Cracks in newly rolled steel sheets led to perfection of an alloy steel 600 times tougher than nickel alloy and 150 times tougher than chromium alloy, D. D. He explained that the cracks were due to presence of boron, an alloying element added by mistake; and when the quantity of boron was reduced, flawless, extremely tough steel emerged.

Judgment Given Woman For $750

Judgment of $750 and costs to the plaintiff, Mrs. Annie Hall of Buckhorn, was announced today Mr. Justice Plaxton in disposing of her action for $5.502 damages against Hilton Black in a Port Hope traffic accident which was heard in the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court here yesterday.

His Lordship assessed the total damages at $3.000 and found that the plaintiff was 75 per cent and defendant, Black 25 per cent at fault. By that ratio of negligence, Mrs. Hall received 25 per cent of the assessed damage of $3,000, or $750, plus her costs in the suit. G. N. Gordon, K.C., acted for Mrs. Hall and F. F. Richardson of Cobourg for Mr. Black.

Obituaries

STEPHEN NICHOLS

Stephen Nichols of Buckhorn, passed away at the residence of his daughter, 15 Oxford street, Monday, after a short illness in his 72nd year. Born in Ennismore, he was the son of the later Garner and Jane Nichols, and he had farmed all his life.

He leaves to mourn his death, three daughters, Mrs. Gerald Calvert, Mrs. Albert Orr of Peterborough and Mrs. Robert Fawcett of Lakehurst.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. from the Comstock Funeral Home, 305 Water street, with Rev. Dr. J. D. Smart officiating. Interment will be in Lakefield Cemetery.

MRS. BERTHA ARMSTRONG

After an illness of several months, Mrs. Bertha Armstrong, widow of the late W. W. Armstrong of Regina, passed away here.

Daughter of the late William Brundrett and Jane Ann Cranston, she was born in Port Hope and lived in Peterborough until after her marriage. She and her husband moved to Regina 35 years ago and after his death in 1942, she returned here and made her home with her sister, Mrs. Thomas Barrie. Mrs. Armstrong was a member of the Anglican Church.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. T. H. Elliott and Mrs. Thomas Barrie of Peterborough; and one brother, Walter Brundrett of Dalmede, Alta.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. from the Comstock Funeral Home with Rev. W. A. Filer conducting the service. Interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. MARGARET H. MELDRUM

A prominent and active resident of Peterborough for 60 years, Mrs. Margaret Priscilla Hooper Meldrum, 89, whose husband, William H. Meldrum was known here for his milling activities, passed away Monday at Deer Park Crescent, Toronto.

Mrs. Meldrum was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Hooper and was born at sea, when her parents were returning from England to Canada. Although her earlier years were spent in Guelph, she spent most of her life here, where she was a member of St. John's Anglican Church. During the first Great War, Mrs. Meldrum was active in Red Cross work.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Ernest A. Greene, a son, Harold William Meldrum, both of Toronto; and three grandchildren. Her husband, whose milling activities took him to Paris, and Fenelon Falls, beside Peterborough, died eight years ago.

Years ago William Meldrum was in partnership with McAllister operating the flour mill that stood at the east end of Hunter street bridge. This mill was torn down a few years ago.

MAURICE MATHEW O'BRIEN

Maurice Mathew O'Brien, of Edmonton, whose family formerly lived in Douro, passed away recently at the age of 62. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus, Edmonton Council No. 1184 and the 49th Battalion Association.

He leaves to mourn his passing his wife, his mother, Mrs. Catherine O'Brien of Edmonton; two sisters, Mrs. Z. Moreau of Edmonton; and Mrs. Frank Spicer of Grande Prairie; four brothers, M. J. O'Brien, Vancouver; S. F. O'Brien, of Berwyn, Alta.; CSM. F. J. O'Brien, Calgary; and J. J. O'Brien of Detroit.

Six Men Charged With Hi-Jacking Liquor; Lawyer Wants Doctor, Says Prisoner Beaten

TORONTO, Dec. 14.—(CP).—Six men arrested late yesterday, following the sensational theft of a truckload of liquor valued at $28,000 were remanded until Dec. 21 when they appeared in police court here to-day.

The six are Victor Taylor, charged with vagrancy, William Baskett, facing an armed robbery count, Edwin McDonald and Max Appiebaum, charged with vagrancy, James Shorting, accused of receiving, and Howard Williamson, charged with being a material witness.

George Bogwell, counsel for the accused, told court "William Baskett's lips are swollen. I am told he was given a beating by the police."

"I can't notice anything from here," replied Magistrate F. C. Gullen.

"I want his own physician to examine him at the jail," Bogwell continued. "I am not asking for bail to-day."

"You can take that up with County Crown Attorney James McFadden," the Magistrate said. "He may desire to arrange for another physician to be present—the jail physician, perhaps."

No charges were read against the men and the matter of bail was deferred at the request of the Crown Attorney.

City's Wood Pile Looks Good As Cold Sets In

With only a week of winter off the calendar, Mayor Hamilton and Alderman Glover, chairman of the fuel committee, have been looking over the increasing piles of wood down on the George-Townsend-Rink lot with warming opinion that perhaps the council should begin to reduce its receipts and also its concern about Peterborough's hearth fires in this winter of war.

Not only has the city lined up a huge amount of wood, at least it looks a lot from the road, but some of the dealers are beginning to find their feet again in the new circumstances of price and subsidy and so on, and their bare yards are taking in hard wood again.

"If this weather continues we should have other orders arriving from the north country," A. G. Metheral, welfare officer, told the Examiner today. The city also has the Cavan lot contract, and from all present prospects the council's undertaking to protect the citizens from lack of fuel of some kind or other is going to be fulfilled.

Mr. Metheral is inclined to agree with the council authorities that the incoming supplies have built up a bank of hardwood that can look the winter in the eye, but on the other hand, he said, it is a long way until the March lion has shown its heels.

Some hardwood and hemlock is being delivered every day, but the orders have reverted to four-foot length after an experiment with a sawing machine that opened official eyes to a little service cost factor which they had perhaps been overlooking.

"The government allows us $1.25 a cord," Mr. Metheral said, "but we can't cut it for that. Jim Burgess has tried everything he could think of to get down to that figure, but we haven't been able to do so. Besides, we need three machines. One of them is going all out to cut 16 to 18 cords a day, and we have been putting out 30 to 35 cords daily."

Machines in dealers' hands have been examined, but one difficulty or another intervened and the whole sawing convenience to the public is suspended except for persons on the welfare list.

"At those figures the private cutters must be losing money?" it was suggested to Mr. Metheral.

"I don't think they are," he said. "They can drive into a yard and set up for three or four cords. With us we have to shift the wood in cord lots to the machine, unpile and cut it and throw it back on to the delivery trucks. Not only would we need three machines but we'd need more men, and where can you get them."

Two Women Injured On Buckhorn Road

Two women received head injuries and $300 damage was done to two motor vehicles in a collision on the Buckhorn-Lakehurst Road, several miles from Buckhorn.

A car driven by Earl Houston, R.R. 11, Peterborough, and a Wonder Bread truck, driven by Harry Frost, 264 King Street, Peterborough, met on a curve on the icy road, and in the crash Mrs. Houston, wife of the driver, and Mrs. M. Windrim, 319 Maitland Avenue, were injured.

Both vehicles were damaged by the impact. Provincial Constable Price Morris investigated the accident.

Man Is Found Ill Without Fire In Home

Alarmed because J. M. Burke, elderly shoe repairer, living at 394 Aylmer Street, had not been seen for several days, neighbors informed the police.

Constables Leo Murphy and John Morrow investigated this morning and found Burke ill, with no fire in the house. The man had not been well for several days.

The officers drove Burke to Nicholls Hospital, where he is now undergoing treatment.

Seek Pure-Bred Cattle

TORONTO, Dec. 14 .— (CP)' — An official of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph will soon leave for England to purchase pure-bred cattle with $25,000 put up by a group of Ontario citizens, it was learned at Queen's Park yesterday. The cattle will be shipped to Guelph and used to improve live stock breeds throughout the province.

HAVE LONG HISTORY

The sequoia trees of California are thought to be oldest living organisms extant today. Some are estimated to be 4,000 years old.

Where's My Coat?

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Dec. 14—(CP).—A Niagara Falls woman has applied to police for recovery of a $40 coat, sold in error at a local rummage sale for 50 cents. She removed her coat while assisting at the sale and an over-zealous rummager put it up for sale.

White Gift Service Brings Aid For Children's Christmas Cheer

The word "Gift" is synonymous with the season of Christmas and white has always been a symbol of purity, so when the two are joined together they stand for pure gifts which might also be interpreted as holy gifts, particularly if they are offered within the sanctuary of any church.

It is only of more recent years that many churches have adopted this beautiful and attractive service known as "White Gifts," although it had its real inception in relation to the Nativity with the traditional visit of the three wise men.

Here the act of giving for others sponsored by the church teaches a valuable lesson to old and young alike, which is definitely linked with the greatest gift of all to mankind in the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem, who was born to redeem a world from its own errors, and culminated with the greatest sacrifice of all time on the Cross of Calvary, an example of love for the human race which can never be surpassed.

Nothing could perhaps be more appropriate than that they should be made the opportunity to relieve the human suffering caused through the horrors that always surround any war, and so it is that for the past two celebrations of the birth of the Saviour of mankind, a number of churches have taken advantage of the facilities which the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund offers, to send the proceeds of this service to brighten up and help the lot of those who have been afflicted through air raids over Britain.

Among these, the Mark Street United Church and Sunday School has on each occasion taken its place and done its part, and this year they happen to be the leaders in this respect, for theirs is the first to be reported with the sum of $30.50 appearing in today's receipts through their White Gift service which was held last Sunday.

Many Personals.

Two-thirds of today's list of receipts are of a personal nature, among whom "J.S.B." happens to be the first name recorded when the fund commenced operations on December 5 in 1940, and all the others without exception have given at previous special appeals for Christmas, while the extra cent a day from E.A.W.L. and M. is recognized as one who has given every three months for almost the whole time the fund has been in operation, and the one under the heading of "Ian and Ann" comes from two youngsters who were evacuated to this country in the early stages of the war.

Following hard on the report of help received from Confederation School pupils which appeared yesterday, another comes to the forefront today with the students at School Section No. 4, Dummer, taught by Mrs. Marguerite Hamilton, giving $3.50 for the children's Christmas Cheer Fund, who undoubtedly will be all the more happier for having done something to help others less fortunate than themselves, and probably place more value on the gifts they themselves receive by reason of having either worked or sacrificed to make others happy.

C.G.E. And Genelco Gifts.

There has been ample evidence that they whose hours are spent in the cold hard shade of industrial life have a real heart that throbs with sympathy for those in distress, and nowhere perhaps has this been emphasized more than through the givings to the fund which have come from the city's two largest manufacturing plants of the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., and Genelco, Ltd.

Today a donation appears from each of one of the various departments in each plant, the Order and Stores Department at the C.G.E. sending in $17, through O. W. Hurlie, raised through a collection among the staff in this group, duplicating a gift at this same time last year, while the Bench Assembly in the Genelco, Ltd., plant sent in the sum of $12.50 by Dave Best, which represented the proceeds of a draw held to carry its message of Christmas cheer across the wide expanse of the Atlantic Ocean.

11 Men Consent To Adjournment

When the cases of eleven men charged with having been "found in" in an alleged gaming house on Douro street were called in police court this morning Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., asked for another postponement.

"I am unable to proceed this morning," he told the court, "and will have to ask for an adjournment."

Mr. McElderry did not give any reason for not proceeding this morning.

At the request of one of the accused the adjournment was extended until after the holiday season, January 4 being the date selected for the hearing. All the accused consented to the long delay.

Gasoline Charge Is Laid Over

Because of the fact that W. F. Huycke, K.C., who was to have prosecuted the case and a material witness were both ill it was impossible to proceed with a charge in police court this morning against Robert B. Rogers, service station proprietor, Monaghan Road, of having supplied graded gasoline without receiving the proper coupons in exchange.

W. J. Arthur Fair who appeared for Rogers intimated that there would be a plea of not guilty. At his suggestion the case was adjourned by consent until after the holiday season, January 4 being the date selected.

Sergt. G. T. Puffer had informed the court that Mr. Huycke was ill in bed and added that there was a medical certificate from a material witness to the effect that it would be impossible for him to be present today.

With Boys In Services

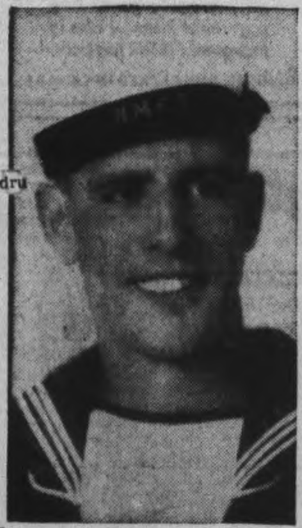
The editor of this column will welcome extracts from letters from boys serving or any other information concerning them.

By JEAN STENTON

N S FLORENCE CRIPPS

Another Peterborough nurse in the service is Nursing Sister Florence M. Cripps, who was recently home on leave visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cripps, of 58 Olive Avenue. She is stationed at Sydney on the Royal Cadet Ship, H.M.C.S. Protector. A graduate of the Ottawa Civic Hospital, Miss Cripps was in Ottawa ten years and left six months ago to enlist. A brother, Petty Officer William J. Cripps, E.R.A. is also on active service with the navy, and a second brother Fred Cripps lives in Peterborough.

The R.C.A.F. overseas has announced the commissioning of Kenneth Ewart Johnston, son of Mrs. E. Johnston, of 66 Lee street. He has been serving as a flight engineer.



AB. HAROLD J. BRAY

A member of the torpedo gun crew on a corvette, Able Seaman Harold J. Bray is home on furlough. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bray of Birdsall who used to live on the Douro boundary and for a time Mr. Bray had a milk route in Peterborough. Although he has seen several submarine actions, AB Bray's ship has not been credited with any destroyed. He enlisted 1½ years ago and 13 out of the 20 months he has been in the Navy have been spent at sea on coastal patrol and in the tropics. Before enlisting he worked at the Curtis Brickyard.

The following is a quotation from a letter received by the family in Belleville of Mickey Doherty of the R.C.N.V.R., who recently spent a leave in London and met some Bancroft boys.

"A strange incident occurred last week when I was on leave. I was standing in front of my hotel when three Air Force officers were going by. One looked up, it was Dick Barrett, and he told me that "Nubby" (son of Mr. and Mrs. M. McAlpine, Bancroft) was at another hotel and I went to join him. He was just putting his gear away when I walked in and he was certainly surprised. We tried to locate LAC. Cecil McAlpine (his brother) but had no luck, so we went to one of the cathedrals for Mass, and there we met him. The three of us visited for several hours."

LAC McAlpine who has been overseas since April, was unaware that his brother, PO. M. J. McAlpine, had arrived in England until they met at the cathedral.

OFFICER STEWARD R. G. WHITE

One of the strangest things to come out of this war is the way in which the boys on active service, who are giving up so much to fight the enemy, extend so much praise and thanks to the people at home, for little kindnesses, which are no more than a duty for those who are benefitting from their sacrifices. One such letter is from Officer Steward R. G. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. White, of 319 Burnham street, who wrote to the City Council and the Canadian Legion about some small remembrances.

"I guess since the war began, Christmas aside from a few gifts, has been in our hearts thinking of one another, and we have plenty of time to think about how much we miss you all back home. At the moment it is quiet, but at any time we may go to action stations then an inferno will break lose. Here's hoping I will finish this before that happens.

"It is times like this that we fully realize how the people at home stand behind us. We know you have, because without that help we would never have progressed this far. Pulling the way we are at the present time, there is no chance of losing and the Victory Bonds which civilians are buying are giving us the tools to bring the day of victory much closer."

One thing the boys fighting in Italy don't have to worry about is buying Christmas presents. Pte. Edward Moore wrote to his mother Mrs. A. V. Moore of 437 Frank street. The soldiers have been able to procure special forms from the paymaster to send money back instead of the presents.

"In the last few days I have seen a couple of shows and enjoyed them very much. We are having a sort of holiday but winter is close and it is very wet and uncomfortable when you are out. Letters written in May and June are just coming through now, but letters which have been sent more recently are coming through on the dot," he writes.

Soldiers in Italy and England have the same difficulty in obtaining air mail forms to write to the folks back home. There are always twice as many soldiers as there are forms and it has become a scramble to get there first. In some parts of England, the men are rationed to one form a week. Pte. Moore comments that he was fortunate to have been able to get one at the time he was writing.

Gnr. Godfrey Sandbach, who was seriously wounded in fighting in Sicily and who was given two months to live, due to wonderful medical treatment and his will to get better, has arrived back in Canada and is in the Kingston Military hospital expecting a leave and his discharge. He had words of praise for the doctors and the nurses on the hospital ships who were so kind to their patients. The two things which particularly impressed him on his return were the shining electric lights, and the planes overhead which did not belong to the Germans.

WALLY CROUTER

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Crouter, 399 Edison Avenue, have received word that their son, Wally Crouter of the R.C.A.S.C., has arrived in Italy. For several years he was a C.P.R. messenger boy.

Young's Point News

The Women's Association of the United church met at the home of Mrs. Oscar Reid for their December meeting. Mrs. Ernie Dunford and gave a reading. Letters of thanks were read from the sick for flowers, also from Mrs. George Cummings for the quilt given by the Association. Plans were made to quilt at their January meeting.

Three ladies from Young's Point gave their fourth donation of blood at the Peterborough Clinic. They were Mrs. N. D. Knox, Mrs. Cecil Pelton and Mrs. Malcolm Harvey.

Mr. James Currier of Edmonton is visiting with his cousin, Mr. Ed. Crapp of Young's Point and Mr. Melville Crapp of Selwyn. Mr. Currier has been away from Ontario for fifty years, but plans on making his home in Port Hope.

COMPARE THE GAINS

VULNERABILITY is the deciding factor when you are debating the question of doubling or bidding aggressively toward a game for your own side. If the opponents are vulnerable and your side is not, setting them two tricks doubled is more valuable than your own game. But if you are vulnerable and they are not, you require a set of four tricks against them to be better off than your own game would make you. At such a time, concentrate first on finding out if you can make game.

Exetremes, indeed, in bidding tactics—those which developed at two tables of a duplicate on this deal. At Table 1, North and South bid the way which might have been all right if they had been not vulnerable and their opponents vulnerable. North even masked his spade strength and made his hand appear weaker by raising clubs instead of bidding his spades the first time. But both his and his partner's action were bad on the second round, especially his own. And they got the bad score they deserved, only 300 points.

At Table 2, the vulnerable pair properly used the tactics most likely to land them in a game contract if one could be made—first North by fishing for a four-card spade fit instead of raising clubs, then South by showing his fit instead of doubling hearts, next North by going on with his suit and South by hazarding game, though he had a chance to double diamonds at a level higher than it was done by the pair at the other table. This was real appreciation of the fine nuances of bidding, and earned a game for the side, worth 620 points, as only two tricks were lost in spades, one in hearts

British Fleet Fakes Norway Invasion

By ALFRED WALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ABOARD A BATTLESHIP SOMEWHERE IN THE ATLANTIC, Aug. 6.—(Delayed by Censorship)—(AP)—Hundred of miles away in icy Arctic waters the British home fleet, bolstered by a strong United States task force, including some of the world's most powerful battleships, played a vital role in the Allied invasion of Sicily.

Tihs task force made three daring diversionary sweeps against the coast of Norway, one of them an invasion feint with a fake convoy just two days before the Sicily landings.

The German air force refused battle during all these operations although five Nazi reconnaissance seaplanes were shot down and two damaged.

On the first occasion the British and American warships drove far north of the Arctic Circle and tried a "lame-duck" trick in a fruitless attempt to draw the German battleship Tirpitz and other German surface units into battle.

I watched the first of two Norwegian invasion feints from the bridge of the British home fleet flagship, the battleship Duke of York, flying the flag of Admiral Bruce A. Fraser, commander-in-chief, who personally directed the operations.

Working together as one fleet, the Royal Navy and the United States Navy units demonstrated they were able to operate in complete harmony, just as the British and American Armies have done in North Africa and Sicily.

In Battle Exercises

Besides the actual offensive operations the Britons and Americans carried out numerous realistic battle exercises.

In one operation of fake convoy consisting of trawlers, landing craft and miscellaneous vessels was sent sailing eastward from the north of Britain as if heading for a landing on the Norwegian coast.

Fifteen miles south was the battle force led by the Duke of York.

Forty miles north a cruiser force headed in the same direction. Four hundred miles further north a light force of cruisers and destroyers was making a similar feint simultaneously.

The operation was planned to have the Germans sight us moving eastward and get the idea an attack was being made.

All the forces were believed sighted during the day. We even broke radio silence to make sure the Germans knew we were there. As a final nose thumbing gesture the whole company "made smoke" for many miles.

But nothing happened, and we sailed serenely back to base.

Naval and air authorities were amazed at the German air force's unwillingness to challenge these bold forays. The Allied units had penetrated with impunity into easy bomber and dive-bomber range. They had begged for a fight—but none was forthcoming.

Canadian Navy Had Big Share In Sub Defeat

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Dec. 14 — (CP). — The Royal Canadian Navy in football parlance, ran beautiful interference for a United Nations team in scoring one of the major victories of the war during 1943.

That victory was the defeat of the German submarine fleet in the Battle of the Atlantic. While the defeat may not be permanent it was enduring enough to have a vital influence on military operations in Europe during the year and on the massing of troops and supplies overseas for further operations.

Canada's anti-submarine Navy took the North Atlantic as its special preserve from the start of the war and as it grew, assumed an increasingly important part in the anti-submarine war. This year a Canadian officer stationed at Halifax, Rear-Admiral L. W. Murray, was given command of all convoy operations in the "Canadian Northwest Atlantic." In that capacity he disposes of a combined British, American and Canadian force, with the Canadian element predominating.

U-Boats Called Home.

By midsummer the submarines were called home and convoys proceeded across the Atlantic free from attack. Too many U-boats had gone down under depth charges to make the operation pay. They came back later with new weapons and new tactics but unable to dispute United Nations control of the vital sealanes.

The year saw the Navy take long forward steps in size and into the bigger-ship class. Four of eight new Tribal class destroyers—Athabaskan, Iroquois, Huron and Haida—were commissioned and a fifth, the Micmac were launched. These are the largest ships yet to come into the possession of the Canadian Navy, but still larger are on the way. The Navy within a matter of months will acquire two British cruisers. Officers and men are training to man them.

Losses during the year were heavy. The destroyer St. Croix was sunk in the North Atlantic when the U-boats made their new appearance, with loss of 146 lives, the heaviest toll for a single R.C.N. sinking in the war to date.

Other losses during the year were the corvettes Louisburg and Weyburn, two of 17 ships of the class which took part in Mediterranean operations. Three other corvettes of the group, Regina, Ville de Quebec, and Port Arthur evened the score by sinking submarines.

Further Additions.

Besides the new tribals the Navy acquired four used destroyers from Britain and renamed them in the "river" class — H.M.C.S. Ottawa, Gatineau, Kootenay and Saskatchewan. An undisclosed number of new corvettes and frigates, built in Canada, joined the submarine-hunting force.

With no limit set to its expansion the Navy pushed ahead with recruiting and training and opened a giant new training establishment at Deep Brook, N.S., a veritable universty of the sea.

By latest available count the Navy, which started the war with 15 ships and 1,700 men, has more than 600 ships and more than 73,000 men and women.

Along with the busy destroyers, frigates, corvettes, and fairmiles, minesweepers got a spell of action this year when the Germans laid mines in the approaches to Halifax Harbor. They were gathered up without loss of a life.

Aussie Sailor Lands On Makin Island Greets Parents After 9 Years' Absence

With U.S. Army Forces on Makin Island, Nov. 25 (delayed)—(AP)—Lieut. Bruno Raymond of the Royal Australian Naval Volunteer Reserve stepped up on the veranda of the dingy Clapboard House.

"Hello," he said, extending his hand to an aging, nearly blind man.

"Hello," replied the man.

"Don't you know me?" asked the officer. "I'm your son."

"Bruno!" cried the old man, Moritz Raymond, a Gilbert Island trader who hasn't seen his son for nine years and who had been a virtual prisoner of the Japanese since they occupied Makin Island nearly two years ago.

Mrs. Raymond came running from the house, embraced Bruno and burst into tears.

She said they had hoped always for the day when Allied troops would come and drive out the Japanese.

"But we didn't dream Bruno would come back to us with them!"

Mrs. William Fowler Heads Fairview W.A.

FAIRVIEW, Dec. 14 (ENS). — The Fairview Women's Association held the annual election of officers at the home of Mrs. A. Reynolds. There were twenty ladies present. Rev. H. H. Mutton presided over the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Past president, Mrs. Fred Brown; president, Mrs. Wm. Fowler; vice-president, Mrs. C. Bell; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Lewis; secretary, Mrs. C. Heard; pianist, Mrs. W. Heard. Committees— Flower, Mrs. Fred Bell, Mrs. A. Poast, Mrs. R. Harrison; Visiting, Mrs. W. Rosborough, Mrs. F. Bell, Mrs. R. Harrison; Representative to Official Board, Mrs. A. Armstrong; Parsonage, Mrs. R. Harrison; M. and M., Mrs. F. Brown; Lunch, Mrs. W. Bell, Mrs. R. Fowler; Group, Mrs. E. Cockburn, Mrs. F. Brown, Mrs. C. Heard; Quilt Conveners, Mrs. W. Rosborough, Mrs. Thorne.

Mrs. Fred Brown, retiring president, received a hearty vote of thanks for her untiring efforts put forth during the past four years in office.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $85 on hand. During the year the sick were remembered with fruit and flowers; soldiers were remembered wiah boxes for Christmas. A number of quilts were quilted for both the W.A. and the Red Cross and $10 was given to the Russian relief.

Mrs. Wm. Fowler reported for the local Fairview War Workers, which group was organized in May, 1941, and thus far have raised $337.65 for the British War Victims' Fund.

Lunch was served, bringing a successful meeting to a close.

Mrs. Wm. Darling Is Hostess To Warsaw WI

WARSAW, Dec. 14.—(ENS.)—Mrs. William Darling was hostess to the William aDrling was hostess to the Women's Institute at her home for the Christmas meeting.

Mrs. Stewart Clysdale gave a very detailed and interesting report of the Central Ontario convention. The treasurer reported a balance of $32.35 and final plans were made for social evening in January.

Cards and remembrances will be sent to shut-ins during the festive season. The program consisted of carols and an "old sayings" contest. Mrs. Darling served a delightful lunch at the close of the meeting.

Organize Mission Band.

The organization meeting of the Mission Band was held at the parsonage on Saturday afternoon with eleven members present. The following officers were elected: President, Bernice Cuffe; vice-president, Pearl Edwards; secretary, Donna Payne; treasurer, Marie Drain.

Mrs. Snelgrove discussed the course of study for the year.

Mr. Snelgrove discussed Cub and Scout activities with the boys and said he hoped to have a group visit Warsaw soon to discuss plans of work.

The next meeting will be a tobogganing party during the Christmas holidays and lunch will be served in the church basement.

Miss Joyce Digweed and Miss Maize Detlor will be responsible for Mission Band leadership with Miss Marion Davis as pianist.

C.C.F. a Threat

Arabs Welcome French Gesture

ALGIERS, Dec. 14 (AP)—Arabs generally welcomed the promise of Gen. Charles de Gaulle that they would be given full citizenship rights in Algeria's three departments but just how the French National Committee proposed to implement the pledges retained to be seen.

Whether Arabs still would be required to renounce Koranic law was not disclosed.

If all Arabs were given French citizenship without reserve they easily could control politically all three departments, Algiers, Oran and Constantine, and hence the entire province. This might bring strong objections from Jews in the European population.

In a speech at Constantine, Eastern Algiers, yesterday, De Gaulle so asserted "a concentrated assault" on Germany from the East, West and South was being prepared by the Allies and that France would not rest until the moment when free nations meet an the soil of defeated Germany."

UNSINKABLE LIFEBOAT

LIVERPOOL, England — (CP). —The unsinkable lifeboat invented by Francis Lowe of Liverpool was a success the first time it was used. The boat, which has an extra buoyancy compartment, a kapok fender round the hull and maintains stability when inclined at 100 degrees, had its first trial when a ship was torpedoed and saved 80 men.

Advancing British troops of the Eighth Army met her running wildly over the shell-pocked battlefield at Pescara. Her husband, a lieutenant in the Italian navy, was killed when the Nazis destroyed the battleship Roma.

Jolliffe Says 3rd Party To Come In U.S.

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 14 (CP) —A third party of influential proportions in the United States is inevitable, E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader today told a Detroit press conference. He declined to recommend what form it should take.

Mr. Joliffe faced a barrage of questions from several reporters.

He was asked whether he and other C.C.F. leaders, while students at Oxford University, stated 'they would not fight for the British Empire. He said there was no truth in such a statement so far as himself and Professor Frank Scott, C.C.F. national chairman, was concerned. He could not speak for David Lewis, national secretary, he said.

He said there was no doubt in his mind that many at the Oxford University meeting now are serving in the fighting forces and have perhaps given their lives. They may not have changed their opinions from that time but never had forsaken the British Empire nor declared themselves against fighting for freedom and democracy.

The Ontario party leader was cautious in giving advice to third party supporters in the U.S.

"After all, I am a foreigner," he said. "You quite properly do not take kindly to foreigners telling you how to run your affairs."

Mr. Joliffe is in Detroit for the next three days at the invitation of the regional director of the United Wholesale and Retail and Department Store Employees Association (C.I.O.) and is scheduled to address other unions including locals of both A.R. of L. and C.I.O.

He will answer questions about how to organize and win votes for a third party which now is being discussed in Michigan.

Mr. Jolliffe told the Detroit reporters that the C.C.F. had its own labor bill nearly completed and hopes to see it introduced at the coming session of the legislature. It will make provision for "true compulsory collective bargaining" as compared to the "theoretical" compulsion in the present bill; it will define company unions, outlaw them and provide penalties for the organizers and the companies permitting them; it will define in specific terms what are known as "unfair labor practices" and provide penalties for violations—something the present act does not do, he emphasized.

"The present Ontario Labor Act is wholly inadequate and the ultimate power rests with judges who are violently opposed to unions and particularly C.I.O. unions," he said.

He described the Ontario Labor Act as an "impossible institution" and indicated that the present government is "pretty well committed to its abolition."

Hastings Scholars Support Red Cross

HASTINGS, Dec. 14 — (ENS).—The pupils of the Junior and Senior room of the Hastings Public School held a very successfud concert and draw in the town hall on Friday night. Proceeds, which amounted to $42.46, were donated to the Hastings Red Cross for local men overseas.

The program opened with the chairman's remarks by Henry McMillen, after which dialogues, choruses and recitations were rendered by pupils of the Junior room.

A presentation of the money from the door receipts was made by Betty Stevens to Reeve L. E. Kelly, who is president of the Red Cross. Reeve Kelly then made the draw for the fowl, on which the pupils had sold tickets. The prize winners were: 1 turkey, Mrs. Bert Lynch; 2 goose, Miss Betty Dainard; 3 chicken, Miss Maureen Humphries. The Senior room presented their part of the program, which consisted of a dialogue, Christmas cantata, "When Santa Forgot the Smiths." Folk dance and sailor's hornpipe.

The pupils all played their parts exceptionally well and much credit is due to Miss Jessie Lamb, teacher in the junior room and Mr. Grant Sine of the senior room.

Liberal Caucus Meets This Week

ST. GEORGE, Ont., Dec. 14—Harry C. Nixon, Ontario Liberal leader, today announced a caucus of the 15 Liberal members of the Legislature will be held at Queen's Park Wednesday and Thursday.

Asked if the Liberals will support the Progressive Conservative government of Premier, Mr. Nixon, former premier, said: "There is no blanket pledge that we will support the government in everything they do."

"As far as I know no one is pledged to give unqualified support. We will support measures for the good of the province and the country and I suppose we will offer some constructive suggestions which will merit support from the other two parties."

He said it was unlikely that Mitchell F. Hepburn, once premier and leader of the party, who was elected as an independent in Elgin riding, will be invited to the caucus. "Mitch ran as an independent," said Mr. Nixon.

CongressQueries Aluminum Deal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Washington and Oregon Congressmen expressed concern to-day over reports that the War Production Board intended to close pig aluminum plants in the Los Angeles area, in the Longview- Wash., and Spokane, Wash., areas.

Representative John Coffee (Rep. Wash.) said he had heard the reports over the week-end and was investigating them with a view to doing what he could to prevent it. The reason assigned, he said, was that there was a surplus of aluminum for war purposes.

"I am not convinced there is any surplus of aluminum,' Coffee declared.

"I understand that our Government will continue purchasing aluminum from the Shipshaw (Quebec) project in Canada, while urging the closing of aluminum plants in our north-west. It would be a questionable and reprehensible thing to do."

Remove Plane Paint To Boost Speed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—The United States War Department has ordered removal of war paint from virtually all of the Army Air Forces' planes in order to lighten the aircraft and add several miles an hour additional speed.

Combat commanders recommended the action, the announcement said. Only specialized planes in use overseas will retain camouflage paint.

The Army Air Force estimated omission of the paint will reduce the weight in fighter types by 15 to 20 pounds and in heavy bombardment types by 70 to 80 pounds.

Lifer In Alcatraz Prison Demands New Trial Jury Convicts Him, Will Be Electrocuted

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 14 — (AP).— Federal Judge Shackleford Miller to-day sentenced Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., to die Friday, March 10 in Kentucky's electric chair for the $50,000 ransom kidnapping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll of Louisville in 1934.

A Federal court jury late Saturday nigrt convcted Robinson and recommended the death penalty but the Judge could have imposed a lesser sentence. Robinson pleaded guilty to the charge in 1936 and at that time was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The 36 year old former Nashville, Tenn., law student won a jury trial after he obtain a writ of habeas corpus releasing him from Alcatraz prison, where he had served 6½ years of a life term for the Stoll abduction. He contended he was insane at the time of the kidnapping, that he was coerced by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigaton into pleading guilty and that he was not represented properly by counsel.

The kidnapping occurred in October 1934 and the prosecution contended the hearing of Mrs. Stoll was impaired permanently by a hard blow on her head from a piece of iron pipe wielded by Robinson.

Mrs. Stoll denied on the witness stand that she had known Robinson prior to her abduction.

Robinson eluded F.B.I. agents for nearly two years while living a life of luxury at swank hotels from coast to coast. He finally was captured at Glendale, Calif., and returned here where he pleaded guilty to the kidnapping.

Drivers Uninjured In Highway Crash

LINDSAY, Dec. 14 — (ENS). — Joseph Levin of Toronto narrowly escaped serious injury in an automobile accident that occurred on the Fenelon Falls highway two miles south of Cameron. A car driven by Victor Arscott of Fenelon Falls going north, slewed on the slippery highway, crashing into the Levin car turning it around several times and shearing off the left rear side. The Arscott car ended up on the shoulder of the road with the left fender and side completely torn off.

Jap Prisoner Warns Russia Next

Nippon Rushing Preparations In Manchuria

By CLYDE FARNSWORTH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH CHINESE FORCES IN NORTHERN HUNAN PROVINCE, Dec. 12 (Delayed) — (AP). — A little Japanese prisoner of war, who used to be a farm hand near Osaka, blandly told visiting Allied military attaches and correspondents today that Japan was rushing preparations in Manchuria and "the final result will be war with Russia."

The prisoner, Masakusu Funabashi, 25, asserted that a conflict with the Soviet Union was regarded as a foregone conclusion by his old comrades, friends and relatives.

As he spoke Japanese planes drummed in the distance through Hunan's sunny haze, clearly audible to the group of questioners clustered handily near the mouth of a hillside air raid shelter. Included in the party were Russian, British, Fighting French and American military representatives who are touring the Hunan front with correspondents.

Funabashi was a corporal in the 217th infantry regiment, 34th division, before the Chinese captured him two months ago near Hsinkien in Kiangsi province.

Among the interrogators was Lt. Col. P. P. Voronin, assistant military attache of the Russian Embassy in Chungking.

LONDON — More than 16,000 Canadian soldiers will take English and Scottish girls home with them as wives after the war, Canada's high commissioner to Britain, Vincent Massey, said.

SYDNEY, Australia—The Australian newspapers said today the belligerent nations are reducing production of tanks because of the discovery of an effective counter to that weapon is massed guns.

LONDON—A drug, diethylstilboestrol—which he said would "completely control" cancer of the prostrate gland and save 4,000 lives in Britain alone is reported by Dr. E. C. Dodds Courtauld, professor of biochemistry at the University of London.

15 Jap Planes Bagged In Burma

NEW DELHI, Dec. 15 — (CP). Continuous bombing and strafing attacks by R.A.F. and American aircraft against the Japanese in Burma were announced today in a communique covering a week of activity by the Southeast Asia Command.

The R.A.F. struck railway installations in Mandalay, Moulmein and Paleik, attacking ammunition dumps at Toungoo twice and strafing traffic on the road through Taungup Pass several nights.

The much-bombed airport at Heho also was hit three times, twice by the R.A.F. and once by the Americans.

Fourteen enemy planes were shot down and 18 damaged by aircraft, and another Japanese bomber was destroyed by anti-aircraft in these raids, the communique said.

In all these raids, four Allied planes missing and 18 enemy aircraft destroyed.

Ground activity was limited to patrolling, with some bitter clashes.

Canadians Heavily Shelled

By DOUGLAS AMARON—Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH CANADIAN FORCES IN ITALY, Dec. 13 (Delayed)—(CP Cable).—This story comes from the little town of San Leonardo where a quiet hour is one when only one shell falls in a minute. Canadian troops have been fighting around the town 2½ miles north of the Moro River for five days and have held it for the last four. But the Germans still are so near there have been machine-gun clashes right on the outskirts. German patrols have even ventured into the town itself.

At one time San Leonardo must have been a picturesque place. But today it is just smashed to bits by shells, first from British and Canadian guns, now from the Germans.

The road leading to San Leonardo winds down the northern slopes of heights overlooking the Moro valley. A sign at the top reading "this road is subject to shellfire and sniping" is almost superfluous.

A dead mule lies in the bend of the road and Canadians have named it "Duck Alley." Another mule is 50 yards away, while at "Hellfire Corner" a burned-out truck lies on its side.

And if these signs convince a driver to keep moving, the Germans lend conviction with a round of multiple mortars or heavy shellfire. It is not a comfortable spot.

A stone cross marks the entrance to San Leonardo and beyond it are shell-pocked ruins of houses. Some still provide cover for the Canadians garrisoning the town but many are just heaps of stone and concrete.

Direct Hit On Truck

I spent an hour in the town today, arriving just after a shell scored a direct hit on a truck. The driver, unhurt, was standing in a doorway across the street watching flames and smoke rising to the sky and warning passersby that the gasoline tank had not yet exploded.

Fifty yards down the street along which there were a dozen "deloused" German mines, Maj. J. C. Clarke of Toronto was keeping in touch by wireless with forward platoons of the company he commands. With him in a house damaged early in the battle by a Canadian shell were two signallers, Ptes. Harold Smith of Montreal and Willard Perrault

King Is Gravest Obstacle To Rebirth Of Italians

By RELMAN MORIN—Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, Dec. 14 (Delayed)—(AP).—The Italian Committee of National Liberation, representing the six major non-Fascist political parties, issued a statement today describing King Victor Emmanuel as "one of the gravest obstacles to the rebirth of the nation."

At the same time Benedetto Croce, venerable Italian politicians and philosopher, declared unequivocally that the King's abdication is a prerequisite to reconstruction of a united Italy.

Croce's assertion was made in reply to a recent barrage of editorials in monarchist periodicals and pamphlets attacking him, the pre-Fascist Foreign Minister, Count Carlo Sforza, and other elements who have been urging the King's abdication.

In another statement, published in Naples' only newspaper and broadcast by the Naples radio, Croce raised the possibility of a formal trial of the King, adding that he hoped legal proceedings would never be brought against the sovereign for, he said, the results could only be complete condemnation of the monarch.

The King should voluntarily abdicate, he continued, not only for his own sake but for the sake of the monarchy itself.

The crossfire of accusations and counter-accusations has brought the political fever in Italy to its highest pitch at any time since the campaign against the King began.

The committee's lengthy statement—the strongest criticism yet directed at the King—was addressed to the people of Italy and pointed out three fundamental problems:

1. The urgent need for food and transportation facilities to move supplies from one part of Italy to the other.

2. The necessity of reactivating Italian industry in order to aid the war against Germany.

3. The importance of reconstructing the government.

"However, along with these grave difficulties," the statement said, "there also are those resulting from the refusal of the head of the crown, who participated in the tragic military and civil adventures of Fascsim, to abandon the throne and to consent to the indicated solution in the form of a constitutional regency which would not prejudice either the hopes of the royal house nor the rights of the Italian people, once the territorial unity of the fatherland is reconstructed."

The committee's manifesto was signed not only by representatives of the six political parties but by the National Association of Wounded War Veterans. It thus marshalled against the monarch the strongest lineup of Italian groups he has so far been confronted with.

The King's opponents insist they are demanding his abdication because he is equally responsible with Mussolini for the disaster of Fascism. They also have asserted that the nation will not rally industrially or militarily behind the Allies as long as he remains on the throne.

Until recently the Monarchists have remained silent. With the formation not long ago of the monarchical organization, "the Blue Party," they took the offensive and have been filling newspapers with articles and issuing pamphlets condemning Croce, Sforza and their associates.

Allied officials have been attempting to maintain strict neutrality toward the dispute. They have warn-

Caldari Town Falls To Canadians

Daring Canucks Capture 200 In Night Attack

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 15 (AP)—Canadian and Indian troops led an 8th Army attack that captured Caldari, six miles from Ortona on the Adriatic coast of Italy, and cost the Germans 200 prisoners, Allied headquarters announced today.

Canadian troops in a daring night raid on the village of Berrati, two miles from Ortona, captured the commanding officer of the 361st Armored Grenadier division, his Adjutant, four other officers and 140 men.

An Allied officer announced that two bridgeheads across the Moro river, forced by the Canadians on the coast and Indian troops farther inland, now have been merged into one. It is about a mile in depth and five miles wide.

This bridgehead includes Caldari.

The Canadians had replaced the battle-tried British 78th division. Not content with steady day attacks, the aggressive Canadians staged a night raid on Berrati, catching the Nazi garrison by surprise to take nearly 150 prisoners and kill many other Germans. The Canadians retired after the raid, on the night of Dec. 12, taking all equipment of value with them.

Indian troops, which are flanked along the coast by the Canadians, and inland by the New Zealand 2nd Division, took Caldari against stubborn resistance in their fiercest attack.

The weather improved on both the 8th and 5th Army fronts.

Clearing weather enabled the 15th Air Force to send big formations into the air.

The great fleet of bombers and escorting fighters dealt a knockout blow against German air force nests at Elev, Kalamaki and Tatoi, all just outside Athens.

Heavy bombers delivered the first blow at Piraeus Harbor, key Grecian port which was almost destroyed during the early days of the German invasion of Greece in April, 1941.

Thirty-five German fighters which rose to challenge the waves of bombers and their escorting fighters were brushed aside in a blaze of gunfire which sent 12 of the Germans crashing to earth. In other air activity during the day, three additional German planes were shot down bringing the 24-hour bag in this theatre to 15, against an Allied loss of five, with one pilot safe.

The attacks on the airfields around Athens were the same tactics used by the Germans during their invasion to knock out the tiny R.A.F. force then stationed on those same airdromes.

Over the battle area in Italy several hundred sorties were flown by fighters, which also operated over Yugoslavia. Fighter-bombers hit shipping in the harbor at Civitavecchia, northwest of Rome, and R.A.F. Bostons bombed Pontecorvo in the Venafro area.

Medium bombers struck at the railway junction at Orte and bombed a bridge over the flooded Liri River on the 5th Army front which has been the scene of intense fight-

C.B.C. Explains Reason Bracken Refused

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Dr. Augustin Frigon, acting general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, in a letter to John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader—made public today by the CBC—said his decision not to allow an address by Mr. Bracken from Hamilton last week to be carried by the Corporation's national network was in accordance with a policy laid down by the board of governors.

(National headquarters of the Progressive Conservative Party yesterday released a letter from Mr. Bracken to Dr. Frigon complaining of the Corporation's refusal to carry the Hamilton address and saying he saw in this action "the beginnings of a general restriction on the freedom of speech.")

"My personal responsibilty is to see that our regulations and our policy as approved by our Board of governors are implemented and there is no doubt whatever in my mind that some of your statements would have been considered by our board as much more than an account of your stewardship as leader of the Progressive Conservative party," Dr. Frigon said.

"Whether it is advisable to accept political controversy on our national network between election time is not for me to decide. Our board has always thought that the public did not want such broadcasts to take place, especially during wartime."

Dr. Frigon said that about a year ago the board decided that leaders of major political parties might be invited from time to time to report on their stewardship.

Denied Premier.

"It was expected, however, that no direct reference would be made to other groups," Dr. Frigon said. "Were this to happen, it might be considered as direct attack and we would have to grant the right of rebuttal to others and our network would soon be transformed into a political arena."

Dr. Frigon said that in discussions with a representative of the Progressive Party he had agreed to put in writing his observations asking for "slight modifications" in the Bracken text, when he was supplied with a copy of the address. He had not, however, received a copy.

"In your letter you state that our board denied to you the right which it granted to others," said Dr. Frigon. "I am sure we would like to know who are the political leaders you have in mind.

"If you refer to addresees by ministers of the Crown, I must remark that those are considered as

Germans Advancing On Kiev After Taking Radomysl Terrific Battle Looming

Red Armies Move Against Krivoi Rog Headed By Paratroops Aiming At Vital Railway Junction

By EDDY GILMORE—Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Dec. 15—(AP).—The Germans hurled tanks and troops into the Smela sector 14 miles southwest of captured Cherkasy today, seeking to hold off strong attacks by Soviet parachute troops threatening the vital railway junction from the northwest.

From frontline dispatches, it appeared that Lt.-Gen. Koroteyev, operating under the command of Gen. Ivan Konev of the 2nd Ukrainian Army, already has a substantial group of parachutists, well-armed especially with mortars, near the village of Svidovok between Cherkasy and Smela, and there are indications that he is pouring in more.

While the parachutists, joined by the advanced groups that took Cherkasy, moved westward toward the Kiev-Dnepropetrovsk railway and Smela, other Red Army forces advanced in the direction of Smela from north of Znamenka and west of Kremenchug.

Konev's new offensive, powered by perhaps 300,000 men, threatens to engulf the important industrial targets of Kirovograd and Krivoi Rog, further down in the Dnieper bulge.

(At Kirovograd, the German communique said, the Russians "temporarily" succeeded in breaking into the German lines. The Nazis claimed, however, that the Soviets had been thrown back later by German counter-attacks.)

Russian troops in the Kiev bulge, meanwhile, battled desperately to halt Field Marshal von Mannstein's reinforced Nazi armored divisions which were reported pushing on toward Kiev from the highway junction of Radomysl.

Throwing in waves of tanks and infantry in apparent disregard for the cost, Von Mannstein seemed determined to recapture the capital of the Ukraine.

New Offensive.

Another Russian offensive, this one in the far north near Nevel, was reported by the Berlin radio. Here the Germans said Gen. Andrei Yeremenko, defender of Stalingrad, was moving westward with six infantry divisions and two tank corps. The Latvian border was barely 70 miles away and Berlin admitted loss of several positions. Moscow made no mention of this reported action.

In the bloody battle of the bulge west of Kiev, Moscow dispatches said Von Mannstein was throwing fresh troops and tanks into a de-

New Britain Invasion Expected Soon

By HAROLD STREETER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—New Britain, the Southwest Pacific island whose invasion would constitute easily the most important ground move to date in westward operations against Japan, now has passed through the second straight month of the most sustained air offensive of the Pacific war.

Possibly, presaging momentous developments, Allied air forces in the Solomons and on New Guinea have devastated that keystone of the Nipponese defences with more than 3,000 tons of explosives between October 12 and December 12.

New Britain's role in the as yet preliminary stages of the Pacific war is great. Its capture would burst open the sealanes to the Philippines, with Manila 2,500 miles away. Wrested from the Japanese, it would put the Allies within 800 miles of Truk, the great enemy naval base to the north—closer to that vital spot than they stand at other other point by 200 miles.

The constant aerial bombardment appears to have adhered to a definite pattern—a strictly one-two punch. First the massed weight fell on the eastern end of the 300-mile-long island at the

4 Men Released In Liquor Theft

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP)—William Baskett of Hamilton, charged with armed robbery in the theft of a liquor load here Monday, is suffering from "a few scratches about the mouth." Crown Attorney James W. McFadden was informed yesterday by Dr. W. H. Hills, jail physician.

Examination of Baskett was made following charges by George Bagwell, counsel for Baskett, who claimed in police court yesterday that his client's lips were swollen and said he had been told Baskett was beaten by police.

Four of the six men apprehended after the robbery were released last night on bail. Max Applebaum, Edwin MacDonald and Victor Taylor, held on vagrancy charges, were released on $500 bail. Howard Wilkinson, 17, held as a material witness was freed on his own bail.

Bakett is held without bail, while James Shorting was still in custody today with bail set at $10,000. He is charged with receiving 600 cases of liquor stolen from the truck.

The truck and cargo were stolen early Monday by gunmen who kidnapped the driver, George Butcher, 38 of Chatham, Ont. Police recovered the truck and liquor late Monday.

Finnish Radio Discusses Peace

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 — (AP). — The Finnish radio "discussed peace proposals" in a broadcast beamed to the Soviet Union, according to a BBC broadcast recorded today by CBS.

The broadcast quoted the Finnish "President of the Foreign Affairs Commission" as saying:

"Our country must make every effort to have peace as quickly as possible. Certain great powers have often declared that peace would not come before a long time. But if this is the case, a small country forced to fight a numerically superior enemy will find itself in a situation very different from that of a nation who has not awaited the end of the war to make peace, and whose frontiers have been defended by all armed forces."

Eden Says Big 3 Can Guarantee Peace

Many Millions Eager To See Ideal Of World Peace A Reality

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons yesterday that complete post-war co-operation of Britain, Russia and the United States is assured, adding that "the recurrent threat of war can only be met if there is an international order firmer in strength and unity than an enemy could seek to challenge."

"We three can work to-gether," said Mr. Eden. He didn't attempt to be more specific about a method of maintaining peace.

There probably are few people of the United Nations who don't hope earnestly that war's end will produce some sort of organization that will insure peace and generally promote the welfare of mankind.

Long Way Off

Because so many millions are eager to see this ideal achieved, it's reasonable to believe success will be attained in due course. It's likely that partial success will be a comparatively early reward of our efforts.

I think we may save ourselves much disappointment, however, if we figure it will take a long time to reach the ideal.

There is a very sizeable school which feels that, looking at the matter from a coldly practical standpoint, the maintenance of peace will have to be left, at least for a considerable time, in the hands of the Big Three —Britain, the United States and Russia.

These are the dominant powers of the world. Standing together they represent a power which is invincible in the face of any combination of countries which could be devised. This trio could maintain peace—so long as it remained intact. And that arrangement wouldn't preclude the creation of an organization which would handle other matters of mutual concern to the members.

Kingston Regiment In Italy

Ninth Canadian Unit To Be Recognized

ALGIERS, Dec. 15.—(AP).— Allied Headquarters to-day officially disclosed that the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards of the Canadian Army has participated in the fighting in Italy.

The Princess Louise Dragoon Guards also served in Sicily, as a reconnaissance battalion attached to the Canadian 1st Division.

It is the ninth Canadian unit to have been officially identified by name by Allied Headquarters as fighting in Italy with the British 8th Army.

Those previously named were: The Royal Canadian Regiment, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, the 48th Highlanders of Canada the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, the Loyal Edmonton Regiment, the Carleton and York Regiment and the Three Rivers Tank Regiment. Regiments named in news dispatches, but not formally identified by headquarters, include the Royal 22nd and the West Nova Scotias.

All these units fought in Sicily before the invasions of the Italian mainland.

Nobel Plants To Shut Down

Employ 3,600 Persons, 380 Homes Built

NOBEL, Ont., Dec. 15—(CP). — Employees of Defence Industries, Ltd., here today were informed that beginning in January the plants are to be gradually shut down. For the past four years the plants have been making explosives.

Notice to this effect came officially to the management from Ottawa. It was believed the shutdown would extend over some months and the employees dismissed gradually.

The Nobel plants employ 3,600 persons, including several hundred women engaged recently. The payroll has fluctuated between 3,000 and 4,000 for a year. At its peak the D.I.L. engaged 4,500 workers.

More than 200 new houses were erected here by Wartime Housing, Ltd., and 180 more at nearby Parry Sound, where the effect of the curtailment of plant operations will be felt. Normal population of the town is between 3,600 and 3,800, and at present the town records show a population of about 5,800 as the result of the overflow from Nobel.

5000 Strikers Return At Montreal

Police, Firemen Back On Jobs Union Recognized

By HAROLD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, Dec. 15 — (CP).— Montreal became a normal city again today after 14 hours of existence under the most skeletonized of police and fire protection and the lack of most of its municipal services.

A strike of police, fire and public works department employees totalling more than 5,000 ended in the early morning hours upon delivery to strike headquarters of an agreement whereby the city promised to recognize the Canadian Congress of Labor as bargaining agent for the workers in the three departments.

The statement promising recognition was signed by L. E. Potvin, chairman of the Quebec Municipal Commission which controls the administration of Montreal. Its delivery removed the only expressed cause of the strike, and workers began returning to their stations immediately.

Feared Chaos

And as more and more firemen, policemen, water works employees, snow removal workers and garbage collectors returned to work, the 1,500,000 residents of the metropolitan area counted themselves lucky that none of the many catastrophies that might have overtaken the city had developed.

To many residents, the comparative ease and lack of excitement with which the city passed through the 14 hours was the most amazing feature of the strike.

Although 76 Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Provincial police officers took over the duties of 1,500 city constables, the strike period passed without major crime incidents. Although the merest

Fire Destroys Hatherly Barn

CAVAN, Dec. 16 — (ENS). — While neighbors stood helplessly by and rescued the cows and horses, flames completely destroyed the barn owned by Irwin Hatherly, Lot 17, Concession 5, Cavan, early this morning.

It was impossible to save the building because the fire had gained such headway before it was discovered. At 6 o'clock a neighbor, L. W. Smith, whose home is fairly close to the Hatherly barn, went out and saw no evidence of any flames. But at 6:30 David Hatherly who was waiting to drive in to work at the C.G.E. saw a reflection, which he thought to be car lights, and when he went out, the barn was well ablaze.

Besides the complete destruction of the barn, Mr. Hatherly lost 2 pigs, 15 turkeys, 100 hens, and 15 geese. Only a breeze from the south saved the house from a similar fate. The barn as filled with straw and hay and this helped feed the flames. Cause is unknown.

Claims Germans Will Hit Britain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP).— The story being told by German soldiers captured in Italy that the fatherland is husbanding its forces for a great spring offensive was regarded in military quarters here today as propaganda of the fantastic variety.

Washington authorities were quick to emphasize, however, that Germany still is fully capable of lashing out with savage and even locally successful counter - attacks against the tightening ring of Allied pressure.

The current claims of captured Nazis that vast quantities of military equipment, including new weapons and aircraft, are being hoarded for a final great drive for German victory is treated as propaganda dished out to its own troops and civilians by a government which still hopes for some political quarrel among the Allies that might yet save the present structure of the German state.

Allies Reject Bulgaria Peace Feelers

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 — (AP).— The New York Times said to-day in a dispatch from Cairo that Bulgaria had officially sent "peace feelers" to the Allied governments "in an effort to get out of a war that both the Bulgarian government and the population now realize is lost."

"These feelers," said the dispatch, "have been sent separately through the Russian government and to Britain and the United States, and they have been turned down.

"Premier Dobri Bojilov said that Bulgaria would be willing to negotiate a peace on the basis of the Atlantic Charter, in return for guarantees that Bulgaria might keep those territories that she seized from Yugoslavia and from Greece."

The dispatch said Bulgaria was prepared to argue that these were ethnically hers.

The Times dispatch said that thus far the only answer received at Sofia was the continued bombing by the Allies and reiteration of the unconditional surrender terms which "means evacuation of stolen territories."

"The Germans are reported to have warned Sofia that any further efforts to desert (the Axis war machine) will be met with strong German action and the unhappy state of Italy is cited as evidence of what may happen," the dispatch declared.

It added that Turkey was trying to induce Bulgaria to leave the war "by combined suasion and threats."

Cadet Training Will Continue

LONDON — (CP) — Pre-service cadet organizations of the army, navy and air force will be maintained as a voluntary service after the war with government financial backing, Lord Munster has assured the House of Lords.

A debate on the question was initiated by the Duke of Montrose who demanded military training for youth after the war. The main difference of opinion in the debate arose on the question of voluntary or compulsory service.

Lord Munster, under-secretary of state for India, speaking for the government, said he thought the coming generation would hate compulsion and a great deal more could be done to make the cadet forces popular on a voluntary basis.

Canadians Heavily

of Penetanguishene, Ont.

Shells were falling with unnerving consistency, but Clarke, who gained his majority in this battle, did not appear worried. Nor were the signallers.

"It's not too bad when they are far away, but you get a bit shaky when they land in the alley outside the door and plaster begins to fall," Clarke said.

His "far away" meant anything from 50 yards up. There were no civilians to be seen anywhere.

Clarke, whose Eastern Canada battalion crossed the Moro last Wednesday, has been in San Leonardo for three days. The troops he commanded were used previously to strengthen the town's eastern flank after a German counter-attack threatened to force back the Canadians already there.

To the accompaniment of shell bursts, Clarke told how the battalion forded the narrow river and took up positions west of San Leonardo. He said the Germans, moving back under pressure of an artillery barrage, dropped everything, leaving weapons, steel helmets, packs and "a lot of good Jerries."

Patrols went east to the outskirts of San Leonardo which they thought Canadians had captured by that time, but found Germans still there. During the following day the troops were under shell and mortar fire.

Then Clarke led two companies to the east of the town where they remained until the threat of counter-attack was over. Since then his troops have been in the area of the town itself.

Shelling Is Continuous

Shelling has been continuous, he said, with the Germans concentrating their heaviest barrage between two and three each afternoon and for an hour before dawn.

The troops are standing up well under the shelling and there have been comparatively few casualties but Clarke said their inability to hit back personally was hard to take.

The major said there had been many close calls among officers and men of his battalion and cited the cases of Capt. Freddie McLaren York Mills, Ont., another company commander, and his own sergeant major, G. R. Keeler of St. Catharines, Ont.

McLaren was in a slit trench protected by a sort of frame covering when a Canadian tank which apparently mistook his position for a German strongpoint attacked Machine-gun fire and then a high-explosive shell riddled the covering.

The troops were certain McLaren must have been killed, and still believed he was at least seriously wounded when he emerged from the trench sprayed with blood. But on examination it was found his only injuries were scratches from wood splinters.

Keeler's escape was almost as close. He put his hat, rifle and binoculars in a slit trench and walked away to make a cup of tea. When he returned he found a shell had scored a direct hit and the only thing left was a small piece of the rifle.

"If he had not decided to brew some tea we'd be indenting for a new sergeant major," Clarke said.

The two signallers who with Pte. George Clements of Montreal, man a wireless set and repair lines of communications to forward platoons after shelling also had an "incident."

"We lost a set by shrapnel," Perrault said. "The shell landed quite close and a splinter went right through the receiver."

As shells kept falling and mortars moaned over the town newspapermen asked Clarke and his men how they managed to sleep. He replied it was not much trouble to sleep through explosions but at every burst of machine-gun fire he woke up.

"We eat too," he said. "Rations have been coming up every night."

Mortars Numerous

Across an alleyway from Clarke's post was another stone house in which half a dozen Maritime mortarmen from the west Nova Scotia Regiment were taking shelter.

The mortar men had given the Germans a 15-minute pasting earlier in the day in support of an infantry attack by another Maritime battalion (the Carleton and Yorks from New Brunswick.) British and Canadian artillery had joined in and the enemy was so shaken that prisoners had to be lifted out of their trenches.

"I saw 22 prisoners being brought in and they were really shaking," Sgt. D. G. Tait, Amherst, N.S., said. The Maritimers had been under heavy fire themselves the previous day and Tait, who has been with the unit since its first landings in Sicily, said, "It was just about as rough a time as I ever had."

The West Nova Scotias had advanced during the night to positions northwest of San Leonardo and the following day was just one continuous counter-attack.

"They bumped us and we went right back again," Tait said. "The enemy concentrated heavy stuff right in our area and we were shelled and mortared all day long."

A couple of shells landed outside as the sergeant was speaking and he added, "This is a picnic compared with yesterday."

When the first lull came we decided to quit the town for the safer and quieter area of our camp.

Osteopath Says Ulcer Cure Has Been Found

TORONTO, Dec. 15.—After eleven years of research a Toronto man claims to have discovered how to cure stomach and duodenal ulcers.

He is Dr. B. M. Sparling, a practicing osteopathic physician, who first came upon what he believes to be a permanent cure for these ulcers while doing research work on cancer in his own laboratory in Philadelphia in 1931.

Since then he has devoted a great deal of his time to perfecting this treatment and working out a diet to go with it which would be suitable for all ulcer patients.

Contrary to popular opinion that nervous trouble is the principal cause of ulcers, Dr. Sparling believes that they will only result when accompanied by one or several other contributing factors. Of these factors it is his opinion that constipation, unbalanced diet and inflammatory conditions of the intestinal tract are by far the most common.

Eight Toronto persons who have already completed Dr. Sparling's short period treatment are reported to have obtained complete relief to several of these people.

A well-known Toronto x-ray expert, among the first in that city to do x-ray work on the stomach, spoke most highly of Dr. Sparling's achievement. From the x-rays he had taken of this physician's patients, this authority was ready to admit that whatever it was Dr. Sparling had found, it worked many times better than anything he had ever seen before.

Dr. Sparling feels certain that many sufferers from ulcer conditions could find relief by means of his method and is interested in the organization of a hospital for ulcer patients.

He is 41, married, and has a five-year-old son. Born in a small Ontario town, he went to the United States while still a young man and received his early education in Philadelphia. He later graduated from Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery, Kirksville, Me., and came to Canada several years ago to set up practice in Toronto.

The resumption of air attack on a large scale was foreshadowed in the prediction Sunday of Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of U.S. air forces, that "terrible blows" were in prospect for Germany and her satellites in the Balkans.

The largest blow against the Balkans until yesterday was that of 177 heavy bombers sent against Ploesti, Rumania, oil fields from the Middle East, Aug. 1. Yesterday was the first time four targets in Greece had been hit simultaneously.

Visiting Sailor Praises Cadets

One hundred and forty-six smartly moving blue clad members of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps Howe, put on a smooth working drill Tuesday night in the ship's quarters, which earned the praise of a visiting Navy man, S.P.O. William Dewar, who has had three years' service with the R.C.N.V.R. and is now on leave.

This was the last of the "Open House" programs given for the parents by the four divisions. The Harwood Division, under Sea Cadet Sub Lieut. E. Pridham, was the duty division for the night and it was their job to clean the ship and furnish the guards. The Jellico, Trafalgar and Beatty divisions plus the band, did their part in carrying out the ship's ceremony. There were a few recruits, not yet in uniform, assigned to the Tender.

Each drill night the Sea Cadets carry out a set program which is done on Navy ships every morning. The purpose of inviting the parents, S.C. Lieut Stanley Longhurst, officer commanding, said, was to give them some idea of just what the boys were doing and to cure a too prevalent absenteeism on the part of a few cadets. Only for legitimate excuses are the boys allowed to miss parade he explained.

Takes Over Job

One of the first Sea Cadets to enlist in the Navy, Ordinary Seaman Robert Graham, who is home on leave from H.M.C.S. York, paid a visit to his old shipmates and requested permission to take over his former job as gunner's mate for the night. He did, and a good time was had by all concerned.

Although the audience was small, they made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers. This is the first time the attendance has fallen off. The other three nights the average was 40 and Friday night there were 60 present, officers said.

The cadets are now following a syllabus put out by the Navy and the training is such, that any cadet enlisting in the Navy will have a fair part of his basic training behind him. However no boy who joins RCSSC Howe is obligated to join the Navy. He can take his pick of the services when he gets his call.

Camp Pictures

After watching the drill, the guests were escorted to the officers' quarters where they were shown a picture taken during the cadets' vacation at Minnicog Island. Here they heard the story of the visit of Princess Alice, saw the routine, and learned the sad story of the supply officer who was told to "fill" the boys at any cost and used rations for 300 youngsters, which Navy officers estimated would feed more than 800 men at H.M.C.S. York. Even with that the boys couldn't get enough and formed a nightly canteen line-up.

Another thing about the pictures which particularly interested the mothers was to see their sons scrubbing decks and polishing brass and actually enjoying it, when they would consider it an insult to be asked at home.

While coffee and sandwiches were served the visitors, the cadets were given a surprise showing of the military picture, "The Nazis Strike," given through the kind permission of Lt.-Col. Walter Bapty of the Training Centre.

Marmora Resident Pays Traffic Fine

On a written plea of guilty Fred Johnston, Marmora auctioneer, was fined $5 and $2.50 costs on a charge of careless driving in police court this morning, and on a second count of driving without a license was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., remarked that in cases of that kind the ends of justice might better be served if the accused were required to appear in court instead of being allowed to settle the matter without a personal appearance.

Provincial Constable Archie Grayling of Havelock who laid the charges said that he was satisfied with a $5 fine.

"The accused drove off the highway and into the ditch" he explained. "No one was hurt."

"How did he happen to drive off the highway"?

"I think he fell asleep at the wheel" said the officer.

The accident happened on Highway 7 three miles west of Marmora.

Premier George Drew At Guildhall Meeting

LONDON, Dec. 15 (CP Cable) — Premier George Drew of Ontario today attended a Guildhall meeting meeting at which Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner spoke on the British Commonwealth.

Mr. Drew was also guest at the Lord Mayor's luncheon prior to the speech.

Yesterday Mr. Drew was guest at a private luncheon given by Mr. Massey at his home. Other guests were Lord Woolton, Minister of Reconstruction; Sir Stafford Cripps, Minister of Aircraft Production; Sir Archibald Sinclair, Air Secretary; R. S. Hudson, Agriculture Minister; Lord Camrose, Lord Cherwell, Earl De La Warr and Stanley Bruce, Australian High Commissioner.

Mighty Aerial Assault Hurled At Japs

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Dec. 15— (AP)—One of the mightiest aerial assaults of the war on New Britain Island, Japan's bulwark in the Southwest Pacific, was reported by Allied Headquarters today.

In the Gasmata area, important enemy supply centre on the south shore, more than 100 heavy and medium bombers in a three-hour midday attack Sunday dropped 24 tons of bombs.

Ninteen Jap interceptors rose to meet the attackers, which included fighters, and two of the enemy were shot down.

While Gasmata was taking it, other attacks were made on Rabaul, the enemy's sea and air base on the northeastern tip of the island, where medium bombers set fires at Lakunai airdrome; at Wide Bay, on the southeast coast; at Cape Hoskins, on the north coast, and at Cape Gloucester, airdrome area on the western coast.

The Japanese attempted to stop the Australians moving north in Ramu valley, Eastern New Guinea, with three counter-attacks which the Aussies repulsed with heavy losses to the attackers.

An Australian column advancing north from Finschhafen, New Guinea, is closing in on Lakona, Japanese supply base, the communique said.

Air squadrons in the Solomons, freed of restricting bad weather, staged 200 sorties over Japanese air fields and supply centres on Bougainville Island, dropping 150 tons of bombs.

Other Allied planes ranged at night up to New Ireland, where a 4,400-ton enemy cargo vessel was sunk off Cape Maragu, then went on to Timor Island, northwest of Australia, to bomb the town of Koepang and its wharf area, setting off large fires.

Air Assaults Aid Yugoslavs

LONDON, Dec. 15. — (CP). — Mounting Allied air assaults along the Yugoslav Adriatic coast have have forced the Germans to abandon Uljan Island opposite Zara, and played a big role in a heavy defeat inflicted on the invaders by Yugoslav ground forces near Zara, headquarters of Marshal Josip Drog (Tito) announced to-day.

Tito's communique broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio also declared that Moslems— presumably recruits from scattered tribes in Eastern Yugoslavia—had joined his Partisans, with the Moslem 16th brigade capturing a town in Eastern Bosnia and forcing the Nazis to retreat.

The Berlin radio reported an Allied seaborne excursion against Pag Island, north of Uljan Island. It declared coastal batteries on Pag had sunk a fully-manned Allied landing boat, and turned away other boats "trying to reach the island."

If true, this German account meant the Allies had made a bold penetration of the outer screen of numerous islands to reach Pag, which lies within the sheltered approach to Fiume naval base.

Later a Budapest broadcast said German and Croat troops had landed on Pag, and occupied the town of the same name.

The Partisan communique gave full credit to Allied aertal assistance in the Yugoslav warfare, which is rising to a new pitch.

No Happiness in the Home When Mother Is Sick

The tired, worn out mother cannot make a happy home if she is sick and worried by the never ending household duties.

She gets run down and becomes nervous and irritable, downhearted and discouraged, can't rest at night, and gets up in the morning feeling as tired as when she went to bed.

Women suffering in this way may find in Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills a remedy with which to help recuperate their health, build up the run down system, and assist them back to health—happiness again.

Price 50c a box, 65 pills, at all drug counters.

Look for our trade mark a "Red Heart" on the package.

Police Find Woman 2 Days After Death

COBOURG, Dec. 15—(ENS)—Although she had been dead for two days, the body of Mrs. Leslie Wilson of Cobourg was only found Tuesday afternoon in her bed at her Havelock street house. A neighbor noticed that the milk had not been taken in for days and becoming alarmed notified Chief W. J. Carey who entered the house to investigate. He found Mrs. Wilson dead and one theory is that she might have died from coal gas from the furnace. Her husband, who edits a newspaper at Kenora was notified.

Mrs. Wilson, who was Flora Pomeroy before her marriage, was in her early sixties and besides her husband is survived by two brothers, Charles and Wilfred of Toronto.

Farmer Injures Knee

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 15 (ENS)—Mr. Kenneth Milne of Seymour East suffered an accident Tuesday afternoon when he pierced his knee with a hay fork. He was clearing some straw from a path outside the barn when the fork caught on the frozen ground and glanced to one side piercing the knee. After receiving medical attention in town he was able to proceed to his home.

Cheese Products Reduced Throughout Year

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 15 — (ENS). — Stanwood Cheese and Butter Company, first in the district to hold its annual meeting, gave some idea of what would be heard from other plants this year. Contrary to reports in preceeding war years when production was surging upwards, Stanwood showed decreased production and according to the figures presented by the secretary, Densmere Lain, the factory decrease amounted to approximately 14,000 pounds.

The patrons took a total of 915,083 pounds of milk to the factory and this yielded 77,586 pounds white cheese. Butterfat ran to 29,263.5 pounds, or an average of 2.65 pounds of cheese per pound of fat. Milk per pound cheese averaged 11.79 and the average price received per pound of cheese (exclusive of bonus and subsidy) was 20 cents, up from 19.36 cents last year Butterfat paid 45.54 cents and including the bonus and the subsidy 55.08. Receipts from the sale of cheese amounted to $15,471.16, plus $1,343.79 premium on high scoring cheese and $1,551.72 Provincial subsidy to make a total of $18,366.37. Only ten boxes of cheese had been rated as undergrades during the season and this was the result of either acid or of fruity flavour.

President Chester Irwin reviewed the season's activities pointing to improvement made on the factory during the year. These included a new whey cream separator and a new cement floor in the make room which together cost patrons $1,936.89. Both of these items were expected to pay dividends in the future, particularly the separator which would now be electrically operated and result in a saving of fuel.

Stressed Cleanliness

Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray, who was chairman of the meeting addressed the gathering and discussed the production, quality and the sediment test which was being publicized during the season. He stressed the importance of keeping dirt out of the milk and said it was impossible to strain it all out at the factory with the ordinary type of strainer. In some cases, even where new strainers had been issued and subsequent tests made, he said, it was found there was still a certain amount of the sediment in the curd all of which pointed to the much wider use of new type filters by farmers next season.

At nearly every factory he had visited during the season there was milk in each class—clean, slightly dirty, dirty and very dirty. Samples were sent to Guelph for analysis and these verified the tests conducted at the factories. "Though there were no 'clean' reports coming back from Guelph, we got one 'almost clean' while others ranged from 'slightly dirty' to 'very dirty' with most of them 'slightly dirty.'"

Filter Strainers

Mr. Murray said the new type of filter disc, to be used in straining the milk prior to its delivery to the factory, was now available from dairy supply houses. To emphasize the importance of this matter he said that again this year a quantity of cheese had been rejected for export as it contained too much foreign matter. And as a suggestion of what might be done he recalled that at one factory meeting in Hastings County the company appointed a committee to procure filter strainers for all of the patrons.

Agriculture Represenative R. C. Banbury spoke on matters of the general interest to the farmer and viewed production for the coming year with optimism. Mr. Murray presided for the election of officers for the coming year which resulted as follows: President, Chester Irwin; secretary, Densmere Lain; auditor W. R. Atkinson; the directors, Robert Lisle, Edward Anderson, John Rowe, Roger Lain, William Rose, William Rylott.

Cobourg Council Apologizes To Selective Service Office

COBOURG, Dec. 15 — (ENS). — Cobourg town council at a special meeting Tuesday night tendered an apology to Selective Service office for its contravention of the Selective Service regulations in the council's appointment of Roy Dodge, former reeve of Cobourg, to the post of deputy-town clerk. In accordance with the regulations cited in a letter from the local Selective Service office to the council, the municipal council formally advised the Selective Service that the job of deputy-town clerk was now open.

The following letter from Maurice Booth, manager of the local Selective Service office, was read at the council meeting:

"Mayor and Council, Town of Cobourg, Gentlemen:

"We have received a report from D. J. McKenna, enforcement officer of the National Selective Service, Toronto, who after visiting Cobourg last Monday and investigating the whole situation, outlines the following advice and also points out that the town council and Mr. Dodge contravened the rules and regulations of National Selective Service in the following manner:

"Not registering the vacancy with the local office; interviewing and hiring Mr. Dodge without a permit being presented by him from the local office; also that Mr. Dodge should not have applied for, nor accepted, the position knowing that he was frozen to his present position, and that a proper release had not been given, nor had he a permit to apply for, or accept, other employment.

"That Mr. Dodge was informed that he should have applied properly for permission to separate from the Cobourg City Dairy, that he could not apply for the town appointment if it were to be declared open, but that if he was given his release and the vacancy had been properly registered with Selective Service, he and anyone else could apply. That if Mr. Dodge was refused permission to leave his position with the Cobourg City Dairy, he could not apply for the town appointment if it were declared open, but that if he was given his release and the vacancy had been properly registered with Selective Service, he and anyone else could apply.

"Mr. McKenna states that no further action will be taken if the town council will take the following procedure:

"Notify this office that there is a vacancy for deputy-clerk, then if Mr. Dodge gets proper separation notice from the City Dairy and gets a permit from this office he can apply for this vacancy and it would be in order for the town council to hire Mr. Dodge. If Mr. Dodge cannot be released from his present occupation, the council can then advertise that there is a vacancy. This advertisement would have to be approved by this office. Any applicants would be directed to the council for your approval. The town council has all the power and rights to hire anyone they wish providing that the person has a permit from this office. Selective Service does not force any employer to take on an employee whom they feel is not suitable. If the town council will abide with the above rulings, there should not be any further difficulties in getting the necessary help you need in the clerk's office and if the council requires any further advice, this office will be pleased to help in any manner possible. Yours very truly, M. Booth, manager Cobourg office."

Following the reading of the foregoing letter at last night's council meeting, the following resolution was passed:

Moved by Councillor Alan Field, seconded by Deputy-Reeve R. Love, that the clerk send a letter to the local Selective Service office apologizing for the council's contravening of the regulations and advising the Selective Service office that there was a vacancy for the position of deputy-clerk.

Sokoloski Taken To Army Centre

COBOURG, Dec. 15 (ENS)—Tony Sokoloski, Pine Ridge, Manitoba, was sentenced to 17 days in jail, dating from November 29, when he was found guilty Tuesday on a charge of not keeping his divisional national mobilization registrar informed as to his change of address. His sentence expired today and he was turned over to the R.C.M.P. for transfer to the nearest army training centre.

Corporal Karl Lockwood informed the court that he interviewed Sokoloski on November 30 on board a tug in the harbor and in reply to questions regarding Selective Service, the accused told him that he had resided at Pine Ridge about two years ago and had since lived at Fort William, Sault Ste. Marie and other places before coming to Cobourg. Most of his jobs had been sailing on various ships on the lakes.

An affidavit from his divisional registrar in Pine Ridge stated that there was no record of any change of address at that office and Sokoloski had never received a military call.

Splendid Cough Relief, Mixed in Your Kitchen

No Trouble. No Cooking. Saves Big Dollars.

Yes ma'am, right in your own kitchen, you can easily mix a cough syrup that can be depended upon for quick results, and gives you about 4 times as much for your money. And no trouble—it's so easily prepared.

You'll need a syrup. Make it by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now get 2¼ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a 16 oz. bottle. Then add your syrup. There you have 16 ounces of really splendid medicine for coughs due to colds. It lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

And does it do the work! You'll say it's your favorite cough treatment. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases the soreness, and lets you rest at night.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

40 Million Homeless

TAMBLYN CHRISTMAS STORY

There was a time when all of us were thrilled at the prospect of a visit from "Santa Claus." We had the most implicit faith in his ability to bring to us those "Gifts" we most desired. The idea of this "belief in Santa Claus" was very recently made the subject of controversial discussion, and whereas it is not our proposal to take sides on the points of discussion, we cannot help but feel that this belief is truly symbolic of the Faith that we—now grown older—must have if we are to survive this conflict, and time of Doubt and Prejudice, and become as a "People" worthy to take our place as a free partner in the coming great brotherhood of Nations, banded together against Barbarism. So this Christmas, more than at any other time, will be a test of our Faith in that there is still—more of "Good" than of "Evil" on this earth, and that this same Faith can in no way be so demonstrated as by a continuance of that practice—begun 2,000 years ago—when the wise men came from the East "bearing gifts."

The dressing is as good as the Bird.

Here's an ideal Christmas Day Relish—it doesn't need cooking, but age it for a few days before using:

UNCOOKED CRANBERRY CONSERVE
2 cups cranberries
1 apple, peeled and cored
1½ cups white sugar
1 orange
½ lemon

Put the cranberries and apple through the chopper. Quarter the orange and remove the seeds; put orange and lemon through the chopper. Mix all the fruits with the sugar. Store in a covered jar in the refrigerator and let age for two days before using.

The Middle Of The Road

We presume that by this time everyone who means to do so has read and pondered Mr. John Bracken's speech of last Friday night. It is impossible to understand why such a speech should have been barred from the air by the CBC; it was a moderate, carefully-worded statement of the Progressive Conservative point of view, containing many statements with which every Canadian would agree, and nothing which any sensible Canadian would not be prepared to consider. Mr. Bracken told his hearers what he had found out during his year as party leader, during which he has travelled extensively in Canada and has looked into many national problems directly, instead of at second-hand; he told them what his party would do to set right many of the things which are wrong here.

• • •

Inevitably his program has the weakness of all programs set forth by parties not in power—it cannot be put to the test. But it is by no means an extreme program, and if the Progressive Conservative party were to come to power at the next general election—which may not be too far away—we assume that it would set to work on its 'comprehensive system of rational reform' at once, and would probably make considerable advances with it. Balancing production and employment, and increasing both, seems to be the mainspring of Mr. Bracken's plan, and as almost everyone is agreed that only in such a way can we avoid a post-war depression of terrible scope, it is likely that he will be given a chance to try it. Placing the responsibility for maximum employment on management, and the responsibility for maximum production on labour, he sees the government's job as one of coordination; undoubtedly the government's job would be the hardest of the three. The idea of facing labour with increased responsibility will, we think, be welcome to the more intelligent elements within labour itself; true power always carries responsibility, and the power of labour has become so great during the past twenty-five years that the time has come for it to take on ballast.

It is a middle-of-the-road program which Mr. Bracken offers. As was foreseen, he is attempting to steer his party into a position between the Liberals and the C.C.F., hoping to gain the support of the progressive elements in the one, and the conservative elements in the other. Old line Tories, we presume, are to cleave to the Liberals if they cannot brook the speed of Mr. Bracken's new racing craft. In describing the Liberal party as reactionary and the C.C.F. as extreme, Mr. Bracken makes a strong appeal to all who are discontented, but who dislike revolutionary upheavals.

Mr. Bracken expressed his faith in the present economic system, while repudiating its faults and ineptitudes. He believes in a free economy, but he does not believe in freedom to be unjust. One of his best points, certainly, was his insistence on the possibility and the necessity of an increased national income, and here he laid a finger on a socialist weakness. Although they deny it hotly, socialist plans always seem to be built on the belief that the national income is as great as it can be, and that it must be more evenly divided; that may be so in the older countries of Europe, but it is far from true here. The way to increase your personal wealth, says Mr. Bracken, is to increase the country's wealth, and you may share in that increase in proportion to what you contribute to that increase. This is certainly an attractive prospect to anyone who is not a slave to the desire for security before every other benefit. A young country which makes security its chief end is comparable to a young man whose ambition is to get a government job with a fixed salary and a pension, and hang on to it until he is old; he lacks ambition, and will never be much good to anybody, except as a drudge.

Mr. Bracken has contributed some valuable ideas to present-day Canadian thinking. His stature as a party leader has increased greatly during the past year.

Holding The Line

Because the Prime Minister's speech on the government's wage policy, which he made over the air on December 4, does not seem to have been widely heard, a few words of comment on it may not be amiss.

The new wage order does not bind the government to a rigid policy of wage control, and there is wisdom in taking a course which allows common sense to be the guide of action. But it is going to make it impossible to use regional war labour boards to hurry through wage increases, and it is going to make it much harder to get increases past the central War Labour Board. In the Prime Minister's own words:

> "The war labor boards, in dealing with applications for wage adjustments, will no longer be bound to apply a standard of comparing wages in one plant or industry with wages in other plants or industries. Instead, the standard in adjusting wages will be the removal of gross inequalities and injustices."

No further cost of living bonuses are to be paid. But the government is determined to keep the cost of living at its present level, convinced that such action is better for the country, in the long run, than setting up a new system of bonuses. Mr. King has said that price control is the front line in the battle against inflation, and that the government is determined to hold that line. The revised wage controls will greatly strengthen its position for this work.

• • •

Some of our present difficulties had their beginning in the early days of the war when employers were outbidding one another for skilled labour. In order to keep the workers they had, or to attract workers from other industries, they persuaded regional labour boards to sanction wage increases. These increases did not affect the employer, as the money involved went to the government in taxes if it did not go to the workers in wages, and in this way wage scales in many branches of industry rose sharply.

• • •

Inevitably this brought discontent. Workers is some provinces saw men engaged in the same work as their own in other provinces getting a substantially higher rate of pay, and they set to work to get the same rate for themselves. There was reason, in their arguments and the increases were generally granted. But greed also played its part; there are many people both in labour and in management who look upon a war as a field-day of profit and gay spending, and they were unscrupulous in asking for one concession after another. The government intended to use the wage rates valid on October 15, 1941, as the standard for the wage ceiling, but it was not long before this standard was pierced to shreds. And in addition to home difficulties, there was the upward drag from the U.S., for our coal-miners and steel workers could not see why they should be paid less than their equals across the border. Attempts to curb this sort of thinking merely made trouble with the union organizations. So markedly did the attempt to hold wages to the 1941 level fail that between that time and the present the income of two million workers in this country had increased by $150,000,000 a year. Now we are to see what the greatly strengthened central board can do, with less interference from regional boards.

This is Canada's last ditch fight against inflation. There will be thoughtless, and unprincipled, and greedy, and merely ignorant and ill-informed groups which will try to wreck the new policy. If they do so, they will go far toward wrecking this country. Inflation always spells ruin.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There is little official news from Berlin, but we hear that the R.A.F. has filled the city with alarming reports.

A horticulturist reports the successful growth of silent celery. The next move will be toward edible spinach.

The Kingston Whig-Standard wants to know why a fair system of beer distribution cannot be worked out. Many people are thirsting for the same knowledge.

Delegates at the convention of the Canadian Labour Youth Federation have asked that the educational system be changed to give students "a more mature idea of politics". Of course it would be useful to them if they ever grew up to be politicians themselves.

We were astounded to hear a CBC announcer on Sunday night call an 'apostrophe' an 'apostroff'. We can forgive them their struggles with foreign place-names, but surely announcers learned the correct pronunciation of 'apostrophe' at school? If the standard of literacy in the CBC is as low as this blunder indicates, it is a catastroff indeed.

Centenary Of A Christmas Carol

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

IN a memoir of his father, Sir Henry Dickens tells of an incident which happened at a Christmas party the winter before the great Charles Dickens died: "He had been ailing very much, and greatly troubled with his leg, which had been giving him much pain; so he was lying on a sofa one evening after dinner, while the rest of the family were playing games." The celebrated author, then so near death, joined in one of the games which was a sort of memory test; the members of the party had to memorize long strings of words which bore no relations to each other, and the first to make a mistake in reciting the string was the loser. When it came Dickens' turn to add a word to the list he said "Warren's Blacking, 30 Strand," an address which conveyed nothing to his hearers, but his son noted that he spoke with "an odd twinkle and a strange inflection in his voice which at once forcibly arrested my attention and left a vivid impression on my mind for some time afterwards. Why, I could not for the life of me understand.... At that time, when the stroke which killed him was gradually overpowering him, his mind reverted to the struggles and degradation of his childhood, which caused him such intense agony of mind, and which he had never been able entirely to cast from him." Did Dickens, in the misery of that Christmas of 1869, recall with irony the wretched Christmasses of his childhood? Perhaps he did, as his son suggests, for the man who gave our modern Christmas its special character knew little of peace or simple jollity.

◇ ◇ ◇

NO book has done so much to mould our ideas of what Christmas should be as "A Christmas Carol," which was written, and read by a delighted public, just a hundred years ago at this time. The story of the conversion of Ebenezer Scrooge is familiar to every literate person. Not only in its native English, but in a score of other tongues, it has been read and re-read. A Russian once told me that he had been compelled to memorize the first Stave in its entirety, as part of his English studies, and proved it by setting out "Marley was dead, to begin with. There is no doubt whatever about that." Many people, the writer among them, read "A Christmas Carol" every year as a part of their Christmas ceremonial. Few books written within the past century enjoy such vigorous life.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE is astounding vitality in the story, and that is what saves it from banality. Dickens was never more a genius than when he was writing about Christmas; his amazing ability to wallow waist-deep in sentimentality without ever becoming maudlin or vulgar is one of the surest marks of his greatness. If the story of the Cratchits' Christmas dinner had been written by the late Alexander Woollcott, for instance, it would have been an insufferable and indigestible confection; had the conversion of Scrooge been described by Charles Morgan or John Steinbeck it would have been a welter of pseudo-mysticism or weepy Marxism; had the theme of "A Christmas Carol" occurred to J. B. Priestley we should have had a work cast in the Dickensian mould without a scrap of the Dickens genius. Dickens and only Dickens could write this story and make a little masterpiece of it.

◇ ◇ ◇

FOR there can be no dispute but that it is a masterpiece. He did not reproduce its greatness in "The Chimes" or "The Cricket On The Hearth," though he obviously wished to do so. "A Christmas Carol" is Dickens' greatest short story, and it has no near rival. Like all Dickens' best work it is conceived dramatically, and written in well-shaped and carefully "built-up" scenes. That is why his own readings of this story, and the many subsequent dramatizations of it, have been so successful. Many authors, like many actors, suffer from a fear of overdoing whatever job they may be at, and they restrain themselves constantly and needlessly, as though they feared that their unleashed genius might blind the world; Dickens, who was a very good actor and the greatest dramatic writer, after Shakespeare, in all English literature, had no such groundless fears. When he sat down to write a story about a miser who was converted by the spirit of Christmas, he let things rip, with the most magnificent results.

◇ ◇ ◇

DICKENS drew his great wealth of Christmas enthusiasm from the wells of his amazing personality; he never experienced anything like the Christmas he described in his wretched childhood, nor did he create it in his own home when he became wealthy and famous. A man of violent moods, he was on the heights or in the dumps; he knew no middle ground. "My father was like a madman," wrote the last of his daughters, Mrs. Perugini; "nothing could surpass the misery and unhappiness of our home." This same lady, deeply as she loved her father, did not hesitate to say, "My father was a wicked man—a very wicked man." The benevolence, the loving-kindness which Dickens poured out in his Christmas books, and in "A Christmas Carol" more than any, was a quality which he longed for and idealized, rather than a quality which was richly abundant in his own nature. Happiness, of course, Dickens knew, but he was better acquainted with the bitter suffering of an unruly nature. As we read or re-read "A Christmas Carol" this year it is fitting that we should spare a thought for the fiery and tempestuous genius who first gave it to the world a hundred years ago.

Unconsidered Trifles

"How'd you get along with your wife in that fight the other night?"

"Aw, she came crawling to me on her knees."

"Yeah, what did she say?"

"Come out from under that bed you coward."

◇ ◇ ◇

A few years ago a gentleman departing for Europe told his son, a senior in college, that if the boy got his degree he would be rewarded by being permitted to join his father for a tour of the continent.

The student graduated with honors and cabled his father the single word: "Yes."

Unfortunately, the father had entirely forgotten his promise and, after puzzling over the message for a while, cabled back: "Yes, what?"

Promptly came the reply: "Yes, sir."

WELCOME LEMONS

Sicily seems to be handing Britain the lemon on a large scale and it is welcomed. Three-quarters of a million lemons have arrived in the United Kingdom from Sicily—the first bulk shipment to reach that country in three years. No lemons will be distributed to the public. Instead they will go to men in the submarine service, Royal Air Force operational crews and inmates of service hospitals.—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

—By J. R. Scott

COPYRIGHT, 1943, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, Inc. WORLD RIGHTS RESERVED

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

ARE you rearing your boy to be a spender? Are you teaching your girl to be a waster? Are you bringing up your children to throw money away and to think that the only use for a dollar is to blow it in as quickly as possible? Are you inculcating in your children no idea of economy, no habits of thrift?

If you are, you are blighting their lives. You are handicapping their futures. You are bringing up a man who will be poor and in debt to the end of his days. He will be one of those men who, with plenty of ability and energy, never get anywhere, and who at last get discouraged and qualify as members of the Down-and-Out Club. You are raising a daughter who will keep her husband's nose to the grindstone as long as he lives and who will bar his way to success by her mountains of bills.

The greatest fault in the American character is extravagance, and instead of trying to eradicate it in their children the average father and mother cultivate it. Go into any house that you will, and you will be shocked at the way the children are taught to waste money.

All day long there is a never-ending appeal from Johnny and Mamie and Susie for nickels and dimes for the movies, or candy, or chewing gum that the parents grant. "We don't want our youngsters to be burdened when they are little with having to always be thinking about how far a dollar will go, as we do. They will have to worry about money soon enough," say these parents in self-excuse for their folly.

They ignore the fact that if you teach children in their cradle to save their pennies they will not have to worry over the lack of a dollar when they are grown, for nothing is truer than if we take care of our money when we are young, our money will take care of us when we are old.

The boy who grows up with the belief that money is only made to spend is foredoomed to poverty and failure. No matter how much he makes, it all goes for nothing. He can never take advantage of opportunities that come his way, because opportunity has to be backed by a bank account. If he gets sick or loses his job, he becomes a burden on other people. In his old age he is dependent on the charity of others, and when he comes to die he has nothing to show for his lifework. All because he never learned to save when he was young.

No wife is more of a curse to her husband than is the woman who is wasteful and extravagant. She makes of her husband a slave who is sold into bondage to milliners and dressmakers and grocers and butchers and, no matter how he strives, he can make no headway against her spending.

Many a gifted man's whole career is blasted by his wife having the bargain counter habit. Wives' insistence on living beyond their means has killed more men than does any disease known to medical science, and only God, Himself, knows how many marriages that should have been happy and prosperous end in heartbreak and disaster when the husband sees the money he has toiled so hard for being wasted.

So many of these catastrophies could be prevented if parents would only teach their children habits of thrift when they are little. Nor is this as difficult a thing as it seems. Foolish spending is simply a bad habit, and it is just as easy to get children interested in saving nickels as it is in throwing them away, and to make them feel that one of the most exciting things in the world is to watch a bank account grow.

Get a child enthused over saving for a definite purpose—a bicycle, a motorboat, a trip—anything that is a big desire, and you will have taught him one of the great lessons of life, and that is to sacrifice the impulse of the moment for a greater pleasure, to do without little things that he may have the big things.

Teach your children thrift when they are little. It makes them good citizens, good husbands, good wives. It assures them of independence and prosperity. Don't be afraid of making them care too much for money. The people who think the most about money are those who haven't got it and who feel the need of it at every turn.

Don't rear your children to be spenders.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

YOUTH AND MORALITY

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—The vexed problem of juvenile delinquency has again presented itself as a challenge to the law and society in general.

Based on current reports in the press, one can safely assume that unless some reasonable solution is advanced for the speedy correction of this evil, society will eventually have to pay a fearful price for its folly in refusing to face facts squarely and act accordingly. A panacea must be found.

In considering the problem it is well for parents to bear in mind the fact that the boy is father of the man. The juvenile delinqent of today is the potential criminal of tomorrow. He will become the man who will keep our advanced penal institution in operation later on.

The causes of delinquent tendencies on the part of children may be summed up under three main headings:

(1) Lack of proper home training.
(2) Lack of religious instruction in schools.
(3) Subversive influences of recreational establishments and obscene literature.

Proper home training from the beginning is essential if the work of the state is to be made easier. The teacher at school can generally be depended upon to do his part to help the parent in the development of the child's morality but of course the foundation, good or bad, is built up in the home primarily both before and after the child's entrance into school to receive his education. The teacher must do the best he can with the material which he has to work. Our secular school teachers as a whole are doing faithful efficient work and never let it be said that they are responsible in any way for this new wave of juvenile crime.

However, it is a fact that if good religious instruction were given daily in school as well as on Sunday at church it would do much to impress upon the youthful mind that good living and morality are the highest aim of all education and that the salvation of his Immortal Soul is the sole purpose for which man was created and not for the realization of Worldly Ends.

It is lamentable however that any move on the part of Protestant churches to project their influence directly into the weekly educational program has met with little success and church leaders are baffled to know the reason. The explanation is that the average parent doesn't want it inasmuch as he feels that Christianity and religion should be taught on Sunday in church but don't somehow fit into the weekly educational program. Morality can't be improved however by its omission from the course of study but delinquency can thrive a little better as a result. Let any parents deny this fact if he dare.

Now let us consider outside worldly influences with respect to their subversive effects upon young and old alike but particularly on the young who are more plastic. There are many harmful agencies at work today designed to break down good morals. These include Picture Shows, Beverage Rooms, Pool Rooms, Dance Halls and Obscene Literature to mention a few. There are others.

Theatres producing legitimate educational pictures are not harmful; the harm comes from the production of wild Cowboy Shows, weird Murder Mysteries and immoral Sex Dramas. The producers are out to make money of course so they give people what they want. People apparently want dirt today so that is what is being dished up in diverse places. To change all this a demand can be made for something a little more conducive to morality. The producers need the money and they will be delighted to please, so everyone should be happy as a result.

Ladies' beverage rooms undoubtedly have contributed much to the development of juvenile delinquency in recent years and the evil wrought by mixed drinking in public since the Hepburn ministry decided to flood the land, will never be told. The hotelkeepers have done fine, of course. Truth to tell, the open bar was superior to the present system.

Many will argue that women should have beverage rooms as well as men. This is not logical however inasmuch as the children in the home suffer greatly as a result of women drinking, due to the bad example. There has never been a time in history when women could do as men did and get away with it and that time has not come now, either. Women have to be on some kind of pedestal in order to have men look up to them therefore, any activity on their part which tends to lower dignity and respect causes most men to regard the opposite sex with disdain and contempt. Although it may be a bitter pill for some women to swallow it is the sober truth, nevertheless. Smoking isn't far behind on the list of evils for women although drinking comes first by a fairly comfortable margin.

The engagement in recreation such as pool, billiards, dancing, etc., is not harmful in itself. There are many respectable places of amusement in the country. Unfortunately, however, in some establishments evil influences have become associated with these various pastimes with resultant subversive effects upon the frequenters wherever found. Proper direction and supervision of youth will enable the parents to be reasonably sure their children are avoiding the more harmful "joints" in each respective community.

Obsence literature is a powerful factor in the development of juvenile delinquency. Recently a youth of about fourteen committed murder and later admitted his inspiration came from a murder magazine. He might have killed three others save for a miracle. The disastrous effects of obscene literature upon society in general and youth in particular cannot be overstressed. It is a curse that should be obliterated.

So parents—accept your responsibilities. Heredity is a strong force and influence for good or evil but environment is as strong or stronger. Your children will be guided by your example and direction. Properly directed children will strive to achieve that high ideal which once gained is never wholly lost—and that ideal is—morality.

A Bible Message

And Jesus went out, and departed from the temple: and his disciples came to him for to shew him the buildings of the temple. And Jesus said unto them, See ye not all these things? verily I say unto you, There shall not be left here one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down. And as he sat upon the mount of Olives, the disciples came unto him privately, saying, Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?

And Jesus answered and said unto them, Take heed that no man deceive you. For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and shall deceive many. And ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars: see that ye be not troubled: for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet. For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, and there shall be famines, and pestilences, and earthquakes, in divers places....

But he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved....

Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away. (Matt. 24: 1-7, 13, 35.)

Mr. Pickwick

Pickwick goes through life with that god-like gullibility which is the key to all adventures. The greenhorn is the ultimate victor in everything; it is he that gets the most out of life.... His soul will never starve for exploits or excitements who is wise enough to be made a fool of. He will make himself happy in the traps that have been laid for him; he will roll in their nets and sleep. All doors will fly open to him who has a mildness more defiant than mere courage. The whole is unerringly expressed in one fortunate phrase—he will always be "taken in." To be taken in everywhere is to see the inside of everything. It is the hospitality of circumstances. With torches and trumpets, like a guest, the greenhorn is taken in by Life. And the sceptic is cast out by it.—G. K. Chesterton in "Charles Dickens."

Bank Can Sell Beer

The Bank of England has a curious link with drinking, being the only unlicensed premises in London with the right to brew and sell beer. This privilege was granted in the charter of incorporation in 1694, presumably with a view to the needs of the staff, but apparently there is nothing to stop the governors, did they so wish, opening a public bar at the bank, or even undertaking to supply their clients in barrel or bottle at their own homes.—Manchester Guardian.

Music Teachers Hear Christopher Wood

Christopher Wood, editor of the Port Hope Guide, and also of the Canadian Review of Music and Art, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Peterborough Music Teachers' Association, held Tuesday evening, with Miss Mary Medd presiding.

Mr. Wood, who at one time was a member of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, has been a teacher of the cello for over 15 years, and so spoke with authority on some of the aspects of the psychology of teaching.

Three points were stressed, mental ability, motive, and goal. The latter point, Mr. Wood explained, should not be too far distant for the younger pupils.

"Modern psychologists deplore the rivalry among pupils," said the speaker. "The teacher must understand the native capacities, psychological limits in muscular development of pupils."

Mr. Wood referred to musical aptitude tests, and mentioned in particular the "Seashore Tests," and concluded by stating that the duty of the teacher was not to teach technique, but to show the pupil how to appreciate the greatest of all arts.

During the business meeting, plans were discussed for the students' recital, which is to take place Tuesday, February 1. Mrs. R. L. Hale, accompanied by Mrs. G. Wilson Craw, sang two lovely solos, "My Heart at thy Sweet Voice," and "The Cuckoo Clock." Mrs. F. J. Hancock moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Wood and Mrs. Hale, and at the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served.

Farm Group Studies Health

"Government Health Plan," was the topic discussed and studied at the sixth meeting of the Central Smith Radio Forum, which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grattan Telford, with an attendance of 14.

The members decided that all health benefits should be included in the "Plan," and that everyone, regardless of income, should participate. A combination of taxation and the employee-employer contributory system should be used, which would be the fairest way to distribute the costs.

The meeting closed with a "pot luck" lunch.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Clarke,. and the subject for discussion will be, "Canadian Federation of Agriculture Health Plan." This meeting will be in the form of an analysis, explaining how the operation of this plan would effect the rural community.

Women Assume Bigger Place In War Work

OTTAWA, Dec. 15.—(CP).—Canadian wome nin "battle dress" — whether service uniform, nurse's uniform, house dress, business suit or overalls—played an increasing part in the struggle toward victory in 1943.

Since June 1942, the number of women engaged directly or indirectly in war industry has increased from 120,000 to more than 260,000. Women in the armed forces numbered about 36,000 late in November.

Latest available figures show that about 1,200,000 civilian women are gainfully occupied in Canada, Mrs. Rex Eaton, associate director of National Selective Service, told The Canadian Press.

"The outstanding characteristic of this year has been the successful appeal to a group of women who ordnarily would not seek employment and their acceptance of employment for full or part time," she said.

Appeals to members of the Local Council of Women and the Women's Institute during the late spring brought 11,000 women into the industry immediately, to relieve a critical manpower shortage. During the past six months, 48,000 new women workers have taken employment.

Wrens Increase.

Youngest women's service to be organized to release men for active duty with the armed forces, the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, headed by Cmdr. Adelaide Sinclaim of Toronto attested 3,674 officers and ratings between Aug. 29, 1942, and Nov. 15, 1943.

The Canadian Women's Army Corps, formed in September, 1941, and commanded by Lt.-Col. Joan Kennedy of Victoria, enlisted 6,679 members between Jan. 1 and Oct. 31 this year and may equal its 1942 enlistment of 7,398. At present C.W.A.C. members total more than 15,000.

Oldest of the women's auxiliary forces, the R.C.A.F. Women's Division, almost doubled its strength during 1943. Approximately 8,800 women were in air force blue last Jan. 1, while in October the number passed 15,000. Officials say they expect 16,000 members by Jan. 1.

Highlight of the year in the Women's Division was the increasing number of airwomen and officers overseas.

Commands Overseas.

Wing Officer Kathleen O. Walker, of Ottawa, was promoted to her present rank—comparable to Lieutenant-Colonel — and posted overseas to take charge of all women in the R.C.A.F. bomber command. Wing Officer Willa Walker of Montreal and Ottawa was also promoted to her present rank and became Senior Women's Division Staff Officer at Air Force Headquarters. The officers are not related.

Members of the W.R.C.N.S. also were posted overseas for the first time. Twelve ratings and two officers were in the first draft to the United Kingdom, arriving early in September. Last April the Wrens sent naval writers to Washington.

Women in the nursing services totalled more than 2,414 at the end of June, with more than 1,714 in the Royal Canadian Navy Army Medical Corps, 276 in the R.C.A.F nursing service and 169 in the Royal Canadian Navy nursing service. There are also about 255 Canadian nurses with the South Africa military nursing service. Thirty-seven women doctors serve with the Canadian armed forces.

Efforts of women working voluntarily toward victory were co-ordinated under direction of the women's voluntary services division of the War Services department. During the past two years 27 voluntary service centres have been established to prevent overlapping of national and local volunteer work.

Mrs. E. M. Davis Is New President Of St. James' WMS

The St. James' Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society, held their Christmas meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. M. Davis, with a good attendance.

Mrs. W. Rose, the president, presided and led the opening devotions, which concluded with prayer.

In the business session it was announced that ladies from St. James' Auxiliary would have charge of the morning worship service, at the Presbyterial meeting at Knox United church in January next.

Election of officers was an interesting feature of the meeting, conducted by Rev. Mr. Craik, and resulted in the following slate for the coming year:—President, Mrs. E. M. Davis; 1st vice-president, Mrs E. L. Woodley; 2nd vice-president, Miss Mary Deyell; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. G. H. Rowe; recording secretary, Mrs. F. McAdams; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. J. Wagar; treasurer, Mrs. R. B. English; Christian stewardship secretary, Mrs. F. W. Craik; strangers secretary, Mrs. W. Rose; supply secretary, Mrs. Ernest Kitney; Associate Helper's secretary, Mrs. W. K. Sloane; temperance secretary, Mrs. E. Beavis; Missionary Monthly secreary, Miss Morton; literature secretary, Mrs. S. Hanlon; press secretary, Mrs. E. J. Wagar; Mission Band secretary, Miss Constance Wagar; pianist, Mrs. George Wallace; assistant pianist, Mrs. H. F. Doig.

Other assistants and Baby Band secretary to be appointed later.

Reports were heard from secretaries as follows: for Temperance, Mrs. Beavis gave an extremely interesting and witty report, and Miss Deyell, in her talk on Christian Stewardship emphasized the stewardship of "love" rather than money, citing various scripture passages illustrating the value of loving service.

A beautiful Christmas program arranged and presented by the group of which Mrs. E. J. Wagar is leader, consisted of a candle lighting ceremony, in which Mrs. McAdams, Mrs Dinsdale, Miss Deyell, Mrs. Hanlon, and Mrs. E. Kitney took part, the latter taking the place as leader in the absence of Mrs. Wagar, several brief readings on the Christmas theme were read by group members and the call to worship given by Mrs. Kitney.

Mrs. Rose read a Christmas message from the leader after which Mrs. Kitney sang the lovely solo "Sweet Chiming Bells".

Prayer brought this inspiring Christmas meeting to a conclusion.

Mrs. G. D. Marshall Heads Circle

The slate of officers for 1944 was presented by the nominating committee at the December meeting of the Twilight Mission Circle of George Street church, held at the home of Mrs. G. D. Marshall, 39 Conger street.

Miss Ether Mills presented the report of the nominating committee, which read as follows: President, Mrs. G. D. Marshall; vice-president, Miss Ethel Robson; secretary, Miss Marion Manning; treasurer, Miss Ethel Mills; Christian stewardship, Mrs. D. Worboy; temperance secretary, Mrs. Harbison; stranger secretary, Miss Margaret Taylor; Missionary Monthly, Miss Florence Marshall; press secretary, Mrs. Robert Kitchen; flower committee, Mrs. S. J. Rowe and Miss Helen Rozel; group leaders, Miss Sybil Harrison, Miss Nellie Douglas and Mrs. Gertrude Gilmour.

Miss Ethel Robson, vice-president, presided at the meeting, and the Scripture was read by Miss Helen Rozel. Miss Edith Marshall led in prayer, and Mrs. Albert Beasley read an article on Christian stewardship, followed by an inspiring Christmas message by Mrs. F. W. Harris. Mrs. Ivan Ellicott read a chapter from the study book. Pianist for the afternoon was Miss Ethel Mills, and she accompanied the group for the singing of several Christmas carols.

St. Peter's C.W.L. Aids War Victims

The December meeting of St. Peter's sub-division of the Catholic Women's League was held Monday evening in the Knights of Columbus rooms, and the conveners reports were given, including reports on the successful bridge, and the Christmas Fair.

Mrs. P. J. Burke, war convener, requested that members who felt that they could invite a soldier for Christmas, contact her as soon as possible.

After all outstanding bills were paid, the members voted $10 to the British War Victims' Fund, and $5 to the Milk-for-Britain Fund.

The orchestra of St. Mary's School, with Miss Marion Downer as pianist, gave several selections, and Miss Gedaldine Collins sang two solos, "Jesus Bambino," and "Silent Night." Miss Veronica Scollard, A.T.C.M., accompanied Miss Collins.

For Thursday, December 16

Notwithstanding stresses and tensions, with sudden developments and rearrangement of plans, there may be outstanding success and good fortune, with substantial progress and gains. Unforeseen circumstances or irregularities should be cleverly understood and managed in order to attain such fair fortune. Perhaps social factors may be wisely manipulated, or the personal force of charm or popularity. But shun extravagance, rash or nervous promptings.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for substantially sound progress, with dubious or difficult situations cleverly grasped to turn the tide to ultimate success and good fortune. Obstacles or reversals may be turned to good account largely by use of clever tactics or the use of personal popularity or prestige, but with finesse and integrity and not through extravagant ideas or outlay of funds. Also the judgment may be under high pressure and should be properly directed for happiest results and enhanced personal benefits.

A child born on this day should have many excellent character traits, with sound skills and worthy ambitions, although nervous and highstrung. Luck may also come his way.

St John's Women's Auxiliary Reports Successful Year

The annual meeting of St. John's Women's Auxiliary was held Tuesday afternoon in the Parish Hall, and excellent reports from the conveners of the different groups, as well as the report of the nominating committee, were presented to the president, Mrs. W. M. Cruthers, who was in the chair.

Mrs. A. W. Turner, the secretary, gave a complete report of the year's work, and dealt with the reports month by month. One of the most satisfactory treasurer's reports that the Auxiliary has ever known was given by Miss N. English, who stated that every obligation had been met in full, and that a substantial balance remained to start the new year.

Mrs. H. Kelsey, treasurer for the "Extra Cent a Day" fund, gave her report, and Mrs. Fred Craig, leader of the Teen Age Girls Department told the group that a great deal of work had been accomplished by the teen age girls during the year.

The secretary for the "Little Helpers," Mrs. M. Swanston, stated that the mite boxes of the 49 workers on the roll had brought the sum of $17 for mission work this year, and Mrs. G. S. Cameron reported for the Educational Department and also the sale of Church Calendars.

Reporting for the Juniors, Mrs. J. H. Gamble said that the season had started and the members were turning out well. Mrs. G. Groombridge presented the report of the Dorcas Department, which included two girls outfits made and sent to the school at Sioux Lookout, on the Indian Reserve, a large Christmas bale to Rev. Horace Ashmore, and a substantial balance on hand to start the work for the new year.

Mrs. G. S. Cameron moved a vote of thanks to all the officers for presenting such excellent reports. The members expressed their appreciation to the retiring president, Mrs. Cruthers, for her outstanding service to the W.A. during her term of office, when she established a record, because she had never missed a meeting. Mrs. Groombridge, retiring Dorcas convener, was also warmly thanked for her eleven years of faithful work.

The slate of officers as presented by the nominating committee is as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. W. P. Robertson; honorary vice-president, Mrs. A. Amys; president, Mrs. G. S. Cameron; first vice-president, Mrs. J. Cridland; second vice-president, Mrs. W. M. Cruthers; secretary, Mrs. Chil Turner; treasurer, Miss N. English.

The conveners are as follows: Teenage, Mrs. Fred Craig; Living Message, Mrs. H. C. Southeran; extra cent a day, Mrs. H. Kelsey; United thank offering, Mrs. B. Wardle; little helpers, Mrs. F. Ford; juniors, Mrs. C. Collins; rector's nominees, Mrs. H. T. Melton and Mrs. D. J. Eldred.

Stoker 2 Bob Graham, an engine-room writer stationed at H.M.C.S. York, in Toronto, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Graham, Sophia street.

Pitcher Bobo Newsom Likely To Be Inducted

HARTSVILLE, S.C., Dec. 15 (AP)—Up to now, this has been an eventful off season for Louis Norman (Bobo) Newsom, lately of the Washington Senators' pitching staff.

The big, communicative righthander has been much in the news in the last two days.

First, came an announcement that the Senators had traded Newsom to the Athletics for Pitcher Roger Wolf. Newsom, at his home here, said he knew nothing about it and declined to comment.

Then, his selective service board here disclosed it had mailed Newsom notice of his classification in 1-A.

And shortly afterward, news came from Las Vegas, Nevada, that he had been residing there for the last six weeks and had obtained a divorce from his wife, Bessie Lucille Newsom.

A draft board spokesman said Bobo's file had been transferred to Washington, D.C., for his physical examination and explained he had asked for a pre-induction going over. The board's next call for men for induction will be on Jan. 25, 1944. If Newsom is included, he will be required to report to Fort Jackson, at nearby Columbia, on that date.

This news occasioned surprise in the Washington and Philadelphia baseball club managements. Clark Griffith, owner of the Senators, said he did not know what would happen to the Newsom-Wolff deal if Bobo were inducted. He predicted rejection, however.

Connie Mack said when he made the Wolff deal, he was told Newsom was in 3-A but said, "We are not going to cross the bridge until we come to it. Lots of them are rejected when they go up for examination." He added that "if I lose Newsom to the army, there is a possibility that Clark Griffith will give me another pitcher in his place."

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The third wartime winter turf season in Florida opens this week and will run for 100 days. President H. L. Straus of the Gables Racing Association, operators of Tropical Park, says: "We've got the horses, the people are in Miami, and as far as we see we should do very well."

He said the crowds may not be as large as in the past, due to the gasoline restrictions, "but there should be enough patrons to assure a successful season."

Opening feature is the $2,500 inaugural handicap for three-year olds and up at six furlongs, and when an even two dozen were entered the race was split into two events, with six horses in each.

Tropical will operate for twenty days, then give way to Hialeah Park's 50-day season, after which Tropical resumes for 30 days of racing.

Yale University found intercollegiate athletic competition so thriving this year that it is going ahead full steam with plans for 1944 football, baseball, swimming and basketball. University authorities at New Haven have given approval, and athletic director Ogden D. Miller is elated.

Down at Sarasota, Fla., 42-year old Johnny Cooney says if the Dodgers need him this year he is ready to play. And it looks as if they might. Cooney was a pitcher for 10 years when he developed arm trouble and moved into the outfield for the Boston Braves. He wasn't able to help the Dodgers much during the past season because of a torn shoulder muscle, but he says it's all right now.

The American Hockey League in special session at New York last night took no action in the case of Eddie Shore, manager of the Buffalo Bisons who was fined $250 and $100 for disputing official decisions. It had been reported some other disciplinary action might be taken. Play-off arrangement were completed to start March 14.

Toronto Navy On Hockey Tour

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Toronto Navy hockey team of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series left last night for a United States tour. They will play Mel Hardwood's United States Coastguard team at Baltimore to-night and Saturday while they will play against the Rovers of the Eastern United States Hockey League in New York Sunday afternoon.

The Coastguard roster includes such former N.H.L. players as Bob Brimsek, Art Coulter, Johnny Mariucl, and Alex Motter, as well as a number of former American Hockey League and American Hockey Association performers.

OKLAHOMA CITY Dec. 15—(AP)—Supreme Court Clerk Andrew Hartley Payne, ready to be sworn into military service, was asked whether he preferred the United States army or navy. He glanced at his sturdy feet, and guessed he'd take the army. (Payne's footwork brought him a $25,000 championship in the C. S. Pyle Transcontinental Bunion Derby of 1928.)

The Military Training Centre cage team is billed to meet the Frigates in a Y.M.C.A. House League game at 7:15 o'clock tonight and on Friday night the Soldiers are slated to go into action against Jim Ferguson's Corvettes. If the boys in khaki want to keep alive a chance to make the playoffs in the series for the Dominion Life trophy they will have to do something about these two games for they need a couple of wins to bolster up their position. That goes too for the Frigates who pulled a surprise win over Fairmiles last week to grab off their first triumph of the season and need another two points to boost their standing. In the Friday night game the Corvettes who have been playing smart ball in their recent appearances will be gunning for a victory that will pull them up closer to the leading Algerines and Fairmiles who are at present topping the standing with Joe Stewart's team a game in front of the McArthur outfit.

According to Bill Walshe, Kingston sports scribe, the new forward pass into the centre ice area has opened out the play and made the rapid scoring of goals possible. The Kingston commentator has the following to say about the manner in which the new rule is working out in the senior O.H.A. games he has witnessed: "Modern hockey with its long pass in the defence zone makes the game more like basketball, not only in plays but also scoring. In the cage game a team generally scores in bunches and rivals usually call for a time-out. A time out by delays is also being adopted in hockey to stop rapid counting. An unusual feature of Kingston's scoring this season is that the soldiers have counted in the first two minutes of every league game." It is to be imagined that the long pass into mid-ice would be tailor-made for players of the type of Jerry Cooper, the Oshawa winger who used to play for Whitby against the Petes. Cooper, under the old rule had a habit of lurking in mid-ice and taking a forward from a teammate as soon as the latter crossed his own blue line. Usually it was Ab Barnes who thus set the flying Cooper up and when he took the pass the winger ghosted in for a shot. He scored a bunch of goals against the Petes on that quick-breaking play and with a pass to the centre ice strip now legalized he would be even more of a threat.

Veteran Passes

A former well-known Kingston athlete died last week in the person of Tommy Palmer who used to be a lineman in rugby at the turn of the century and was a member of the once-celebrated Kingston Granites. Bill Walshe in his sport comment in the Whig-Standard has the following interesting reference to the veteran sportsman: "In a chat on the trip to the hockey game in Hamilton, Capt. Jim Sutherland paid tribute to Tommy Palmer, who was buried in Kingston Friday. The dean of Canadian hockey and founder of the Hall of Fame for Kingston, recalled the Kingston Granites football team of 1899 that won credit as Canadian champions. Capt. Jim's memory is as good on early Kingston sports history as it is on hockey. He recalled the final game played 44 years ago between Kingston and Ottawa at Toronto Rosedale. Palmer played inside wing on the title winning team and his mates included Colt Metcalfe, Gen. A. E. Ross, who ran for mayor in the last Kingston election, Kid Hazlett, Chaucer Elliott, Pud Hamilton, Tupper MacDonald, Reg. Carr-Harris, Dr. Etherington and Jack Elliott. The late Jim Palmer is a relative of Fred Lumb, prominent Kingston curler."

Writes Doug. Vaughan in the Windsor Star sport column anent the famous Don Hutson: "For the umpteenth time Don Hutson, the greatest pass receiver in the history of the National Football League, has announced his retirement. This time, says the Green Bay star, it's true. That, of course, remains to be seen. He has already played more farewell appearances than Harry Lauder. And if the dough is right he'll probably be still around annoying opposition to the Packers again next fall. Admitting Hutson was permitted to roam downfield as far and as often as he did. Hutson was permitted to roam downfield as far and as often a he did. We've always thought that there were times without number in which Hutson could have been taken out of the play at the line of scrimmage. In fact we have always believed that was the only way in which he could be stopped. Once he's in the open with only one or two men trying to cover him, it is well nigh impossible to cover him. The only man we have ever heard of who has made use of our formula for shackling Hutson is Wilbur Moore of the Washington Redskins. Moore merely knocks Don down at the line of scrimmage before he has a chance to start down the field. Why other teams, and players, haven't used the same style of defence again him, we'll never know. It is the only system we've ever heard of that could possibly be effective against such uncanny pass catching wizardry as Hutson possesses."

Stirling-Marmora Combines

According to Ken Colling, hockey interests in Stirling and Marmora may join forces to put a composite team in the junior O.H.A. group. It is felt that by such a combination a strong outfit to represent the two villages could be obtained. Says Bre'er Colling in his sport column: There's a movement afoot to join the puck forces of Stirling and Marmora to ice one strong junior O.H.A. club, according to Doug Patterson of last year's good Bomber team. If amalagamated the team will be known as the Combines and will play their home games at Stirling. Doug says Wally Hilton, former Belleville and Western University football star, has been proposed as the coach of the team. Marmora will toss in their Trumble-Cousins-Goodchild line to alternate with the Stirling trio of Patterson-Bastedo and Utman. Incidentally Ralph "Wimpy" Vandervoort, who starred with Stirling last season, is trying out with Staffords in the Toronto senior Mercantile hockey loop while a student at University of Toronto. Down in Kingston Max Jackson is casting covetous eyes on the Quinte district junior O.H.A. set-up in hopes of gaining entrance for his Kingston Victoria juniors. "What, with all this gasoline rationing and travel restrictions?"

The Boston Bruins climbed to second place in the N.H.L. race last night and kept their unbeaten home record intact by nosing out the Chicago Black Hawks 4 to 3 in a hard fought battle. The Bruins were sparked by Art Jackson and Bill Cowley, the former firing two goals while the smooth-working centre was in on three counters to increase his margin over the rest of the field in the cash-and-carry scoring race. Bill Calladine had an assist on one of the four Boston goals. It was a tight battle all the way. Black Hawks scored first only to have the Bruins even it up before the first half was over. Then Boston went into the van with a goal early in the second period but the Hawks flashed in front in the third stanza but the score was tied for the third time shortly after when Clint Smith registered for the Hawks. However Cowley scored for Boston less than five minutes before the end and that settled the argument.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Peterborough five-pin bowlers were given a mark to shoot at last night in the Toronto Major League when the Peoples' team hit the pins for the huge total of 4,045 pins and Wally Miller of Tip Tops came through with a high three of 980 (369, 350, 261).... The United States Army is likely to get Bobo Newsom before the Philadelphia A's can use his services....His classification has been changed... On the other hand the St. Louis Cards have got a real Christmas present from the army doctors. They have decided that Mort Cooper is not physically fit for military service and so the ace pitcher will be available for next season's campaign....There will be no more games in the Ladies' Basketball League until after the holiday season....And still more lull on the sport front....There will be no wrestling card next week....Incidentally there must have been a towel shower this week for Frank Tunney's lads. They were all using towels as weapons in last night's bouts.

Civilian Teams Dominate Senior Picture

By The Canadian Press

Confident predictions that Ontario's rich reserves of military service talent would provide the province with a powerful Allan Cup contender were in process of revision today as civilian teams dominated the strong Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" series.

Before the season started Toronto R.C.A.F., Toronto Navy and Toronto Army Daggers were regarded as almost certain to lead the parade in a six-team circuit. Then Army Daggers folded, apprehensive of ramifications of th Army's new "soldier-first" policy.

Navy and R.C.A.F. still were favorites as the season started, but from the outset two civilian clubs shared pacemaking duties with Kingston Frontenac Army, hard hit by postings but reinforced by a flow of seasoned players from other centres. Frontenacs, sparked by playing coach Robert (Red) Hamill, now trail Hamilton Majors by two points while St. Catharines Saints are in third place, four in front of Navy and R.C.A.F. Most of Hamilton's power is provided by Johnny Conick, Dillon Brady and Doug Runions, veteran forward threesome who currently form the hottest line in Senior hockey.

Oshawa Generals, always a power in Junior hockey, lead group one of the Junior "A" O.H.A. with 14 points, two ahead of Toronto St. Michael's College who promised to provide most of the contention. St. Catharines Falcons held a four-point margin over Galt Kists in the second group of the Junior "A" series, which saw 10 clubs split into two groups.

Ottawa Commandos, winners of the Allan Cup last year, are at present holding down third place in the Quebec Senior Hockey league, the Commandos, a mixture of civilians and men from the forces, are six points behind Quebec Aces a civilian team, and two points behind the Montreal R. C. A. F. club.

The Cornwall, Ont., Army team which reached the Q. S. H. L.'s semi-finals last year dropped out shortly after the start of this season because of the army's "soldier first" policy. The team feared many of its best players would be transferred out of the district before the season was very old.

Marines Take Bowling Title

A 2 to 1 victory by Westclox over Brintons left the two teams tied for second place with 19 points. Outboard Marines 3-0 win over Maple Leafs gave them the championship of the first half.

Marg Selkirk had high three and high single with 755 and 318. Kay Calladine won the blind score prize with 667. Actual score was 679.

Standing at the end of the first half: Outboard Marines 20, Westclox 19, Brintons 19, Lucky Strikes 15, Commandos 14, Corvettes 13, Maple Leafs 11, Beavers 9, Generals 8, Five V's 7.

High average, F. Margueratt, 207; high three, R. Pearse, 854; high single, R. Pearse, 369.

Next Monday will be our annual chicken roll. All players are asked to be on hand.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 — (AP). — Amos Alonzo Stagg has been chosen as the No. 1 football coach of the year by nearly everyone who does such picking....So how about recognizing Steve Owen as the No 2 man?....Spherical Steve started out with what one scout described as "the worst pro football team I ever saw."......In mid-season his Giants took a 56-7 drubbing from the Bears, which would have finished almost anybody....Next Sunday those same Giants are going to try to make it three in a row over the Washington Redskins in the playoff for the National Football League's Eastern title. They'll probably do it, too, and then give the Bears a tussle in th championship play-off a week later.....All that leaves no doubt that Owen can get the most out of his men (an imoprtant factor in coaching....And if that isn't enough, probably the neatest tricks of the year were his luring Mel Hein out of retirement and then springing Soldier Hank Soar from Fort Devens, Mass., as a week-end player:

Soar-ing high:

When the Giants were heading for Washington last week, Coach Owen stopped beside Hank Soar and asked: "How's your pass defence, Hank?" ...... "Wonderful, Steve. No M.P. can stop me," Soldier Soar replied as he reached into his pocket and displayed a 3-day pass signed by his commanding officer....He was right, too. Hank intercepted two of Sammy Baug[illegible] passes.

Wrestler Ties Referee In Ring Ropes

Jan Gotch ran into a spot of bad luck in his torrid bout with Texas Karl Davis in the main event of the Frank Tunney show at the Brock Street Arena last night.

The Polish battler really squared the match when he pinned the Texan long enough to have won three falls but unfortunately he picked a moment when Referee Tommy Nelson, knocked bodily through the ropes, was absent from the ring. And still more unfortunately for Mister Gotch, Davis managed to break the hold and roll the Pole over just in time to have the dazed referee get back into the ring and count Gotch out.

The result was that instead of being on even terms with the former Houston policeman the Pole lost two falls and the battle was over.

Davis had taken the first fall with his favorite stepover toehold after 18 minutes of spirited battling in which Gotch had given as much as he took.

It was a tough match, with no quarter asked or given. Davis, big and ornery, handed out plenty but Gotch came back at him with the same kind of stuff and he had the Texan in a jam frequently during the eighteen minutes battling of the first round. Gotch lived up to his reputation of backing away from no one and although Davis gave him some rough passages the Pole retaliated with a barrage of elbow smashes, kicks and gouging that had the Texan looking for shelter more than once.

Hang The Referee

The highlight came when Davis managed to hang Gotch, Cantonwine fashion, in the ropes and when Referee Tommy Nelson tried to interfere the Texan carried him over to the ropes on the other side of the ring and trussed him up in similar fashion. Fans rushed to the rescue, released the referee and Gotch and when Davis tossed the official through the ropes one helpful enthusiast stopped Nelson in mid-air and pushed him back into the ring.

Gotch, enraged by the treatment he had received swung elbow smashes to the jaw and backed Davis into a corner and flailed him unmercifully. However the outburst nearly cost the Pole dearly for the Krippler suddenly dived out of the corner and clapped his deadly toehold on Gotch. It looked like curtains for Belting Jan but he finally managed to get out of that jam momentarily. However Davis came back with a right swing to the jaw that took a lot of steam out of Gotch and then nailed him again with a step-over toehold that did the trick. The Pole could not break loose from that grip and his shoulders were finally pinned.

He was still limping when he came back for the second round but in spite of that fact he carried the battle right to Davis, hammered him around the ring and gave him a touch of the rope treatment. He was doing nicely until Referee Nelson was knocked out of the ring during a mixup in a corner. Gotch pounced on the Texan and spread him for a fall but with the official still outside the ropes the feat did not mean a thing. Just as Nelson finally got back Davis rolled his opponent over and the dazed referee counted Gotch out and raised the Krippler's arm in token of a victory. There was a wild brawl for a few moment after the final bell when Gotch sailed into the Texan and gave him a stormy session but the gladiators were finally separated.

Dunlop Disqualified

Bunny Dunlop substituted for Jack Reeder in the semi-final against Ralph Garibaldi, the St. Louis mat star and the switch was no bargain for the newcomer for the Toronto strongman put on one of his toughest demonstrations and made the bout a lively battle. Garibaldi, a smooth-working performer who evidently knows what its all about and can move fast weathered the storm in good fashion and Dunlop finally beat himself as he has done on so many occasions by getting too rough and ending up by being disqualified. He hurled Garibaldi out of the ring and three times in a row knocked him back again when he tried to climb back in. When Dunlop pushed Referee Nelson over when the official tried to go to Garibaldi's rescue that was the final straw.

Nelson left the ring and raised the Italian's arm as the victor of the bout. There was a storm when Garibaldi returned to the ring. The irate Dunlop grabbed a towel and tried to strangle the St. Louis battler with it. However Garibaldi was not taken off his guard. He snatched the towel away from Dunlop, wrapped it around Bunny's neck and used it to toss the Toronto grappler twice in succession with a crack-the-whip effect that gave the loser a real shaking-up. Dunlop tried to retaliate with his fists but Garibaldi had the edge in that kind of battling, too. The bout lasted 17 minutes.

The Czar Wins

The Czar won himself another Peterborough victory by flopping the hard-boiled Nick Elitch in sixteen minutes. The Hooded Horror had to work for the win however for the far-from-glamorous Elitch was in a battling mood and there was plenty of action in the opener. Honors were about even until the Czar, in a tight corner on the ropes, failed to break clean when Referee Nelson stopped the battling, made a surprise attack on Mister Elitch and nailed him for the fall. The Syracuse battler got even after the bell rang by wrapping his towel around the Czar's neck and giving him a couple of flying mares.

It was announced that there would be no bouts next week because of Christmas activities but that the Tunney entourage would be back the following week with an all-star cast.

Tommy Nelson was the hard-working referee in all three bouts and Fred Scates handled the watch and the announcer's duties.

TORONTO, Dec. 16 — (CP). — Shed a tear for Charlie Sands. The Lakehead product spent 11 seasons in the National Hockey League with only occasional brief visits to the minors and just missed the major league's 100-goal club by one goal. Charlie, now 32, started this season with New York Rangers needing just one counter to enter the charmed circle, but Rangers released him before he made the trade. Sands' best year was 1937-38 with Boston Bruins when he scored 17 goals and 12 assists....Sands' former teammate with Bruins and Canadiens, Ray Getliffe, bagged his 100th N.H.L. goal 10 days ago. He started this season with 92 accumulated in seven big league campaigns.

Memory Lane:

In a talk with Fred Kerner of the Montreal Gazette, Charlie Querrie, who managed Toronto Arenas to the Stanley Cup in 1918, suggests the men who helped build the game of hockey be recognized in the proposed Hall of Fame — men like Frank Calder, W. 'A. Hewitt, George Kennedy, Lester Patrick, Art Ross and Conny Smythe. Kennedy was one of the N.H.L. organizers in Montreal. Querrie also suggests a special niche for referees and he named Lou Marsh, Mickey Ion, and Cooper Smeaton.

Pro and con:

Maj. Ed Bickle, president of the Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens, received a wire from George Drew, Ontario Premier now in England: "Thanks for message. Con Smythe and I had dinner last night. You can all relax. He has settled the Conservative Party and I have fixed up everything for the Leafs."

Round and about:

Jack Carmichael, star of several Winnipeg St. Andrew's basketball teams in their Manitoba championship days, now stars for the R.C.A.F Manning Depot team at Brandon, Man.....Ching Johnson, former all-star defenceman with New York Rangers, is still playing hockey at 44 in a Los Angeles semi-pro league.......Peterborough, Ont., is without O.H.A. hockey for the first time since 1895. Fred Craig of the Peterborough Examiner comments: "We are paying the penalty of course, for sitting around for years and doing nothing about providing a modern artificial ice arena."....Don Metz, former Toronto puck star, has transferred from the Army to air crew and is posted at Manning Depot in Edmonton where no indoor rink is available.

Boston Bruins Clip Chicago 4 to 3

By The Canadian Press

Ott Heller's prediction that Bill Cowley would score more than 100 points in 1943-44 National Hockey League competition seems to have been something more than a shot in the dark. With little more than seven weeks of the 4½-month scheduled completed, Cowley has collected 36 points on 11 goals and 25 assists.

The playmaking centre of Boston Bruins collected three of the points last night, connecting for the deciding goal and two assists as Bruins toppled Chicago Black Hawks 4-3 before a 10,000 crowd at Boston Garden to move into second place ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago.

Cowley set the league record for assists at 45 in 1940-41 and equalled the mark last season, but failed to score more than 17 goals in a season until he fired 27 pucks past rival netminders last winter. This year he seems likely to shatter his personal standards for goals and assists, as well as fulfill the forecast Heller made at the New York Rangers training camp in Winnipeg shortly before the season started.

Art Jackson sharing scoring honors with Cowley last night, tallying twice and setting up Cowley's clincher as Bruins recorded their eighth unbeaten game on home ice. Herb Cain also counted for Bruins, his 18th of the season. Bill Mosienko, Cully Dahlstrom and Clint Smith were Chicago marksmen in a seesaw game.

Boston: Goal, Gardiner; defense, Clapper, Crawford; centre, Cowley; wings, Boll, Cain; subs, Guidolin, Calladine, Hollett, H. Jackson, A. Jackson, Palazzari, Labrie.

Chicago: Goal, Highton; defense, Seibert, Johnson; centre, Dahlstrom; wings, March, Allen; subs, Purpur, Bentley, Mosienko, Dyte, Smith, Campbell, Gottselig.

Winnipeg's Billy Marquart was removed as a contender for the lightweight boxing crown four years ago tonight when he was knocked out in New York's Madison Square Garden by Lew Jenkins who later knocked out Lou Ambers to win the crown.

Deanna Durbin Given Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15—(AP)—Deanna Durbin, singing screen star from Winnipeg, was granted a divorce to-day from Lieutenant Vaughn Paul in proceedings which took less than 10 minutes.

Scarcely raising her voice above a whisper, she testified that constant criticism of her film and radio work by her husband had kept her in a constant state of nervous distraction.

"It all started about two years ago when we were planning to move to our new home," Miss Durbin testified. "Vaughn went to a stag party; I asked him to come home early, as we had a lot of unpacking to do. But he didn't show up until noon the next day and then he was completely incapable of helping me. He went, immediately to bed, giving no explanation as to where he had been.

"Frequently when he came home I would be listening to a symphony program. He would go immediately to the radio and turn it off. Quarrels would follow which left me nervous and upset."

Vaughn was not in court. A property agreement was reached some time ago. She is 21, Vaughn 28. They had been married 2½ years.

N.H.L. Leaders

Standing—Canadiens, won 12, lost 2, tied 3, points 27.

Points—Cowley, Boston, 11 goals, 25 assists, 36 points.

Penalties—McMahon, Canadiens, 38 minutes.

Goals—H. Cain, Boston, 18.

Assists—Cowley, Boston, 25.

Shutouts—Durnan, Canadiens, 1.

Bill Cowley Aiming At New Record

MONTREAL, Dec. 16 — (CP).—Bostons Bill Cowley is back at the top of the National Hockey League's official scoring figures, regaining the position he has twice gained and lost in the weekly N.H.L. figures.

Last night's Boston-Chicago tilt gave Cowley 33 points for a three-point margin over his team-mate Herbie Cain. Tied for third spot with 26 points were Bill Mosienko of Chicago and Buddy O'Connor of Canadiens, former leader, who has been out a week because of illness.

Cain took over leadership in the goal department during the week, with his total given as 17, two more than Mud Bruneteau of Detroit and four more than Gerry Heffernan of Canadiens.

Cowley's 23 assists put him well ahead in that column, his closest competitor being O'Connor with 18.

McMahon moved out all alone as the league bad-man with 38 minutes in majors and minors as well as two 10-minute misconducts. Pat Egan of Detroit and Murph Chamberlain of Canadiens each had 32 minutes in the box.

Aged Woman Is Given $1,200 Judgment

Judgment for $1,200 and costs of $340 to Mrs. Margaret Lyons from the estate of the late John James Meharry was given by Mr. Justice Plaxton in the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court here Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Lyons, 81 years old, worked as housekeeper for Mr. Meharry from September 25, 1931, until his death, February 11, 1943. She was engaged at a wage of $15 a month and her board and lodging, and had received for her services $356.03. In her suit she claimed the balance of $1,698.67. After a period of two and a half to three years, Mrs. Lyons said, regular payments ceased. It was in the midst of the depression, and she realized Mr. Meharry's funds were shrinking. One of the houses he owned was sold under a mortgage, and the net proceeds he received were small.

She remained as housekeeper, she testified, hoping that conditions would improve and that she would receive the money that was due her.

John A. Bradshaw, representing the executor of the estate, Charles Emmanuel Mann of Peterborough, called several witnesses who quoted Mrs. Lyons as having told them at later periods in the twelve years of her engagement that she was receiving only board and lodging and that she seemed content to continue on that basis.

Mr. Justice Plaxton commented in discussing the evidence before giving judgment that there had been no proof submitted in evidence to show that the original agreement had been altered.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., represented Mrs. Lyons.

Mr. Meharry's will indicated the following assets:—a lot in Little Lake cemetery $75; the north half of lot 15, concession 12, in Cavan township, assessed at $200, valued at $400; the east half of the south half of lot 22, concession 13, Cavan, assessed at $100, valued at $200; lot 33, plan 30 Peterborough, assessed at $1,650, valued at $3,000. Total $3,675.

There was also an insurance policy of the Canadian Order of Foresters for $598.25, payable equally to Mr. Meharry's sisters, Mrs. Mary Ann Miller and Mrs. Leticia Frost, Toronto.

Tools and garden utensils valued at $519.30; household goods $50. Totals of all assets and insurance $4,842.55.

By his will Mr. Meharry directed his executor to sell his property, pay his debts, funeral and testamentary expenses and erect a tombstone to his memory costing not more than $150; to pay his brother, David Alfred Meharry, Trent, Oregon, $1; to pay his housekeeper, Mrs. Lyons, $100, and to divide and pay the residue equally between his brother, George Amos Meharry of Outlook, Montana, and his sisters, Mrs. Frost and Mrs. Miller of Toronto.

Mr. Bradshaw asked for stay of execution of the judgment, pending decision as to an appeal.

BEAUTY QUESTION—A question of beauty arises and it's a moot question too—which one of these fair lasses will be queen of the Pasadena tournament of roses? These seven finalists in the quest for a beauty to reign over the classic New Year's Day event were introduced to the committee of judges through this huge question mark.

5,000 Strikers

skeleton of a fire-fighting staff was available, no major fires broke out despite sub-zero weather and the consequent increased threat of such outbreaks.

Only a skeleton staff attended the water works machinery, but pressure never faltered in city mains. Snow removal men were on strike 100 per cent., but city streets remained comparatively clear, and snarled traffic unsnarled itself despite the absence of traffic police.

But while the city passed through the most critical period without major incident, the reverberations of the strike and its settlement were expected to make themselves felt for some time to come.

New Strike Looms.

Almost immediately after announcement of the settlement, city officials found themselves confronted with a 40-hour ultimatum from 800 white collar workers, members of the National Syndicate of Municipal Workers, who demanded pay increases similar to those they expected the other departements to get.

Granting of recognition to the C.C.L., too, was only the first step in the city's dealings with the union, with the subject of a formal contract governing wages and working conditions yet to be discussed.

Paul Marquette, C.C.L. organizer who directed the strike, said after it ended that a proposed contract embodying union demands would be presented shortly. He said he expected the city would be willing to grant pay increases to the police and firemen averaging $500 yearly—the increases the city offered the two departments in a counter-proposal when the recognition demand was first made.

On the other hand, Honore Parent, director under the Municipal Commission, said that the offered pay increases no longer applied, and would not apply unless agreed upon at collective bargaining negotiations.

"I cannot sign an ordinance to give effect to a settlement with which I do not concur," he added.

The city, through the Municipal Commission, accepted the union's terms of recognition after Mr. Potvin had been advised to do so by Provincial Government officials following a lengthy cabinet meeting in Quebec.

In its counter-proposal to the demand for recognition, the city said it would recognize the union in the public works department, but would not admit its jurisdiction in the police and fire departments, offering the wage increases there instead. The counter-proposal was rejected and all three departments went on strike yesterday morning.

Take Board's Report

In its ultimate rescognition of the union in all three departments the city adopted the majority report of an arbitration board which a month ago recommended that such recognition be extended. The board was investigating an earlier strike of public works department employees.

The white collar ultimatum came close on the heels of release in Quebec of the report of another arbitration board which recommended that city officials recognize the national syndicate as bargaining agent for the office staffs, some of whom are C. C. L. members.

Linked with the municipal situation was the threat of another tramways strike such as tide up all trams and buses for three days last March and resulted in recognition of the C.C.L. as bargaining agent for the tramway workers. That strike too was directed by Paul Marquette.

At the height of yesterday's strike, tramways workers were talking of refusing to continue their runs without police protection, claiming that the money they had to carry with them on their routes was in danger in a city bereft of a police force.

At a meeting last night, however, the tramsway men confined themselves to giving approval to a proposed contract due to be presented to Montreal Tramways early next week. Reaction of the men should the contract be turned down remained in doubt.

Canadian Pilots Improve Plane Count

Written for The Canadian Press
By FLT. LT. BOB WILLIAMS, R. C. A. F.

WITH THE R.C.A.F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Dec. 16—(CP). — Two Canadian Spitfire squadrons, roaring like a score of express trains bursting from as many tunnels, plunge down on their station. The City of Winnipeg and City of Oshawa Squadrons have returned for tea.

Led by 24-year-old Wing Cmdr. Loyd Chadburn, D.S.O., D.F.C., Aurora, Ont., they have been sweeping enemy skies and in the four months since formation of the wing have destroyed 43 aircraft for a loss of one fighter. Their honor roll includes six D.F.C.'s, a D.S.O., and a D.F.M.

In 45 trips escorting United States Marauders to bombing targets, they have lost only one bomber to enemy fighters — and the successful pilot paid with his life. They have protected Flying Fortresses on five separate missions and recently established a record for Canadian fighters on escort duty when they destroyed nine ME 109's in an engagement over the Netherlands coast.

Hard-bitten Crowd

The amazing success of the wing reflects a mental picture of a gang of hard-bitten aerial adventurers. In reality, the pilots behave almost like a bunch of shy, college freshmen. Some of their sky thrills never will be told because of their horror of "line-shooting."

Chadburn is a lanky fellow who graduated from Northern Vocational School in Toronto five years ago and now has 14 destroyed aircraft in his log book. In addition he has three listed as "probably destroyed" and eight damaged.

Accepted as an air gunner in 1940 after once having been rejected by all three services, he soon remustered as a pilot. He was the first fighter pilot to destroy a German E-boat. That was back in November, 1941, when he was concentrating on shipping attacks.

Leader of the Winnipeg Squadron is Geoff Northcott, at 22 a veteran of the Battle of Malta and holder of the D.F.C. A stocky blond from Minnedosa, Man., his victory record includes nine aircraft destroyed, one probable and five damaged.

Use Of Azores Bases Aids Atlantic Patrol

LONDON, Dec. 15 (CP)—Use of facilities in the Azores granted Britain by the Portuguese government has increased by approximately 1,000,000 square miles the ocean area patrolled by the R.A.F.'s coastal command planes, the air ministry has disclosed.

The coastal command previously had patrolled from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 square miles of the Atlantic in its war against marauding German submarines.

Air Vice-Marshal G. R. Bromet, who formerly directed the air offensive against the U-boats in the Bay of Biscay, is in command of the combined British Army and Navy air units stationed in the Azores. The units include Wellingtons and Hudsons and Flying Fortresses. One of the latter sank a German submarine within two weeks after operations from the islands were begun.

Ortona Battle Sets New Barrage Record

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 13.— (Delayed)—(CP Cable.)— Canadian troops, closely supported by tanks and a great weight of artillery, are fighting their bitterest engagement of the war south of the Adriatic sea coast town of Ortona.

The battle which started a week ago and in which the Canadians drove the Germans back from their strong line on the northwest heights of the Moro River Valley now is raging over a lateral road running 15 miles inland from the Adriatic to the town of Guardriagrele.

On the north side of this highway the Germans are fighting strongly in defence. The Canadians occupy positions on the south side. The fight goes on day and night, accompanied by the constant thunder of guns, the whistle of shells and mortar bombs, the groaning of tanks and the roar of aircraft. The battle is regarded as the fiercest the Canadians have fought either in Sicily or Italy.

Infantry and tanks succeeded two or three times in forcing a way across the road but the weight of German fire each time prevented the Canadians from gaining a foothold for more than 24 hours.

Gain by Yards

An indication of the determination with which the Germans are fighting is the fact the advance has gained little more than one mile since the forcing of the Moro river last Wednesday. The progress now being made is recorded in yards rather than miles.

The Germans are paying heavily in casualties. Two hundred Nazi prisoners were taken Monday.

One hundred prisoners were taken by a combat team headed by tanks and which included a company from a Maritimes battalion which was astride the road momentarily, approaching the highway the tanks surprised three German Mark IV. tanks and knocked them out.

Thousands of rounds of shells have poured into the German positions from Canadian guns. In the last 10 days more shell rounds have been fired by Canadian gunners than from all the 25-pounders used by the Canadians in the entire Sicilian campaign. British batteries are lending their weight to the attack.

In the battle area discarded German equipment dots the ground, also marked by shell craters and flattened trees. The dead are buried as soon as possible and the grassy slopes which form the Canadian positions are being planted with little groups of wooden crosses over the graves.

Bold Leadership Needed Later Senator Fallis Tells Women

TORONTO, Dec. 15—Canada will need the best talents of all, men and women alike, to deal with problems of the reconstruction period, said Senator Iva Fallis, speaking on "The Canada of Tomorrow" at a luncheon meeting of the Women's Progressive Conservative Association of Toronto Inc., here yesterday, at which Mrs. H. J. E. Lawson presided.

"To ignore a person's capabilities because of sex is not only stupid and unsound but it is not in the best interests of the country," she declared, maintaining "there should be more women occupying positions of importance in our public life." Men and women alike who believe in freedom and democracy should be accorded equal opportunities for service in the task of bringing about a better to-morrow, she said.

Closer To Empire

"When we talk of Canada's future the one thing Canadians should never lose sight of is that the destiny of Canada is indissolubly bound up with the destiny of Empire," she said.

It has been encouraging to all adherents of the Progressive Conservative party to note that at first opportunity "every step possible is being taken to strengthen our British connection and build a greater Ontario," she said. This policy should be extended so as to prevail throughout Canada.

Need New Policy

For expansion in the postwar development era Canada also needs "a broad and wise immigration policy; abolition of wartime controls as soon as feasible to ensure the orderly return to the free running of private enterprise; vigorous leadership which will assume that Canada has a large part to play after the war in building a future in co-operation with all members of the Commonwealth.

"We need bold leadership, not only for reinvigoration of our national life—what Mr. Bracken calls 'a revitalized democracy,' but also for becoming a most vital and leading partner in the British Commonwealth of Nations," she said.

This objective could not be achieved under C.C.F. policy, she said. "Instead of abolition of war controls we would have State control of every activity, greatly intensified; instead of development of freedom of enterprise we would have State control of financial institutions and business, a system of regimentation which may be acceptable in Russia and other European countries but is entirely contrary to the desires and inclinations of average Canadians. Instead of closer co-operation with the British Commonwealth we would have the isolationist point of view emphasized."

Scores Ottawa Methods

"Neither could this objective be achieved under methods being followed by present Government at Ottawa, where rule by Order-in-Council and bureaucrats prevails; where no one who is not a party adherent has any voice in the war or the preparation for peace; where freedom of speech is denied by high-handed handling of radio broadcasts and only members of present Government are allowed on the air, although all citizens pay for the privilege of listening," she claimed.

Senator Fallis had high praise for the points which Premier Drew has been emphasizing since assuming leadership in Ontario—for his pronouncements anent education, Hydro, etc. His idea of a greater utilization of radio and movies in the schools is a definite step in the education of the child of today, she thought. Extension of Hydro facilities in rural communities would be an advantage to city populations as well, since the city depends largely upon the farm for necessities and comforts.

Speaking of agricultural difficulties, she said definitely our contract for bacon with Britain should be fulfilled and what was left over made available to people here.

LUBBOCK, Tex., Dec. 14—(AP).—Staff Sgt. James D. King, United States Army Air Forces, is a Cheyenne Indian from Tame Deer, Mont.—and as a member of the tribe, is exempt from income taxes—but Sgt. King declares tax-paying is a privilege — and sends his payments to the treasury anyhow.

Soot In Lungs Indicates Murder Likely

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Dec. 15 (AP).—The possibility that Miss Patricia Winters, 17-year-old Greenville High School senior, was alive when fire broke out in the car in which her charred body was found has been raised by Dr. Simon Le Roy, Kent county coroner.

The presence of carbon monoxide fumes and soot in the girl's lungs, Dr. Le Roy said late Monday after a preliminary pathological examination, "leads to the possibility" that she was still alive when the fire started.

The coroner's report followed a statement by Capt. A. A. Downing of the State Police that there were several "mysterious angles" to be investigated, one of which was a piece of copper wire, apparently a stranded lamp cord, found about the girl's neck before her body was removed from the car early last Saturday morning.

Miss Winters' companion for the previous evening, David Filgas, 16, disclosed the girl's death when he appeared at a nearby farmhouse about 5 a.m. suffering from severe burns about the head, face and shoulders. The youth, a Greenville High School junior, is under police guard in hospital.

Detective Le Roy Hunt of the Rockford Post said Filgas told him he was driving Miss Winters home from a dance at Greenville when they parked along a country road near her home. It was there, Hunt quoted the boy as saying, "that an explosion occurred. He "didn't remember many details and did not tell anything about the cause of the fire," Hunt added.

Snow Delights Aussies

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 15 (CP)—Australian airmen at No. 4 Air Observers School here, romping about at their first sight of Canadian snow over the week-end, cheerfully admitted seasoned Canadians might think them "plumb crazy" in their reaction. They were surprised by the amount of "white stuff" which fell, amazed that it fell "all over the place" and not just in spots.

Minister Says Post-War Plan Will Be Ready

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15 — (CP) — Belief that due to present planning the postwar period in this country "will not be a period of depression, unemployment and of confusion'" was expressed Monday by Pensions Minister Ian Mackenzie in a prepared address to the Canadian Club outlining Canada's program for the rehabilitation of servicemen.

"We propose having in readiness a great program of public-assisted enterprise, public works, development projects of all sorts, so that there may be bridge on which we can cross the gap between war and peace," he said.

Mr. Mackenzie said private citizens could aid the government's rehabilitation program by giving every returned man a hearty welcome home, seeing that he had the opporunity to join the social and recreational activities of the community and studying details of government plans.

He urged that employers become "veteran conscious" that organized labor be asked to co-operate in the program, and that ex-servicemen be encouraged to accept the educational and vocational training benefits available to them.

Mr. Mackenzie said provisions had been made for a "modest living allowance" to be paid to men setting up business ventures on their own "during the early period of his venture while he is awaiting returns." It was expected liberal use would be made of this regulation to aid soldier settlers under the Veterans' Land Act and thus "save many of them from incurring those small debts which tend to defeat the success of the veteran before he is fairly started."

For veterans unable to find employment there would be a cash living allowance granted without a means test, the only condition being "that he is fit to work, and work cannot be found." In addition benefits of the unemployment insurance act had been extended to members of the forces.

WMS Works On Quilt At Monthly Meeting

FRASERVILLE, Dec. 15 (ENS).—The regular meeting of the Women's Association was held recently at the home of Mrs. K. Larmer, and the afternoon was spent in quilting. Mrs. Lackey read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. Kidd led in prayer. Mrs. W. Waterman was in charge of the W.M.S. program, while Mrs. R. Finlay read a letter from Rev. Zufelt of Peterborough, telling of a son in Sicily.

Mrs. Pue read a poem; Mrs. H. Ouellette gave an article on Jesus' attitude towards women; Mrs. K. Moncrief gave a reading, and "Let Us Be True to God" was read by Mrs. Hogg. Mrs. McClenaghan also gave a reading, "A Moment at a Time."

Howe Raps Tories On Bracken Broadcast

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (CP) Munitions Minister Howe, today described as a "publicity stunt" Progressive Conservative protests that John Bracken's recent Hamilton speech had been "banned from the air."

"Mr. Bracken's publicity men doubtless saw an opportunity for publicizing Mr. Bracken's speech in the newspapers," the Minister said in an interview. "Whether or not that rule (that against CBC network broadcasts of political speeches between elections) is a good or bad one is a question that the next parliamentary committee on radio broadcasting can consider."

Crowded Ottawa Baffles House Hunters

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—(CP)—The trouble-burdened characters of the radio soap operas stack up as sissies against the weary soul trying to find a place to live in this overcrowded capital.

One of the problems is advertisements like these (inserted by other and more prosperous house-hunters):

Furnished duplex — don't apply unless you can pay year's rent in advance."

"Willing to pay up to $200 a month rent for furnished house."

"Apartment or duplex wanted. Six months' rent in advance, $25 reward."

"Quiet couple, no children, want furnished or unfurnished apartment—rent no object."

Many landlords turn both thumbs down to anyone with children. The average househunter would get mighty discouraged if it wasn't for the occasional chuckle he gets out of the advertisements run by other people in the same plight as himself:

"Wifeless, childless, apartmentless officer wants apartment. You name it and I'll claim it."

"It's getting rather cold for a park-bench honeymoon—can anyone rent us a furnished apartment?"

One lad, burned out of his apartment, advertised for another. He listed what he wanted and said: "Anyone knowing of a landlord with such accommodation please telephone . . . . I will take it over, and have the landlord put on display in the Smithsonian Institute."

A landlord with an apartment to rent in Ottawa IS a museum piece, I'll agree.

Perhaps a letter to Santa Claus . . . . Well, I'm still looking.

ILLEGAL PARKING.

Illegal parking on city streets resulted in fines of $2 and $1 costs for R. S. McMullen and O. Dalgleish who entered written pleas of guilty to the charge in police court this morning.

PERMANENT JOB

The report given by Dr. R. Kelly, M.O.H., at the Board of Health Tuesday morning was erroneous in stating that Mrs. I. Gibson had been hired for only three months. Her job is a permanent one, Ald. James Dutton chairman declared today.

LEAVES ENGLAND.

Pte. Wilbert N Lean, son of Mrs. Edith Lean, 417 Rogers Street, has cabled his mother that he is serving in Africa with the British North African Force. Formerly employed at the C.G.E., he went to England shortly after last Christmas. A brother Raymond cabled of his arrival overseas a few days ago.

LAWYER TO SPEAK.

John Bradshaw will address the Thursday evening dinner meeting of the Y's Men's Club, speaking on the topic of "Curious Quirks of Law." The club will have its annual turkey dinner on December 23, and guests at the party will include a number of boys from the Military Training Camp who are not able to get home for Christmas.

GETTING BUSY.

Post office officials beamed happily on Tuesday as they surveyed the section of racks devoted to Christmas cards. Postmaster Charles Lacheur said the results have been good and a large number of people have been bringing their cards into the post office tied up in bundles, which are being mailed out on the dates specified. Only where the cards have been put in without being tied up have they been mailed ahead of schedule.

A LONG REMAND.

When charges of drunk driving, careless driving and driving without a license were called against Leslie Booth in police court this morning, Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., stated that Booth wanted another postponement in the case. "I am suggesting that it be laid over until after the holiday season," stated the Crown Attorney. Magistrate Langley remanded Booth until January 5 on the drunk driving charge and adjourned the other two until the same date. Accused is on bail.

FARM MECHANICS

Clark Young of Milliken and Wesley Taylor of Tyrone are the instructors in the farm mechanics courses here and at Lakefield this week. For the area adjoining the city F. C. Paterson arranged meetings at Co-Op Hall Tuesday and today, and at Lakefield Memorial Hall Thursday and Friday.

FOR A GOOD CAUSE.

The city hall staff is operating its usual Christmas turkey draw in behalf of the British War Victims Fund and the tickets are having a ready sale in the downtown section. Last year over $100 was raised in this manner for the fund and it is hoped to set a new record on this occasion.

FLYERS ARRIVE HOME

W.O. 1 William S. Wildman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Wildman, 533 Aylmer street, and P.O. Frederick J. Weir of Omemee are two members of the Air Force who returned home from overseas today. Both have seen service on Malta, and both have been in England, where another Peterborough airman recently arrived back, FO. Hugh Fallis, mentioned meeting them a while ago.

PARK STREET FOG

Some Monaghan residents report dense vapor over Park street, from north of Brioux avenue to the river, arising from hot water in the ditch on the west side of the road. They say this fog hangs over the road like a heavy blanket. One of the residents told the Examiner that he drove up Park street the other night and had to get out of his car four or five times in a short distance to make certain that he was on the road and not heading for the ditch.

GARAGE BURNS DOWN.

Started by an undiscovered cause, fire quickly demolished the garage of Ernest Sanders of McKellar Street early this morning, and badly damaged the owner's car, which was in the garage at the time. By the time the alarm had been received by the Fire Department at 5.33 a.m., and firemen arrived at the scene, the garage was already burned to the ground. Fire Chief George Gimblett thought it a possibility that a short circuit in the automobile had touched off the flames which consumed Mr. Sander's property. Only other call received by the Fire Department was for a plugged chimney at 191 Murray Street, residence of W. Sage, late last night.

Sailor Spent 20 Months In Newfoundland

Home after 20 months in Newfoundland, Able Seaman Thomas Bradley, 172 Adaline street, is enthusiastic about the wonderful hospitality of the people of Newfoundland for the men who are stationed in their midst.

"The country is amazingly poor, but in spite of that the people open their homes to the sailors and share everything they have. I have never been anywhere where people were so friendly. No one would ever think of passing you on the road without giving you a lift and everyone says 'good morning'."

Because it has been nearly two years since this sailor has had a chance to say hello to his folks, he was delighted to be home again and expects to spend his furlough visiting old haunts and friends, although many of his pals are away in the services. His best chum, AB Kenneth Childs, had hoped to have a leave to spend with him, but is laid up after an appendix operation. The two have not met for 1½ years. The Childs live at 589 Paterson street, the father is in the Army in Kingston and a sister is in the C.W.A.C.

Plenty of Food.

There has been comparatively little rationing in Newfoundland, AB. Bradley related, and it is only recently that sugar and tea have come under restrictions. Everything else can be found in good supply. Butter runs about 35 cents a pound and there is plenty of gas, if the consumers are willing to pay 55 and 60 cents a gallon. Shows are cheaper than in Peterborough. In St. Johns they run 40 cents, but in other parts they are 20 cents.

Lack Education.

Lack of finances has crippled the country in many ways, he said. Compulsory education has only been put in force, and about half the citizens are evading it for their children because they haven't the money to pay out for books. So when a boy is old enough, he is taken into the fishing business by his father. Because education has been such a minus quantity it is very difficult to understand the people in the northern parts, this sailor said. They can understand one another, but an outsider is at a loss.

Many of the boys who are serving in the English Navy get a royal welcome when they get home. Most of them are very poorly paid, so when they arrive on leave, almost broke, the community remedies the situation. They throw a dance and charge a door fee. Enough money is taken out to pay the orchestra and after that the remainder is given to the guest of honor, who is in a position to have a fairly good time.

Poor Wages.

Wages there for civilians are much lower than in Canada, AB. Bradley explained. In a big department store a girl is lucky if she earns $7 a week, and some of the miners are hard hit too. Some of them only work during the summer, and somehow they eke out their earnings over the long winter months. Before the war relief stood at about 6 cents a person and it has now risen to 10 cents.

Although he is thrilled at being able to spend Christmas at home, Thomas Bradley recalls last Christmas with a good deal of pleasure. One of the heads of a mine took him for the day and took him for a tour of the district in his car and through part of the mines. A trip that he is not likely to encounter again.

Before enlisting about three years ago, AB Bradley was employed at the C.G.E. He said that there is always something doing at St. Johns. All the auxiliary services have huts there and there is the U.S.O. and the Caribou hut. If there are no shows there are dances, so a man in the service is never at a loss.

Bags 34 Foxes

SUTTON, Ont., Dec. 15.—(CP).—When Bill Laviolette of Sutton, 40 miles north of Toronto, finishes fall plowing on his farm, he sets out to pad his income with fox-hunting. In one month so far his score is 34 foxes, averaging $12.50 a pelt.

CABLES FROM AFRICA—Mrs. W. McAnerin, Wellington Street, has received word of the safe arrival in North Africa of her brother, Pte. Jack Dennis. He went to England two years ago as a reinforcement for the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, but has since transferred to the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

Fur Coats Are Turned Into The Furrier To Be Cut And Blocked For Sailors

Eight below zero and for all the wonder of the moon flushed sky you remember with a little surge of sympathy the literalness of an otherwise humorous caption of a comic cartoon, that became almost a classic reference to "heavy seas",—God help the poor sailors on a night like this. And you think of boys kept almost continuously busy chopping the ice off the deck and rails and the rest of their narrow bit of security at sea. And those other boys who recently put into Halifax to fit a British destroyer with steam heating and in recent months its Canadian crew knew no comfort, in fact often went for days with wet clothing.

And if you wonder how the deck crew stand up against winter along the northern patrols you will appreciate the thoughtfulness of those Peterborough people who turn into the furriers' hands coats of fur to be cut or blocked into vest shapes, and made ready without charge for finishing at home.

A mother of one southend boy said she took a coat, that was much worn but still with much utility ahead of it, to W. J. Hamilton's store, and was greeted with that familiar line or words to that effect "We've got something just as good or a whole lot better if we do say so."

Some one had left in a spacious piece of seal and Mr. Hamilton, according to the mother's story, suggested that he would rather give it to this mother of a sailor lad, than cut for her the fur she had brought to him. She gladly accepted his offer, took the "sea weskit" home, took a part of blue serge suit of her husband that was beginning to look shiny, used the cloth for an outside facing, with the fur turned in, and finished the job of helping fend the cold of wind blowing across the wastes of a northern ocean.

Mr. Hamilton verified the story in a general way this morning, and said he had seven others to get out by Christmas, that means to cut and block, a gratuitous service to folks who bring them in.

Some of the pelts are left at the store for any sailor, but most of them are brought by parents desiring to afford their sons a little more protection against winter at sea.

And of all the deer that were shot around the country in November, all those expansive stories about knocking down bucks and does and bears.. ..now many of these hides went to sailors of Canada, young lads from towns like Peterborough out on the front line of battle?

Mr. Hamilton reluctantly answered, —"One".

Farmers Enjoy Late Plowing

Many farmers across the province continued plowing until last Thursday. Some of them in this district, especially along the lake front were at work in fields on Friday, but the drastic change in temperature that night chased all hands to the barn until spring comes.

Prince Edward loaded nine cars of stock last week presumably for delivery across the border. Hastings and Peterborough report heavy sales of hogs. Grenville says turkeys are scarce, and the Renfrew comment indicates that the volume is so limited there will be few for sale outside the county. However, "the volume of chickens is the highest on record and will be of the best quality yet produced." Dundas-Stormont expects the supply of turkeys to be about normal. Poultry day at Napanee brought out sixty tons. The news from Lambton, away over on the west border, is "Turkeys are not as plentiful this fall as usual, although there are some large flocks ranging from 400 to 1,500 birds."

Most of the counties show that purchase and receipt of western feed grain is continuing. Sudbury potatoes are firm at $2 a bag.

VON Monthly Report Lists 67 New Patients

The Victorian Order of Nurses reported that they had 67 new patients during the month of November, 15 more than they had during the same period in 1942, and of these two were pneumonia and nine flu. Miss Mary Ross said that the flu had greatly increased in December, and that they were being called into homes where whole families were ill.

During the month the V.O.N. had 13 pre-natal cases, 10 of which were reported to them directly by the doctors, and from January to the end of November they had 157 pre-natal cases, 36 more than the year before. Out of 521 visits made by nurses, 255 were in the interests of mothers and babies, and the rest dealt with other medical and surgical illnesses. There were also 58 visits made to families of men in the Forces.

The date for the annual meeting was tentatively set for the last Monday in January and a nominating committee made up of G. W. Craw, chairman, Fred Overend, Mrs. Frank Lynch, Miss R. Young, and Mrs. A. Sollitt.

Trial Continues

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP) — Defence and prosecution rested yesterday in the trial of seven men charged with conspiring to extort more than $1,000,000 from the United States Motion Picture Industry, after 10 weeks of testimony during which the government pictured magnates of the industry as cowering in fear from threats of a convicted labor racketeer. Judge John Bright said summations would begin Thursday.

Wolves Numerous

TEMIMAGI, Ont., Dec. 15.—(CP).—William Smith returned from his Redwater hunting camp recently with the report that his party had bagged six wolves which were preying on wild life of the district. Mr. Smith said he counted 16 deer slain by wolves in the 5-mile stretch between Doherty and Redwater.

Fats Waller Dies

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 15—(AP).—The body of a man identified by the Union stationmaster's office as Fats Waller, widely known Negro dance band leader, was taken from a Santa Fe eastbound train here early this morning.

The cause of death was not immediately learned. The Jackson county coroner was summoned.

Rink Caretakers Want Concession

A demand of the men in charge of the city rinks for shorter hours on Saturdays with a holiday on Christmas was referred by Alderman Curtis to Mayor Hamilton who called a meeting of the council in committee of the whole for three o'clock this afternoon.

The Examiner was informed that the men who make the ice and take care of the rinks want to quit work at 5 or 6 o'clock Saturday. Present daily hours are from 1 p.m. until 9.30 p.m., but the men are asking that Saturdays be reduced to a nine-hour day, from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

The parks committee has kept the public rinks open Saturday nights partly for the convenience of older skaters and with early closing of stores on Saturday nights, Alderman Curtis said today he expected more skaters than ever those nights. Only the Gilchrist street rink is nearing readiness for the public and will probably be ready by Friday night.

Councils Discuss Annexation Plan

Another conference with Otonabee township council was considered by the legal committee of the city council Tuesday afternoon as a further preliminary in the negotiations which have been begun for the consideration of the proposed annexation by the township of an eastern strip of the city.

This question will probably be left to the 1944 councils. The committee recommended permission to Canadian Ventilating Shades on Reid street to erect an overhead footwalk across the narrowed stretch of Murray street between the old Wm. Hamilton factory and office buildings. Indemnity of the city against any possible damage will be given by the company. Alderman Sands presided with Mayor Hamilton and Aldermen Bradburn, Mark and Glover present.

Traffic Charge Starts Long Argument

There was an unusually long legal argument in police court this morning over a charge of illegal parking on a highway laid against Clair O'Brien, Indian River, following an accident on Highway 7 a month ago.

When Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., called John C. Edwards of Otonabee to the witness box and Edwards proceeded to tell of an accident happening on the night of November 16, W. J. Arthur Fair, defence counsel objected.

"We are charged in the indictment with committing an offence on November 17" he said. "Anything that happened on November 16 is surely irrevelant."

Mr. McElderry said that he proposed to call evidence to show that the offence complained of took place on November 16 instead of November 17 as set forth in the indictment. He said that under the "variance" section such a course was permissible and that if defence counsel then stated that he had been surprised at the change in dates he would be entitled to ask for an adjournment.

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. ruled that it was necessary for the crown to show that O'Brien had been properly served within the ten day limit and Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure and Sergt. Gordon T. Puffer, justice of the peace were called to prove service. Constable McClure stated that the alleged offence had taken place on November 16 but that a mistake had been made in filling out the information, setting forth the date as November 17.

Magistrate Langley then permitted the crown to proceed, offering Mr. Fair an adjournment if he wanted one. Defence counsel said that he preferred to proceed with the hearing.

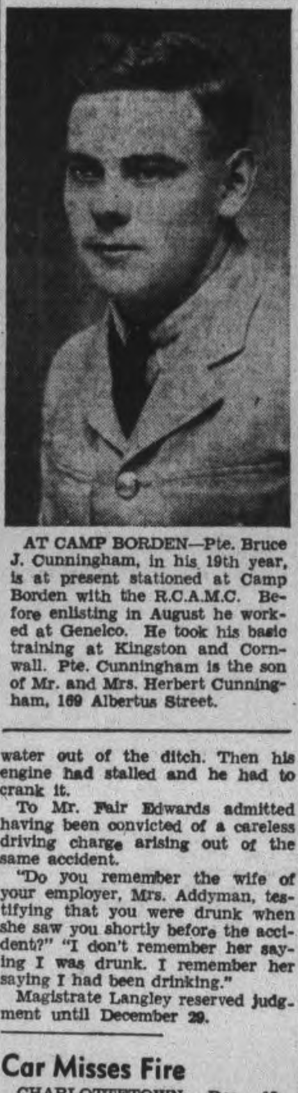
John C. Edwards was re-called and gave evidence as to the accident. He swore that he was driving his car east on Highway 7 on the night of November 16 and had collided with the rear of a car driven by O'Brien, parked on the south side of the road on the travelled portion of the highway.

O'Brien had told him after the accident, he said, that his car had started to heat up and he had stopped on the highway to get some water out of the ditch. Then his engine had stalled and he had to crank it.

To Mr. Fair Edwards admitted having been convicted of a careless driving charge arising out of the same accident.

"Do you remember the wife of your employer, Mrs. Addyman, testifying that you were drunk when she saw you shortly before the accident?" "I don't remember her saying I was drunk. I remember her saying I had been drinking."

Magistrate Langley reserved judgment until December 29.



AT CAMP BORDEN—Pte. Bruce J. Cunningham, in his 19th year, is at present stationed at Camp Borden with the R.C.A.M.C. Before enlisting in August he worked at Genelco. He took his basic training at Kingston and Cornwall. Pte. Cunningham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cunningham, 169 Albertus Street.

Car Misses Fire

CHARLOTTETOWN, Dec. 15—(CP)—Fate was harsh but it could have been worse, believed Frank Roper, nearby farmer dairyman, whose dairy and garage burned to the ground yesterday. His car would have been burned, too, he said, if it hadn't been struck down the road—in a snowdrift.

War—4 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

DEC. 15, 1939—Uruguayan naval board recommended that the German battleship Admiral Graf Spee, in Montevideo harbor, be given until 5 p.m., Dec. 17, to leave port. Russians claimed occupation of Salmijaervi, Finnish nickel industry centre.

Dr. H. L. Stewart Nominated As Knox Principal

The Peterborough Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church met in St. Paul's on Tuesday. Rev. Dr. J. S. Smart, the recently elected moderator, who took the place of Rev. Ernest Smythe of Warkworth who was called to Paisley, occupied the chair for the first time.

The presbytery had a visit from Rev. E. A. Thomson of Toronto, secretary of the Board of Sunday Schools and Young Peoples' Societies. Mr. Thomson spoke on the work of the committee "For Revival of Home Religion" and appealed for more Christian worship in the homes. He also dealt with many problems affecting Sunday Schools at the present time.

The presbytery nominated Prof. H. L. Stewart of Dalhousie University for the principalship of Knox College. Professor Stewart is widely known as a radio news commentator. He is a graduate of the University of Edinburgh in theology and has been a teacher of philosophy for years. He also is the author of three books on philosophy and has always maintained a very close relationship with the Presbyterian church.

The Presbytery expressed great concern over the scarcity of ministers. A shortage which is very serious at the present time.

Crowds Cheer Youth

OSHIOSH, Wis., Dec. 15—(AP)—While crowds cheered him on, Harold Parsons, 23 swung hand over hand along girders of a bridge yesterday to rescue a German shepherd dog that had plunged through the ice into the Fox River. The youth went 15 feet toward the centre of the river before he could get to the dog. Then he wrapped his legs around the animal's neck in a tight "scissors" hold. He returned to shore swinging from girder to girder while carrying the 70-pound dog between his legs.

Mrs. Boulter Heads Officers

Mrs. W. H. Morton, Water street, was hostess to Group "F" of the W. M.S. of George Street United Church for its Christmas meeting, and several guests were present. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. A. F. Lane and Mrs. W. Ludbrook, and Mrs. R. C. Boulter gave a Christmas reading. A double duet composed of Mesdames H. Girven, J. Spencer, H. Powers and V. Boorman, presented two musical numbers. The guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. F. W. Horton, who gave an inspiring Christmas message.

Election of officers for the coming year took place, and the results are as follows: Leader, Mrs. R. C. Boulter; assistant leader, Mrs. V. C. Boorman; secretary, Mrs. Roy Powell; treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Hales; Christian stewardship secretary, Mrs. A. F. Lane; temperance secretary, Mrs. J. M. Fanning; Kingdom of God movement, Mrs. H. W. Morton; sick and visiting committee, Mrs. H. Girven and Mrs. J. Spencer; telephone committee, Mrs. W. Pogue and Mrs. H. Bradshaw; pianists, Mrs. Ludbrook and Mrs. H. S. Powers.

Officers Elected

The election of officers was held at the December meeting of the Ever-Awake class of St. James' Church, held at the home of Mrs. C. Sedore, 145 Stewart street. The class teacher, Mrs. E. Beavis, led in prayer in a room decorated for the Christmas season, and was presented with a purse on behalf of the class in recognition of her faithfulness.

The election of officers for the coming year was held, and the following is the slate of officers for 1944: President, Mrs. T. Busby; vice-president, Mrs. B. Callan; secretary, Mrs. C. Brown; assistant secretary, Miss Z. Woods; treasurer, Mrs. G. Hutchinson; sunshine box, Mrs. C. Heal; holiday box, Mrs. Tully; program committee, Mrs. J. Kelly, Mrs. C. Carl and Mrs. D. Traynor; social committee, Mrs. E. Maudsley, Mrs. C. Sedore, Mrs. A. Fallis; teacher, Mrs. E. Davis.

An exchange of Christmas gifts was followed by a dainty lunch served by the hostess and her committee.

Airman's Body Found On Shore

HASTINGS, Dec. 15 — (ENS)— Flight Sgt. Walter Leonard Cogger, who was first reported missing August 18, is now officially announced killed with the report from the International Red Cross that his body was washed ashore from the sea. His wife is the former Verna Maye Scriver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Scriver of Hastings.

FLT. SGT. WALTER COGGER

This airman was 29, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cogger, of Prince Albert, Sask. He enlisted in the R.C.A.F. at Manning Depot in March, 1941, and went overseas in November of 1942. Before enlisting, Flt. Sgt. Cogger was employed as a surveyor for the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission. He had made 15 successful raids over enemy territory before he was shot down.

He was married in Oshawa in October, 1941, and besides his wife, leaves a baby daughter Lynn Marie, aged 14 months.

OBITUARIES

BERT PERRIN

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 15 — (ENS) —A shock to the village and district was the sudden death of Bert Perrin, Monday evening when walking down the street to his home at supper time, he dropped dead, from a heart condition, at the corner by the residence of Mrs. David Armstrong. He was quickly carried to the home of Mr. Bert Byers, but death was almost instantaneous.

Mr. Perrin was a respected citizen of a quiet and jovial nature and although he has been unable to do any work this past few years because of ill health, he was around and about as usual. His wife predeceased him a year and a half ago. Surviving are one son Meredith in Port Hope and one brother John near Bailieboro.

MRS. ANNIE SAUNDERS.

After an illness of several months, Mrs. Annie Saunders, widow of Henry Saunders, passed away on Tuesday.

The deceased was born in Swansea, South Wales, 74 years ago. She leaves to mourn her loss, a daughter, Mrs. H. L. Davey, Ottawa, and son, Mr. W. H. Saunders of this city. Six grandchildren also survive. A daughter, Margaret, predeceased her 15 years ago.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 3.30 p.m. from the Comstock Funeral Home. Rev. W. Crone of Bethany Tabernacle, of which the deceased was a member for many years, will conduct the service.

OUTPUT INCREASED

British output of munitions in the first quarter of 1943 exceeded that of the same period of 1942 by 40 per cent.

Children's Fund Gets Most Of Today's List

Christmas is very much recognized as particularly a time of happiness for the children, and while there may still be a few crusty folk in the world such as portrayed in the personality of Scrooge in Dickens' "Christmas Carol," the majority of grown-ups gain as much in happiness for themselves by seeing to it that the young folk are made happy on the anniversary of this, the greatest event in the world's history.

To the youngsters themselves it would be very tragic indeed should any of them pass the day without some special recognition, and all grown-ups who love the better things of life would feel just as badly as they do if any such came to their knowledge, and they had the means to prevent it.

To the quarter of a million children who are living in some place outside of their own home in the British Isles, the outlook must not be so rosy at this season of the year, but their yearnings can be turned into joy if kind-hearted folk on this side of the Atlantic send them the means of having something for that purpose through the special donations now being raised by the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund for that purpose.

W. H. Hamilton Grocery.

This, the oldest business of its kind in these parts and indeed in all Ontario is once again represented in the list of receipts, it being specially marked for the Children's Christmas Cheer Fund, as was also a personal gift by the proprietor, D. F. Drummond, who assumed the ownership of this business a few years ago.

Then personal gifts are recorded from Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Cameron, S. G. Coles and a lady under the press name of "A.G.," while the lady who gives under the name of "In As Much" is credited for the 34th time in this column to give help to those in need, and The Thursday Club also designated their donation specially for the Children's Christmas Fund.

St. James' Church, Emily.

Last Saturday, the Ladies' Guild of St. James' Anglican Church, just north of Fowler's Corners held a sale of varied articles, mostly homemade cooking on the market, and realized the nice sum of $23.40 credited in their name today.

This is a very enterprising group, for it comprises only ten members, who are presided over by Mrs. Arnott Boate as president. Rev. F. Pooley is the rector of this church, who will no doubt have as great a satisfaction as the workers themselves in the results obtained to give a boist to the Christmas donations.

Bank Staff Sponsors Draw.

Some time ago, Mr. J. S. Bell won a prize of a silver pyrex dish on a draw, which he returned that it might be again used to raise funds to help things alone. A draw for it once again was sponsored by the staff at the Bank of Montreal, with Miss F. Mitchell taking charge of the distribution, etc., of tickets for that purpose.

This was brought to a conclusion on Tuesday morning when the manager of the bank, Charles Cummer, made the draw which gave the prize to D. R. Morrow of the Bell Telephone staff with ticket No. 557. The proceeds amounting to $16 are also listed in today's report, and come at a nice time to be included in the Christmas Cheer Fund.

Pea Soup Fog Of London Has Its Terrors

By DOUG. HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 15 (CP) — The perplexing thing about London fogs is that you can't get face to face with the problem because you can't possibly see that far.

For one who has been engulfed by Saint John, N.B., and Halifax fogs—probably Canadian maximum in this field—the recognition is almost instant that here is something in an entirely different plane.

You recognize that this is an entity. To stumble into one is to become a waif in a world where there is only a forlorn you, the fog and your vocabulary.

The streets become torture chambers where conductors struggle along on foot guiding their buses, where tramcars creep in humility and where that personification of the cocksure, the London taxi driver, openly becomes humble.

The fogs gather the soot of weeks and hang it through the streets and embed it in your lungs. They lose you, taunt you, bully you, exhaust you and convince you that this is something nobody else could possibly have known.

Finds Same Bar

That is what makes you write about them, because to every novice London fogs are a discovery and, as such, news.

Yet to the Londoner they are simply weather.

Stories about the things that can happen in them are seldom suspected because anything is possible.

You would, for instance, never think of doubting the story of a little man who has known London for three years. He started from one pub for another two blocks away (he is known to his friends as a restless drinker) through a fog, strayed for half an hour, and finally found himself in a bar. The vexing thing about his case was that it was the pub he had left in the first place.

You have had the personal experience of campaigning from Chelsea to Marylebone, about two miles, and ending up guiding your own army of three American soldiers. One, incidentally, was a paratrooper whose snores were volleying eerily through Hyde Park.

He was a trifle indignant at being roused from his concrete bed because, he said, that was the sort of thing he had been trained for anyway.

Civilians Urged Curb Travelling

MONTREAL, Dec. 15 (CP)—Civilians are asked to refrain from travelling, except on urgent business, between December 22 and January 4, when thousands of the armed forces will be granted holiday leave.

Transport Controller T. C. Lockwood, in making the request today, said if unnecessary or merely pleasure trips were dispensed with personnel of the armed forces would be able to travel without "undue crowding" and transportation companies would be able "to efficiently handle" traffic.

W.I. Donates Money To War Charities

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 15 —(ENS). — The December meeting of the Women's Institute was held Monday at the home of Mrs. Roy Greer, with 18 ladies present.

The president Mrs. H. Howson, presided and the roll call was answered by a Christmas wish. Two letter of appreciation were read from Mrs. George Eagleson and Mrs. Blanche Dawson and it was voted to send $10 to a fund for British children and $10 to the Chinese Relief fund. Projects of farm forum and free hospitalization were discusssed and report of the fall convention in Toronto was given by Miss Clara Seens.

Misses Velma Barnard and Betty Joan Howson sang a duet, "White Christmas" and Mrs. James Lewis read "A Christmas Vision." A contest was conducted by Mrs. Everett Wood on "Christmas Menu" and a prize jar of honey was won by Miss Clara Seens.

Lunch was served by Mesdames Roy Greer and Harold Howson and Mrs. Reg. Armstrong and Mrs. Wallace Alldred will be conveners for the March meeting.

Personal

Mrs. Norman Thompson spent a few days with her sister Mrs. Claud Wickett in Port Hope, who had suffered a broken ankle.

Barry Fee Winner Of Allen Scholarship

MOUNT PLEASANT, Dec. 15.—(ENS).— Barry Fee, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fee, formerly a pupil of Millbrook Continuation school, was presented with the 'Allen Scholarship', which carries with it a cheque for $50, at the annual commencement. This scholarship is given to the boy with the best all-round record in the school.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—(CP).— The United Kingdom Government has been in consultations with the Dominions regarding post-war immigrations but no definite response has been received so far, Viscount Cranborne, Dominions Secretary, told the House of Lords yesterday.

Educated Arabs Granted Citizen Status

By JOSEPH DYNAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALGIERS, Dec. 15 (AP) — The French Committee of National Liberation today decreed French citizenship immediately for all Arabs in Algeria who can read and write French, thus carrying out the first of the pledges made Sunday by Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Citizenship will be extended without forcing the Arabs to renounce the Koranic law, as previously required.

The committee also voted to increase the size of Arab representation on provincial, departmental and municipal assemblies. This fulfilled another De Gaulle pledge.

The committee is preparing steps to give citizenship to other Arab groups not covered by the term "Intellectuals," which was defined as meaning persons literate in French.

It was pointed out earlier that if all Arabs became citizens, they could easily control politically all of the three departments of Algiers.

The Committee's action came on the eve of Gen. Georges Catroux's departure for Lebanon to resume negotiations with the Syrian and Lebanese leaders to extend greater self-government and grant ultimate independence, as pledged in 1941, and again in the recent parleys which reinstalled the Lebanese president and premier.

An Arab leader estimated 20,000 to 30,000 Moslems would acquire voting privileges by today's order.

15-Year-Old Sailor Ordered Home

BRANTFORD, Dec. 15 (CP). — Ross Oliver is too young to join the armed services or the Merchant Marine, but he's already seen service with the latter.

Only 15 years old now, he returned home recently with a number of souvenirs from Bizerte, in North Africa, which he got from an Arab.

Ross "added" to his age to get aboard a Norwegian merchantman last January in Toronto and from July until last month he was on convoy work. Now he's home waiting to "come of age" and re-join the Merchant Marine.

He gave an Arab some cigarettes for some souvenirs which included a German-Italian "Triumphal" Medal for the Cairo conquest; a brass badge from German soldier's cap, and a large drapery he picked up in a Bizerte home.

The son of Mrs. A. Oliver of Brantford, he has three brothers on active service.

Soldiers, Airmen To Get Yule Leaves

OTTAWA Dec. 15 — (CP). — Most soldiers and airmen serving in Canada will get leave at either Christmas or New Year's under special holiday leave orders recently issued—but not the Navy.

The leaves to be granted in the Army and R.C.A.F. are for five days and are subject to exigencies of the services.

The Navy has a steady procession of men coming ashore from sea duty who are entitled to shore leave and usually annual leave at the same time. It is understood naval authorities are anxious that these men get to their homes for the holiday season if it is practical, and so are discouraging Christmas and New Year's leaves and travel by personnel employed ashore.

Brooding Patient Kills Self, Doctor

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15—(AP)— "Why didn't you operate on me?" the man cried.

Dr. Verne Carlton Hunt, 54, widely-known surgeon, looked up from his office desk and asked, "Who are you?"

Instead of answering, the man killed the doctor yesterday with two bullets near the heart, then committed suicide by firing two shots into his own mouth.

The double slaying was thus described by Dr. Hunt's office assistant, Miss Gladys Jarvis, said Detective Roy Vaughn.

He said the slayer was Ephrem Mounsey, 69, retired real estate dealer who apparently had been brooding over the recurrence of an ailment for which Dr. Hunt removed one of his kidneys four years ago.

Kawartha Kids Meet

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 15—(ENS)— Misses Edna and Eva Higgins were hostesses to members of the Kawartha Kids Klub for their second December meeting.

The roll call was answered by "a defect in my posture and its connection."

The leader, Miss Eva Higgins, read an article on seams and seam finishing and told the girls how to set in sleeves. Two dresses which the girls had made were fitted.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. C. John's on Friday. The roll call will be "the trimmings I have chosen for my dress."

At the close of the meeting delicious lunch was served by the hostesses.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

THE "RESULT PLAYER"

ONE OF the least popular partners at the bridge table is the fellow who bawls you out because something you did turned out disastrously. He does not consider at all whether you made the soundest bid or play, but only how it worked. Possibly some other action, which he would have desired, and which would have proved profitable, was the height of bad bridge. But that doesn't worry him. Instead of patting you on the back for doing the right thing, even if it fizzled, he just has to blame you.

South did not want to make it easy for East to cash a dozen tricks, and so refrained from leading his spade A. As a consequence, he "went to bed" with that card later when East built a squeeze against him for the thirteenth trick, whereupon North made caustic comments about not leading an ace against a slam.

The club Q was chosen, East winning with the A and deciding South also had the J. So he raked in two diamond tops, finessed the club 10—risky business, endangering the whole contract if North had the J—and then scored the club K. A run of diamonds ensued. As East led the last one, to the tenth trick, the dummy contained the club K and three hearts, East keeping two spades and a heart.

South did not like to toss off his spade A and set up the dummy's K, so he picked the heart 10. East thereupon discarded the spade K from dummy, finessed the heart Q, dropped the heart K with the A and used the heart 9 for the final trick.

East played the hand with plenty of risk, but would have had very easy sailing if the spade A had been the opening lead.

Flames Engulf Carrier In Makin Battle

By EUGENE BURNS
Associated Press Staff Writer

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 15 (AP) — When the U.S.S. Liscome Bay, escort aircraft carrier, sank in a mass of flames off Makin Island, November 24, the torpedoed vessel carried down many men who ransomed the lives of their shipmates with their own.

The Japanese submarine's torpedo struck on the starboard side around 5:13 a.m., said Capt John G. Crommelin, Jr., who told the story of the next and final 20 minutes of the carrier's career.

Crommelin, chief - of - staff of Rear Admiral Henry M. Mullin woh was lost with the ship, dove from the flight deck with even less on than a new-born babe, because "I left part of my hide behind."

Coming from a shower bath and wearing only a bath towel when the torpedo exploded, Crommelin joined officers and enlisted men in efforts to save lives.

Hero Dies

The gasoline and oil-fed flames burned off Crommelin's hair, and seared his right side, shoulder, legs and the soles of his feet.

Crommelin cited Lt. Cmdr. Buzz Carroll for unselfish heroism.

Carroll was cut across the stomach from shoulder to hip, but he went below decks to help trapped men free themselves, and lugged wounded men to escape hatches.

Dr. Row, who was in the water swimming from one man to another to give first aid, later found Carroll with his head hanging down, supported by a life packet. Carroll failed to respond to the doctor's ministrations, and Rowe said later the man had lost too much blood while helping the others.

Capt. Irving D. Wiltsie, the carrier's skipper, was on the bridge when the torpedo struck, Crommelin said.

"Deliberately, calmy, Wiltsie, lowered himself to the hangar deck which was burning fiercely," the officer related. "He conferred with the executive officer, then went into the flaming sectors to make a careful inspection, refusing to walk off his ship."

Dish Shortage Bad In Britain

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 15—(CP)—Canada's pioneer ancestors who set up housekeeping in the unconquered bush with only the utensils and equipment they made themselves, have nothing on someone trying to furnish a home in London nowadays. London's shops are as bare of housekeeping necessities as Mother Hubbard's cupboard.

Take cups and saucers, for instance. Cups with handles are virtually extinct. You can get heavy dime-lunch counter types without handles, if you are lucky. And if you watch chemist shops you might grab off bright colored plastic ones which sell at about 60 cents each.

There are no teapots—unless you want to hand out $100 for a silver piece. Pots and pans are almost impossible to get and what are in shops are expensive and of poor quality.

Cutlery is scarce, but you can buy a very poor knife for about 75 cents, five times the pre-war cost. A small electric plate to boil a kettle, which in Canada would cost about $1.50, sells for around $5, that's if you can find one.

If you want linen sheets, you have to be a millionaire. A few shops still have good quality linen sheets, selling at between $70 and $75 a pair. Rayon sheets, single bed size, go for $23 a pair. The latter are scarce because they are bought by housewives to make shirts for their husbands or undies for themselves. A single pair of bed sheets are said to make two shirts and two blouses.

BLITZED AIRCRAFT

Bracken Objects To Existing Radio Control

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP).—John Bracken, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, said in a letter to Dr. Augustin Frigon, acting general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, that "I look with the greatest alarm upon the political control of the radio, for I see in it the beginnings of a general restriction on the freedoom of speech."

The text of Mr. Bracken's 800-word letter, dated yesterday, was made public to-day by his party's national headquatrers. In it Mr. Bracken said he wished to go on record as "strongly objecting" to the CBC's action in banning from the national network a speech which he delivered last Friday night at Hamilton.

"No amount of argument can establish any basic difference between the press and the radio," said Mr. Bracken. "Both are vehicles by which news, opinion and entertainment are carried to the public.

"Freedom of speech and freedom of the press are cardinal principles in the democratic system. The denial of either involves danger to the other.

"As a public servant in control of the Broadcasting System, it is your first duty to see that responsible opinion has access to the air, provided people are interested in listening.

"My words on Friday, because I happen to be the leader of a national party, were picked up and printed by almost every newspaper in this country. Do you think it strange that the other great medium of communication, the radio, was forbidden to carry them?

"The frequency with which the leader of a national party might make use of the network is a matter deserving consideration and decision. But there is no excuse for censoring his words as a condition of making the network available to him."

(A previous exchange of letters between Dr. Frigon and Ross Brown, director of public relations for the Progressive Conservative party, made public last week, show the national network was made available to Mr. Bracken on condition his address was "not of a political nature." The network facilities were not used, however, when Mr. Bracken refused to make "substantial changes" in the text of his address to conform to this CBC requirement.)

In his letter of yesterday to Dr. Frigon, Mr. Bracken said "no Canadian reading the text of the speech which I delivered Friday could find anything narrowly partisan in what I had to say." He criticized the CBC for denying him the right to broadcast when it made its network facilities available to Prime Minister King and his cabinet colleagues.

"The government is a one-party government which is approaching the end of its term of office," he said. "Inevitably, therefore, the pronouncements of the Prime Minister or any of his colleagues, however dressed up to give a different appearance, cannot escape being regarded as political, in exactly the same sense that any pronouncement that I make would be considered political."

LLANO, Tex., Dec. 14 — (AP). — Jim Moore, 16, idly hicked an ear of corn on his father's farm — and discovered it was a freak. Deep red kernels formed a perfect red cross. Intrigued, he shucked all the rest of his dad's crop, searching vainly for another red crpss. His father thought it was wonderful.

Charges Tories Out To Wreck Liberal Party

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15—(CP)—A charge that there was a "Tory-financial" conspiracy to undermine the Liberal party in British Columbia was made last night by Pensions Minister Mackenzie in an address to the Vancouver Liberal Association.

This conspiracy, he charged, was headed by a "tool from Trail," was organized by "Locke," a Vancouver barrister, and had been formed in British Columbia with a fund of $250,000 to defeat the Liberal party.

He linked the name of S G. Blaylock of Traail, B.C., president of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada with those of Hon. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Conservative Prime Minister, and John Bracken, president leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, describing them as a "reactionary clique" which he was fighting.

Mr. Mackenzie also attacked the policies of the C.C.F. Party which, he said, was "preaching militant revolution."

Must Wake Up.

Behind the "Tory conspiracy," he said, was the "Lock, Stock and Barrel Company" of British Columbia. The "Lock," he said, was "Locke the Vancouver Barrister," the "Stock" that of a great railway corporation, otherwise unidentified, and the "Barrel" was "the Pork Barrel of the Conservative Party in this province."

Mr. Mackenzie said Mr. Bracken was a "creature of Meighen" and was financed by the large corporations of Canada.

"It is time that Liberals woke up in this province," he declared, "you must wake up or perish. There is no alternative.

"If you are going to be ruled by the cabined cribbed and confined policies of the socialist party, your freedom is gone forever. If on the other hand you are going to be swayed by the financial conspiracies of B.C., your freedom is equally gone.

"I would like to know and I intend to know where the funds are coming from for this conspiracy by the tool of a certain railway corporation—the tool from Trail—which a Vancouver lawyer, Locke, is in charge of the organization here."

Mr. Mackenzie said he intended "to expose the whole conspiracy, lock, stock and barrel, unless they disband and go to their fox holes tomorrow."

The Pensions Minister deviated from the prepared text of his address to make his charges. He spoke for 45 minutes, devoting much of his time to a review of Liberal policies and plans.

50 Tons Of Bombs Hit Japanese Atoll

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—Heavy bombers, continuing American assaults on Japanese-held islands in the Central Pacific, have blasted Imeiji Island on the Jaluit Atoll, the navy reported last night.

The latest attack on the Marshall Islands targets occurred Saturday, and struck at shore intallations and a cargo transport in the lagoon. Fifty tons of bombs were dropped.

Cold Catches Farmers With Cars Unprepared

MILLBROOK, Dec. 15 — (ENS) —The sudden drop in temperature over the week-end, which left the thermometer standing at 12 below zero at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and still at 4 blow by two in the afternoon, brought trouble to many motorists who, deceived by the preceding mild weather, had not put anti-freeze in their cars. On the streets Saturday afternooon cars were being pushed and drawn in order to get them started, and several farmers were unable to reach the village on their usual Saturday trip.

For this reason the Women's Institute Christmas meeting, which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. H. J. Armstrong had to be postponed until a future date, since the president, Mrs. D. Olan, and many others were unable to be present.

Auxiliary Men Protest Taxing Incomes

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 15 (CP Cable).—Seventy-five per cent of the 350 auxiliary services supervisors with the Canadian forces overseas are threatening to resign in protest against the Canadian finance department's order that they pay income tax.

The supervisors are technically civilians, although attached to the forces. They are paid by the forces and come under military law and discipline. Because of their civilian status they are liable to income tax but for the last four years the tax policy regarding supervisors had not been decided and no tax was imposed. Under a new departmental order, income tax deductions from their pay begin Dec. 22.

Meantime an effort is being made to have the order changed and their position clarified. Heads of the four services—the Y.M.C.A., the Canadian Legion, the Knights of Columbus and the Salvation Army—are going to meet Col J. L. Ralston, Canadian defence minister who now is in London.

Overseas army authorities recommended ot Ottawa that the supervisors be treated as army personnel for purposes of income tax exemptions. Service personnel overseas pay no income tax.

Auxiliary services officials said last night they felt imposition of the tax was unfair to the supervisors because they shared the forces' hardships.

There are 300 supervisots with Canadian army regiments and formations and of this total 81 are with the Canadians in the central Mediterranean. About 40 supervisors are with the R.C.A.F. and 10 with the Royal Canadian Navy. They received $6.50 a day, equivalent to an army captain's pay.

December Toll 187 Hun Planes

LONDON, Dec. 15 — (CP) — The R.A.F.'s fleet Mosquito bombers stabbed at Western Germany last night for the fourth successive night, the Air Ministry announced to-day, skipping through the Nazi defences to return to their bases without loss.

The raid followed a daylight assault on unspecified objectives in Western Germany yesterday by formations of U.S. heavy bombers, during which American airmen shot down 15 Nazi fighters to bring to 187 the total number of German planes downed by the 8th Air Force this month.

According to official figures the heavy bombers have downed 257 enemy planes in their last 15 missions since October 20.

Omemee Preceptory Holds Banquet

OMEMEE, Dec. 15 — (ENS). — The banquet under the auspices of the Royal Black Perceptory of Omemee was held in the basement of the United Church Friday evening.

The tables were prettily decorated for the occasion, the colour scheme being red, white, blue and black. Guests were present from Peterborough, Millbrook and Lindsay.

Rev. R. M. Patterson, chairman, presided over the program. The toast to Grand Lodge was proposed by Wor. Sir Knight Percy Stinson of Millbrook, responded to by M. Wor. Sir Kt. E. F. Reid of Peterborough.

A fine address was given by M. Wor. Sir Kt. Loftus Reid of Toronto. He stressed two things, (1) our Protestant faith, (2) Keep Canada British.

A toast to the ladies was proposed by County Secretary Bro. Ronald Smith and responded to by Past County Master Arthur Milne of Peterborough. The toast to the Church was proposed by M. Wor. Brother Loftus Reid and responded to by Rev. R. M. Patterson and toast to the guests was proposed by County Master H. Deyell and responded to by Wor. Bro. J. Thorne of Millbrook.

Mrs. Levi Harris Heads Wesley War Workers

NORTH SMITH, Dec. 15 (ENS) —Mrs. Levi Harris has been elected president of the Wesley War Workers. During the past month ten boxes were packed for boys overseas and four for the boys serving in Canada. The ladies also completed four quilts, knit one V-neck sweater, one turtle neck tuck-in and 10 pairs of service socks.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Niel Blewett met in the Orange Hall on Saturday and presented them with a walnut finished end table. A short program was enjoyed and a dainty lunch was served. Mr. Blewett is with the R.C.A.F.

War Workers Resent Remarks

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP) — Mrs. J. Evans, women's personnel manager of Research Enterprises, Ltd., said here today that "mothers do not work in warplants just for fun. They do so by necessity and they are good workers, for they are serious."

Mrs. Evans was commenting on an address last night by Ontario Labor Minister Daley in which he criticized large-scale use of women in industry, saying they should be sent back to their home and their proper responsibilities.

"All cases of mothers seeking work with us are investigated," Mrs. Evans said. "Only those who have some responsible person to care for their children, or whom we can find to do so for them, are engaged."

Miss K. Cameron, personnel manager at Small Arms in nearby Long Branch, said that if a mother "is a good manager at home she can do a good war job and manage her home responsibilities."

Telephone Operator Takes Long Chance Gambles On Her Fate, Wins Her Freedom

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP)—There was no compromise for Rosalie Walsh, 21-year-old telephone operator, at her trial on a charge of murdering a love rival.

She wanted either her freedom or a verdict of murder. She gambled on her fate and won her freedom.

A criminal court jury last night acquitted her on a charge of murdering Alberta Morrow, 28, a beauty operator, who was shot and fatally wounded Sept. 7 when she and Miss Walsh's fiance Anthony Van Arkel, came to the latter's home.

As the trial of the blond defendant neared an end yesterday, the State disclosed it was willing to submit a manslaughter verdict, as well as the various murder and acquittal decisions. (Conviction of manslaughter carries a penalty of one to 14 years in prison; the sentence for murder ranges from 14 years to life, or death.)

Defence Attorney George Crane, after conferring with Miss Walsh, advised Judge Rudolph Desort:—

"She doesn't want a compromise. It's either freedom or murder."

340,000 More Canadians Took Bonds In Fifth Victory Loan

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Final compilations show that in the Fifth Victory Loan campaign ending early last month there were 3,008,436 cash applications for bonds worth $1,383,275,250— $183,275,250 more than the minimum cash objective — Finance Minister Ilsley announced to-day.

In addition $188,036,300 worth of Fifth Victory bonds, representing 24,715 applications, were sold in exchange for other Dominion of Canada bonds which matured or were called for redemption last October 15.

Both general and payroll canvass with an objective of $525,000,000 and special names with a quota of $675,000,000 were "exceeded by a wide margin," Mr. Ilsley said.

"Cash applications in the general and payroll canvasses totalled $603,655,300, representing 3,001,247 applications," said the minister's statement. "In the special names canvass, there were 7,089 applications for a total of $799,619,950.

"The Fifth Victory Loan sets a new high record of success in our wartime borrowing operations. Every Canadian can be proud of the results of this loan.

Soldiers Purchase.

"It is particularly gratifying to be able to announce that applications from individuals on the Fifth Loan increased over Fourth Loan totals by nearly 340,000 in number, and $74,800,000 in amount.

Mr. Ilsley said the loan total included 386,487 applications for $37,506,050 of bonds from men and women in the armed forces, $6,001,700 of this amount having been subscribed by the forces overseas.

"Costs of the Fifth Victory Loan, while incomplete at present, are expected to equal about 88 cents for each $100 of bonds sold," said Mr. Ilsley. "This compares with $1.09 per $100 of bonds sold at the time of the first Victory Loan, just over 98 cents in the case of both the Second and Third Loans, and slightly over 92 cents on the Fourth Victory Loan."

Daley Suggests Put Women Back In Homes

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Women now employed in industrial work should be sent back to their homes, Ontario Labor Minister Daley said last night declaring that if the manpower problem had been properly handled it "never would have been necessary to drag women out of their homes and into factories."

Emphasizing in an address to the Canadian Association of Personnel Publication Editors that he was expressing his own views and not necessarily those of his Government, Mr. Daley said that married women with children who had gone into war work because they felt their help was needed would welcome an opportunity to return to their homes.

"Others are using child-care centres to unload their responsibilities,' he said. "They will complain. But let us be realistic about the situation."

The minister said he believed juvenile delinquency was caused largely by the refusal of parents to accept their home responsibilities. Poverty was another factor and he suggested a solution would be work for all at fair wages.

Somewhere In Middle East 69-Year-Old Churchill Stricken With Pneumonia

House Of Commons Hushed As Report Reveals Premier Carried On At Cairo, Teheran With Heavy Cold

By ROGER GREENE—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 16—(AP).—Prime Minister Churchill, who marked his 69th birthday while attending the three-power Teheran conference, is suffering a "patch of pneumonia in the left lung," Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee told the hushed House of Commons today.

Mr. Attlee indicated that Mr. Churchill now is somewhere in the Middle East. A bulletin issued at 10 Downing Street, Mr. Churchill's official residence, which gave the first intimation of the Prime Minister's illness, said:

"His general condition is as satisfactory as can be expected."

A later announcement that daily bulletins on his condition will be issued might be taken as an indication of the gravity of his illness.

Supplies of the new drug—penicillin — were understood to be available if needed.

That is the second attack of pneumonia suffered by Mr. Churchill in less than a year.

Mr. Churchill fell ill with a cold last January just after his Casablanca conference with President Roosevelt, and February 19 it was announced that he was confined to bed with acute catarrh of the upper respiratory passages. A later bulletin disclosed that pneumonia had developed.

The Prime Minister was reported suffering from a heavy cold with a temperature of more than 100 when he sailed from Britain to attend the historic conference wtih President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin, President Chiang Kai-Shek and President Ihonu of Turkey.

On his arrival in Cairo, the cold became worse and the Prime Minister had lost hs voice, but insisted on continuing his arduous labors.

Two days ago, Foreign Secretary Eden told Commons he had left Mr. Churchill "in the sphere where he onw is" in good health though perhaps a little tired.

Mr. Eden also commented that he now is" in good health though working Mr. Churchill exert himself so indefatigably day and night as at the Teheran and Cairo conferences where he helped lay the plans for a climatic assault on Germany and Japan. The last of these conferences was with Inonu Dec. 4, 5 and 6.

In to-day's announcement, Mr. Attlee told Commons, "the House will be sorry to learn of the Prime Minister's indisposition. I am sure it will be the desire of all of us that we should send best wishes to him for a complete, speedy recovery."

The Cairo radio announced last night that Mr. Churchill and the Greek premier, Emmanuel Tsouderos, met last Friday in Cairo to discuss Greece's part in the war.

The House of Commons and Lords sent messages of sympathy to the Prime Minister and the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Liverpool asked the people for special prayers for Mr. Churchill's quick recovery.

Despite considerable anxiety, Britons with a wry nudge at their own chill, fog-bound isles found consolation in the fact he is in the much more beneficial climate of the temperate Middle East than he would be at home.

Mr. Attlee said specialists were in constant attendance on Mr. Churchill and added:

"The House will observe the bulletin is signed not only by Lord Moran but also by Brig. Bedford and Lt. Col. Pulvertaft who are consultant physician and director of pathology, respectively, to the Middle East forces.

World War 2 Equals First Great War

DWIGHT L. PITKIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 — (AP).—Germany capitulated after fifty-two months of fighting in the First Great War, mainly because her home front cracked.

To-day, a generation later, marks the 52-month period of the Second Great War. It has numerous parallels of the events that led to Imperial Germany accepting an armistice in November, 1918.

There is also this big contrast: Germany's home front shows no real signs of breaking up, even though her armies are on the strategic defensive just as they were in 1918.

Germany's obvious strategy is to keep her home front regimented, while her armies fight delaying actions and attempt to wear down the United Nations into a compromise peace.

The Churchill-Roosevelt-Stalin conference has crushed definitely any hopes of Nazi leaders that a peace offensive might bring about armistice that would save the German military machine for another try at world conquest.

Now it is war to the death. The grim tragedy must be played through the final act, unless—

Germany's home front again breaks, this time under a sustained aerial offensive that has laid waste the great port of Hamburg and is methodically levelling Berlin.

The punishing aerial blows, though aimed primarily at destroying industrial Germany's capacity to support her military forces, ra-

Tokyo Claims Invasion Is On

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 16 (AP).—L. D. Brewer, Phoenix radio amateur, said he heard two broadcasts from Tokyo this morning of a Japanese communique saying American forces have invaded New Britain Island and that desperate fighting occurred on the beaches.

"Japanese forces on New Britain Island continue to battle desperately on the beaches against the American invasion forces," the broadcasts said.

The Tokyo radio claimed that in one sea engagement two "enemy torpedo boats" were hit; one was "sunk and the other left in flames and no doubt sank."

In another naval battle three "enemy torpedo boats" were hit, the Japanese announcer said.

No dates were given for any of events described.

The sea engagements were said to have taken place north of Finschhafen, New Guinea.

German Air Force Congratulates Eaker On The Accuracy Of His Force's Bombings

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP).—The German air force has congratulated Lt.-Gen. Ira C. Eaker of the United States 8th Air Force on the accuracy of his bombings.

The compliment was revealed yesterday by Wellwood E. Beall of the Boeing Aircraft Company, who said the Luftwaffe had sent Eaker a radio message congratulating the American bombers on their avoidance of a hospital during the attack on Regensburg.

Airplane factories that were the target in the attack occupied three parts of a rectangle, the fourth corner being a hospital. So acurate was the bombing, said Beall, that the factories were destroyed but the hospital was undamaged. The Luftwaffe, in its message thanking Eaker, expressed its inability to understand how such accuracy was achieved.

"Eaker's mighty proud of that," Beall said.

Canadian Infantry Severs Bitterly-Contested Highway

By ROSS MUNRO—Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 16—(CP Cable).—Leading Canadian infantry now have crossed the bitterly-contested Ortona-Orsogna highway in Italy and are in good position to bring the heaviest pressure to bear on the blazing port of Ortona on the Adriatic.

Indian troops on the Canadian left flank also have got some infantry across the road which now is useless to the enemy. The Germans battered by constant shelling and weary from day and night attacks by the Canadian 1st Division and the Indian 8th Division have been forced back into hill positions north of the highway which runs inland from Ortona to Orsogna which is some 15 miles from the coast.

Village Captured.

From frontline reports and latest information here it appears the Canadians punched over the road at one point just north of the tiny village of Berardi, captured by French-Canadian infantry (the Royal 22nd of Quebec) and tanks.

This would indicate an effort now is being made by advance elements to get on the narrow dirt road leading northwest from the lateral highway to the town of Tollo and the next possible main defence line on the Foro River, six miles from the present battle zone.

The Tollo road is the only one the Germans can use effectively for withdrawal in this sector. Tollo lies some four miles from the Adriatic, west and a little south of Ortona.

Penetrations by the Canadians north of the Ortona road are gradually making the German positions in Ortona untenable. Canadian artillery can easily shell the town and heavy mortars now can bomb it. The Royal Navy commands the sea off Ortona and will provide firm support when the final assault is made.

The advance on Ortona is still being made over hills for the highway to the port, while denied to the enemy, is also useless to the Canadians until the German guns and mortars are beaten off hills dominating the road to the north.

Bad weather is the most limiting factor in this operation, it is stated here, and the Allied air attack has been reduced by fog which blankets the hills for hours at a time.

The battle from the Moro River to the lateral highway and beyond is being described as one of the 8th Army's hardest fights which puts it in the category of great infantry exploits such as Mareth, the Wadi Akarit and Enfidaville in the North African campaign.

Most stubborn opposition is coming from the German 90th Elite Division, re-formed after being wiped out in Tunisia following its long campaign in the desert wars.

Seventy-six Die In Train Crash

LUMBERTON, N.C., Dec. 16 (AP)—Two streamlined passenger trains on the New York-Florida run were wrecked near here early today and estimates of the dead ranged from at least 50 to 76. Scores were taken to hospitals with injuries.

The two fast Atlantic Coast Line trains, loaded with pre-holiday travellers, many of them homeward-bound service men, piled up in a double wreck at Buie, a village in southeastern North Carolina shortly after 1 a.m. EDT.

The Coast Line office at Rocky Mount said it was informed 75 passengers aboard one train were killed and one person aboard the other fatally injured.

Dr. W. S. Fleming of a Fayetteville hospital, who arrived at the scene at 3 a.m. and administered first aid for more than five hours, said "at least 50 persons were killed."

C. G. Sibley of Wilmington, a vice president of the line, said he believed the wreck was caused by a broken rail.

The streamlined Tamiami West Coast Champion, southbound from New York to Tampa, Fla., was partially derailed at about 1 a.m. EDT.

A few minutes later the Tamiami East Coast Champion, bound from Miami to New York, plowed through the wreckage which had spilled over on the parallel double track.

Highways to scene were sheathed in snow and ice and one Atlantic coast line station said lines of communication were down.

First reports said the three last coaches on the southbound train were derailed, precipitating hte accident. Passengers in the front coaches said they did not even know there had been an accident until the northbound train crashed into the derailed cars.

Terrific Loss

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 16—(AP).—The incendiary bomb casing plant of the Austin Bridge Company here was destroyed last night by flames from fiercely burning and exploding magnesium which cast a dazzling white glow visible to airliner pilots 225 miles distant.

The loss was reported to be several million dollars.

Despite the intensity of the heat, no injuries were reported.

British Cut Vital Italian Road

Village Of Berardi Captured By Canadians

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 16—(AP).—The British 8th Army has cut the lateral road between Ortona and Orsogna in three places and captured the village of Berardi, three miles from the port of Ortona, Allied headquarters announced today.

The French-Canadian troops (the Royal 22nd of Quebec) captured Berardi which earlier this week was raided by Canadians who captured a general among 150 other prisoners and took much equipment before retiring.

Indian troops made progress in the vicinity of Orsogna, some 15 miles inland from the Adriatic, and also crossed the Ortona-Orsogna highway. Heavy fighting was reported still in progress near Orsogna.

The 8th Army's gains, made despite bad weather, were assisted by tanks, which knocked out four enemy tanks.

Canadian and Indian troops in crossing the bitterly-contested highway from Orsogna to Ortona forced the Germans into the hills, where they were being subjected to almost constant shelling. Indian troops captured 65 prisoners.

Advices from the front said Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's troops have taken 2,000 prisoners since the Sangro River battle began November 17.

The right flank of the Anglo-American 5th Army operating in the Apennine Mountains has captured an important hill in the Castel San Vincenzo area, six miles south of Alfadena, it was announced. Prisoners were taken and valuable information obtained.

The 5th Army's fighting consisted mainly of sharp skirmishes over rough ground in which some limited gains were made.

Huns Dig In.

The Germans were reported digging themselves in deeply on the west side of the Garigliano River along a stretch of five miles beginning at a point about eight miles from the Tyrrhenian coast.

One 5th Army patrol surprised an enemy detachment in a house on the upper Garigliano, killing eight and wounding at least eight others.

Italian troops again were in action with the 5th Army and captured five prisoners.

An indication of the distrust the Germans hold for the Italian residents on their side of the line came with the interception of an order to a battalion of the 15th Armored Grenadiers to shoot all civilians found in the combat zone.

In air operations near the front, objectives at Pontecorvo, Frosinone and Atine were attacked. Five enemy planes were shot down and four Allied craft were reported missing.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 16—(AP).—When Floyd Farley, golf pro, heard that his boyhood friend, Charley Weisner, had a destroyer torpedoed from under him last October, he wasn't worried. Well, he asked, shall we have a hamburger?

Battle For Kiev Seesaws; Losses Heavy

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Dec. 16 (AP)—Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's 1st Ukrainian Army has gone over to the offensive for the second time this week in the battle of the Kiev bulge and in a series of swift counter-attacks has driven the Germans from several strong-points along the Teterev River salient, 55 miles west of the Ukrainian capital.

Marshal Fritz Von Mannstein's powerful armored divisions were unable to withstand the concentrated artillery fire from the Russian positions, field dispatches said.

In one sector the Nazis attacked again and again with more than 100 tanks and at least 4,000 men, but they wilted each time in the face of the accurate Soviet gunfire.

Reds Hold Firm

While the outcome of the tense, see-saw tank and gun battle still was undecided, the fact that Vatutin's line had held firm against the enemy's sustained frontal assaults suggested that the Germans had shot their bolt, at least for the time being, in their drive to recapture Kiev.

South of the Ukrainian capital, Red army forces under Gen. Ivan S. Konev were reported rapidly expanding their positions west of the Dnieper River following the joining of the Kremenchug and McMherkasy bridgeheads yesterday.

That operation gave the Russians complete control of the west bank for a 6-mile stretch between the two cities, and Konev was quick to exploit his victory. His troops stormed into the railway town of Byelozere, five miles northeast of Emsla, placing that important rail junction within easy artillery range of Soviet guns.

(Actually the Russians now are in control of a 250-mile stretch along the Dnieper's west bank, from Cherkasy south to Nikopol. The Germans hold only stretches from the mouth of the river to Nikopol, from Cherkasy to south of Kiev and in White Russia from Vitebsk to Zhlobin.)

Konev also tightened his grip around Kirovograd, southwest of Kremenchug in fierce fighting. Sixteen smaller towns and villages fell to advancing Red Army troops in the Kremenchug-Cherkasy sector, the Soviet war bulletin said.

(Berlin broadcasts said the Russians had launched two new offensives in the far north. South of Nevel, where the Red Army was within 60 miles of the Latvian border, the German lines were breached in several places, Berlin said.

(The second drive was aimed at Zhlobin, southern White Russia, the Germans asserted. Moscow made no mention of activity in these sectors.)

30 Planes In Dawn Swoop Leave Port A Shambles At Least 1,000 Killed, Hurt

One Of Worst Disasters Since Pearl Harbor Interrupts Supplies To 8th Army Raid Shows Perfect Timing And Execution

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER—Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP).—Seventeen United Nations merchant ships were sunk by German bombers in the Allied port at Bari, Italy, December 2. Approximately 1,000 persons were killed or injured.

War Secretary Henry Stimson disclosed casualty details and the loss of the ships at a press conference today after other sources of unquestionable authority had put the total number of vessels lost at 17, approximately 50 per cent. of the total amount of shipping in Bari harbor at the time. Five of the ships destroyed were American.

In official quarters here there was no disposition to deny that the blow was a serious one, reducing British Army supplies for two or three days.

"Fortunately, most of the cargo had been discharged prior to the attack, and the loss of supplies was not great," Stimson said.

Ammunition Ship Hit.

About 30 German bombers participated in the raid. Stimson said much of the damage resulted when two ammunition ships were hit and exploded, spreading fires and destruction over the harbor.

Stimson said that the Bari bombing had been announced by General Eisenhower December 4. The communique issued that day at Allied headquarters, Algiers, said in part:

"On the evening of December 2, enemy aircraft attacked the Bari area and damage was done. There were a number of casualties."

The wave of German bombers came over the Bari area just at dawn, flying low and very fast. They caught the city's defences entirely by surprise, as frequently happens in an air attack made at dangerously low levels.

The raiders were not interested in port installations as much as in the ships in harbor. A convoy apparently had arrived only a day or so before and the work of unloading ships had been going forward at top speed. Thus, some of the vessels lost were completely empty, others had discharged portions of their cargoes.

In all, there were about 30 big merchant ships in harbor.

The attack lasted only a few minutes. When it was over, harbor shipping was a shambles and 17 merchant vessels lay useless on the bottom om Bari harbor.

Supplies Lost

The raid, so far as could be established here, did not have any extremely disruptive effect on Allied strategy in Italy.

The 8th Army suffered badly in supplies for two or three days but rapidly recouped its supply position. The more significant effect was in the loss of shipping and the harbor clearance work made necessary at Bari.

The assault was carried out with obviously fine planning and brilliant execution.

One of the main difficulties with the defences at Bari appears to have been that they were weak in fighter planes. The R.A.F., in immediate charge in that area, ordinarily follows the practice of concentrating on strategic bombing and tactical support of front line positions. Bari defences thus depended principally on anti-aircraft equipment.

A German communique on Dec. 5 described the attack as having been carried out by "strong bomber formations" with the sinking of four commercial vessels and hits on nine other freighters and a "medium warship." The Germans claimed to have lost only two planes.

Brenner Pass Blasted Anew Damage Severe

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 16 (AP)—American heavy bombers, striking with as great force as on Tuesday when 300 aircraft blasted airfields in the Athens area, hit telling blows at enemy communications on both sides of the Brenner Pass yesterday.

The new blows were directed at rail facilities at Innsbruck in Austria and at Bolzano and the Trento regions in Northern Italy. Allied headquarters said all planes returned safely.

These attacks, described as highly concentrated and successful, were made on the main supply line from Germany into Italy.

In the raid on Innsbruck, first major blow delivered on the Austrian Tyrol, high explosives were laid across the railway yards and terminal.

Innsbruck is the junction point where the rail line extending southward through the Brenner Pass leaves the main East-West line which links the industrial areas of Southern Germany and Austria.

South of the Pass heavy bombers struck the rail yards at Bolzano and the viaduct over the Avisio river near Trento.

The big bombers and their fighter escort encountered only slight flak over Innsbruck, which is 55 miles south of Munich, and smallest resistance at the Avisio Viaduct, but ran into heavier fire at Bolzano.

Other Allied planes made new forays into the Balkans.

American fighters strafed the landing field near Zara on the Dalmatian coast, destroyed seven aircraft on the ground, and medium bombers riddled an airfield at Mostar with bombs.

Germans Plead Guilty To Crime

LONDON, Dec. 16 (CP).—Germans accused of atrocities in Kharkov during Nazi occupation of that city have been called to trial before a military tribunal of the fourth Ukrainian front and have pleaded guilty, the Moscow radio said today in a broadcast recorded by Reuters news agency.

The trial hall was crowded with hundreds of workers, including some who bore traces of German torture, the broadcast caid.

"All of them awaited the hour of retribution," the announcement added. "The hour now has struck."

After the Russian army reoccupied Kharkov August 24, Moscow charged that more than 14,000 "absolutely innocent" inhabitants of the city had been slain, some being shot and others being executed in "death" traps described as hermetically sealed with the exhausts connected inside.

Must Flatten Targets Before Invasion

American General Calls For Action, Says War Is Too Slow To Date

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Habitual prophets and soothsayers are rushing to guess the date of the Allied invasion of Western Europe, a fact which in itself has some significance.

Whether the Allies will be able to stage the crosschannel invasion as soon as they would like is a matter of anxious speculation. In this connection Lt.-Gen. Leslie McNair, Commanding General of the United States Army ground forces, declared in an interview in San Francisco last night that "the war is not going fast enough." He said the enemy is "still plenty tough," and added:

"Bombing is giving tremendous destruction to Germany, but it only serves to weaken her. The final decision in this war will come on the ground. We have to have ground force invasion."

Here we must note that invasion by land forces must be preceded by an ironing out of enemy territory by intensive bombing, and we are getting ahead with that now. Reliable quarters in Washington estimate that about 60 per cent of Germany's primary industrial targets have been destroyed by the R. A. F. and American bombing. The total prime targets are set at about 90.

That's a mighty interesting picture. Fourteen months ago I cabled to this column from London that there were fewer than 200 targets all told which the Allies need destroy in France and Germany in order to render Hitler so nearly impotent that the Allies could roll their army over him without undue casualties. Actually the experts then figured that the destruction of about 60 prime targets would open the road for invasion.

The difficulty at that time was that the Allies didn't have the bombers for the job. It's only in recent months that the two forces have acquired sufficient power so that they really could get on with the job.

Turned Too Soon

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 16 — (AP).—The motorman of a Milwaukee trolley bus made a turn into a side street in the early morning darkness. Passengers thought nothing about it when the bus stopped and the driver got out. He returned quickly with a red face and said: "Will some of you fellows help me push the bus back? There aren't any wires on this street!" He had turned two blocks too soon.

Snow Blankets Florida

Georgia Gets First Snow In 10 Years

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 16 —(AP)—Staid buinsessmen deserted their offices to engage in a snowball fight . . . a military policeman and a civilian chucked icy pellets at each other in obvious glee . . . adult lovers of the out-of-doors expressed their exhultation in artistic designing of a huge snowman . . . and soldiers from the United States north looked on in nostaligic appreciation.

It snowed in the United States deep south yesterday, in some places for the first time in decades, as winter roared down to the Gulf of Mexico.

Bostsurprised city

Most surprised city was Pensacola, Fla., which was blanketed in white for the first time since 1898 as residents gazed in wonderment.

New Orleans, too, received a mild shock as snow fell there for the first time in eight years, and Albany, Ga., revelled in its first billowy precipitation in a decade.

Business men at Sylvania, Ga., scooped up the big, fluffy flakes deposited in the heaviest snowfall in 15 years, pelted wary passers-by. Residents of Eastman, Ga., saw their first snowman in ten years.

Packing Plants Overloaded

Would Suspend Rationing For 2 Weeks

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 — (AP).—Stockyards and slaughterhouses in the United States now have more beef and pork than they can handle and vast quantites will spoil unless an immediate two-week meat rationing moratorium is called, says George A. Casey, Indedendent Meat Packers Association president.

He told a New York legislative committee on nutrition public hearing yesterday that major stockyards could not be cleared daily because of an over supply of hogs and that the government had asked farmer to hold back livestock from the market.

Eastern slaughterhouses, he said are working overtime to process meat which cannot be sent abroad immediately under lend-lease because of shipping shortages and cannot be released to the public because of rationing.

Beef and pork products, he declared are "glutting every meat warehouse east of Ohio."

Under a suspension of rationing, he added, meat could be sold at regular United States Office of Price Administration ceiling prices and would deal "a death blow to the black market."

7-Hour Raid Sets Up Pacific Record

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Dec. 16—(AP)—A record 356-ton bombing which devastated the Japanese barge and supply base at Arawe, on the southwest coast of New Britain, was reported by Allied Headquarters today.

For seven hours Tuesday more than 100 heavy and medium bombers blasted this key point in the biggest Allied aerial attack ever staged in the Southwest Pacific.

The blows were concentrated on Amulut plantation west of Arawe village and on islands at the harbor entrance.

Tuesday's raid on Arawe, with the absence of enemy interception which has been widely noted of late, emphasized claims of Allied air supremacy in this theatre.

Many fires were observed and the devastation of barges and stores, and among enemy personnel, was widespread.

Planes of Admiral William F. Halsey, United States commander in the South Pacific, pounded Japanese supply points and ground defences on Bougainville Island in the Solomons, where United States troops have established an air strip on Empress Augusta Bay, only 250 miles southeast of Rabaul.

ARENA OF NEW ALLIANCES — Reverberations of the Big Three conferences echo loudly and quickly through eastern Europe as important new ties are knitted and swift moves made to hasten the Nazi doom. The map indicates those most immediately affected. Czechoslovakia has signed a pact of mutual assistance with Russia and Poland is reported now open to a similar agreement. Bulgaria is teetering on the brink of a break with Germany and Gen. Tito's Partisans in Yugoslavia suddenly find themselves recognized by the Soviet and promised the aid of Britain and the United States.

Lord Moran, the Prime Minister's personal physician, accompanied Mr. Churchill to the Cairo and Teheran conferences and on his previous flights to Washington, Moscow and the Middle East. He is president of the Royal College of Physicians.

While en route to the Cairo Conference, Mr. Churchill's cold was not considered cause for undue alarm, but was sufficiently serious so that a covered passageway was set up leading from his stateroom aboard the ship to the bridge. The Prime Minister is an inveterate "bridge watcher" on sea voyages.

Despite his advancing years — and he is the oldest United Nations "Big Three Leader" — Mr. Churchill normally enjoys robust health although he puts in long hours at work at home and has travelled farther than Mr. Roosevelt and Marshal Stalin in the last two years, consolidating the Allied war effort.

Nazis Smash Yugoslav Lines

LONDON, Dec. 16—(AP).—The Yugoslav Partisan lines have given way under the crushing pressure of constantly reinforced German troops in Croatia and the advancing Nazis are burning and sacking every village in their path, the headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today.

Tito's war bulletin, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio, said the German breakthrough was achieved by five columns of Nazis and Ustachis (Croat puppet storm troopers) in the Kordan and Baniya districts southwest of Zagreb.

In the neighboring Lika district, Tito said the Yugoslavs beat off attacks by German and Chetnik (Serb guerilla) forces, destroying one Nazi column between Donji Lepac and the town of Bihac, across the border in western Bosnia.

Partisans operating in eastern Bosnia between Rogatica and Sokolovic killed 70 of the enemy. Near Visegrad, 40 miles east of Sarajevo, Tito's men wiped out a regiment of German Alpine troops, the communique said.

The Partisans said they sank two enemy ships in the Adriatic off Dalmatia, and damaged three others. In Slovenia, Partisan units stormed the town of Mali Sladnik, destroyed the German garrison and captured war material, Tito reported.

Return Sugar Coupons

GALT, Dec. 16—(CP). — Seven families in Galt recently returned canning sugar coupons, good for more than 100 pounds of sugar, to the Ration Board here. Three housewives said fruit had been too expensive to preserve, three others returned coupons for members of their families who had died and the other said she "just didn't need the sugar."

Fire Destroys New Farmhouse

Started apparently by a wood fire which had been lit the night before in order to warm up the rooms, a one-story frame farm-house on the John Stuart, Jr., farm on the old Norwood Road, burned to the ground early this morning.

An alarm was received by the city Fire Department at 5.57 this morning, but the party calling in, either hung up immediately or the line went dead. At this point Assistant Chief George Smith was instructed by Fire Chief George Gimblett to call the Mayor and ascertain whether the fire-fighting equipment should be sent to the scene of the alarm. Receiving permission to do so, firemen arrived at the Stuart farm in 10 minutes from the time the alarm was sounded, but the building was already a mass of flames and there was nothing the Fire Department could do. Water was not available and the flames were beyond control. Members of the department remained on the scene for an hour, seeing that the fire did not spread, and by that time, it was reported, the fire had done its worst and three-room structure was completely demolished. The telephone line was also down.

Loss was estimated at $3,500 by the owners.

North Germany Hit In Daylight

By ROBERT STURDEVANT
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP)—An armada of American heavy bombers escorted by squadrons of fighters beat through thick curtains of anti-aircraft fire over northwest Germany today to batter that Nazi shipbuilding and submarine area for the third time in a week.

Specific targets were not announced immediately, but returning fliers said their tons of high explosives and incendiaries sent towering columns of thick smoke surging up into the substratosphere as if big oil stores had been hit.

Cities in the northwest area that have suffered heavy and damaging raids are Wilhelmshaven, Bremen and Emden.

Today's attack followed a night assault on western Germany by R.A.F. Mosquitoes who returned to the air after a one-night layoff. It was their fifth raid in six nights. The attack was carried out without loss, the announcement said, but specific objectives were not disclosed.

Firemen Report Sabotage Of Alarm Boxes

MONTREAL, Dec. 16—(CP).—As contract negotiations were started today between the city of Montreal and its police, fire and public works employees, who won Canadian Congress of Labor union recognition after a 14-hour strike, political circles studied an announcement from the Quebec Government that the Provincial Legislature would meet shortly to enact labor law amendments "to prevent a recurrence of such difficulties."

The strike of Montreal civic employees was settled early yesterday morning when the Quebec Government ordered its municipal commission—controlling the city following Montreal's failure to meet financial obligations—to adopt the majority report of a provincial arbitration commission which had recommended recognition of jurisdictional rights of C.C.L. unions.

Warned Police.

At Quebec Attorney-General Leon Casgrain had "nothing to say" on the settlement. A few weeks ago his department had issued an order forbidding members of the provincial police to organize.

Meanwhile 2,000 City Hall clerks who are members of a national syndicate have been told to expect a favorable answer to demands for union recognition and wage increases by the 3 p.m. deadline of their ultimatum.

Tram and busmen, affiliated with the C.C.L., were negotiating a new contract with their employers and have hinted at strike action if their demands were not met but it was pointed out the old contract binds them until the last of February.

Montreal, back to normal after surviving a period with only skeletonized police and fire protection, learned last night from Fire Director Raymond Pare that shortly after the strike began the fire alarm was tampered with and wires were cut.

Paul Marquette, C.C.L. organizer, denied that strikers had anything to do with sabotage and declared there had been no violence.

Premier Godbout, in a statement to the press, said "The views of the government on the propriety of allowing the guardians of law and order to join unions affiliated with federations embracing workers of all categories are well known. On the other hand, would it not be bordering on disaster if the government itself were to use force to set aside the decisions of tribunals duly constituted under our present laws?"

J. O. Asselin, chairman of the Montreal executive committee, said the strike settlement meant "complete discredit" for the Quebec Municipal Commission.

Repercussions of the strike included the possibility of resignations of government appointees. Officials at Quebec, asked to comment on reports that L. E. Potvin, chairman of the Municipal Commission, and Honore Parent, director of Montreal services and the commission's representative on the city executive, had offered to resign because the government had ordered Mr. Parent to concede recognition of Canadian Congress of Labor unions after he had already refused this concession would only say "nothing has been decided yet."

Mr. Daley Again

TORONTO, Dec. 16 — CP). — Labor Minister Charles Daley of Ontario said last night he wants married women in industry as long as the Government does not have to accept responsibility of caring for their children.

Obituaries

ROBERT JOHN KIDD

The death of Robert John Kidd of Smith township occurred suddenly in downtown Peterborough Wednesday morning. Stricken by a heart attack at 9.30 a.m. while in the F. and G. Store at the corner of Charlotte and Park streets, Mr. Kidd passed away in his 90th year.

Born in Dummer township, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Kidd, and a resident of this district most of his life, the late Mr. Kidd had been a school teacher for some years at the Peterborough Old Model School and in Warsaw. He was also a merchant before his retirement, engaged in the retail shoe business. He was a member of the Baptist church and a Mason.

He is survived by his widow, formerly Mary M. Kennedy, and four daughters and a son: Mrs. Harry Blewett and Mrs. B. Cuthbert of Toronto; Mrs. George Tindle of Peterborough; Mrs. Hazel Pratt, St. Petersburg, Fla.; and Clifton Kidd of Toronto.

The body is resting at the Nesbitt Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, and will leave for Toronto Friday morning on the C.P.R. 7.10 a.m. train. Services will be held from the Trull Funeral Home, Yonge street, Toronto, on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. W. Cameron, pastor of Yorkminster church, will officiate. Interment will take place in Mount pleasant cemetery.

GEORGE CARPENTER.

A private fnueral service was held Monday afternoon at the Belleghem Funeral Home for the late George Carpenter, who died at St. Joseph's Hospital in his 83rd year. At two o'clock service was held at St. Luke's Anglican Church, conducted by Rev. George J. Bousfield.

The many floral tributes showed the respect in which he was held in the community, where he has resided practically all his life. He was associated with Curtis Bros. for 45 years.

The pall-bearers were Arthur Bacon, Arthur Carpenter, Charles Bray, Fred Carpenter, Harry Starr, and Edward Dunsford. He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing daughter Winnifred of Toronto and a son Bryer of Kinsella, Alta.

Interment was made in Little Lake Cemetery.

JOHN P. CONDON

The death of John P. Condon, widely known resident in Douro township, occurred on Wednesday at the family residence, 650 Rogers street, following an illness of two weeks.

The son of the late Patrick Condon and Elizabeth Jane Moher, he was born in Douro and had resided in this city during the past four years. He was a member of the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

He leaves to mourn loss his wife, former Johanna McCann, and seven daughters and four sons; Rev. Sister Mary Isabel, Mrs. Joseph Driscoll, Mary, Loretto, Priscilla, Helen and Rose; John, R.C.N.V.R., Halifax; Patrick overseas; and Emmett and Kevin at home. A sister, Rev. Sister Mary Elizabeth, and two brothers, James and Cecil McCligott, also survive.

The funeral will be held Friday morning at 8.45 from the family residence to the Immaculate Conception church for Requiem Mass at 9 o'clock. Interment will take place in St. Joseph's cemetery, Douro.

Wounded, Frank Haddlesey Shot Down Nazi Then Went To Aid Of Wounded Gunner

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

With The R.C.A.F. Somewhere In England, Dec. 16 (CP)—PO. Frank Haddlesey of Norwood, Ont., flies with an Australian Lancaster squadron whose members think him one of the greatest guys in the world. This is why:—

PO. FRANK HADDLESEY

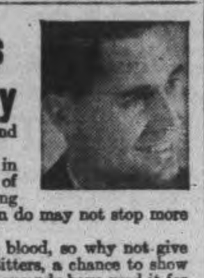
Wounded through the right shoulder and manning his mid-upper guns with his left hand, Haddlesey destroyed a Nazi nightfighter and for three hours on the homeward journey said nothing of his injury while tending a wounded Aussie reargunner. His commanding officer termed it "one of the bravest actions I've ever heard of."

Haddlesey and the other gunner were wounded when their bomber was coned over a target and riddled with bullets by a nightfighter. Operating the guns with one hand, the Canadian sent a fatal burst into the enemy aircraft which was seen by the rest of the crew to go down in flames.

Weak from loss of blood, Haddlesey then made his way to the rear where he extricated the wounded gunner and administered morphia and first aid. The Lancaster limped home where an ambulance waited.

Haddlesey went to hospital where it was noticed his shoulder was streaming blood. Only when the rear gunner's wounds were dressed did he admit he had been shot. Then he collapsed.

Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery



If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they made you feel.

Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming.

To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, so why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?

Campbellford Council Declares Boxing Day A Civic Holiday

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 16 (ENS)—Merchants of this town will observe Boxing Day on December 27 which the Mayor has been authorized to declare a Civic Holiday. This was announced at statutory meeting of Council here last night and was designed to conform with plans being followed in other municipalities to provide a long week end.

Since it was their statutory meeting, much business of a routine nature was dealt with and these included the preparation of the election by-law and final reports of committee heads for the year. One matter that came up under the heading of unfinished business concerned the proposal to pay members of the Water and Light Commission. Pursuant to a motion by Councillor Fowlds at the regular meeting, the Solicitor N. A. MacColl reported according to the Utilities Act the salary of the Utilities Commissioners may be fixed by council. It was now too late in the year to pass the necessary by-law so on motion of Councillors Fowlds and Donald a recommendation was made that the incoming council consider the question of paying commissioners on the same basis ($5.00 per regular meeting) as were members of the town council.

Another job for the 1944 council was proposed in the form of a motion by Reeve Calver who recommended that they should go thoroughly into the question of revising the by-law setting the commissions paid to the tax collector. The lowered tax rate had resulted in a steady diminishing payment to the collector "and if the Government goes through with its proposal to pay one-half of the scoool taxes it will reduce the rate another six mills thus cutting his salary so low it would not even be interesting to collect taxes."

Not Be A Candidate

At this stage Reeve Calver, recently appointed Hotel Inspector for the Liquor Control Board, announced he would not be a candidate for office in the municipal elections in January. He expressed regret at leaving council and voiced his appreciation for the co-operation he had received as finance Chairman from the Mayor, council, town officials and Water and Light Commission. The Reeve recalled that when he had entered council nine years ago the tax rate had been 53 mills and the corporation owed the bank a total of $20,000. This year the rate was 42 mills and instead of a deficit council would end the year with a balance that would probably be in the neighborhood of $2,000.00.

Only one tender was received for the Weigh Scales and it was for $160.00 offered by E. F. Clark the present lessee. On motion this was accepted. According to the election by-law December 27 was set as the date for the nomination meeting which will be held in the Parish Hall.

Polling booths and election officials were named as follows—No. 1, Police Station. Officials-1a, Mrs. R. J. Bullen DRO. Mrs. Robt. MacDonald P C; 1b, Mrs. C. W. Turner, DRO, Mrs. George West, P.C. No. 2 R. J. Jarvis barber shop in Ferris Block,—Fred Smith, DRO, R. J. Jarvis, PC.; No. 3—Ackerman's Barber Shop—3a, Mrs. Walter Lowe, DRO, Mrs. A. Hollings PC. 3b, Mrs. H. Waters, DRO, Charles Ackerman, PC. No. 4—Campbellford Cloth Co. office—H. Coxwell, DRO, J. C. Birmingham, PC.

In his remaks at the close of the meeting Mayor Frank Long briefly reviewed the year just ended by council and remarked that it had been marked by tragedy in the passing of Coucillor John O'Sullivan. Mayor Long congratulated all of the committees on their work during the year and pointed out there would be at least two new faces at the council table in 1944 which was a year he thought would be "big with fate for the entire world".

Agnes Janeway Recent Bride

Mark Street parsonage was the scene of a quiet wedding Wednesday afternoon, when Agnes Wave Janeway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Janeway, Water street, became the bride of Robert Neil Morrison, of Campbellford. Rev. E. W. Rowland officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was attired in an afternoon dress of lime green crepe, and wore black accessories and a corsage of roses. Attending her was Miss Dora Head, dressed in dusty rose, with black accessories and a corsage of roses. Mr. Henry Lock, of Campbellford, was best man.

At a small reception held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother received, wearing a black gown and a corsage of roses. A larger reception was held later at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, in the blue room, and dinner was served in the Elizabeth room. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison will live in Campford on their return.

Ortona Port Set Aflame By Germans

Believe Enemy Withdrawing Before 8th Army

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH 8TH ARMY IN ITALY Dec. 14.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Ortona, an Italian Adriatic port about 14 miles south of Pescara, was aflame to-night and there were other indications that the 8th Army had plunged the Germans into a new withdrawal.

Returning fliers reported flames and smoke rising above Ortona this evening and it was believed that the Germans had set the port ablaze preparatory to abandonment of the town and their positions along the Orsogna-Ortona road.

This lateral road, important to the Germans for supplying and manoeuvring thier troops stretched out through the hills of the coastal sector, already has been cut by the Canadians.

Week-old Battle.

The Canadians have been pouring shells on the German positions on a 24-hour basis for nearly a week now, starting with their successful establishment of a bridgehead over the Moro river the night of Dec. 8.

The desperation of the German efforts to meet the 8th Army challenge was seen in the fact that the only German troops are being thrown into the battle now, although Axis satellite soldiers were used earlier. In a document taken from a captured German, the Germans were ordered to hold the Canadians "at all costs."

The Germans were told, the Canadans said, that another German division, the 65th had failed to stem the onrushing 8th Army and that it now was a matter of honor for the crack 90th Panzer Grenadier Division to bring the Allied advance to a halt.

These circumstances seem to explain the reckless expenditure of men and material by the Germans in the last few days.

Indian troops on the Canadians' left also made progress, capturing the village of Caldari and taking a number of prisoners. Caldari is six miles from Ortona.

Had Indigestion, Backache, Headaches; Praises Syntona

Says She No Longer Suffers With Gastritis, Heartburn, Dizzy Spells, Cramps and Constipation. Nerves Are Calmed; She Sleeps Better and Has More Energy.

MRS. MAUDE SPEARING

Almost every day you can read in the papers about how local folks have been relieved of common ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and their long train of painful symptoms, by taking a treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound. Syntona helped them. Don't you think it will help you, too? Here, for example, is the splendid experience of Mrs. Maude Spearing, 159 Locke Street North, Hamilton, as reported recently:

"During the early part of this year I felt nervous, weakened, and rundown My appetite was poor and the little food I did eat just seemed to sour in my stomach and cause gas cramps and heartburn. There were gas pains all through my chest, spots floated before my eyes, and I was subject to throbbing headaches and pains in my back.

"I have only taken a short treatment of Syntona, but already it has done wonders for me. My appetite has improved and my food digests well, without all that gas and indigestion. I am free of headaches and dizzy spells and I got relief from the pains in my back. Since my nerves are more relaxed I sleep soundly and I arise mornings feeling rested and ready for the day's work."

If you, who read this, suffer like Mrs. Spearing did, make up your mind to begin taking Syntona to-day. See how much better you, too, can be feeling in just a short time.

Go to Elliott's Drug Store, Peterborough, and find out how Syntona can help you, too. It costs only a few cents a day to take Syntona. (Advt.)

Lakefield Sets New Record In Paying Rate

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 16 (ENS)—For For the first time in the history of the village, as far as the records show, Lakefield village council has paid the county rate of over $4,300 in the year it was due. This statement was given by Clerk E. H. Northey at the council meeting on Monday evening.

Reeve G. D. Scriver presided for the session. Councillors D. B. Millar, George Graham and George Charlton were present.

S. D. Charlton addressed the council in reference to insurance on fire engines and equipment.

It was moved by Councillors Millar and Charlton that present insurance on fire equipment be dropped and be reinsured separately from the hall, for fire, public liability and property damage with S. J. Charlton.

Mrs. W. Gillman and Mrs. J. Ridpath addressed council in reference to the library. Mrs. Gillman stated that nearly 7,000 books were in circulation to the end of November, the juvenile section is improving, new books had been ordered and more space and shelving was required.

Reeve Scriver and property manager Councillor Millar promised to inspect the library on Wednesday night and see what arrangements could be made.

The clerk read the correspondence as follows:—The account from the township of Douro for the expenses for taking fire engine to Douro was paid. $150 was received from Harvey township for rent of grader. Cheque for fire protection was received from the House of Refuge. Letter from Colonel Le Feuvre, of Uplands, asking for fire protection if he paid all expenses (Uplands is outside the village limits). Reeve Scriver said it would be advisable for Fire Chief Allan Clark to see Colonel Le Feuvre, inspect the property and water facilities, and give an approximate estimate of the cost of taking the fire engine and equipment there in the event of a fire.

Order Dog Destroyed

Chief Samis was instructed to notify one villager that his dog, which recently molested sheep on several occasions must be destroyed in 3 days or court action would be taken to have dog destroyed.

The council has bought 78 cords of wood, which they are selling to the villagers.

Moved by Councillors Millar and Graham that a lease, whereby the village rents the rink to the Curling Club for $350 from December 1, 1943, to April 30, 1944, be drawn up.

Silas Graham wished to rent the village barn to keep pigs, but Chief Samis reminded the council that the village by-law would not permit anyone keeping pigs so close to a residence.

Chief Samis reported that two men were up from McQueen's Roofing, to see about town hall roof, which McQueen's had repaired and guaranteed.

During a thaw several weeks ago the Chief was up until two o'clock emptying pails of water in the attic. The Roofing Company is going to repair the roof again.

The following accounts submitted by the Finance Committee was moved paid by Councillors Graham and Millar:—Lakefield News, advertising $13.40; Hydro Electric $147.74; W. J. Charlton, salt, $3; Margaret Tanner, siren blowing, $75; County rate account in full, $4,335.47; T. Chaplin, stamps, $3; Walter Madill, repairing motor and hose tower, $4.02; Garnet Samis, car expenses to December, $8; Garnet Samis, 1st half of December's salary, $51.20; Dr. H. E. Moore, medical health officer, fees, $62.50; Garnet Samis, salary, $51.20; William Edwards, sanitary work $1; Hydro Electric, $145.32; Payroll No. 1, $13.65; Payroll No. 2, $21; Bell Telephone $5.49; E. J. Millage $550; Coyle's Garage, repair on grader $6.70; Percy Hockaday, operating grader, $51; Garnet Samis, salary $51.20; J. Knox, hauling wood $11.25; Arthur Bolton, wood, $123.75; Theatre Inspection Branch, license for rink $3; Canadian Legion, wreath for Cenotaph $3.50; Clerk's salary $50; E. H. Northey, statuary fees and paste, $7.35; Payroll No. 1 $26.60; Payroll No. 2 $26.60; Central Garage, battery repairs $3.40; John Spencer, wood, $228; W. W. Leonard, supplies, $12.30; Porter Co., charity, $1.97; W. H. Stabler, carting, $24.80.

THESE CANUCKS HAVE ALREADY BAGGED TWO MARK IV'S—Note the Maple Leaf crest with the Beaver superimposed on this Sherman tank of the Three Rivers regiment in Italy. Two small swastikas indicate German Mark IV's destroyed. "Canada" got one at Regalbuto, in Sicily, and the other at Termoli, in Italy. Shown here are Major Pat Mills, Crew Commander Lieut. Waldorn and the commanding officer.

Dunsford Man Suffers Injury

LINDSAY, Dec. 16 (ENS) — Icy roads have caused several accidents in the Lindsay district. James Thurston of Dunsford, was severely injured when he lost control of his car on the slippery highway, four miles north of Omemee. The car slewed around and then flipped over on its left side and top.

Another accident occurred on the Lindsay-Peterborough highway just south of Lindsay when a car, driven by Fred Pulver of Lindsay crashed into a stalled car owned by Pte. Thomas Wallace of Camp Borden. Wallace, accompanied by two other soldiers was proceeding from Campbellford to Camp Borden when his car froze up and then stalled. In order to save the battery, the young man turned the lights out and was attempting to push the vehicle from the centre of the road when it was struck by Pulver who was unable to stop on the icy pavement.

Heads Legion

J. Wilson was elected president of the Lindsay branch of the Canadian Legion at the annual meeting. Other officers appointed were: vice-president, C. Grozelle; secretary, D. Osborne; treasurer, W. Piercy; executive committee, W. Clarke, W. Winterbottom, W. Mitchell and B Willis.

Trees Stolen

A reforestration evergreen park, north of Lindsay, has been depleted of many of its fine trees by persons cutting them down for Christmas trees. Several youngsters were seen bringing home exceptionally fine trees and a sharp warning has been issued by local authorities.

C.C.F. To Meet

RED DEER, Alta., Dec. 16 (CP) —M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F. said Tuesday 80 members of the party will meet in Regina December 30-31 to discuss plans for 1944 and work in the various provinces. C. C. F. members of parliament and provincial legislature will attend.

Westwood W.I. Holds Bazaar

WESTWOOD, Dec. 16—(ENS). The Christmas meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon in the Town Hall. In the absence of the president the first vice-president Mrs. Fred Faux presided. Donations for the babies of Britain were given as the roll was called. Arrangements were made to distribute several gifts of Christmas cheer to the sick and the usual Christmas greeting cards to be sent out. An acknowledgment of a donation of $57 for the Prisoners of War Fund was received and read.

Mrs. Robert Wilson, delegate to the recent convention in Toronto, gave an excellent report and brought home tothe members many highlights of the work done by the rural communities of Ontario and also wartime activities. A number of Christmas carols were sung. Mrs. Fred Neilson demonstrated how to make a pretty wool cushion top. The annual bazaar of miscellaneous articles was held and a tidy sum realized.

As a special Crristmas treat a pot-luck supper was heartily enjoyed by everyone.

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 16. — (ENS).—The Salvation Army Red Shield Auxiliary has been active during the month of November according to a report made by Captain Earl Jarrett yesterday. Weekly meetings were held at the home of Mrs. J. Duck, Queen street and the aggregate attendance for the month was 77. Their work was confined principally to sewing, knitting and quilting and during the month they sent to Toronto 14 quilts, 1 layette, 3 baby quilts, 5 pairs of gloves, 12 pairs children's hocks, 1 pair children's mitts, 2 palars boys' pants, 5 children's sweaters, 4 baby sweaters, 1 bonnet, 1 pair baby socks. In addition to this the group sent out 24 completely filled ditty bags, contents of which were donated by the members. These will be distributed by the Red Shield among the boys overseas. With the inclusion of 29 pair of socks, 31 sweaters and 5 pairs of mitts the Auxiliary has sent out a total of 138 articles during the month of November.

Prices Board Won't Raise Wheat Prices

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP).—Acting Premier Kennedy of Ontario said today the Prices Board had refused his request that the ceiling price on Ontario winter wheat be increased 15 cents from $1.12 a bushel f.o.b. Toronto. The request was made on behalf of the Ontario Agricultural Inquiry Commission through Mr. Kennedy in his normal capacity as Ontario Agriculture Minister.

A Federal subsidy was asked to put the proposed increase into effect, and the request was made after the Agriculture Commission found that Ontario farmers were feeding winter wheat to livestock because it was almost as inexpensive as buying feed wheat from Western Canada.

This resulted in use for feed of wheat which normally would be turned over to millers for the production of white flour. In the reply from the Prices Board, Mr. Kennedy was told that the recent increase in the subsidy on western feed wheat moved into Ontario makes it "reasonably attractive" for Ontario farmers to sell their winter wheat, and buy feed wheat, instead of using the winter wheat for feed.

Severe Sentence

BRANTFORD, Dec. 16 (CP). — Sentences totalling 17 years and six months were given yesterday to three Toronto men convicted last Thursday on charges of armed robbery. Clarence Thompson was given seven years, Frank Watson six years and Joseph Izzoti four years and six months. Armed with revolvers, the three entered a Brantford home last September and robbed several local men who were playing cards.

Compulsory Voting

The Kitchener Record has been calculating the extent of public interest in municipal affairs as it has been revealed by recent elections: Strathroy had a remarkably light vote, only 15 per cent. of the electors using their franchise; Sarnia has a score of 19 per cent.; Chatham had a 20 per cent. vote; Windsor has a better record with 25 per cent., and Brantford better still with 27 per cent.; Galt had 35 per cent., Guelph 36 per cent., and the champions, Kitchener and Waterloo, had 57 and 50 per cent. respectively.

This is a poor showing. We do not think that any of these communities would like to be told that they deserved a government whose efficiency should be reckoned on the percentage of voters at the elections. How would Strathroy like a council which was only 15 per cent. efficient, for instance? As the Record puts it, "the appalling public indifference as reflected in the light votes at a time when our lads are sacrificing their lives in defense of the democratic right to choose our rulers provides a potent argument for the adoption of compulsory voting in this country".

There are people who say that compulsory voting is not democratic. It might be said with equal justice that indifference to municipal elections is not democratic. Our ideas of democracy are derived in part from the democracy of the ancient Greek city-states, and when an election or a discussion of a public matter was on foot in one of those states public officials herded all the citizens together in the market place and marked them with chalk, to show that they had been present; the citizen whose clothes were not properly marked had to explain to the magistrates why he had been absent from a discussion of a matter touching the public good. We might do worse than follow the Greek example.

Compulsory voting has for some time been the law in Australia, and in that period the vote has never been less than 90 per cent. of the total voting population. People who do not vote, and who have no good reason for failing to do so, are fined. Australia has been held up to us as a model in some other directions; is there any reason why we should be blind to its example in this matter?

The great enemy of democracy is not fascism, or socialism or communism, but apathy. Democracy is based upon the belief that every adult who is not locked up either as a criminal or a lunatic is fit to have a voice in the government of the state, and although this is patently untrue, it is an ideal after which we strive. If a majority of the public does not value its vote, perhaps steps should be taken to make that value clearer. Certainly it is better that people should be compelled to vote than that they should lose their vote altogether? The vote is a symbol of the citizen's freedom and power, and he neglects it at his peril.

Innocence In Ottawa

We think that the Wartime Prices and Trade Board is doing a remarkably good job, on the whole, and we would not for the world cast any reflection on its efficiency. But we cannot refrain from repeating this story, which is causing hearty guffaws all through the western provinces.

A cattle dealer living near Regina had about fifty steers on hand and he wanted to slaughter them; therefore he applied to the WPTB at Ottawa for permission to kill them all at one time, as he thought that a single slaughter would be better than a piecemeal job. But he got a reply from an innocent bureaucrat saying that the slaughtering restrictions could not possibly be relaxed, and suggesting that some of the steers should be kept "for breeding purposes"!

Of course, nothing is easier than to make a mistake about the technicalities of another man's business, but there are plenty of farmers in the West who think that Price Board officials would do well to spend some time on a farm in order to find out the facts of life.

This Newspaper And The C.C.F.

In our third column today we print a letter from a supporter of the C.C.F. party who asks us why we "have such a vicious hatred of the C.C.F. party?" The reply is simple: we do not hate the C.C.F. but we often disagree with it, just as we often disagree with the Progressive Conservatives, the Liberals and the Communists. Sometimes, though not often, we agree with the C.C.F. Some months ago, after Mr. Coldwell had made an excellent speech over a national network, we published an editorial pointing out that he had a first-rate appreciation of Canada's problems, but that we disagreed with his proposals for settling those problems. There, in a nutshell, is our attitude toward the C.C.F.; we do not think that its plans for reorganizing Canada are in the best interest of all the people in the country, and we say so whenever we think it necessary.

Hatred plays no part in our political opinions. We do think, however, that we know more about socialism than a great many supporters of the C.C.F., whose notions about what socialism really is are somewhat clouded. What is more, we know perfectly well that our country and the other democracies are progressing toward a socialist state and have been doing so for the past fifty years. Whatever party we elect to power will give us new measures which are socialist, or collectivist, in nature. We are convinced, however, that this trend does not involve state control of the national economy, or state control of the life of the individual, to anything like the extent which the C.C.F. advocates. We are sure that we can make social reforms in Canada by parliamentary means, and we see no need for the totalitarian methods which the C.C.F. openly advocates.

We receive many letters from C.C.F. supporters which they want us to print over pen-names, or which they submit unsigned; indeed, we are not wholly convinced of the validity of Mr. J. Brown's signature. However, we are glad to print his opinion, and our answer to his charge that we hate his party.

Post Them Now!

If you have your Christmas cards, address them and post them now. Doubtless you have seen the plea of the Postmaster General to do your posting for local delivery before the 20th of December. Do not, therefore, accept December 20 as your posting date; the mails will be choked by that time; put your cards in the letter-box tonight.

As for parcels which you are mailing to friends at a distance, you should have sent them off long ago. If you have not done so, do not lose another minute; do it before you go to bed. Last year was a record year for Christmas mail, and it is expected that this year will far surpass it.

Do not disappoint your friends by sending your parcels so late that they receive them after Christmas; do not expect the mail service to perform a miracle by delivering the teddy-bear which you post on December 23 in Ottawa or Toronto on December 24; do not drive the postmen of this and other cities to early graves by marking your parcels with adjurations to "Rush", or describing them as "Urgent", when you have simply been too shiftless to send them off in time.

You have not a day to spare. Post your Christmas mail at once!

A Notable Centenary

An editorial in the Brantford Expositor reminds us that last Saturday, December 11, was the centenary of the birth of Robert Koch, the great bacteriologist. Koch is famous as the discoverer of three bacilli, the first that of anthrax, the second that of Asiatic cholera, and the third that of tuberculosis. The last named discovery was announced by Koch in 1882, and it marked a great advance in the struggle against an age-old enemy of mankind. Before Koch's time tuberculosis was a disease which meant almost certain death; though he did not discover a cure for it he revealed its true nature, and modern treatment of the disease is built upon his work. Although a specific for tuberculosis has not been discovered and may never be discovered, modern treatment of it is effective in thousands of cases which would formerly have been looked upon as hopeless.

Koch is regarded by scientists as one of the greatest of their kind ever known. His discoveries attracted public attention, but bacteriologists alone can judge the greatness of his contributions to the technique of their work. By the layman, however, Koch will always be remembered as the man who halted the advances of tuberculosis and threw that plague into retreat.

Letters To The Editor

COMMERCIAL USE OF SKUNKS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—In connection with your article in tonight's paper about skunks, it may interest you to know that its secretion is actually used in perfumery. The odour, when greatly diluted, reminds somewhat of garlic but is not unpleasant. The secretion is used as a fixative, to make perfumes, particularly flower perfumes, more stable and lasting. Its effect is similar to the products recovered from the African Civet cat, the Musk Deer and other animal secretions which are much appreciated by the perfumer. All these animal fixatives are quite acceptable when highly diluted.

The skunk secretion is obtained from animals which are kept in captivity and which are "milked" at regular intervals.

CHRISTMAS PAY

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—A few nights ago an editorial appeared in the Peterborough Examiner saying soldiers on active service would not receive their December pay until after Christmas.

The fact is that an order went through many weeks ago that the soldiers who are on active service, and who receive Christmas leave will receive their pay before enjoying their Christmas leave, and the rest of the soldiers which will be about forty per cent who will be compelled to take New Year's leave instead of Christmas leave, will receive all their pay before they take New Year's leave.

The reason that some change has been made, was that last year it was found that a good many of the soldiers who received their December pay before Christmas, and who required to take New Year's leave instead of Christmas leave found themselves stone-broke by New Year's, and did not have money enough to get home, so that these men would not spend all their money at Christmas, it was thought best to give the soldiers who took Christmas leave their December pay before they left for Christmas leave, and the soldiers who got New Year's leave would get their pay before New Year's so that they could take it home with them.

IN DEFENCE OF THE C.C.F.

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I am writing to your column to ask you, just why you have such a vicious hatred of the C.C.F. party? I notice all of your editorials pertaining to the C.C.F. are written to belittle and find fault. The working people keep your paper going. Are you so blind not to see the trend of the times? The people are sick and fed up with the old line parties. Who differ in name only. It's easy to see a movement under way by the big interests, and a certain section of the newspapers of the country to make up false charges and lies. The men who own Canada are getting very uneasy and afraid. They see the handwriting on the wall. But they cannot stop the march of progress. They fear the C.C.F. because the C.C.F. party is composed of aggressive men who have the support and backing of the working men and who have the workers' interests at heart. Not a few manufacturer and big companies. The workers are getting wise to the tactics of the big interests. I have heard quite a few say, "The C.C.F. must be good because the big shots hate it." I am only a young man, and don't profess to have a mind of genius. But I can see the C.C.F. is the only party that supports Labour Unions. They agitated for the Unemployment Insurance. They demand fair wages for the workers. They support the workers in their strikes for better conditions. Don't you think they were the real victors in the last elections, they started with nothing and got 34 seats, 4 less than our present government. The only hope the workers have of getting things done is to have their own men in power working and fighting for them. Peterborough is slow in Labour matters on the whole. But they are coming slowly but surely. It's the youth of today who are going to put the C.C.F. in power. They won't be content to be "four flushed" like some of the old time residents of Canada. They don't want to go back to 1930 to '39, begging for jobs and a chance to make a place for themselves. If I was the "Examiner" I would back the C.C.F. more, because you are backing a losing horse now. How about printing this letter in "To The Editor Column." I can understand it if you don't.

Rubidge St. J. BROWN.

Unconsidered Trifles

Attorney: "Where was the defendant milking the cow?"

Witness: "It's hard to describe, Judge, but if you'll bring in a cow, I'll show you the exact place."

A burglar broke into a millionaire's mansion in the early morning and found himself in the music room. Hearing footsteps, he took refuge behind a screen, where he was forced to remain for a considerable time.

From eight to nine o'clock the eldest daughter had a singing lesson. From nine to ten o'clock the second daughter took her piano lesson. From ten to eleven o'clock the eldest son had a violin lesson. From eleven to twelve another son received a lesson on the flute. At a quarter past twelve all the brothers and sisters assembled together and studied an ear-splitting piece for voice, piano, violin and flute.

The burglar staggered from behind the screen at a quarter to one and, falling at their feet, cried: "For heaven's sake send for the police!"

Lend-Lease In Reverse

The reverse of Lend-Lease is enabling American service men in the British Isles to buy personal supplies not available to British civilians, such as hair tonics, playing cards and shaving lotions.

Both the British War Office and the Navy and Army Air Forces Institute are easing the Americans' transition from the higher U.S. living standards into Britain's "austerity" by making available more than one hundred items otherwise restricted or not normally obtainable.—New York Post.

Safe From Attack

There was every good excuse for the elaborate military safeguards thrown about the distinguished conferees at Cairo and Teheran, but it was a striking commentary on the success of our cause that, happy though the Axis would have been to get a crack at them, the defending forces never had to fire a shot.—Windsor Star.

French City in an English Land

SOFT and thick, the snow falls, veiling the dark clustered buildings and towers of old Quebec, high on a promontory above the St. Lawrence River. In the narrow little streets at the foot of the cliff the snow lies in deep drifts. Every steep roof wears a blanket of white. Children, wrapped to the eyes in old coats and scarves, whose homes are in the ancient houses, hurl snowballs at each other, chattering shrilly in French.

In the city above, bare trees and old gray buildings make dark patterns against the crystal whiteness of the snow. The bronze figure of Champlain above the Place d'Armes has thick puffs of snow on his head and shoulders.

When the clouds break the city comes alive, the cold air is filled with the jingle of sleigh bells and the shouts of children sliding in the parks. The snow cleaners pass by with their square blue carts on runners, the horses standing patiently while the snow is scooped up so that sleighs and automobiles may pass.

As soon as the drifts have been cleared from Dufferin Terrace, that broad promenade along the top of the cliff becomes a wonderful winter playground. From the heights of the Citadel above it a great toboggan slide, with icy glittering surface, swoops down to the Terrace. All day long bright-colored figures, crowded on the long curved toboggans, come sailing down at breathless speed, racing to the end of the Terrace. Guests from the turreted Chateau Frontenac, a hotel which looks like a French castle, join with the townsfolk in sports.

Beyond the toboggan slide a broad space has been flooded for a skating rink. There, within walls of snow, the skaters swoop and swirl like a flock of swallows. In the hubbub of laughter and chatter the gay French speech is heard more often than English, for Quebec is a French city in an English land.

Boys and girls are eager for school to end in the afternoon, and they count the days to Saturday, so they may get out to the snow sports. Grown-up girls and young men who work in shops and offices hurry out to skate and toboggan in the sharp cold twilight.

Angelique and her brother Ernest are planning a gay evening on the Terrace, for they were too busy in school to go out in the afternoon....

They trudge along the snowy streets, calling greetings to friends who join them. Angelique looks like a ballet dancer in the short flaring skirt of her skating costume. Her spirited face in the frame of a velveteen hood is so pretty that boys turn to look at her as they pass. Ernest has his scarlet tuque, a long knitted cap with a tassel, pulled down over his ears and is bundled up in a red balnket coat....Joyous and exciting it is this evening, for it is one of the festive nights when fireworks spout fountains of gold to compete with the stars and the band plays for the skaters.

They are waltzing on the rink, a swirling, turning throng of graceful skaters in the gayest of costumes. Angelique, among the skilled performers, holds her own. Nothing in the world could be more fun, she thinks, than to dance on ice to the music of the band, in the cold night spangled with stars and showers of rockets....

Winter is the best season of the year to young folk of Quebec, both French and English. There are crisp sparkling days of blue sky and bright sun when the sports of skiing, skating and tobogganing are at their best; then days of whirling snow and wind when a new blanket of white is laid over the city. After a thaw and ice storm, their city is a shimmering icy wonderland, every twig on the trees ice-coated and twinkling in the sun, while long icicles like crystal ornaments hang from the eaves of houses.—From "Young Canada," by Anne M. Peck. (New York: McBride.)

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: This share-the-ride business is causing much family trouble among my friends and neighbours. Married men begin giving rides to girls at first just to help them get to their work, then propinquity and feminine wiles get in their deadly work, and before the man know it he has started down the primrose path with a little cutie. And another home is broken up.

When automobiles were first invented, they used to call them "devil wagons." Believe me, it was a good name for them, because they seem to lead to petting parties more than any other one thing. At any rate, I know more than one middle-aged man who has been a good husband, who is the father of a family, and who would have gone on being as domestic as the house cat if he hadn't gotten the idea that it was his patriotic duty to pick up some good-looker, about the age of his own daughter, and cart her back and forth to her job.

I say: Let the girls hop-the-bus-and-save-the-home, instead of share-the-ride-and-wreck-a-home.

A WIFE.

ANSWER: This letter may sound like the wail of a jealous wife. Perhaps it is. But anyone who knows how many predatory girls are on the prowl these days must concede that every wife who has a husband, whom she wishes to keep, has to be Sister Annie on the watch-tower on the lookout for every sign of danger. Nor is there any disputing the fact that her fears are well founded, for when a middle-aged man begins sharing his morning and evening drives with a pretty girl, he is in just as much peril as if he were being pursued by a she-wolf.

The young men who are familiar with the species and who are fleet of foot may be able to escape them, but the middle-aged man hasn't a chance. The mere fact of his age makes him the easy prey of any girl who wants him, or who thinks that flirting with him a little saves bus fare.

If he is a settled family man, it has been a long time since he kissed romance good-bye. For ten, or fifteen or maybe twenty years he has thought of his stomach, instead of his heart. He has called his wife "Mom." The only women he has been thrown with socially were his wife's friends, as unglamorous as she. And he has no more thought of himself as a heart-masher than he has of being a cinema hero. He has been safe because he has been walled in from temptation by his work and the kids and his daily habits.

So he is vulnerable at every point when a pretty Jane marks him for her own, and begins telling him "how big and strong and handsome he is, and that she can't believe he is really old enough to be married, and did he know that he had the most beautiful eyes and so much personality, and the first time she ever saw him she asked who he was because he was so distinguished-looking." He gulps it down as a kid would a stick of candy, and asks for more. And she feeds it to him without stint, and before he knows it the poor sap is in an affair up to his ears.

Of course, there are plenty of good girls who may be taken for a ride as safely as Grandma, but there is no denying that in these free and easy wartimes, when so many women have kissed Mrs. Grundy good-bye for the duration, sharing your automobile with a pretty girl is just about as dangerous a proceeding as hauling dynamite, even if it is done at the government's request.

Poor Uncle Sam, who is an old man himself and not hep to the modern woman, has started a lot of matrimonial trouble with his defence jobs and lady soldiers and so on. And when the future historian writes the story of this war he is going to say: "O, patriotism, what crimes were committed in thy name!"

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother is engaged to marry a fine man who lives in a distant city, but she refuses to marry him because I will not consent to go to live with them. I am 25 years old, have a good job and many friends here in my own home town, and I want to stay here. Besides, I do not wish to live with a stepfather.

My father died when I was a small child and my mother worked hard to give me a good home and a college education. I love her dearly and realize that I owe her a great deal, but not my whole life. I would like to see her marry this splendid man who can give her more than I can, but I cannot help but feel that she is trying to tie me to her apron strings by forcing me to do this. Do you think I am being selfish? Mother says I am ruining her happiness, but I feel that I am entitled to a life of my own.

ANSWER: It is your mother who is being selfish, not you. You are only acting with ordinary commonsense in refusing to sacrifice your life to hers, and in maintaining your own independence, instead of becoming more or less a parasite on your stepfather.

Your mother is really snowing very little consideration for you, because in order to gratify her desire to have you with her she is willing to put you in the embarrassing position of being the unwanted third in a home to which you do not belong. Your mother must know very well that her new husband will want her to himself; that he will want to be alone with her, and that he will resent the intrusion of a stepchild.

And what does she expect? Does she think that you will never leave her? That you will never marry and want a home of your own? Does she expect to always keep you a little girl whom she has to see tucked in bed every night? That can't happen. And, if she is wise, she will go along and marry her man and let you establish your life as she is establishing hers.

A Bible Message

Woe unto him that striveth with his Maker! Let the potsherd strive with the potsherds of the earth. Shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? or thy work, He hath no hands? Woe unto him that saith unto his father, What begettest thou? or to the woman, What hast thou brought forth?....

For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else.... In the Lord shall all the seed of Israel be justified, and shall glory. (Isa. 45: 9, 10, 18, 25.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure. (I John 3: 2, 3.)

Aussie Shop Committees

Because of inter-union shop committees, Ansett Airways' 1,600 workers have not lost a minute through industrial disputes in servicing and reconditioning aircraft and manufacturing plane components, says the management.

Originally the committees were concerned with bringing forward complaints and grievances but today most of the causes for complaints having been rubbed out, the committees function more constructively. They bring forward suggestions for stepping up production, getting rid of bottlenecks and so on, and in one department output has increased 300 per cent over the last year.

The first committee grew out of a stop-work meeting—the first and the last in the history of the company. At that time the organization was expanding at a great rate. In the previous year the number employed had grown from 164 to 1,200. Growing pains were acute, with problems, grievances and misunderstandings. The committee overcame these difficulties. More committees were appointed and the system extended to the point where no major move was made by the management without calling them into consultation.

"Leave growling to the dogs," is one of many slogans.—Australian News Letter.

Beware of the Spellbinder

A good talker should always be held under suspicion. There are men who can merely through their choice of words and the fluent spell of their speech, make themselves sound profound and authoritative. No person can know everything nor be expert in everything. Right now, during our present war effort, there are hundreds of critics of the military who never saw the inside of an army camp and never shouldered a gun.—Dr. Louis E. Bisch in Your Life.

Postwar Surplus

With a hungry world crying for food after the war a few more hogs than Britain needs will not constitute a serious surplus. What about the surplus of guns, tanks, ammunition, ships and airplanes? There will be a scrap heap that cost billions of dollars.—Farmers' Advocate.

Northumberland Expects Fair Turkey Supply

COBOURG, Dec. 16 — (ENS) — Poultry plays a particular spot in the preparation of Christmas dinner and Northumberland farmers will supply a fair share this year, states R. C. Banbury, agricultural representative for Northumberland county. Mr. Banbury has had considerable enquiry as to ceiling prices and gives the following information as supplied by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Toronto:

"All birds sold locally will be in Zone 3 and it should be understood that the maximum retail price is the highest figure at which birds may be sold. Prices for the period, December 15 to Dec. 31 for loose-picked, which is how most Northumberland poultry is sold, is 45 cents, A grade maximum price, with a two cent cut for B and five cents less for C. An A bird must show a covering of white fat all over the back and not have any tears, bruises or deformities that would impair appearance. When selling to the wholesale trade this figure will then be 39 cents per pound.

Higher Prices Drawn

"Old hens are 42 cents and old toms 41 cents when retailed. If dressed turkeys are drawn, 10 cents a pound may be added and head, feet and all entrails must be entirely removed with the cleaned gizzard, heart and liver replaced in the bird. Where a bird is drawn after being purchased a charge of 10 cents for the service per bird may be made. These rules apply to most other fowl. With geese the price is [illegible], 32 and 27 cents, according to grade, with heads off and feet on, undrawn. Ducks are 36, 34 and 29 cents with the same details applying. With chickens the top price is 42 cents for milk fed, with the ordinary run, 40, 38 and 35 cents. Capons may be sold at two cents a pound over the maximum price for chickens. In certain cases, where the birds may be of special grade 1 cent per pound is possible over A grade in chickens and turkeys."

"It is generally understood," stated Mr. Banbury, "that suplies are not too generous and that the demand will be keen. Possibly more birds will be sold directly from farmer to consumer on markets than usual. It is, however, hoped that the Christmas spirit will enter into the transaction and fair grades be maintained at ceiling prices, or below, which will enable most families to have their choice of a turkey, goose or the chicken for the Christmas festivities."

Kiwanis Club Visits Cobourg

COBOURG, Dec. 16 — (ENS).— Responsibilities of a newspaper and its job of mirroring the events of the world for its readers were discussed by Harold Garner, general manager of the Peterborough Examiner, at Tuesday night's meeting of Cobourg Kiwanis Club. Mr. Garner, who was formerly with the Wartime Information Board and a member of the War Finance Publicity Committee, told his listeners that the cost of putting on Victory Loan campaigns was not the exorbitant figure that some represented it to be. On the contrary it cost a little under 1 per cent, which is less than a bond house would charge to put a bond issue over.

Mr. Garner's address centred about various typographical and other errors which have appeared in the press at various times, and concluded with a plea or understanding that newspapers are issued under such stress that mistakes are likely to happen in the best of plants.

President Dick Raine of the Peterborough Club, and W. H. "Bill" McGuire, Cobourg president, were joint chairmen of the meeting. Sing-songs were led by Vincent McCabe of Peterborough and Albert Hircock, with Harry Northrop and Alfred Mortimer as pianists. Two new members of the Cobourg Kiwanis, Len Ashforth and Ed Campbell, were introduced.

Lieutenant-Governor John Troke of Peterborough, Jack McKone, veteran Peterborough club secretary, and President-elect Charles Saunders of Peterborough Kiwanis were among those who said a few words.

Want 21 Millions

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 — (AP).— Directors of Russians war relief yesterday adopted a 1944 program of $21,000,000, approximately one-third greater than the 1943 program.

THE VICTORIAN ORDER OF NURSES, of which there is a branch in Peterborough, is a national public health organization that has provided nursing service across Canada since 1897. There are now 99 affiliated branches and 400 nurses. It provides skilled bedside nursing, care for the sick in their homes (as shown ABOVE) on a visiting basis, and it aids in the prevention of disease and the maintenance of health. Last year 86,646 patients were looked after by the Order in Canada. The Peterborough branch offers its service where there is sickness, and for information about the V.O.N. call your doctor or telephone 9155.

Farmers Take Interest In Mechanics Work

COBOURG, Dec. 16—(ENS)—The Northumberland County Farmers' Courses in Mechanics are progressing satisfactorily. The Roseneath courses held on Wednesday and Thursday of last week had an interested but not large attendance and the Campbellford group was somewhat cut down by many cases of flu in the community. Keen interest was shown in many phases of the work which centred around the plow, mower, binder and labor saving devices.

Many farmers were interested in the scale of custom charges for tractor and other farm machinery gathered together from all parts of Ontario and summarized by J. A. Carroll, superintendent of Agricultural Societies. Several county farmers have expressed a desire for information on the pick-up baler, which is an implement that takes the hay direct from the swath and turns it out in bales. The efficiency is high were the product is to be sold and it can be stored in much smaller space.

Proper Method

To gather first-hand information, Agricultural Representative R. C. Banbury wrote Kenneth Deacon whose Glenburn Shorthorns are well-known throughout the province, at Unionville, who has a machine and used it for his entire crop last year. After pointing out that the hay should be in the same shape as for bringing into the barn and raked in rather small windrows, Mr. Deacon said he had found that if the proper care were taken better hay, with more leaves, resulted than from any other method. Mr. Deacon operates with crew made up of one man and two school boys and the run was from two to four tons per hour, turning out bales averaging 70 pounds.

Such types of machinery were little though of before labor conditions became difficult, stated Mr. Banbury. Any mechanical device which relieves manpower at the present time, is worthy of attention, the county agricultural representative stated, and farmers should take advantage of the hay loader, buck-rake and custom machinery.

"While not suggesting that farmers increase their overhead by purchasing expensive machinery, the courses feature keeping that which is available, in good repair so that maximum work may be accomplished with it," he declared.

W.A. Program Has Yule Spirit

ROSENEATH, Dec. 16 (ENS) — The annual meeting with election of officers, of the United church W.A. was held on Wednesday afternoon in Mrs. Barton Thackeray's home.

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. A. Nill, and it was decided to donate $10 to the Christmas Cheer fund for British children. Receipts for the day including sales were $4.75. A letter from Milford Macklin, England, was read, thanking the Alnwick ladies for a box and the president asked all officers to present a report of her department at the January meeting.

The election of officers was conducted by Rev. E. H. Unstead. Mrs. Tucker was re-elected for a second term. Other officers are vice-president, Mrs. B. Thackeray; secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Braithwaite; treasurer, Mrs. C. Grigg; organist, Mrs. Ella Brown; assistant, Mrs. S. Thackeray; devotional committee, Mrs. A. Nill and Mrs. M. Davey; parsonage committee, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Frank Adams, Mrs. C. Grigg and Mrs. Charles Sandercock; flower committee, Mrs. M. Davey, Miss Hildred Taylor and Mrs. Earl Waldie; quilt committee, Mrs. Ella Brown, Mrs. L. Brisbin, Mrs. M. Davey, Mrs. Alfred Braithwaite and Mrs. Clark Sandercock; sales, Mrs. H. Hugh and Mrs. Fred Norris; sunshine convener, Mrs. Norris, visiting committee and the executive.

Mrs. H. Hugh offered her home for the January meeting and Mrs. C. Grigg and Mrs. B. Thackeray form a program committee.

The following numbers were announced by Mrs. Frank Adams, program convener: a reading, "A Christmas Blessing," by Mrs. Earl Waldie; a humorous reading, "The Ladies' Aid Helps The War Effort," by Mrs. Charles Sandercock; a contest by Mrs. M. Davey and Christmas carols.

Supper was served by the hostess.

O'Sullivan Death Is Probed By Jury

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 16 (ENS) —A coroner's jury deliberated for sixty-five minutes here Wednesday before bringing in an open verdict on the death of John O'Sullivan. Mr. O'Sullivan was killed in an automobile accident which took place on No. 30 Highway three and a half miles south of here on October 25 last when a car driven by a cousin, George O'Sullivan, collided with a parked car late in the evening. Dr. H. C. Rundle of Brighton was the Coroner in charge and Attorney H. R. Deyman of Cobourg represented the Crown in the proceedings, which took place in the council chambers of the public library. Six witnesses were called. Major J. M. Bygott, who was foreman of the jury, and other jurors were: W. S. Wiggins, T. J. Craighead, J. C. Anderson and Arthur Drinkwater. Their verdict said in part that John O'Sullivan had met his death as the result of an impact between the car in which he was a passenger, driven by George O'Sullivan, and another car driven by Stuart Hoard, which at the time was standing on the highway as a tire was being repaired. They suggested that Mr. O'Sullivan's car was being driven with the lights 'tilted' and since the Hoard car was a 'buff' color Mr. O'Sullivan did not see it.

Mission Circle Names Its Officers For 1943

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 16. — (ENS).— A supper in the ladies' parlors of the church was a feature of the annual meeting of St. Andrew's Mission Circle who reviewed the activities of a successful year and named officers for 1944. Mrs. Edison Wynn was convener of the supper and she was assisted by Mrs. J. Poulton, Mrs. Radley, Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Gummow, while Miss Hazel Atkinson presided for the meeting as reports from the secretary and treasurer were read and adopted. She yielded the chair to Mrs. John Storie who was in charge when the report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. Gordon McCulloch. Officers for 1944 are as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. J. O. Ralston; president, Miss Hazel Atkinson; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Edison Wynn; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. H. Spencer; secretary, Miss Anne Park; press secretary, Mrs. F. F. Long; treasurer, Mrs. H. T. Scott; welcome and welfare, Mrs. E. Carlaw; supply secretary, Mrs. Frank McNaughton; pianist, Mrs. Jack Clarke.

TORONTO, Dec. 16 — (CP). — Although 'teen-aged players have suddenly scrambled by the dozen into Canada's most important hockey leagues including the National, Tony (Winnipeg Tribune) Allan remarks that development of 'teen-aged stars is not new. Tony recalls that when Victorias, one of Winnipeg's greatest teams, won the Allan Cup in 1911 the Vics were youngsters led by a great pair of 19-year-old defencemen, Corky Fowler and Les Moffatt. The rover, Charlie Belcher, and two forwards, Fred Bawlf and Francis Caldwell, each were 20 while Goalie Basil Baker and Winger Dicky Wickson were 22. The team's average weight was 139 pounds. "Babe Pratt was bigger than that when he was playing midget," quips Alan.

Service sport:

In the last two years, the Citizens' Committee for the troops in training has distributed $140,000 worth of sports equipment to camps and barracks in Ontario, as far east as Halifax and even to England. The Sports Service League provided $115,000 of this amount. A recent undertaking was an arrangement with the Toronto School Board to have senior students make ping-pong tables in manual training for use at camps.

Oilers:

Harry (Calgary Albertan) Scott finds that six of the hockey players who moved to Turner Valley in 1939-40 to take oil-field jobs and play with Turner Valley Oilers in the Alberta Senior League are still working in the oil fields. Goalie Bill McKay and Defenceman Percy Davies and Mayer Flett are engineers, Tiny Craddock and Bill Cousins still work in the Valley, and Pete Ettinger is a driller at Fort Norman. Some of the other former Oilers were working in the Valley until they enlisted.

Here and there:

Porky Dumart has been promoted pilot officer with the R.C.A.F. overseas. The other members of Boston's famous kraut line are also overseas, Milt Schmidt as pilot officer and Bobby Bauer as corporal ....When Edgar Laprade joined the Winnipeg Army hockey team, he immediately arranged to wear the No. 10 sweater formerly worn by Sammy Fabro. "Ten is the only number I ever wore," said Laprade, explaining his superstition ... Moustached hockey players are not numerous, but Winnipeg Army has two—Laprade and Len Halldorson ....One of the sensations of Oshawa Generals junior hockey team is Bobby Dawes, a Saskatoon product. A Toronto fan calls Dawes a "two-way riot squad"......Andy Anton, former Montreal hockey and football star, now is a sub-lieutenant stationed on a Canadian naval ship on the Pacific Coast.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 — (AP).—If to-morrow night's Sammy Angott-Bobby Ruffin fight is anything like the Maurie Waxman-Mike Jacobs preliminary, it ought to be a honey....Maurie has had Jacobs' beach in an uproar most of this week by insisting the fight was off unless Bobby was guaranteed a tussle wth Beau Jack, win, lose or draw.....He settled for a promise witn fingers crossed....Babe Holingberv and Buck Shaw, who will handle the west team in the New Year's East-West football game, will be getting their first taste of college coaching for the season. Both represent schools that dropped football.

Observation post:

Pacific Coast conference faculty athletic representatives and graduate managers decided that all 10 conference colleges will get their regular cuts of the Rose Bowl game receipts this season although six of them quit cold on regular season football......Wonder if they could have been listening when Judge Bamham revived those 16 inactive baseball leagues at the minors' convention?

Scooped:

Probably you think the worst race horse that ever existed was the one that ran out of the money with your dough riding on him, but "Semper Avanti" tells in the "Thoroughbred Record" of a nag called Sad News that probably takes the prize....Running on the Texas Bush Tracks some 35 years ago, Sad News slid down the scale until he ran with a $35 claiming tag on him....Then he was given to a Houston newspaper, which hitched him to a paper route cart and put him on the depot run....The first time out he was beaten by the opposition paper, which used a Shetland pony.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

This column is interested in knowing whether or not there are a few organizations in town who might be interested in the formation of teams to participate in a City Hockey League this winter. The reason for our curiosity in that respect is that we have received a number of inquiries as to the possibility of launching such a league to help keep hockey alive. There is a group at the C.G.E.-Genelco anxious to see a city loop organized and reports from the Military Training Centre indicate that there are a number of players there anxious to have a chance in organized hockey and they would gladly enter a team in a City League. No covered rinks will be available of course and it would be necessary to make arrangements to play the game at the Sacred Heart and C.G.E. rinks where there would not be much in the way of revenue. But that would not be an insurmountable obstacle if there are enough enthusiasts who really want to play hockey this winter. This column would be glad to hear from teams who are interested in the proposition and if there are enough inquiries to make it worth while a public meeting may be called to discuss the whole situation.

Bill Cowley's right to be considered as one of the greatest play-makers in the history of the game is still being widely discussed despite the evidence that is to be had on all sides that the star Boston centre has a record surpassed by no one in the matter of setting up scoring plays. Most of the other famous centre ice stars has been flanked for years by the same pair of wings. Joe Primeau had Busher Jackson and Charlie Conacher, Frankie Boucher had Bun and Bill Cook, Milt Schmidt had Dumart and Bauer and so but Cowley has worked between a lot of ordinary wing players and has converted most of them into scoring stars. Right now Herb Cain is leading the loop with an average of a goal a game in 18 battles and he would probably be the first to admit that he owes most of his success to the uncanny manner in which Cowley engineers scoring plays and sets up goal passes. Cowley has made a lot of fair hockey players look like stars and that possibly is the best proof that could be offered as to the play-making ability of the Ottawa boy who has long been a bright star with the Bruins. Incidentally at his present rate Cowley seems destined to set a new N.H.L. scoring record this season. Barring injuries he can hardly fail to reach an all-time high.

Kingston Frontenacs may have lost one hockey team this winter but they have been extremely fortunate in the matter of replacements and now comes the announcement that the boys from Jim Sutherland's bailiewick may have the help of the services of Buck Jones, former Detroit defence star. Says Bre'er Bill Walshe in the Whig-Standard: "Coach Red Hamill will concentrate this week on strengthening the Kingston defence and Buck Jones, former N.H.L. player with Toronto Leafs, is expected to join the Kingston soldiers. Jones is located here for military training and has promised to turn out for practice. With the defence improved Kingston would have the favored team of the O.H.A. senior series. There is nothing wrong with the Kingston attack which generally gets enough goals to win an ordinary game but 48 goals have been scored against the Kingston team in nine games for an average of 5 1-3 goals a game. Kingston plays an advance type of game, shooting for high scores, and has had considerable success with 53 goals in nine games but with the rear-guard stronger, especially in clearing the puck from the danger zone, Kingston would have a wide margin on all teams in the league, even Hamilton. In the game at Hamilton when the Majors scored 12 goals against Kingston, six of the scores were on rebounds off the goaler's pads after the original shot had been stopped but the puck was not cleared. Hamill played on the defence against the Navy Saturday and his clearing cut down the Sailors' scoring chances.

There are so many queer things happening in junior O.H.A. hockey circles this season that our old friend George Soup Campbell, press-agent extraordinary for the Oshawa Generals, sees a possibility that the Motor City club may be able to take back a couple of last year's stars who are now in the army. Says the Oshawa sports writer: "Hamilton gave the fans a real night's entertainment and they showed that they are going to be very much in there when playoff time rolls around. Andy Brown, the ex-pro, who was re-instated a few weeks ago and is now a regular with Hamilton Whizzers, showed up fairly well. Incidentally, Andy Brown, playing Jr. hockey for the Hamilton team, is in the army and at present stationed at Camp Borden. One or two other members of the Hamilton team are in the armed forces and stationed at camps many miles from Hamilton, one of them being out at Brantford or Simcoe, we forget which. "Red" Tilson, Oshawa Generals' favorite of last year, is now stationed at Camp Borden and has been in Oshawa the last two Saturday nights as a spectator. Mmm! Eddie Reigle can still play Junior hockey, too. Once Brantford, Hamilton and St. Mike's get back all the ex-pros they want, maybe the Generals could take back a couple of players who didn't sign pro contracts, eh?"

With Norm Smith scheduled to try a comeback in the nets for Jawn Adams' Detroit Red Wings the following comment by Doug Vaughan in the Windsor Star is timely: "Disgusted with the showing of swarthy Jimmy Franks as goaltender for his Detroit Red Wings, Manager Jack Adams announced yesterday that he would bring Normie Smith out of retirement to take his place. And so, at 35, the hockey life of one of the most able and popular puck-fenders ever to perform on Detroit or Windsor ice is going to begin all over again. Veteran Windsor hockey fans will remember Smith from back in the days of the old Bulldogs. He came here from Montreal, fresh out of amateur ranks, along with such stars of those good old International League days as Lorne Duguid, Earl Robinson, the Roche brothers, Earl and Desse, and Paul Haynes. No better goalie ever wore Bulldog livery. Graduating from minor professional league ranks, Smith went to the Red Wings to gain even greater glory. For four seasons, from 1934 to 1937, he was the Detroit club's regular custodian of the twine. Twice while he was with the club it won the Stanley Cup and National League titles, and in the 1936-37 season he became the first Red Wing player in history to win the Vezina trophy, awarded annually to the N.H.L. goalie with the lowest goals-against average."

Albert Dryland's team is out in front in the Saturday afternoon Volleyball League at the Y.M.C.A. with a total of 15 games won for 30 points. El Jones' squad are tied with Eric Vincent's performers in the second slot with 12 wins for 24 points and right on their heels is the team captained by George Scott with 11 victories and 22 points. Jack Hardill with five wins for 10 points are on even terms with Bill Stanbury and Bill Swiss's outfit brings up the rear. The last regular games on the schedule are billed to be played this Saturday afternoon. The teams are all enthusiastic and the quality of volleyball played this fall has been uniformly good.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Bill Walshe's favorite team, the Kingston Frontenacs were nosed out at home last night by the St. Catharines Saints....The final score was 5 to 4 with the Saints pulling off the trick with a strong finish....Bill Calladine with four goals and 12 assists for a total of 16 points s well up the N.H.L. scoring list and right on his heels is Dit Clapper, first citizen of Hastings with 15 points....Whipper Watson and Pierre DeGlane won the tag team battle in Toronto last night from John Katan and Bunny Dunlop....It appears that the break came when a wallop aimed at one of his opponents by the Palermo Panther landed on the map of his partner Dunlop and before the Toronto strongman could recover from that surprise blow the Whipper had pinned him for the deciding fall....Bobo Newsom won't have to fight any harder with the United States army than he would have had with the Athletics and he'll have a much better chance to win....The reinforced Toronto Air Force squad invaded Hamilton last night and held the powerful Majors to a 1-1 tie....There was no scoring in the first two periods, Hamilton finally scored in the third session, and Fliers evened it up three minutes afterward....Overtime failed to break the deadlock.

TRY THIS ONE SOMETIME — Here is "Corky" Kellam, the human cork who is giving an exhibition of trick and comedy swimming in the Y.M.C.A. pool tonight. Kellam entertained a big crowd of soldiers from the Military Training Centre last night. This is one of his clever balancing feats.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Pre-game favorite for the $5,000 Miami Open Golf Tournament, first on the schedule for the Florida winter season, is Sammy Byrd of Detroit, former Major League baseball player, despite the fact he has never come closer to winning the $1,000 first prize in three tries than a $25 award for also-ran. H. H. Arnold, chairman of the tournament committee, yesterday announced more than 100 entries but added most of the big-name players had been eliminated because of the war, and transportation hindrances. This situation perhaps had much to do with picking on Byrd for the one-grand award.

Tre former baseballer was given a slight edge over Craig Wood, the U.S. open champion from Mamoroneck, N.Y., and Robert Hamilton, putting specialist from Evansville, Ind.

First nomination for the 1944 Kentucky Derby was received yesterday from far-off Honolulu in the entry of Kope Kona by Miss Ruth W. Collins. With the required papers came word that the horse, with four other thoroughbreds, had already left Hawaii and were scheduled to arrive at Churchill Downs about Jan. 1. Entries do not close until February.

Mauriello Wins

Tami Mauriello, New York's young contender for the duration heavyweight title, stopped Mike Alfano of Newark in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round fight last night in the feature match of the first St. Louis boxing show since last February.

Alfano, hopelessly beaten, was saved further punishment by Referee Harry Cook who stopped the uneven bout. It was the third meeting of the two. Mauriello twice before won decisions over Alfano.

The Nanaimo army team in the Pacific Coast Senior Hockey League has a new coach in Gnr. Nick Metz, formerly of the Toronto Maple Leafs in the N.H.L. Bill Carse, former coach, with three other players, has been transferred from Nanaimo for military duties.

Graham (Tiny) Teasdale, defenceman of the Buffalo Bisons in the days when Frank Nighbor was coach, has been appointed mentor of the Curtiss-Wright team in the Frontier Senior Hockey League, it was announced last night at Fort Erie.

Warwick Released

New York Rangers, cellar occupants of the N.H.L., yesterday announced the release of Bill Warwick to their farm club, New York Rovers of the Eastern United States Hockey League.

Rookies Scarce

FORT ERIE—(CP)—Manager Joe McCarthy of the world-champion New York Yankees told the Erie Downs Golf and County Club at a dinner last night the major league ball clubs could have a meagre crop of rookies in the 1944 season.

4 Unbeaten

GUELPH — (CP) — The termination of the third round last night of the Wellington County annual bonspiel saw four rinks still unbeaten, these being J. Howard, A. O. Hutchinson and W. H. Conlin, all of Fergus, and William Hamilton of Guelph.

Suspend Novikoff

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Outfielder Lou Novikoff of the Chicago Cubs was suspended ysterday by Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis for alleged failure to fill out a questionnaire concerning his winter baseball playing in Southern California. Novikoff gained prominence last spring as a holdout from the Cubs.

Normie Smith Returns To Aid Wings

By The Canadian Press

Normie Smith's National Hockey League comeback with Detroit Red Wings recalls the bizarre sequence of events which led to his eclipse as a player in 1938.

In November of that year, the 35-year-old Toronto-born goalie missed a train from New York to Montreal. The incident followed a four-game losing streak for Detroit. Manager Jack Adams acted swiftly.

Imposing a $150 fine and indefinite suspension on Smith, he recalled Harvey Teno from Pittsburgh and engineered an impromptu deal which sent Smith (and a reported $15,000) to Boston Bruins for Tiny Thompson. Smith retaliated by announcing his retirement and did not resume friendly relations with Adams for three years.

Tonight, after five years, Smith returns to the nets against Toronto Maple Leafs at Toronto in Thursday's only N.H.L. game. His return presumably marks an effort by Adams to check another losing streak by his champions—one which has left Detroit floundering five points behind Toronto and Chicago Black Hawks, joint tenants of third place.

Normie replaces Jimmy Franks, who was Smith's pupil for a time when he appeared at the Detroit training camp in 1936 for a tryout.

Leafs probably will be without Ted (Teeter) Kennedy, promising rookie forward, who suffered a groin injury last week.

Rink Caretakers Given Night Off

Caretakers of the city rinks will be given one night a week off duty and double time if they work on Christmas Day by the decision of the committee of the whole council Wednesday afternoon.

Three of these employees attended the meeting, urging that an arrangement be made by which they could have at least one night at home during the week. Alderman Curtis, chairman of the rinks and parks committee, was authorized to engage an extra man who will take charge of a different rink each night in the week.

"That provides for the six rinks we operate," Alderman Curtis said, "but it leaves out the proposed rink we have been talking about for the north end of the city."

Caretakers on their respective nights off will be required to clean the rinks at five o'clock in the evening and leave them ready for the night supply man. The rinks close a 9:30 o'clock at night because the Hydro-Electric Commission ordered lights out by ten.

Sailors Tie

BALTIMORE—(AP)—The Curtis Bay Coast Guard Cutters ice hockey team and the H.M.C.S. York team of Toronto Navy fought to an overtime 2-2 tie last night. All the counters were registered in the second period with the Canadians forced to come from behind a 2-0 deficit to knot the count.

Kingston Army Loses To St. Catharines

By The Canadian Press.

Toronto R.C.A.F. climbed a one-point rung out of the Senior O.H.A. cellar by virtue of a 1-1 overtime deadlock last night with the league-leading majors at Hamilton while in the other game of the evening St. Catharines turned back Frontenac Army in Kingston with an eye-opening 5-1 victory to consolidate third place only two points below the Soldiers.

At Hamilton, Airmen and Majors battled two periods without a score and it was not until 8:22 of the third stanza that Davy, in a combined sweep with Shillington and Robertson, scored the counter for Hamilton. Three minutes later Lloyd Gronsdal of Air Force beat Goalie Art Childs with a 30-foot drive to register the tieing point. They struggled through full overtime to ring up the first draw of the senior campaign.

Saints and Frontenacs were on even terms at the end of the second chapter and the visitors were two goals to the good until the last three minutes of the tilt when Foster registered his second Kingston tally of the night and Backor came back with No. 5 for St. Catharines to put the game on ice, although Foster flashed his third into the Saints' cage with seconds left to play. Fritz and Goble scored one each and Mason turned in a two-goal performance for the winners. Foster's three and Giesbrecht's one counter made up Kingston's total.

The lineups:

Toronto R.C.A.F. — Goal, Eley; defence, Dickens, Laurent; centre, Poile; wings, Wilson, O'Flaherty; alternates, Heron, Collings, Tustin, Gronsdal, Wycherley, Burns.

Hamilton — Goal, Childs; defence, Dinning, Sherer; centre, Runions; wings, Conick, Brady; alternates, Sherry, Shillington, Robertson, Miocinovich, Manorek, and Davy.

Officials—Dinty Moore and Beef McKay.

Betting Record Set At Florida

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 16 — (AP).— A sports-hungry throng of 9,517 perons gleaned enough gasoline from A-rationed fuel tanks to reach Tropical Park for the opening day of Florida's winter racing season yesterday and bet an average of $48 to establish a new first day pari-mutuel record.

The golden flow through the wickets totalled $442,830, topping the old 1940 record by $166,752. It was nearly twice the $232,251 bet on inaugural day last year. Attendance broke no records, but approached the first day mark of 10,481 established in 1941 and far exceeded the 5,111 of last year.

A very few hundred spectators used buses to reach the nearest spot—two miles distant—and then thumbed rides the rest of the way to the race track. Few walked.

One hundred days of racing, Florida's longest season by four days, are under way and track officials are optimistic. After yesterday's showing, Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the Gables Racing Association, declared he had no fears.

Bears Flatten Hornets 3 to 0

By The Canadian Press

Hershey Bears stamped out Pittsburgh Hornets 3-0 last night to gain their fourth shutout of the season, and strengthen their lead atop the American Hockey League by three points. Cleveland Barons—leaders of the western section—are in second place with 24 points.

It was Bears' 11 straight game on home ice this season without defeat. Switching from centre ice to right wing, Fred Hergert started the scoring at 17:00 in the first period when Pittsburgh's defenceman Howard Mackie was in the box.

At 19:31 in the second Bears scored again on a flip shot by Bill Hodgins. About halfway through the final round Defenceman Ross Knowles accounted for the third and final goal with Billie Moe and Gaston Gauthier getting assists in the three-man break.

Norma Lawrie and Lillian Courage present dances that depict the rhythm of motion in a delightful manner which will thrill lovers of dancing.

CHORUS OF MASSEY-HARRIS MUSICAL VARIETY SHOW

NOTE— Dancing as usual to the Melody Men 11 to 1 p.m.

New Stage Specially Built at Brock
For this show the Kinsmen Club have had constructed a special stage with curtains, footlights and flood lights. It will be suitably high so that all will be able to see clearly.

Outstanding Music – Dancing – Singing
"Combines of 1944" is a pleasing show. The sparkling fast moving action plus comedy and treats for the music lovers has made it a hit wherever it has been shown. They have given over 100 performances and have played to 140,000 people since October 1942 and everywhere it has been a huge success. Betty Robertson, the versatile mistress of ceremonies plays the piano accordion. June Barrett has a voice that sings its way right into your hearts. Beth Watson very capably provides instrumental music on the bagpipes, drum and saxaphones and Dorothy Moncrief, a wizard on the piano, plays accompaniments and specialty numbers. Acrobatic and novelty dances which are excellent and real thrillers are presented by Meta and St. John. The chorus of nine vivacious girls tops off the whole show with precision dance routines.

PAT McINTOSH
Pat. McIntosh, comedian and capable manager of the show has a good selection of songs and stories that bring out those deep down laughs.

SOLDIER ILL.

Mrs. Sedgwick, Maniece Avenue, received word from her husband, Sgt. W. R. (Robbie) Sedgwick that he is ill in a Canadian Military Hospital in England. He enlisted with the S.D. and G. Highlanders then transferred to the Army Service Corps, as a sergeant cook. His condition is not serious.

POSTPONE MEETING.

The meeting of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association scheduled for Friday evening has been postponed until January 14. Apparently the constitution now in existence sets forth that the annual meeting of the organization must be held in January, hence the reason for the change.

AIRGRAPH GETS THROUGH.

The perseverance and efficiency of the Postal Department was well demonstrated when an airgraph letter sent from England to Miss Myrtle Sargent of 488 Sherbrooke Street arrived safely in her hands Wednesday, although it carried only the address, "Sherbrooke Street, Ontario, Canada." The letter, Miss Sargent said, was postmarked November 17.

WOMEN CHARGED

Mona Jacobs pleaded guilty in police court this morning to having been drunk and also to causing wilful damage to the plumbing in the women's cell at the police station. She was fined $10 and $1 costs on the first charge and assessed $4 on the second. Edith Jacobs, her sister was remanded until tomorrow on similar charges. The women were arrested after a disturbance in a restaurant.

BLOOD DONORS INCREASE.

The largest number of blood donors in recent weeks, an even 100, made contributions at the clinic on Wednesday morning. Though the C.G.E. accounted for 41 donations through its employees, donations from all points in the city and outside were scaled up generally and the result was one of the busiest Clinics in the record of the local Red Cross branch. Points outside the city represented were Millbrook, Young's Point, Lakefield, Lily Lake, and Keene.

MEET IN ITALY

A appreciation of the excellent work of the Canadian Legion War Services as one of the auxiliary aids to the men in the Canadian Army is gratefully mentioned by Private Max Glover in a letter from Italy which his father received this week. The accommodation supplied by the Canadian Legion was a great help to the men, and the only things they seemed to lack was reading material such as magazines. Private Glover said he had recently met Lieut. Don Weese who enlisted from the Examiner's advertising department to go overseas.

BANK CLEARINGS

Total clearings for the past week amounted to $1,123,981, one of the largest weeks on record in the history of the Peterborough Clearing House.

REACHES ENGLAND

L. Cpl. Cliff Bell has cabled his mother, Mrs. C. C. Bell, Coldwater, of his safe arrival overseas. He is with a group of instrument mechanics with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. A brother, Pte. S. R. Bell, is in England, while a second brother, Sgt. B. M. Bell, is with an anti-aircraft unit in Italy.

ANOTHER VOICE.

In industry and in civic departments, one problem invariably begets new ones, and this appears to be the case in the recent appeal of rink caretakers for some time off. Along the main street to-day, one man was heard to remark: "Why worry about the rink caretakers; the three men working at the sewage disposal plant haven't had a day off for 18 years." and so it goes. This off the record comment might well indicate a new demand on the city heads.

CAPTAIN FOR A DAY — AB. Anthony Bianco, son of Mr. Nicholas Bianco, 284 Parkhill Road, last Christmas was made captain of H.M.C.S. Restigouche for the day. PTE. NELLIE PARK

FAMILY SERVING OVERSEAS — Two sons and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Park of Fraserville are serving in the Canadian Army Overseas. Pte. Nellie Park, who is with the C.W.A.C., and is in the Records Office, London, England. Pte. James Park, a former employee of W. R. Turner's, who enlisted in the Prince of Wales Rangers, is now overseas, and the third member of the family, Tpr. Albert Park, is with a tank unit in Italy. He was formerly at home on the farm. Mr. Park, who has been an employee of the Peterborough Utilities for 31 years, served for four years in the last war with the 93rd Battalion.

Water Pumpage Drops For Month

November pumpage at the filtration plant was 91,500,000 gallons as compared with 96,895,000 gallons in November last year, R. L. Dobbin, manager, reported to the Utilities Commission Wednesday afternoon.

Seven water services were laid to new houses and three relaid during the month, and twenty-three fire hydrants were repaired as a result of a special survey made during October.

A short length of six-inch main was laid on Townsend street, off George street, and a new hydrant was set on the east side of the creek at the request of the city council.

The gas department's production was 12 per cent higher than in November a year ago, and total sale was 5,106,600 cu. ft. as compared with 4,111,300 cu. ft. in November last year. Total gas sale for the year to the end of last month was 45,867,200 cu. ft., as against 41,690,000 cu. ft. for eleven months in 1942.

In the electric department the November peak was 11,8000 h.p. as compared with 11,700 h.p. in November last year. Although the peak load was about the same as last year, the kilowatt-hours delivered from the Aylmer street substation were 11½ per cent more than in November last year.

Domestic lighting was up 10.9%; commercial power 1.7% and commercial lighting 8.4%.

Christmas Gift

The Commission decided to give each of its employees a five dollar War Savings Certificate at Christmas; duplicating its appreciative remembrance of a year ago.

Mr. Dobbin reported briefly that he had been compiling a list of post-war projects. Water mains in the suburbs which may be annexed by the city, depending on the decision of the Ontario Municipal Board, which is meeting here this afternoon, are represented by an estimated outlay of $23,000.

Reeve C. Calver Made Inspector Of Hotels

Reeve Charles Calver of Campbellford, long active in the affairs of the Conservative party in Northumberland county, has been appointed inspector of hotels in the Central Ontario district, including Peterborough and adjoining counties. This area has been under the supervision of C. H. Curtis of Warkworth. In fact one Northumberland man according to the information, follows another in this position. Mr. Curtis was appointed at the beginning of the Hepburn regime.

An appointment in Peterborough, it is said, is the substitution of Albert Juby for Hugh Davis in the position of automobile license examiner for the Ontario government. Mr. Davis succeeded the late Will Duffus.

Mr. Juby has for years been on the sales staff of Hood and Cummings. The main duty of this position is the examining of applicants for licenses to drive automobiles.

Welfare Department Expects Some Surplus

The city's welfare department began November with $3,730.74 balance from its appropriation of $13,550 for the year, disclosing the likelihood of a surplus at the end of the year. The number of persons receiving help was 78 last month—12 heads of families, their 37 dependents, 5 single men and 24 single women.

Total expenditure for eleven months was $14,931.63, but the government contributed $4,550.73 rebate and the Ontario Medical Association $561.64, amounting to $5,112.37; leaving $9,819.26 to be charged to the city treasury.

Expenditure last month was $753 as against $1,116.10 for the same month last year. Per capita welfare was $9.66, and in November last year $9.79.

Draft Labor Act

TORONTO, Dec. 16—(CP)—A trade union act for Ontario designed to replace the existing collective bargaining act has been drafted by the labor committee appointed at a recent C.C.F. caucus and will be presented at the next session of the Ontario Legislature, Fred W. Dowling, chairman of the Ontario C.C.F. Trade Union Committee, said last night in a statement.

Christmas Cheer Fund Gets $80 From C.G.E. Maintenance Group

The story of that first Christmas nearly two thousand years ago would certainly be incomplete without that portion of it relating to the star which led the Wise Men on their way, which they followed in spite of difficulties until it brought them to the object of their search and offered their gifts to the new-born King.

To follow an object for good has often since that time been symbolized by a star, and it can be said that the maintenance department at the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., with H. H. Mays as foreman, has certainly pursued the star of good on behalf of the sufferers from air raids over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund with a great deal of success.

In this, the work of two members of the group in the persons of Miss Mabel Dulmage and Lewis Simpson come very much to the fore, for they have worked continuously as leaders and the workers in this group have responded in a noble way to their lead.

Give $257.88 In One Year

There are between fifty and sixty workers in this group, and counting the $80.29 listed today, this makes a total of $257.88 that they have given since the beginning of this year, which is very close to $5 per person, a record which few if any in a similar way can equal or surpass.

For a long time they have had a Two-Bits Club, membership to which each week entails the giving of 25 cents, and just how well this was supported by the group as a whole is seen in the fact that almost $50 of this contribution was in quarters.

From the whole of the two plants C.G.E. and Genelco Ltd. $5,916.02 has now been given to the fund, of which $1,474.12 has been received this year, giving some idea of the part that this one group has played in this humanitarian work on behalf of the war effort during the current year.

$2,245 Needed In One Week

With just about one week to go, the sum of $2,245 is needed to duplicate last year's gifts which means that a much accelerated pace of giving will be necessary if the fund is to reach that objective and equal the good it was able to accomplish at this time last year.

There are only two personal gifts in today's list, one of which comes from a lady who has given under the name of "Somerset," a county in England on many occasions since the fund began operations, and the other "In memory of William Coleman" whose personality is thus kept alive in doing some good for others, and specially the younger folk which in itself seems most appropriate since when he walked this way he took a praticular interest in young boys and gave much time to them as a master in the Boy Scouts.

The other item listed under the name of Boorman's Beverages was brought in to go towards the Christmas Cheer Fund, and comes as a result of a box being placed in the establishment for this specific purpose as a reminder that a copper or two for a good cause would not be out of the way. Knowing the need for an extra push at this time, the box was emptied to realize $3.40.

ARRIVES OVERSEAS — Pte. John W. Sage of the R.C.O.C., arrived in England on December 2, on the first anniversary of the birthday of his baby son, Kenneth, according to information received by his wife. Pte. Sage is a son of Mrs. Elizabeth E. Sage, 515 Albert Street, was employed at the Canadian General Electric Company, but for several years prior to his enlistment he was with the John Inglis Company, Toronto.

City Credit Balances Indicate Good Showing

Neither the county nor city treasuries can be reflected to the ratepayers as their municipal councils terminate the year of administration. Indications at the city hall and on the county's hill pointed to satisfactory credit balances when the accounting for 1943 operations is completed, but only an incomplete statement could be issued even at mid-December. Outstanding bills and receipts which are likely to extend into the new year would have an effect on the totals and also the probable surpluses, but treasurers generally are reluctant to issue information which does not afford an exact picture of the municipality's standing.

The county's financial review will probably not be available until the council of 1944 meets in January, and City Treasurer Shaver cannot supply anything definite either for the final session of the year next Monday night or for the nominations meeting on Thursday the 23rd. However, it was reported at the city hall Tuesday that Mayor Hamilton is preparing a general statement for the year which will be published as a summary of the council's work and supervision this year, and of the financial position as 1943 approaches its end.

Women Musicians To Play In Band

For the first time Peterborough will see girls and young women playing brass instruments in a band when musicians of the fair sex join forces with the Boys' Band at a concert to be held in the Collegiate Auditorium on Sunday evening at 8.30. The concert will be featured by Peterborough's leading lady saxophonist, and the girls will play along with the boys in a program of selections of overtures, marches, waltzes, hymns and Christmas carols.

The loss of so many musicians trained by Bandmaster Henry J. Parnell to the armed forces and to local and out-of-town war work has been the stimulus responsible for this first appearance of girl players, an effort undertaken to augment the depleted ranks of the Boys' Bands. The girls will play such instruments as the cornet, trumpet, alto horn, saxophone, trombone, and large basses or tubas. Some of them attend the local high school, while others are working in the Westclox plant, Kresge's, Canadian Woollens, De Laval and J. J. Turner's.

Their training has been in the hands of Sergeant Parnell, a members of the Canadian Bandmasters' Association, and it is hoped that interest shown in this concert may develop into an opportunity for more and more local girls to take up this interesting, educational hobby when instruments and music and a place to rehearse can be obtained. Rev. Patterson of the Omemee United Church will preside as chairman at the concert Sunday.

Obituary

MISS MARY JANE GRIFFITH

Miss Mary Jane Griffith, 183 Antrim street, died on Wednesday after a lingering illness. A life-time resident of Peterborough, she was born in the city, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Griffith. She was a member of St. John's Anglican Church.

The funeral will be held on Friday at 2 p.m. from the A. Comstock Funeral Home, 305 Water street, with service conducted by Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Church. Interment will be made in Little Lake cemetery.

Co-Op Members To Exceed 1,000

Co-Operative Services expect to show a membership of 1,050 at the end of the year, as compared with 511 when the directors decided to undertake a campaign to increase their numbers.

"Tuesday night we had 867 paid up members," R. M. Peirson, general manager, informed the Examiner today. "The response of farmers of the district in indicated by a section of Manvers township in Durham county. There were seventy-eight names of prospects on one list. These were farmers who were doing business with us, but they had not taken out membership. The result of that canvas was: 66 men signed up, 5 were away from home at the time, and only two were unwilling to become members. Before that we had seventy in Manvers. That is a sample of how this membership drive is going."

The objective was 1,000, but the campaign is expected to exceed that mark by at least 50 new members. Even the new members who join before the end of the year will be permitted to participate in the business dividend which has been earned on the year's operations. Farmers who neglected to interest themselves in membership actually contributed to the earnings, and they are now being offered an opportunity of obtaining a share of the profit.

Soldier Served In Two Wars Is Laid To Rest

A military funeral was held at the Belleghem Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon for the late Lance-Corporal Adam Smith, veteran of two wars, who died on Saturday at the Kingston General Hospital, in his 55th year. The funeral was largely attended, and the service was in charge of the local Military Training Centre, whose padre, Rev. Capt. S. P. Profitt, officiated. Six soldiers from the Centre acted as bearers and there were 12 in the military escort.

The late Lce.-Corpl. Smith saw service with the 20th Battalion in the First World War, also the 59th Battalion, and in the present conflict served overseas three years with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, coming back to Canada in May. At the time of his death he was still on active service.

A resident of Peterborough for 30 years, he leaves to mourn his loss his widow, the former Annie Stewart, three sons and three daughters. Cpl. Alexander Smith is in England and Lieut. James Smith is stationed at Brockville. Mrs. James Brown lives in Toronto, while Clifford, Helen and Catharine are at home.

Interment was made in Little Lake Cemetery.

Exhibition Given In YMCA Pool

Troops of the Military Training Centre were guests of the Y.M.C.A. last night when Corky Kellam, the human cork formerly featured at the Los Angeles and New York world fairs and with the Billy Rose show gave one of the most interesting exhibitions of trick and comedy swimming ever seen here.

Kellam who weighs over 300 pounds is as much at home in the water as a seal and he performed a series of tricks that amazed his audience. In one of them he balanced six glasses and a bottle while floating around the pool and in another he ate a banana under the water. Corky wound up with a spectacular stunt in which he was bound to a chair, blind-folded and tossed into the pool, making his escape in fifteen seconds.

The human cork also battled four Peterborough swimmers, Stan McBride, Bill Lech, Jim Shields and Ernest Lee.

A fine exhibition of swimming was given by three Y.W.C.A. girls, Hazel Dunford, Ethel Hopkins and Shirley Moldaver. Bill Lech, Canadian junior breast stroke champion demonstrated his specialty and Stan McBride put on an exhibition of crawl stroke swimming.

Kellam gave a matinee yesterday for the public school children and stages another today for Collegiate pupils. He winds up his Peterborough visit with a performance for the public at 8 o'clock tonight.

New Wage Control Law Denounced As Unfair

Commenting on the new wage control order of the federal government, C. S. Jackson, president of the United Electrical Workers, said that the insinuation into the bill of the provisions that wage increases can only be justified where they do not bring about any increases in the cost of production gives the lie to the reference of inequalities which states to the employer that he is under no obligation to pay decent wages or in any way to share the fruits of his production and superprofits with his employees and the nation. Mr. Jackson said labor was demanding an evening up of the floor under wages, but the government's answer was to fix a ceiling on production costs, leaving superprofits untouched.

Man Is Found Lying On Street

Found flying on the sidewalk at George and Rink streets shortly after midnight last night, an unknown man who states that he cannot recall his name but that his home is in Simcoe, Ont., is in St. Joseph's Hospital.

The stranger told police a story that some friends of his in Simcoe had invited him to go for a drive but that on reaching Peterborough they had thrown him out of the car and that his wallet and money were gone. He said that he had worked for the C.G.E. in Simcoe but inquiry disclosed the fact that the Canadian General has no branch in that town.

The man was discovered by Ed. Bartley, 167 Morrow street, Lance Corp. Ernest Leader of the Military Training Centre and Frank McCarthy, 212 Perry street who notified the police.

Sergt. John Thompson and Constable Reg. McMillan who investigated had the man taken to the office of Dr. Kelly and later he was removed to hospital.

New Director For Artillery

OTTAWA, Dec. 16.—(CP). — Appointment of Col. W. E. van Steenburgh, 43, as director of artillery at defence headquarters was announced today. He succeeds Col. S. E. E. Norres, who has left to take up another appointment.

The new director was born at Havelock, where he received his early education He earned his bachelor of arts degree at St. Louis, Mo., and later returned to Canada to attend Queen's and the University of Toronto for M.A. and Ph.D. degrees; then back to the United States as a mining engineer, specializing in construction.

In 1928 Col. van Steenburgh came back to Canada to enter the science services of the Department of Agriculture and worked at Belleville, Ont., and Harrow, Ont.

Earlier in this war he was on the staff of the 5th Armored Division at Camp Borden, Ont.; commanded the 7th Light Anti-Aircraft Regiment; and commanded an artillery training centre at Petawawa, Ont.

William Hooton Head Of Durham Plowmen

William Hooton of Ida was elected president of the Durham Plowmen's Association at its recent meeting in Millbrook. He succeeded Howard Henry of Campbellcroft. The Cavan directors are L. H. Winslow of Millbrook, R. McCamus of Ida and L. W. Larmer of Fraserville; and for South Monaghan: Gerald Anderson and Alan Dawson of Bailleboro. The match next year will be in South Monaghan or Cartwright. The association has a satisfactory balance. They were assisted this year by some of the apple growers of the county who contributed barrels of apples for prizes.

Boundary Line Dispute Features Case

The legal battle of just where the eastern boundary of the Peterborough County Game Preserve is was resumed before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning when the hearing of a case in which Pte. Max Post was charged with carrying a rifle in the preserve was continued.

Similar charges against three other hunters as the result of a visit to Oak Lake by Fish and Game Overseers Norman Sitwell and Stan. Windsor during the deer-hunting season are also to be heard.

Much of the crown evidence was heard at a previous session and the case had been adjourned until today to allow the prosecution to produce a copy of the order-in-council setting forth the preserve and also a map setting forth the boundaries.

Overseer Sitwell produced the order-in-council this morning and a map he said he had obtained from the Department of Lands and Forests.

W. J. Arthur Fair, defence counsel, called John W. Pierce, Ontario land surveyor, as his first witness, and the case went back as far as 1823 during Mr. Pierce's evidence. The surveyor stated that Methuen township had originally been surveyed in that year but he added that the original survey had been found to be very inaccurate.

No Survey Line

Mr. Pierce testified that some years ago he had surveyed the game preserve boundary north from Oak Lake but stated that there was no survey line south of that lake. The line, he said, just missed the big island in Oak Lake.

Reeve Isaac Anderson of Methuen township said that the line marking the preserve on the east was very indefinite. "A stranger coming in from the east or south could easily get into the game preserve without knowing it" said the Methuen reeve.

James A. Sykes, Percy township assessor, who said he had a summer cottage on Oak Lake swore that south of the lake there was nothing to indicate the boundary of the preserve. There was a sign at the north, he said, but the survey line there had been practically filled in again.

Arnold Whitney told Mr. Fair that he had seen a Game Preserve sign west of the west tip of Oak Lake and that there was a road slashed through there that he had always thought was the boundary.

Fred Marshall, former fish and game overseer, called by the defence, said that he had advocated that the boundary should be slashed out along the south but that it had not been done.

To Overseer Sitwell who conducted the prosecution he said that in his opinion any one who had lived for a long time near the preserve would know where the boundary was.

The case is proceeding.

America First, McCormick Plan Wants Air Routes Across World

DETROIT, Dec. 16.—(AP).—Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, called yesterday for a "realistic and patriotic" foreign policy, proposed a limitation of the Presidential term and stated his creed of Americanism.

He quoted Lincoln in telling the Detroit Athletic Club in a prepared address that "this country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it."

"I will say this much of the post-war world," McCormick said, "we should insist on retaining such of the islands as we have saved from, re-taken or taken from the Japanese as will secure our future safety from attack; we should retain aair bases wherever we have built them; and we should secure now, by treaty, the right to fly directly everywhere we want to go. We should make such other arrangements as will provide for our security. After that is taken care of, we may do what we can for the general welfare of the world.

"As one means to that end, I think all European governments should be required to liquidate their holdings in this hemisphere."

McCormick asserted that the Communists attempted a revolution in the United States in 1919 and that the general staff feared a British invasion by way of Canada during tension over naval building plans.

"The Communists incited a strike at Gary, Ind., and planned to disrupt the railroad centre of the country by violence in order to break down our economic life and open the country to revolution, said McCormick. "Gen. Leonard Wood, by tact and firmness, suppressed the attempt without bloodshed.

"You may have forgotten the tremendous tension that arose between Great Britain and this country over our naval building plans before the treaty limiting our navy was adopted. Both countries regret the treaty now, but Great Britain's insistence forced it.

"At that time the tension was so great that our general staff feared an army of 300,000 regulars, then in England, would be landed in Canada and marched against this country, which had completely demobilized.

"The idea appears fantastic, but it did not appear fantastic to our general staff at that time. I know, because I worked with the general staff on plans of defence—for the defence of Detroit."

FOR HEALTH AND BEAUTY

ENO IS THE ANSWER

It is more important than ever, during these busy war-work days, to maintain your health, beauty and sparkling vitality so much admired by all men. Start at once, your health and beauty treatments the right way—from within—take pleasant-tasting Eno's 'Fruit Salt every morning before breakfast.

Eno helps keep the inner system free of the poisonous wastes and excess gastric acid that rob you of energy and vitality, that often cause headaches, a poor complexion and a listless, out-of-sorts feeling. Eno is gentle but effective, and free of harsh bitter salts.

Disastrous Fire Hits Shelburne

SHELBURNE, N.S., Dec. 16 (AP)—An oil pipeline to the waterfront hampered firefighters several hours and added fuel to a fire that destroyed a jetty warehouse and part of the jetty early this morning at the Royal Canadian navy base here. No estimate of the damage was immediately available.

Breaking out shortly before midnight, the fire was not brought under control until 3.30 a.m., and several lines of hose were still being played on the smouldering blaze after daybreak.

Five naval vessels tied to the jetty when the fire broke out escaped damage, when their hawsers were cut.

Chief of Police R. Mitchell said early today that cause of the fire was still unknown. Naval authorities would give no details of the blaze other than to state no one had been injured.

THE LONG AND THE SHORT OF IT—Size means nothing when the boys of the Royal Canadian Air Force bomber group in Britain get together to discuss bombing strategy. Here, long-legged Pilot Officer Walter F. Winning of New Glasgow, N.S., and Flight Lieut. Leslie McLeod, D.F.C., Canadian-trained Australian, enjoy a joke, probably at Hitler's expense. Winning, 22, stands six feet four and a half inches in his socks. He's known as the "Hanover Kid" from his frequent visits to the German city with the Bluenose squadron. McLeod, gunnery leader of the Iroquois squadron, is one of the few "Aussies" in the Canadian group and has become almost one hundred per cent. Canadian by adoption. Trained at Winnipeg and Mossbank, he flies in Canadian Halifax bombers. (R.C.A.F. Photo)

Teacher Chloroforms And Plucks Turkey Nude Fowl Limps From Ice Box And Escapes

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 16 — Reporters and photographers of the Augusta Herald staff were on a turkey hunt to-day.

They were looking for bird without any feathers and wearing a droopy look.

The turkey, according to a school teacher .was purchased for Thanksgiving last month by another school teacher. Having no men in the family, the latter hit upon the idea of chloroforming, instead of beheading the bird. She then dry-picked the turkey and put it in the refrigerator.

The following day, the story goes, she opened the refrigerator and the nude turkey staggered out.

School Teacher No. 1 stoutly avers that School Teacher No. 2 was overcome with remorse and fixed a sweater for the de-feathered bird.

The Herald wants to find out if the turkey outlives Christmas, too.

Influenza Races Across States

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 — (AP).—More than 1,000,000 sufferers of respiratory ailments were reported throughout the United States today and it appeared that the figure might rise as health authorities generally agreed that colder weather would not abate the spreak of illnesses.

Absenteeism from schools, offices and war plants continued to mount, but deaths were few.

Health authorities said the illnesses were mild and usually lasted only about five days. They disagreed, however, on the type of the infection. Various officials described it as grippe, influenza, "cat fever" and common head cold.

(In Canada a 'flu epidemic that had been prevalent from Vancouver to Quebec has been reported on the wane, although health authorities report it has not completely passed.)

Health authorities here stressed that the situation in the United States could not be compared with the influenza epidemic of 1918.

Montpelier, Vt., reported 40 per cent of its school children ill.

In Philadelphia, with more than 200,000 persons stricken, City Health Director Hubley R. Owen called a meeting of leading diagnosticians and bacteriologists to determine the nature of the infection. He contended it was "virus influenza."

The Michigan Health Department estimated 15 to 20 per cent of the populace was stricken. Iowa had 4,337 cases reported in the past 10 days.

Coe Hill Flier Said Missing

COE HILL, Dec. 16 — (ENS).—After surviving four years on the Arctic Patrol with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, FO. Edward Earle Muffitt, 34, of the R.C.A.F., whose wife lives in Coe Hill, is reported missing on active service after air operations on November 2. He is the first Coe Hill Air Force casualty.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Muffitt, Coe Hill, and before enlisting in January of 1941, he was with the R.C.M.P. in the Arctic, and acted as a guard for Lord Bessborough and for the King and Queen when they visited Canada.

This airman enlisted as a pilot and trained at Moncton, Victoriaville, Rivers, Man., and St. Hubert. FO. Muffitt went overseas in November of 1942, and received his promotion to flying officer after he arrived there. He had been piloting a bomber and was in charge of a crew of eight men.

Mormon Family Excommunicated

BOUNTIFUL, Utah, Dec. 16 — (AP).—Latter Day Saints (Mormon) church authorties have disclosed the ex-communication of a middle-aged husband of two wives, together with the first wife and his son, who upheld him in the practice of bigamy.

The action, ex-communicating Mr. and Mrs. John Virgil Zenz and their 17 year old son, Frank, was taken Monday night by a Bishop's court, George Miles, member of the South Davis High Council, said.

The three were convicted in U.S. District court last month of Mann Act violation.

Zenz was sentenced to five years in Federal prison. Mrs. Zenz was sentenced to two years in Federal prson and the younger Zenz was released upon promise to enter military service.

IS THAT PALE YOUNG GIRL YOUR DAUGHTER?

Parents should not ignore the depressed moods, the listless, tired air, the pallor, headaches, fickle appetite—the crying spells—so many daughters exhibit during those years when they are passing into womanhood.

If her health at this stage is not maintained by a sufficiency of good rich blood, all kinds of weaknesses may arise to make her later life unhappy.

So should you notice any of these disturbing signs in your daughter, lose no time. Get some Dr. Williams Pink Pills at your druggist. They are wonderfully effective in helping to build up iron-impoverished blood and have helped to transform thousands and thousands of sickly, pale daughters suffering from simple anemia into happy active girls full of vitality and high spirits, hungry for meals, glad to help with the housework, attractive to others. Right now simple anemia may be undermining the strength and resistance your daughter needs so badly. Don't wait — get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

Germans Want Children; Forget Marriage

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 —(AP). — A Nazi organization is spurring German soldiers in Norway to sire "the most children possible with Norwegian women, irrespective of marriage," the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter has reported, the United States Office of War Information said last night.

The paper said the workings of the "Spring of Life Association" were outlined in a book, "For Teutonic Sword and Cradle" by Gen. Wilhelm Redless, Gestapo chief in Norway, of which only 20 copies were printed.

The plan was explained in the book—2,610 "cases" were said to have been handled up to January 1, 1943—and quoted by the newspaper.

The association stands all the maternity expenses "with money printed by and requisitioned from the Bank of Norway," cares for mothers in luxurious homes taken from rich Norwegians and decides "whether the father will be allowed to legitimize the child by marriage."

The mother has no right to the child, even if the father has a wife in Germany. In such cases, the problem often is solved through the soldier's adopting the child into his own family.

Of the 2,610 instances mentioned, German paternity was recognized in 1,469, while only 139 Germans married the Norwegian mothers.

Goebbels Admits Trials Severe

LONDON, Dec. 16 (CP). — The Berlin radio said today that Joseph Goebbels told his propaganda chiefs yesterday "it cannot be disputed that both the front and homeland were disposed to extremely harsh trials in the course of this year."

Acknowledging German sensitivity to the Allied nerve war, Goebbels issued new directives for 1944, and declared:

"While the heroically-fighting German soldiers are making void all enemy attempts to destroy us, the homeland proves worthy of them by putting up an admirable attitude to the brutal violence of the increased air terror and the nerve offensive connected with it."

Goebbels said the German people had suffered "wounds and scars during the past few months," but were determined to do their utmost and "are prepared for final decisions."

Goebbels indicated a shift in the Nazi propaganda policy from its recent open gloom to an attitude of defiance, referring contemptuously to the "enemy's illusions" in hoping for the early downfall of Germany.

He said the Allies, "by the shortening of the German front-lines, hoped for a military and, in analogy to November, 1918, also for a political collapse of the Germans. Now they have to put up with the failure of their plans and with Germany's unbroken military and economic power."

Civil Defence Absorbs All A.R.P. Units

OTTAWA, Dec. 16 — (CP). — Brig.-Gen. Alexxander Ross, Federal director of Civil Defence, said yesterday the Maritimes Provinces, Quebec and British Columbia have agreed to a new civil defence organization, providing a detailed division of duties in the various provinces and "a chain of command" from senior provincial officers down to wardens on patrol.

These provinces are considered by military authorities still to be in danger of enemy attack and their civil defence organizations will be retained at peak efficiency.

The plan for civil defence organization was discussed at a recent conference of provincial officers at Montreal.

Under a recent Government order A.R.P. workers in Western Quebec and Ontario were excused from further duty, as it was felt by military authorities the risk of enemy attack had reached the point of "no risk" and continuation of the organization was unwarranted.

Nearly 100,000 A.R.P. workers were affected by the ruling. Gen. Ross said, however, that A.R.P. service had been of great value in dealing with local emergencies, apart from enemy attack.

Under the proposed new set-up Western Quebec and Ontario A.R.P. workers who desire to maintain their organization will become associated with other volunteers in areas such as the Prairies.

Gen. Ross said provincial officers attending the Montreal conference agreed in principle to a suggestion that Provincial A.R.P. Committees change their names to "Civil Defence."

If A.R.P. provincial groups changed to civil defence units, there should be no scrapping of equipment and other material now available, said Gen. Ross.

Airman Honored At W.A. Supper

BONARLAW, Dec. 16 — (ENS)—Ladies of St. Mark's W.A. held a pork and bean supper and bazaar in the club rooms of St. Mark's Church which was well attended. About one hundred persons sat down to do justice to the good things provided. The gross receipts were over $70. The bean guessing contest was won by Harold Barlow. Many beautiful and useful articles were on display and were sold at reasonable prices.

A pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation to AC2 Jack S. Eastwood of R.C.A.F., Edmonton, of a wrist watch from the Springbrook War Service Club. Mr. Allan B. McComb acted as chairman for this part of the program. Mrs. Miram Mumby, president of the club read an address and Miss Freida McLaren, secretary of St. Mark's Young Peoples' Society made the presentation. Mr. Bert Bedford, ex-reeve of Rawdon township in a splendid address wished Mr. Eastwood all success and the best wishes of all in the township. J. F. Baker, Sunday School superintendent spoke of the help Mr. Eastwood had been in the Sunday School, the church choir and the Y.P.S.

Mr. Eastwood, in a few well chosen words expressed his deep appreciation and thanked all for the beautiful gift. He was given three hearty cheers and a tiger and all sang "For he's a jolly good fellow."

The last part of the evening was spent playing progressive euchre the prizes going to Mrs. George Williams and Bob Anderson.

Sunday School Group Has Yule Program

MARMORA, Dec. 16 (ENS). The regular meeting of the Careful Gleaners of St. Paul's Sunday School was held in the Parish Hall Monday evening with the president, Gwen Rundle, in the chair.

Rev. A. B. Caldwell gave a reading, "Christmas on an Algerian Hill Top," and this was followed by a talk by W. J. Cottrell "The Mind of Christ Concerning His Church."

The program committee decided to meet at the Rectory Thursday evening to draw up the program for 1944.

CANADIAN TANKS AND ARTILLERY SET BATTLE TEMPO—Forcefully depicting the weight and striking power of the Canadian Armoured Corps and the Royal Canadian Artillery in Italy, these pictures, lately received, give the answer to two reasons why Hitler's crack divisions in Italy are fighting a retreating battle. TOP, Sherman tanks, massed in line for inspection on an Italian plain, belong to the regiment that scattered German tanks in the battle for Termoli, destroying ten Hun Mark IV.'s in bitter olive-grove fighting. BOTTOM, two views of a Canadian 25-pounder in Italy show the crew in action during a barrage against enemy positions. At LEFT are Gnr. Jim O'Hearn of Newcastle, N.B.; Gnr. R. C. Gunn of St. Catharines, Ont.; and Gnr. S. S. Cline of Hudson, Man. In one Sicilian incident, these guns, hub to bub, smothered the German lines of two square miles under an artillery curtain of 30,000 shells within a few hours. (Canadian Army Overseas Photos)

Fraserville News

Mrs. A. Kidd of Peterborough spent a few days last week the guest of Mrs. W. A. Wood.

Friends are sorry to learn that little Helen Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Moore, was kicked by a horse in the forehead, the wound requiring several stitches and a few days in the hospital.

Misses Viva Clarke, Elinor Pue, and Jean Holden of Peterborough spent the week-end at their respective homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Larmer and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moncrief attended the banquet held by the Jersey Association in Peterborough.

HOUSES BLITZED

More than 2,750,000 houses in England and Wales were damaged by bombs from the start of the war up to November, 1942.

Navy Activities Will Reduce Leaves

OTTAWA, Dec. 16 — (CP). — Naval service headquarters said last night all leave which can be granted navy men at Christmas and New Year's "without affecting the war effort" is being granted.

Misunderstanding had arisen, a headquarters statement said, following announcement that the army and air force would grant five days' special leave and issue of a naval order stating no special leave would be given.

"The navy's situation is different from the other forces in that a large percentage of its personel in Canada is engaged in work having a direct connection with operations and naval operations obviously cannot be suspended for Christmas or any other holiday," said the statement.

Job Goes On

"As regards naval training establishments, the granting of the general extended leave to enable all men to reach their homes, often many days travel away, would mean suspension of training work for about two weeks. Present stage of naval expansion and of hostilities does not permit this.

"One consideration is the number of newly constructed ships, greater than ever before, which will be coming down to tidewater from inland waters as soon as ice breaks up in the spring. Fully trained crews must be ready for each of them and the manning situation is such that no time can be spared."

Men in the navy are not barred from taking all or part of their annual leave at Christmas, it was stated: Long leaves for 1,500 men have been arranged out of Halifax alone, and about 250 others will travel away from the West coast, while still others will take local leave near their stations. Long week-end leave is being given 4,000 men at the big training establishment, H.M.C.S. Cornwallis, at Deep Rock, N.S.

"Unless they are in for refit, men on ships cannot get home for Christmas any more than the men fighting in Italy can," one naval authority was quoted as stating. "The same applies to the men who are ashore servicing ships for sea. For the others, every consideration is being made compatible with our maintaining a maximum naval war effort."

House Burns Down While Firemen Strike

MONTREAL, Dec. 16 (CP) Something like this was bound to happen during yesterday's strike of firemen, police and public works department employees.

A skeleton crew of five district fire chiefs, working with light equipment, tackled a blaze in a two-storey dwelling and finally conquered it after the house was destroyed and adjoining buildings badly damaged.

One of the tenants of an adjoining building was L. A. Caron, a striking fireman.

Defends Board

HAMILTON, Dec. 16 — (CP).—Paul Martin, Liberal member of Parliament for Essex East and Parliamentary Secretary to Labor Minister Mitchell told the Hamilton Liberal Club last night an increase of 250,000 in trade union membership in Canada since the outbreak of war and awarding of more than a million dollars in wage bonuses by the National War Labor Board did not bear out charges that the Government is against labor.

Trent River News

Lieut. D. Dart of Brockville was a week-end visitor at his home.

LAC Orpeth Davis of Belleville is spending a few days' furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Davis of Mud Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pollock were in Toronto recently, where Mr. Pollock was taking treatments for his eye.

Mrs. William Thain of Trent River was hostess on Monday afternoon when friends and neighbors gathered at her home and presented her daughter Miss Helen Thain with a miscellaneous shower prior to her marriage this week. Contests and games were enjoyed by all present and good wishes were extended to the bride-elect. Lunch was served.

Dead Dog Bites

FORT ERIE, Ont., Dec. 16 — (CP).—When a dead dog bites a man, that's news. Ernest Willson, employed at Canadian National Railways' roundhouse here, sought to aid a dog struck by an automobile last week-end, picked the inert animal up in his arms, had his forearm firmly clamped by the dog in death spasm.

ROOSEVELT DECORATES GEN. CLARK—President Roosevelt leans from the jeep in which he toured Castelvetrano, Sicily, and pins the Distinguished Service Cross on the field jacket of Lieut.-Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the Allied Fifth Army.

Influenza Kills 2,000 In Berlin

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—The BBC broadcast today a Stockholm report that influenza killed 2,000 persons in Berlin last week and that deaths from the disease continue to mount throughout Germany.

The broadcast, recorded by CBS, said the Nazis closed down the statistics offices in Berlin for disclosing that working time lost through illness increased by 24 per cent in Germany during the past year.

Massey Cites Empire As Model

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Dec. 16—(CP Cable).—The British Commonwealth was cited yesterday as a pattern for peace by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner to Britain, in one of a series of "Empire talks" in London's Guildhall, in which he said that Canada and the other Dominions were "eager to bring what they can to the common welfare pool."

"The British Commonwealth stands as the one tried and successful union of free peoples in a world which must have union between the nations or perish," Mr. Massey said. "It gives us the pattern of partnership. It offers provocation to none, but rather it invites other freedom-loving communities to co-operate with it in the task of rebuilding when the victory is achieved.

"If our association has been so vital in time of war, we must not discount its great importance in the coming task of making and maintaining the peace.

"Our group of sister nations has been tried and has been proved in the ordeal. It will have heavy responsibilities in the confusion and strain of the post-war years.

"The participation of the Dominions in the war was the act of sovereign states. So will be their collaboration in the peace....

"Our association in the Commonwealth is the nucleus for a wider collaboration...Our Commonwealth is both a working model of political freedom and an object lesson in collective security."

Canada Is Centre.

"Canadians are deeply interested in the shaping of the settlement which is to follow the war," he said. "We are concerned about the international organization which we hope to set up to maintain world security and further the wellbeing of all nations...."

Most important of the factors controlling Canada's relations with the rest of the world was the revolution in air transport in the past few years, Mr. Massey said.

"We now find ourselves," he continued, "at the centre of what might be a network of global communications. The air has given us a new neighbor in the Soviet Republic and our points of contact with Russia have been brought far closer by the developments of the war.

"The war has brought Canada a new knowledge of her own power," Mr. Massey said. "In four years there has been a transformation in the Canadian industrial scene. Canada now is the fourth supplier of munitions among the United Nations. Her status, of course, is already clearly defined and needs little comment now, but the growth of her stature continues."

Winch Declares Conspiracy Aimed At C.C.F.

VANCOUVER, Dec. 16 (CP). — Harold Winch, C.C.F. leader in the British Columbia legislature, in an interview yesterday said he agreed with Pensions Minister Mackenzie that there was a "Tory financial conspiracy" in British Columbia, but said that its main object was to break up the C. C. F.

(Mr. Mackenzie in an address here Monday night alleged that the conspiracy was "aimed at the protection of vested interests against socialism and this in turn had been depleted against the government."

(Speaking Monday night at Red Deer, Alta., M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F. charged Gladstone Murray, former general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, with being a spearhead in a "smear campaign" against the C.C.F. in this connection, he said. Mr. Murray was "trying to collect $200,000 to be spent by him as a public relations counsel in the next three years."

To Raise 10 Millions

Mr. Winch said he had information a $10,000,000 fund was being raised in the Federal field and that a very heavy advertising campaign was to be launched against the C.C.F. interest backing this campagin would come out in support of the Progressive Conservative party "when the time was opportune."

Winch said he personally was to be a prominent target of the attack. A fund of $250,000 with backing of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, was ready for an immediate blast in the new year, he said.

(E. G. Blaylock of Trail, B. C., president of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, said at Montreal yesterday he understood an association had been formed in British Columbia of a non-political character and with the objective of making preparations for "postwar developments so that employment can be maintained and to see that free enterprise has a chance after the war." He said any support the Consolidated Company might give the group "would depe1d entirely on its remaining free from politics."

(Mr. Mackenzie charged that "conspiracy" was headed by "the tool of a certain railway corporation—the tool from Trail" with "a Vancouver lawyer, Locke," in charge of organization here.)

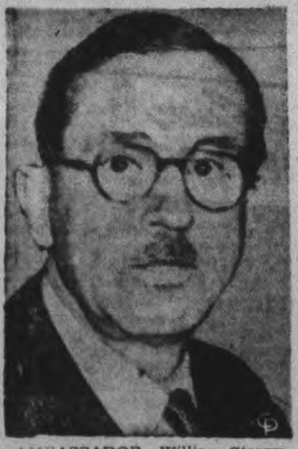
Mr. Winch said he understood the organization was prepared to spend $750,000 between now and the next provincial election.

Russians Planning Greater Offensive

LONDON, Dec. 16 (CP). — A Moscow broadcast to the Red Army today declared "this winter will see a Soviet offensive on a larger scale than ever before."

"Winter is a most convenient time for Red Army operation as the past two war winters have shown," said the broadcast recorded by the Soviet Monitor.

"It is the best time for outflanking movements, surprise raids, encirclement and annihilation of the enemy."



AMBASSADOR—William Strang, ABOVE, Council school boy who has risen to be one of the British Foreign Office's leading experts, has been appointed British representative on the European advisory commission set up by the Moscow conference. He assumes the rank of ambassador.

Australia Will Abandon Isolation Idea

Written for The Canadian Press
By ARTHUR R. FORD

BRISBANE, Australia, Dec. 16 — (CP Cable)—Australia is preparing to abandon her insular outlook and isolationist policy. This is the definite impression that members of the Canadian newspaper delegation will carry away with them after completion in Brisbane of a 10,000-mile air tour of the Commonwealth in which we have visited every state and touched the whole country from Hobart on the extreme south of Tasmania to Darwin on the edge of the war zone, and from Sydney on the Pacific to Perth on the Indian Ocean.

(The delegation is made up of Mr. Ford, editor of the London, Ont., Free Press and president of The Canadian Press, B. T. Richardson of the Winnipeg Free Press and Lorenzo Pare of L'Action Catholique, Quebec. They also visited New Zealand.)

Before the war, and even before the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor and captured Singapore the policy of Australia and particularly of the dominant Labor party was one not only of lack of interest in the rest of the world but of isolationism.

Australia felt that the British Navy and Singapore were such a bulwark of defence that she had nothing to worry about as to the future. Australians were contented with the happy life of their beautiful continent and were satisfied to let the rest of the world go its way.

The sudden threat from Japan and the triumphant march southward of the Japanese until they were at the gates of Australia came as a rude awakening. It changed the whole thought of Australia. Australia today and even pacifists in the Labor party realize that no country can live to itself and that Australia must play an important part in the future settlement of problems not only of the Pacific but of the world.

The best evidence is the fact that Prime Minister John Curtin has asked the federal conference of the Australian Labor party which is in session at the present time to accept the principle of international co-operation by agreement as the keynote of Australia's future relations with the British Commonwealth and other countries.

Broadening of the war has done several other things to Australia. She has become almost overnight an industrial nation and has rediscovered the almost unknown and neglected northern territories with their vast potential possibilities for development.

At the time of Singapore and the coming of the Americans there was a temporary feeling that Britain had let Australia down. There may not have been an anti-British feeling but certainly a very pro-American sentiment. That situation has changed. While there is deep gratitude to the United States and a strong feeling that Australia and the United States, just like Canada and the United States, must cooperate in the future, yet Australia decidedly proposed to remain part of the British Empire.

Mr. Curtin, in an off-the-record interview with Canadian newspapermen emphasized this position and made it clear that there must be closer collaboration between various parts of the Empire, with these parts deciding upon common policies which concern the Empire as a whole.

Webster Trial Set For Feb. 10

MONTREAL, Dec. 16 — (CP).—George Webster, 14-year-old high school student from neighbouring Westmount, today was committed to the court of King's Bench to stand trial Feb. 10 on a charge of murder in connection with the baseball bat slaying of his mother. No witnesses were produced at the voluntary statement hearing.

The youth was charged with murder after a coroner's jury held him criminally responsible for the death of Mrs. Andrew R. Webster, 35-year-old wife of a prominent Westmount resident, who was found in her bed with a fractured skull a month ago. Three other persons in the house were taken to hospital with head injuries.

People's League Holds Recreational Meeting

BRIDGENORTH, Dec. 16 (ENS) —The People's League held a recreational and social meeting in the basement of the church. It was decided to set an objective of $20.00 for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. Those winning prizes for the contests were Mrs. C. Hartman and Earl Blewett, E. Ball and Mrs. K. Blewett, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ball and Gordon Ray. The committee in charge was made up of Mrs. J. Johnson, Mrs. C. Telford, Mrs. W. J. Telford, and Mrs. Ella Nicholls.

The service in the United Church Sunday evening was taken by the League. The topic was "The Christian Imperative, Then and Now." Those taking part in the service were Allen Johnson, Mrs K. Roberts, Mrs. K. Blewett, Opal Robinson, Joyce Ray, Gordon Ray and Ezra Ball.

Personals.

Ordinary Seaman James Pettersonne, R.C.N.V.R., returned to his post on Sunday after spending his leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Pettersonne.

Britain Names Permanent Food Committee

By SYDNEY GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 16 (CP).— The British government has been so gratified with the results of wartime rationing on the nation's health, it plans the creation of a permanent post-war food commission to guarantee a maintenance of health standards under any economic conditions.

This will not mean continuation of rationing after the war but rather an overseeing program to make sure an adequate diet for health purposes is available to every family, no matter how poor.

The preliminary work has been entrusted to a group of experts charged with the job of taking the British people off their pre-war "tea and margarine" standard on to a "butter, milk and meat" standard. These experts will lay the groundwork for the commission to take over planning of production and organized distribution of adequate health-building foods immediately after the war.

More Milk, Eggs.

The plans call for re-organization of British agriculture to bring about vast increases in the production of milk, eggs, fruits and vegetables—the main protective and health-producing foods, and the building of reserves so that at no time a shortage of these essentials can develop.

Nutrition experts point to white bread, margarine, jam and tea as the principal hunger-satisfying foods for the masses of people who could not afford better in peace days. They are to be given the opportunty, no matter their means, of obtaining the essential foods in greater quantity than they ever have consumed them before.

British food policy will be closely linked with the world policy to set up production of milk, eggs, fruits, vegetables and meats and Canada's ibility to produce these essentials undoubtedly will be taken into consideration when Britain puts her plans on paper. The Dominion has been the main source of Britain's wartime supply of bacon and eggs.

BULGARIA RESTIVE—Bulgaria may be near a break with its Axis partner, Germany, according to reports received in London. General Bulgarian mobilization has been ordered and a cabinet shakeup is in progress. Former Bulgarian Premier Georgi Shishmanov, ABOVE, has criticized the Sofia government, saying it should be overthrown if it cannot prevent Germany using Bulgaria as a war base.

Catholic Priest Wins Decoration

WALKERTON, Ont., Dec. 16 — (CP). — Relatives here received word yesterday that Capt. the Rev. Joseph Wilhelm, Walkerton priest, has been awarded the Military Cross for conspicious bravery on the battlefield in Italy.

Father Wilhelm offered his services as chaplain early in the war and went to North Africa with the first Canadian invasion army. During the Sicilian campaign he was slightly wounded but remained on duty and has been with the troops continuously.

Details regarding his award have not been announced by military headquarters in Canada.

Dr. Smart installed the following officers for the coming year: Honorary president, Mrs. James Dutton; president, Mrs. J. D. Smart; first vice-president, Mrs. T. J. McArthur; second vice-president, Mrs. W. Jackson; secretary, Miss B. Ross; treasurer, Miss M. Henderson; pianist, Mrs. W. D. Taylor; Glad Tidings secretary, Miss F. McNaughton; convener of the telephone committee, Miss J. Waddell; executive, Mrs. J. Anderson, Mrs. F. Rowan, Miss M. Morrison, and Mrs. H. E. Stenson. At the conclusion of the meeting the nominating committee served refreshments.

Yuletide Touch

A candle-lighting ceremony appropriately closed the Christmas meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Mark Street United Church, held in the church parlor, with Mrs. E. W. Rowland in the chair.

The president read the message, "Why He Came," and Mrs. N. Hewitt read the report of the mission band, showing this organization to be quite active, and to have a favorable financial standing.

Mrs. Stockdale's group has charge of the worship period, and the work of missionaries and doctors in foreign lands was portrayed by members of the society.

WHY NOT HAVE BABY SLEEP THROUGH NIGHT

YOU and your baby both need sleep. There is a sure and easy way to get it. Let Mrs. B——, Jr., of Winona, Ontario, tell you in her own words: "Night after night, as soon as we would get settled in bed, 'Baby' would start crying. . . . Baby's Own Tablets changed all this. What a blessed relief."

In no sense are these "sleeping" tablets. They contain no opiates or stupefying drugs. They help give refreshing sleep by clearing away wastes and poisons that disturb rest.

Sweet-tasting, easily crushed to a powder, if desired—Baby's Own Tablets bring quick relief from teething troubles, constipation, simple fever, diarrhoea, upset stomach, colic, simple croup and colds. Try them. 25 cents.

Pupils Give Recital at 'Y'

A varied program of instrumental and vocal selections was presented by the pupils of Mrs. R. C. Searles in the recreation room of the Y.W.C.A. Wednesday evening. Mr. Searles assisted, and played four selections on the violin. They were "Thain," a movement from a Haydn quartette, "A Romance," and selections from Canebrake.

Vocal solos were given by the following pupils: Bobby Tamblyn, "The Wind and the Leaves," and "The Fair"; Gladys Langton, "When Song is Sweet," and "Kashmiri Song"; Joan Miller, "Greeting of the Day," and "Bird Songs at Eventide"; Mrs. Hazel McLaren, "Love's Philosophy," and "Your Love is Dreaming"; Dorothy Mitchell, "I Hear You Calling Me," and "Let My Song Fill Your Heart."

Piano solos formed the greatest part of the program, and the following students took part: Dawn Ephgrave, Ruth Tamblyn, Barbara Kitchen, Esther Robinson, Malcolm Chambers, Billy Prest, Gordon Johnson, Gordon Bullied, Margaret Heal, Joan Green, Joan O'Dette, June Bullied, Gordon Thexton, Ethelwyn Gibson, Gloria Wilson.

Gloria Wilson and Ethelwyn Gibson also played a duet, "Meditation," and Elsie Chambers played the difficult "Ballade" by Chopin.

At the conclusion of the program, Barbara Kitchen, on behalf of the pupils, presented Mrs. Searles with a bouquet of flowers and a lovely gift.

Bowling Club Holds Social

At the conclusion of the usual play of St. Andrew's Bowling Club, a Christmas social was held in the school room, and an excellent supper was provided by the ladies of the club, with Mrs. C. E. Althouse and Mrs. W. F. Skitch as conveners. Presents were brought by the members for the White Gift service of the Sunday School.

After supper, Mrs. Ray Morrow, the president, took the chair for the business meeting, and told the group that the club had had a most successful year, the membership was larger than it had been for several years, and that the spirit of good fellowship present in the group had been most pleasant.

Dr. Young entertained the group by relating several amusing stories about the conversations of school children, and Mr. Ray Morrow gave an outline of the progress of the various teams during the past season.

Mr. G. Tremain, Mr. C. Gardiner and Mrs. E. W. Young also spoke to the meeting, and at the conclusion of the proceedings, it was decided to resume the activities of the club on Tuesday, January 4.

Home and School Hears Miss Young

MAY'S SCHOOL

Miss Rachel Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, who was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the May's Home and School Association, discussed "Character Building," and she was introduced by Mr. J. Burns, principal of the school.

To introduce her topic, Miss Young gave her definition of the attributes of a person with a good character, and said that character building is continuous, and acquired. "Character is built primarily in the home," she went on, "secondly in school, and thirdly in the church—all three institutions working together for the common good of growing children."

By invitation, a delegation from Confederation School was present at this meeting, and Mrs. J. Burns was also a guest. Mrs. W. Proctor was at the piano for the evening. A vote of thanks to Miss Young was moved by Mrs. E. Horton, and the meeting closed with carol singing. Following the meeting, Mrs. W. Shepherd took charge of contests, which tested the quick wit of the participants, and Mrs. R. Leach and her committee served refreshments.

Mrs. Albert Hope Leads Auxiliary

Rev. W. A. Filer, who gave a Christmas message on the topic, "When the fullness of time was come," was guest speaker at the December devotional and business meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' church, which was held in the chapel.

Mrs. R. Collingwood led in the repitition of the Litany, and Mrs. Edgar offered a prayer, and the Scripture reading which was taken by Mrs. Annie Williams was followed by the committee conveners' reports.

The election of officers for the coming year was then held, and they are as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. W. A. Filer; honorary vice-president, Mrs. S. Harris; president, Mrs. A. Hope; first vice-president, Mrs. Francis Edgar; second vice-president Mrs. F. M. Warren; secretary Mrs. W. Constable; treasurer, Mrs. H. Jay, literature secretary, Mrs. W. A. Filer; Dorcas S.T., Mrs. Charles Mills; treasured E.C.D., Mrs. M. Metheral; secretary treasurer of the Living Message, Mrs. R. Collingwood; Junior superintendent Mrs. H. Connolly; secretary treasurer of the Little Helpers, Mrs. John Edgar; convener of the visiting committee, Mrs. S. Worsencroft; convener of the Red Cross work, Mrs. R. Collingwood; representative to the Local Council of Women, Mrs. H. Rowsom; convener of war victims' work, Mrs. C. Mills and Mrs. F. M. Warren; convener of social committee, Mrs. Annie Williams; pianists, Mrs. E. W. Glover and Mrs. P. Hooper; rector's appointees, Mrs. A. H. A. Robinson and Mrs. I. Boddison.

Shepherds' Vision Subject of Talk

Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, president of the Presbyterial, was guest speaker at the Christmas meeting of George Street church Women's Missionary Society, held in the board room, with Mrs. J. H. Rowe in the chair.

Before her address, Mrs. Harris paid tribute to the life and work and companionship of Mrs. Earl Wellwood, who was a member of the Presbyterial. Mrs. Harris gave an inspiring talk on the visit of the angels to the shepherds, as recorded in the gospel of St. Luke.

She said that God always speaks to people in a way that they can understand. The wise men were interested in astronomy, and so He spoke to them by the star. She also said that a vision comes along the path of duty, and to illustrate her point said that the shepherds were busy with their ordinary duties when the angels appeared. But, if they had been absent from their flocks that night, they would not have seen them.

While the members were gathering for the meeting, Mrs. W. P. Purdy played Christmas music, and the Bible lesson was read by Mrs. J. M. Fanning and Mrs. E. Brown led in prayer.

Mrs. R[illegible]ed in the candle-lighting servic[illegible] given in the Missionary Monthly, the theme being, "God is Light, and in Him is no Darkness at all."

Mrs. Thos. Brown New President

Rev. G. S. Easton presided at the election of officers for 1944, held at Christmas meeting of Trinity Women's Missionary Society, held in the church parlor with Mrs. H. T. Rehill, the president, in the chair.

The results of the election are as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Tom Brown; past president, Mrs. J. W. Pierce; president, Mrs. H. T. Rehill; first vice-president, Mrs. G. N. Moncrief; second vice-president, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell; third vice-president, Mrs. D. E. Bell; treasurer, Mrs W. T. Fanjoy; recording secretary, Miss Helen Bannister; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. E. Middleton; press secretary, Mrs. W. E. Edmondson; missionary monthly, Mrs. H. Martin; Christian stewardship, Miss T. Matthews; supply, Mrs. R. J. Kearns; card secretary, Mrs. F. Webb; association helpers, Mrs. N. Andrews; community friendship, Mrs. A B. Gates; temperance, Mrs. J. W. Pierce; pianist, Mrs. G. N. Moncrief; C.G.I.T., Miss M. Graham; Mission Band, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell and Mrs. George Richmond; Baby Band, Mrs. Art Malby; Mission Circle advisory president, Mrs. R. T. Rehill.

Rev. F. W. Craik was guest speaker, having as his topic, "The Bells of Bethlehem Ring their Missionary Message." He said that we had sent missionaries to the other countries of the world because the news was too good to keep, and that in a world of war the missionaries have a peace that is perfect.

The president read a Christmas devotional theme, and Mrs. S. D. Carr read the Christmas story from the Bible. Mrs. A. Stanley led in prayer. The soloist for the afternoon was Mrs. J. Goldie, and, accompanied by Miss M. Clairy, she sang "The Birthday of the Lord," and "The Holy Child."

A social half hour was spent by the group after the close of the meeting.

Holiday Season Entertainment Suggestions Stress Simplicity, but Retain Festive Air

By LAURA C PEPPER
Chief, Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture

The latch string is out during the holiday week and old friends and new, the lonely heart and the stranger in our midst, find a welcome and a place by our firesides. One of the most pleasant and simplest ways of entertaining is at an informal supper. And here are some menu suggestions and recipes for such informal entertainment from the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Buffet Supper

Creamed Chicken with Vegetables in Toast Cups
Shredded Cabbage with Russian Dressing
Cheese Straws
Christmas Cake Cookies

Creamed Chicken with Vegetables in Toast Cups—4 tablespoons mild-flavored fat, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 vegetable water or meat stock, salt and pepper to taste, dash of paprika, 2 cups cooked, diced turkey, chicken or other meat, 2 cups cooked, diced carrots, celery, potatoes, peas or mushrooms.

Prepare a cream sauce from fat, flour, liquid and seasonings. Add meat and vegetables and heat thoroughly.

Remove crusts from 12 slices of fresh bread. Press slices into muffin pan. The edges may be brushed with melted butter. Place in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F), for about 10 minutes, or until toast cups are lightly browned. Just before serving, fill cups with creamed mixture. Garnish with parsley Six servings.

Fireside Supper

Cranberry Ring with Salad
Hot Rolls
Apple Sectors Dill Pickles
Cake Squares with Peppermint Sauce

Cranberry Ring with Salad—2 cups cranberries, 1 cup boiling water, 4 teaspoons granulated gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 1-3 cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup finely chopped celery, ¾ cup finely diced apple, 1½ cups of flaked fish or meat, etc., 1-3 cup salad dressing.

Cook cranberries in boiling water until the skins burst. Force through strainer, add gelatine which has been soaked 5 minutes in cold water. Then add sugar and salt, stirring until dissolved. Pour into individual ring moulds and chill until firm. When set, turn each salad out onto a bed of lettuce or watercress. Fill centres with celery, apples and fish or meat combined with dressing. 6 to 8 servings.

Apple Sectors—Choose bright colored apples. Leave skins on and cut in wedges just before serving.

Peppermint Sauce—1 egg white, unbeaten, ½ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cold water, ⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar, few grains salt, peppermint flavoring, green coloring.

Combine inredients in top of double boiler. Set over boiling water and beat with dover egg beater until consistency of a thick sauce—3 to 4 minutes. Flavor with peppermint and tint with green coloring. Serve over squares of plain or chocolate cake. Makes 1 1-3 cups of sauce.

Sit-Down Supper

Cranberry Juice Cocktail
Hot Chicken Mould
Cole Slaw with Chopped Pickles and Pimentos
Christmas Jelly Roll

Hot Chicken Mould

½ pound spaghetti (unbroken), 1 tablespoon fat, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup tomato juice or milk, 1 egg, salt and pepper to taste, 2 cups finely chopped chicken, 1 cup cooked mixed vegetables, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley.

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water, being careful not to break strands. Drain and rinse in cold water.

Line a deep, greased mould with part of the spaghetti. Make a sauce of the fat, flour, tomato juice or milk, egg and salt and pepper. Add chicken, vegetable and parsley. Fill centre of mould with this mixture and cover with rest of spaghetti. Steam on top of the stove for 45 to 50 minutes, or set in a pan of hot water and oven-poach in moderate oven, 350° F, for about 50 minutes. Six servings.

Christmas Jelly Roll—If you have a little icing sugar tucked away, a simple jelly roll may be transformed to resemble a real knotted yule log.

Before icing cut a slice ¾ inch thick from the end of the roll. Holding the knife in a slanting position cut the slice into four wedge-shaped pieces. Place these wedges on the roll, as knots. Cover the roll with a thin layer of mocha icing, marking with a fork to resemble bark.

QUESTION: Would you mind sending me a good recipe for baking powder biscuits? I never seem to have any luck with mine. They never seem to be light and tasty. Thanking you, Mary Johnston.

ANSWER: Baking powder biscuits must be mixed quickly and very little, must be baked in a very hot oven.

Baking Powder Biscuits

Two cups flour, 5 teaspoons of baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons shortening, ¾ cup milk. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together. Rub shortening, in with the finger tips until it resembles coarse oatmeal. Add milk slowly mixing with a fork until you have a soft dough — barely enough to mix in the milk. Roll out or pat out on slightly floured board to ½-inch thickness. Cut with floured cutter and bake at 450 degrees Fahr. (very hot) for 10 or 15 minutes.

Sour Milk Biscuits

(These have a different texture that you may prefer.)

Two cups bread flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons shortening, ½ teaspoon soda, ¾ cup sour milk, or butter milk. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together. Rub in shortening with finger tips. Mix soda and sour milk. Add slowly to first mixture and mix to a soft dough. Roll out on slightly floured board to ½-inch thickness. Cut with biscuit cutter. Bake in quick oven of 450 degrees Fahr. for 10 or 15 minutes.

Kindly watch cookery page for other hot breads in the near future.

QUESTION: I notice in your column tonight a letter from Elsie S. requesting Norwegian recipes. My husband is also from Norway and I would very much like to obtain recipes you offer. We have had Sur Sill (spiced herring) and also stuffed cabbage.

I hollow out a cabbage and I stuff it with minced beef with a little onion and seasoning added. I usually partly cook the meat in a frying pan as it takes quite a while to cook through. The cabbage should be cooked in a covered pan, with a little water added, to keep from burning.

There are several Norwegian ladies in town who would probably be able to give Elsie further recipes.

My husband has often spoken of the sweet soups, which I presume would be the fruit sauce you mention.

Thanking you for your valuable column. — M. K.

ANSWER: If you could ask the Norwegian ladies you have in mind each to send me their favorite Norwegian dish I am sure there are many brides of Norwegian air men who would benefit by it.

The sweet soups so well-known to Norwegians are more like the following than the fruit sauce you refer to.

Peach Soup (European Style)

Two cups sliced peaches, 2 cups white wine (in Canada this would be replaced with cider or grape juice), ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon, two cloves, sugar to taste. Put a pint of water with spices on the fire. Add peaches and cook until tender. Press through colander. Put back with the juice and boil for a few minutes. Stir in wine or fruit juice and add sugar to taste. (Your husband would have to judge this matter of sweetness). Heat just under boiling point and serve in hot plates with croutons.

Cranberry Soup (European Style)

One-half cup cranberry sauce, 1 sliced onion, 1 cup chopped cabbage, ½ cup beet juice, 1 cup of chopped boiled beets, 1 teaspoon of salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, ¾ cup of sour cream, 3 hard-cooked eggs. Mix cranberry sauce, onion, cabbage and 6 cups cold water. Put in saucepan and boil 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add beet juice, beets, salt and sugar. Put 2 tablespoons sour cream in each plate. Pour in soup. Garnish each plate with ½ hard cooked egg. This may also be served cold in which case chill well.

I am sending you the other recipes I referred to by private letter.

St. Andrew's YPU Elects Officers

The election of officers for 1944 was held at the annual meeting of the St. Andrew's Young People's Union, held Wednesday, with the president, Miss Margaret Emerson, in charge of the business meeting.

The motion to accept the slate of officers was passed unanimously, and the report read as follows: Honorary president, Rev. E. W. Young; president, Margaret Emerson; vice-president, Ailwyn Jones; secretary, Pauline Humphries; treasurer, Walter Morrow; fellowship convener, Marion Chase; citizenship, Rita Ratz; Christian culture, Betty Warner; publication, Leonard Wall.

The proposal that members of the Union use missionary envelopes for their contributions to the M. and M. fund was referred for further consideration to a committee, consisting of the president, the secretary and Rev. E. W. Young.

Mrs. Dorothy Lane conducted a program of games, and a supper was served. Each member brought a Christmas gift, and these were exchanged after supper, and a vote of thanks to the girls who prepared the supper was moved by Norman Allen.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, December 17

THE PLANETARY configurations for this day accent the prospects of putting the affairs on a productive, progressive and solid basis, with expanding prospects for increased position, honors, preferment, with finance and credit growing in proportion to the worthwhile quality of the ambitions and aspirations. It is a propitious time for forging ahead to cherished goals, in business, money, professional and social power and influence. There may be trivial annoyances, but in all major matters there is success and happiness. Those in high places assist to this auspicious state of affairs.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may hope for a prosperous and progressive year, with promotion, honors, enhanced business and personal prestige, together with increased finances, solid possessions and future security, reaching high goals of gratification and happiness. It is a time for working for cherished ambitions, with support from those in power and prestige assured, although there may be trifling annoyances to be overcome, perhaps in travel or with writings.

A child born on this day may be excellently endowed with talents and characteristics for signal success and distinction in life. Those in high places recognizing such efficiency should heartily lend encouragement to high aspirations.

Preparing for Christmas Is Big Part in Festive Season

By MARY MOORE

The preparation for Christmas and sometimes the fun lasts longer and is better than The Day itself.

In our kitchen we have had two baking orgies; one for the cakes and cookies we sent overseas, and another to make our own cakes and cookies in plenty of time to test them before printing the methods on the cookery page.

This year I am giving you some cookies straight from a Czechoslovakian lady, who made them for a Council Meeting of Canadian ladies and they nearly stopped the show.

The Honey Cake is a little different than your traditional Christmas Fruit Cake, but the most delicious morsel of fruitiness you can imagine.

These two little cookies are noted for their delicious flavor and good keeping qualities—make them now for Christmas.

Vanilla Kipfels (vanilla crescents)

(I have had to transpose these amounts from grams, then to ounces then to tablespoons—so you can be patient enough to measure them out by measuring tablespoonfuls, etc.)

Twenty tablespoons plus 1 teaspoon (using standard measuring spoons) flour, 10 tablespoons butter, 10 tablespoons ground almonds, 6 tablespoons sugar, 2 egg yolks, and 6 additional tablespoons sugar for rolling crescents in when baked.

To make scald the almonds, slip off the skins and grind them through fine knife grinder. Now make the dough: My Czechoslovakian friend says to pile the flour on your baking board and make a hole in it and put butter, sugar, almonds and yolks in the hole, and knead the whole thing into a nice smooth dough with the hands—this takes patience, but it is very nice when done. Form into tiny crescents about 1½ inches long by ¼ to ½ inch thick, by rolling between palms, then bending a little to form a crescent. Put on ungreased cookie sheet (they contain so much shortening cookies sheet does not need any) and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 10 minutes—watch closely and do not let these little crescents burn. While still hot roll in the second lot of sugar which should be powdered sugar. This rolling sugar is flavored with vanilla in Czechoslovakia, but white powdered vanilla is too hard to obtain for me to suggest using it here. If kept in airtight tin these are at their best after 3 weeks.

Finger Cookies

Thirty-one tablespoons of flour (these are worth the patience this measuring requires), 10 tablespoons butter, 6 tablespoons sugar, 2 egg yolks, a few chopped almonds, some jam—preferably apricot or strawberry or red currant jelly, and some extra sugar.

Pile the flour on your baking board and make a hole in centre and put the butter, sugar and yolks in hole. Knead to form a nice smooth dough with hands. Put in refrigerator for ½ to 1 hour. When chilled form into tiny balls not more than ¾ inch in diameter. Place on cookies sheet—ungreased— and with forefinger make dent in centre top, but do not flatten cookie. Brush with egg white, sprinkle top with a little sugar and bake in moderate oven of 375 deg. Fahr. for 10 to 15 minutes. When done sprinkle top with chopped almonds and put a very little dot of jam in indentation. Or fill hole with a quarter of a candied green or red cherry. These are very decorative on a plate of assorted cookies.

Dorothy's Honey Fruit Cake

(This is a rich medium light fruit cake easy to make and Oh-so-easy to eat.)

One-half lb. butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 3 eggs, 2 tablespoons honey, 1-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon soda, flour to make a stiff batter—about 3 cups, 2 lbs. raisins—Valencias when we can get them but Lexias seeded will do, at least ¼ lb. mixed peel—the addition of another ¼ lb. citron peel is optional but good, ½ lb. candied cherries—these are nice if half green and half are white, ½ lb. blanched almonds (if these are not available try cashews or blanched Brazils).

Sift together the flour, cream of tartar, salt, soda, then take ½ cup of this and mix it with the fruit so that all surfaces of the fruit are floured and separated.

Cream the butter until your arm aches, then sift in the brown sugar a little at a time, until you have a light creamy mixture. Beat in the egg yolks and honey. Add the milk and floured fruits and nuts, mix well and sift in dry ingredients last. Then fold in stiffly beaten egg wkhites.

NOTE—To make this cake larger, you may add a jar of pear or peach jam—not more than 8 oz, when more flour will be needed—about 1 additional cup of sifted flour.

Pour batter into deep lined cake pans, lined with several thicknesses oiled paper or 1 thickness heavy brown paper well buttered. Bake or steam. If cake is steamed it requires 5 hours covered all the time and ½ hour in oven of 350 to dry it off. If cake is baked stand it in larger pan containing hot water and bake 2½ hours at 300 deg. Fahr. Steaming and short bake periods are preferable.

Shortbread

(Every year I give you a shortbread recipe—this is a little different from last year's in that it contains cornstarch—the cornstarch gives a smoother texture.)

One cup butter (½ lb.), 4 cups sifted flour (1 lb.), 7 tablespoons cornstarch, (2 oz.), ½ cup sugar (4 oz.) Beat the butter to a cream and then dredge in gradually the other ingredients. Work this paste with the hands until quite smooth and divided into 3 pieces. Pat each piece out into a square, or pat into a layer cake tin evenly. If desired score with lines in a pattern. Prick well all over. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about 25 to 30 minutes. If shortbread is baked in cookie shapes, roll it out pressing edges together where it cracks, until it is smooth enough to stay intact, then cut out ½-inch thick cookies with well floured cookie cutter. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr. until just baked—and hardly brown at all.

NOTE—If you would like other Christmas cake, cookie or pudding recipes, write to me immediately, naming them.

Giving Christmas Dinner Certain Glamour and Glisten

By MARY MOORE.

I know that you know exactly what you are going to have for dinner on Christmas Day — you can make many changes from your traditional habits (unless the stores can't supply you) because your family won't like it. But you can give the meal that glamor and glitter that is so gay and delightful and precious, by having all the fixings perfect. He is a good menu to plan from:

A Canadian Christmas Dinner.

Seafood Cocktail
Roast Duck or Roast Chicken or Roasted Standing Ribs of Beef and Yorkshire Pudding
Deluxe Mashed Potatoes
Quick-cooked Cauliflower with Cheese Sauce
Stuffed Celery
Hot Mince Pie or
Steamed Pudding, Foamy Egg
Sauce
Mints Cafe Noir Nuts (if)

One of our readers asked me how we could circumvent the problem of no canned shrimps and very little canned lobster for a seafood cocktail—so I visited a seafood supermarket and found fresh shrimps and lobsters could be had if we wanted to pay the price, and many of us do, so they tell me, with pockets bulging with that "evil stuff." (I wish mine were.)

The Cheese Sauce on the cauliflower is a little bit special and the Foamy Sauce for the Pudding is extra special.

I hope you won't feel my other notes are impertinent — I merely want to jack up your mashed potato and meat roasting standards, and have the dinner the top of perfection.

Seafood Cocktail.

Cocktail Sauce — 6 tablespoons tomato catsup, 2 tablespoons horseradish, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, ⅛ teaspoon Tabasco sauce.

The above sauce is good for oysters on the half-shell or for mixed shrimp and lobster cocktail or plain shrimp cocktail or lobster cocktail.

Either mixed shrimp and lobster or plain shrimp or lobster would be placed on a curled lettuce leaf in cocktail glasses and at least two tablespoons of the sauce poured over and the cocktails thoroughly chilled before serving. Some people prefer to serve the sauce separately, but all must be cold.

Cheese Sauce on Cauliflower (Browned).

To do to the Cheese Sauce on the cauliflower the way I want you to try it, you will have to serve it whole on a large round plate or platter, pour the sauce over, then stand it under the broiler long enough to brown the sauce and make it bubble a bit—the effect is attractive and worth the trouble—a garnish of a border of parsley around the base of the cauliflower gives it a perfect finish.

Foamy Sauce.

(I am giving you this sauce because it is so good it will make a success of your pudding even though it does not contain as much fruit and nuts as you would like.)

One-half cup butter (you will have to save your rations a few days for this but it's worth it), 1 cup powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon rum flavoring (this is non-alcoholic—do not leave it out—it is a very important part of the sauce), ¼ cup boiling water, 1 egg white beaten.

Cream the butter and sugar until white and creamy—about 10 minutes. Then beat in the rum flavoring. Just before serving add the boiling water, the stiff egg white and beat until foamy. Serve at once. A well-beaten egg yolk may be added and gives the sauce a rich appearance.

You will see that I am stressing care with your sauces—and for that reason I want to mention gravy.

Gravy.

There are very few cooks that can make meat gravy perfectly smooth—so don't be ashamed if you have to strain yours to smooth it out—but do be sure it is boiling hot right up to the last minute before serving—the gravy boat should be pre-heated too. When serving a large and long dinner the food is very apt to get chilled before you get one bite of it—hot gravy is a great help when this happens. Pour off excess fat before starting gravy.

Mashed Potatoes.

Don't quote me on this and don't do it regularly but potatoes are fluffier if soaked 3 hours, before boiling, in cold water. Then drain, add boiling water to cover, 1 teaspoon salt and boil covered until tender. Drain (saving water of course for the gravy) and mash very well. To enough potatoes for 6 people add 1½ teaspoons salt, 3 tablespoons butter and ⅓ cup boiling hot milk—⅛ teaspoon baking powder will keep the potatoes white and light. Beat hard. Dot with butter and keep very hot.

Meat Roasting Temperatures.

Roast beef—Start roasting beef at 500 deg. Fahr. for 10 to 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. Allow 10-12 minutes per lb. for "medium done," plus 10 minutes.

Roast chicken — Allow 1 to 1½ hours for a 3 to 4 lb. chicken — 375 deg. Fahr.

Roast duck—(Breastbone of duck should be soft and transparent). Young ducks require 12 to 15 minutes per lb. at 375 deg. Fahr.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

DEAR MARY MOORE: I come from the South and a dish that is common down there is creamed salt pork. I never hear of it in Canada and think you are missing something— it is delicious especially when served with a cream sauce, which is how Southern housewives always do.

Creamed Salt Pork

(Contributed by Jenny L.)

One-half lb. salt pork, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons cornmeal, 1¾ cups milk, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Slice the pork in thin slices and dip first in the flour and then in the cornmeal. Fry until it is a golden brown on the both sides. Place on a warm platter. Pour all but 2 tablespoons of the drippings from the frying pan off, put the remaining flour in the pan, add the peppers, and use the milk in making cream gravy. Pour this over the fried pork and serve with fried apples and baked potatoes—a delicious and economical dinner.

Salt Pork with Corn

Salt pork may be cut in 1 inch pieces and rolled in flour and in cornmeal and fried until golden, then pour off excess fat and add one can kernel corn, and ½ cup cream. Heat through and serve garnished with slices from green pepper. — Jenny L.

These sound wonderful and I tried the one with corn and think you had better send us more of these marvellous Southern dishes. Thanks.

CLEGG, Mary Adeline—Suddenly in Wingham, Ontario, December 15, 1943, Mary Adeline Clegg, beloved wife of the late Richard Clegg.

Burial will take place in Little Lake Cemetery. Funeral announcements later.

IN MEMORIAM

MONTGOMERY— In loving memory of my dear sister, Mary Ellen Montgomery who passed away one year ago, December 16, 1942.

Upright and just in all her ways
Faithful and true to the end of her days,
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.

— Lovingly remembered by her sister, and brother-in-law, Lottie and Alfred Day.

GATFIELD—In loving memory of our dear mother, Alice Emily Gatfield, who went to be with Dad, one year ago today.

We watched you suffer day by day,
And could not help in any way,
So when Jesus came and took you
And hushed your heart to sleep,
So wrapped in peace was your dear face
It seemed a shame to weep.

— Her children and grandchildren.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. R. Walsh and daughter wish to express their thanks for the sympathy and kindness shown by the attending doctor, nurses, friends and relatives in their recent sad bereavement.

NOTICE

OF BY-LAW TO BE SUBMITTED TO VOTE OF MUNICIPAL ELECTORS OF PETERBOROUGH AT THE NEXT ANNUAL ELECTION.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH by By-law 4361, passed December 6th, 1943, is submitting to Vote of the Electors a proposed By-law 4360 to authorize the execution of an agreement with BORDER TRANSIT LIMITED.

To secure an expression of the Electors' approval or disapproval of the proposed By-law the following question will be submitted to the Electors:

"Are you in favor of the By-law granting a Franchise to Border Transit Limited to supply Bus Transportation in the City for the next Ten Years?"

The Votes of the Electors will be taken on this proposed By-law at the same polls and during the same hours as the Voting at Municipal Elections on New Year's Day. The City Clerk shall sum up the Votes given for and against the By-law at 11 o'clock in the Forenoon of January 3rd, 1944, at his Office in the City Hall.

If the assent of the Electors is given to the proposed By-law, this fact will be taken into consideration by the Council when it comes before the Council for passing at the Council's meeting on January 17th, 1944.

Th Mayor, or some member of the Council appointed for that purpose by resolution, shall attend at the Office of City Clerk for the purpose of appointing, if so requested, two persons to attend at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk, and one person at each Polling Sub-Division on behalf of those interested in promoting the proposed By-law, and a like number on behalf of those persons interested in opposing the proposed By-law.

The Agreement between the Corporation of the City of Peterborough and Border Transit Limited which the proposed By-law, if assented to by the Electors, authorizes the Council to execute, contains certain clauses, summarized as follows:

1. Subject to stated conditions the Corporation of the City of Peterborough (the Corporation) grants to Border Transit Limited (the Company) an exclusive passenger transportation franchise for bus service in the City for the period of ten years commencing January 1st, 1944.

2. During the full term of the franchise the Company agrees to maintain and operate a fleet of not less than fourteen (14) buses for carrying passengers on certain scheduled routes in the City, and in North Monaghan Township, operating said buses daily, except Sundays, from at least 6 o'clock in the morning until 11:30 o'clock in the evening, and at certain stated times on Sundays.

3. The Company's buses shall be of reasonable modern design and type, and shall be kept in good repair, clean inside and out, and properly lighted and heated as required. The Company shall operate additional buses as deemed necessary.

4. The Company shall pay to the Corporation an annual license fee of $500.00 during the life of the agreement, and in addition the Company shall pay to the Corporation a percentage of its gross passenger and advertising revenue which exceed $50,000.00 per annum; the percentage of payments by the Company being as follows:

On gross revenue exceeding $50,000.00 and less than $75,000.00 — 2 percentum per annum.
On gross revenue exceeding $75,000.00 and less than $100,000.00 — 3 percentum per annum.
On gross revenue exceeding $100,000.00 and less than $125,000.00 — 4 percentum per annum.
On gross revenue all over $125,000.00—5 percentum per annum.

Payments to be made in two instalments semi-annually, and the City Auditor shall audit the Company's gross revenue account and supporting records each year.

5. The speed and service necessary on each of the Company's bus routes and the number of buses required shall be fixed and altered as circumstances require by agreement between the Corporation and the Company.

6. The Company may charge and collect the following fares:

Adult Fare—8 cents cash or 4 tickets for 25 cents.
Student Fare—8 tickets for 25 cents.
Children under 12 years—Fare, 3 cents cash;
And such fares may be changed only with the consent of Council by By-law.

7. The Company must observe all Traffic regulations in the operation of its buses and keep its buses adequately insured.

8. The Corporation shall maintain its streets on which the Company's buses operate in a reasonable state of repair and reasonably free from snow and other obstruction, and shall provide such bus stops as the Company may properly require, and so regulate traffic that the Company's buses may operate efficiently.

9. If the Company desires to sell its assets or property, the Corporation has the first option to purchase, and if the Corporation does not desire to exercise this option of purchase the Company agrees not to sell its assets to any person or company who is not acceptable to the Corporation.

10. The agreement also provides for the arbitration of any dispute or difference or question between the Company and Corporation.

DATED at Peterborough, this Ninth Day of December, 1943.

I CERTIFY that this is a fair and reasonable synopsis of the proposed By-law 4360 and the agreement it authorizes.

E. A. OUTRAM, City Clerk.

Tanks Plowing Through Mud Near Ortona

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (CP)—Despite mud and German counter-attacks, Canadian troops of the British 8th Army have driven "almost to the town of Ortona," and have closed the road leading inland from it, the BBC reported last night in a broadcast recorded at the CBS short wave listening station.

"It is announced that Canadian troops of the 8th Army have battled further up the Adriatic coast almost to the town of Ortona. They've thrown back German counter-attacks and knocked out a number of tanks.

"A correspondent with the 8th Army describes how the Canadian tanks, throwing up great showers of mud as they plowed across boggy ground, closed in on the road running inland from Ortona; the road the Germans have been fighting so hard to hold.

"German tanks and guns opened fire, but the Canadian tankmen swiftly hit back. They knocked out three German Mark IV tanks, and the rest of the enemy armor and guns pulled back.

"The correspondent says by far the fiercest fighting just outside Ortona has been going on in a ravine. The Canadians have been attacking and the Germans counter-attacking across the ravine, and it's under shell fire 24 hours a day. The Germans put in five counterattacks in little more than a day, but they couldn't move the Canadians from the ground they had won."

Canadian Nurse Urges Aid For Prisoners

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP).—Winnifred Stokes, Vancouver nurse repatriated from Camp Stanley prison in Hong Kong on the exchange ship Gripsholm after 21 months as a prisoner of war, said here that something "must be done for all internees under the Japanese...if not, the future looks desolate."

En route to her Pacific Coast home, Nurse Stokes told briefly in an interview of life in a prison camp.

"With the surrender of Hong Kong," she said, "there followed 48 hours of looting and bestiality by the Japanese soldiery. I nursed many who survived horrible experiences."

She said she was imprisoned in buildings "utterly bare of any furniture" on Jan. 29, 1942. For three months, she and other prisoners slept on cold cement floors on a blanket. Furniture gradually was added. When she left there were 2,500 men, women and children in the camp. Nurse Stokes said she lost 35 pounds, dropping 92 pounds, during her 21 months imprisonment.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

MEASURE HIS TEMERITY

DEBATING ABOUT one bid as against another, the deciding factor can often be the way you size up your partner. If you are pretty sure he is aggressive and likely to take action if he possibly can, then the weaker of the two bids by you probably is the better. But, if he is the timid type, not prone to bid unless he has something pretty substantial to show, it generally pays you to select the stronger call yourself.

North: ♠ 7 6 4 3 2 ♥ 10 ♦ J 10 9 4 ♣ J 6 4
West: ♠ K J 10 ♥ A K Q J 9 5 ♦ 3 ♣ K 10 7
East: ♠ 9 5 ♥ 8 7 6 3 ♦ 7 5 2 ♣ A 9 8 5
South: ♠ A Q 8 ♥ 4 2 ♦ A K Q 8 6 ♣ Q 3 2

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

2.	1 ♦	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♥
	Pass	4 ♥
3.	1 ♦	2 ♥	Pass	3 ♥
	Pass	4 ♥
4.	1 ♦	Dbl	2 ♦	2 ♥
	3 ♦	4 ♥

At the first table we have the sad story of the weakest possible action of a positive nature by West, followed by the timid pass of East, so that an easy game went a-glimmering.

What should have occurred is that given at the second table, where East decided that an ace, while holding four trumps and a doubleton, justified a single raise to see whether his partner had a maximum or minimum overcall. Of course he had a maximum.

But the safe way to handle a timid partner, like the one playing East at Table 1, is given in the examples of Table 3 and Table 4. In one case the double raise made sure East would act, and in the other the double assured it, even over the cut-in weakness bid of 2-Diamonds by North.

Danger lurks in bidding like that at the third and fourth tables, if East is aggressive and holds a stronger hand than he did this time, as he might get you too high, into some slam you can't make. But if East is timid, that is the way to bid.

YUGOSLAVS SMASH GERMAN ARMIES

Sixth Raid Within A Month Sets Berlin Flaming Anew 30 Bombers Fail To Return

Nazi Government Buildings Suffer Most; Mosquitoes Hit Other Targets Americans Lose 12 Planes In Day Swoop

By LOUIS V. HUNTER—Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 17—(CP Cable).—A mighty force of British and Canadian heavy bombers attacked Berlin in great strength during the night and early reports today indicated the world's most-bombed city was left reeling anew under the impact of its sixth shattering blow in a month.

The attack was believed as heavy as the last major raid December 2. The Air Ministry announced that more than 1,500 tons of high explosives and incendiaries were dropped from hundreds of four-engined Lancaster bombers.

Swiss reports said the Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin's Whitehall, was heavily hit.

Thirty bombers are missing.

Four R.C.A.F. bombers were lost.

Several squadrons of R.C.A.F. bombers from the Canadian group took part in the raid. Returning Canadian airmen reported a number of engagements with Nazi night fighters and they agreed that the capital was given a staggering blow.

Among the Canadian formations were the Thunderbird and Goose Squadrons.

Raid Started Early.

The raid began at an unusually early hour last night to avoid moonlight.

Private information received in Stockholm said big fires were raging in Berlin. Swedish correspondents said, however, that foreign newspapermen in Berlin were forbidden from describing last night's raid.

Stockholm said the information available indicated the German capital again had suffered very heavily, especially in the centre area. Telephone communication between Stockholm and Berlin was irregular. Berlin's transport was reported paralyzed with streets blocked by rubble.

The sixth raid on the capital in a month was launched from Britain just after American heavy bombers returned in twilight from daylight raids on northwest Germany. U.S. headquarters did not specify the target, but the German communique said the fleets were over Heliogland Bay and "dropped a great number of high explosives and incendiary bombs on residential quarters in a number of localities in northwestern Germany" and Bremen. It acknowledged particularly heavy damage to Bremen itself, the big U-boat base which the Americans battered on Nov. 26 and 29.

With last night's attack, which came before bomb-exhausted Berliners had a chance to fall asleep, more than 15,000 tons of high explosives and incendiaries have been showered upon the blackened and shattered city.

There was no clear indication of what area of Berlin the R.A.F. concentrated on last night although private information reaching Sweden indicated that the central section had suffered heavily.

The Swiss radio said the foreign office district was struck, and one Berlin broadcast clung to the familiar line that the residential area had been the target.

The German high command, in its broadcast communique, acknowledged only that "considerable damage" had resulted.

Weather over Berlin prevented accurate observation of results, the Air Ministry said, but a reconnaissance plane which scouted the target later reported seeing large fires and great columns of smoke rising above the clouds.

German Admits Killing 100 Russians

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Dec. 17 — (AP). — Moscow newspapers today devoted two of their four pages to the Kharkov atrocity trial of German soldiers and a Russian traitor accused of murder.

Principal attention was given to the trial of Capt. William Langheld, 52, of the Gestapo who was said to have pleaded guilty to the killing of civilians and Russian prisoners of war.

The courtroom was packed with workers, housewives and soldiers.

The session yesterday began with questioning of Langheld by the prosecutor, Col. N. K. Dunaiev of the Justice Department. Three court-appointed Moscow lawyers represented the accused.

The Moscow press gave this account of the trial:

At the outset of the questioning Langheld was asked:

"It is established that orders for mass extermination of innocent Soviet people were issued by the German government?"

"Yes," he answered in a firm, clear voice.

The Gestapo captain then related how 10 Red Army officers were killed in the Kharkov prison "to prevent their escape."

Dunaiev then asked Langheld:

"How many Soviet citizens did you kill yourself?"

"It is hard to say exactly but I think about 100," Langheld answered.

"How many were killed by the Germans in Kharkov and Kharkov province?"

"I heard about 30,000 and about the same number in Kiev," the Germans published testimony said. "About 15,000 were killed in Poltava."

Langheld then testified how the civilians and Russian army officers were kept in the same camp and given the same treatment.

Churchill Better

LONDON, Dec. 17. — (AP). — Improvement in Prime Minister Churchill's general condition has been maintained, a bulletin from his bedside in the Middle East, released at 10 Downing street, said this afternoon.

"There has been no spread in the pneumonia, and improvement in the Prime Minister's general condition has been maintained," said the bulletin. It was signed by Lord Moran, Brig. Evan Bedford and Lt.-Col. R. J. Pulvertaft.

WarConferences Heavy Strain On Churchill

By JOHN CHESTER
Associated Press Staff Writer.

CAIRO, Dec. 17—(AP). — Prime Minister Churchill's illness from pneumonia, which was announced in London, came directly on top of 17 days of almost continuous international conferences in the Middle East, preceded and followed by preparatory and cleanup discussions.

The Prime Minister appeared on the verge of illness when he made his only appearance before newspaper correspondents in an off-the-record press conference December 10, four days after his final meeting with President Roosevelt and President Ismet Inonu of Turkey.

Although in good spirits and optimistic, Mr. Churchill appeared pale. His eyes clearly showed strain.

He was late arriving at this conference, but once there he stood up and talked for 40 minutes. The inevitable cigar was in his hand, and his voice was as clear and strong at the end as when he started.

Although the Turkish conference ended officially December 6, this by no means was the end of conference pressure for the Prime Minister. The next day, he and Foreign Secretary Eden talked again with Inonu. Afterwards, he held a round of discussions apparently on Mid-East affairs.

Before his first meeting with President Chiang Kai-Shek on November 21 at the outset of the three historic conferences, Mr. Churchill had been working unusually hard. He made part of the trip to Cairo by sea and his ship had a special crew of Wrens who handled incoming and outgoing messages of the Churchill party.

Kept In Close Touch.

Thus he was almost as closely in touch with affairs as he had been sitting in 10 Downing Street.

His travels carried him through all sorts of weather changes. From the English winter, he came into the warm Egyptian climate where he wore light summer clothes most of the time.

However, Cairo was just starting its own winter season and the days and nights were perceptibly cooler toward the end of his stay.

The air journey to and from Teheran provided still another change as the Iranian city is on a high plateau surrounded by snow-capped mountains.

Russians Gain Upper Hand West Of Kiev

Germans Hold On Radomysl Seriously Menaced

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Dec. 17—(AP).—Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's 1st Ukraine Army appeared to have gained the upper hand west of Kiev today after more than five weeks of desperate fighting against heavy German infantry and tank attacks.

Russian counter-attacks dislodged the enemy from several settlements in the Teterev River sector 55 miles west of the Ukraine capital for the second successive day yesterday, Russian communiques said, enabling Vatutin's columns to resume their drive northwest of Radomysl.

Nazi Marshal Fritz von Mannstein's hold on that important stronghold, lying between the Korosten-Kiev and Zhitomir-Kiev main highways, now is seriously threatened by the Russian gains, dispatches indicated.

Gain In South.

Meanwhile Gen. Ivan S. Konev's 2nd Ukraine Army, 200 miles to the south, pressed its attack below captured Cherkasy toward the rail junction of Smela and repulsed fierce German counter-attacks.

(The German radio, admitting strong Russian counter-drives west of Kiev, announced at the same time that at least three Soviet offensives now were under way in White Russia, one south of Nevel, a second west of Krichev in the Mogilev area and the third southwest of Zhlobin.)

Moscow paid major attention to developments in the Kiev bulge where Vatutin apparently has broken the back of another determined sally by Von Mannstein's tanks. The fighting centred along the Teterev River between Radomysl and Malin to the north, and the Soviet war bulletin said a German attempt to force an unnamed water barrier (probably the Teterev) was dispersed.

In the fighting above the Dnieper Bend, the communique said, vanguards of Konev's army stormed forward to the outskirts of Smela under cover of a devastating artillery barrage which was slowly crumbling the defences of that important communications and supply centre.

New Hun Troops Sent To Italy

By DON WHITHEAD

With the 5th Army in Italy, Dec. 16 (delayed)—(AP)—The Germans have rushed mountain troops from Russia and put them into the battle line to help bolster defences against heavy pressure by the Anglo-American 5th Army, it was disclosed today.

They were identified as mountain-trained troops which last were heard of near Leningrad about Nov. 1.

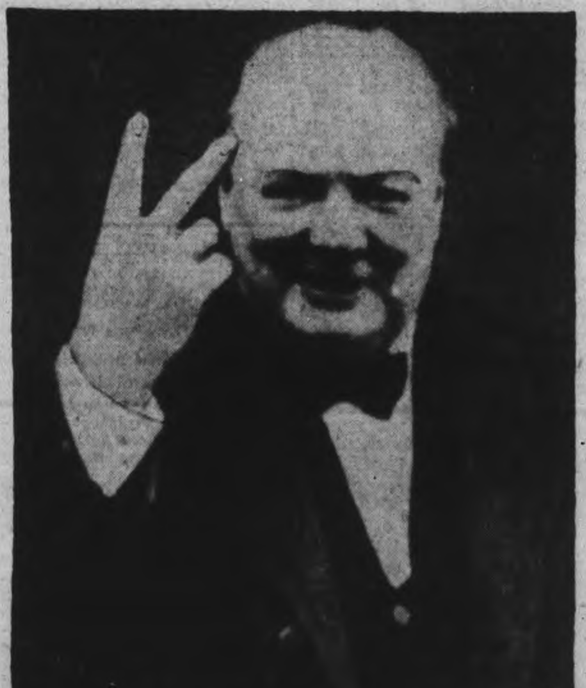
Major Offensive Peters Out Huns Retreating in Disorder

By EDWARD D. BALL—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 17—(AP).—A spectacular defeat has been inflicted on the latest German "annihilation" offensive against Yugoslav Partisans, a special war bulletin from the headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) said today. The communique said Nazi and Satellite forces everywhere had suffered defeats, and that the enemy had been thrown into retreat in numerous sectors.



BRITAIN'S DOUGHTY WARRIOR, Premier Winston Churchill, lies in a hospital in the Middle East ill with pneumonia. Prayers for his recovery are being said throughout the Empire, and reports from his doctors are encouraging. He contracted the illness following a series of important war conferences which sapped his vitality.

The communique said Nazi and Satellite forces everywhere had suffered defeats, and that the enemy had been thrown into retreat in numerous sectors.

Nazi forces which achieved one breakthrough into liberated territory and then embarked on a campaign of burning and looting are expending men and tanks recklessly in an effort to break the rising tide of Tito's fiercely-fighting forces, the bulletin continued.

Tito's announcement of the successes came shortly after the regular daily communique gave first details of the Nazi setback.

Cairo reports had indicated previously that Tito's forces, aided by Allied aerial blows, are engaging or are pinning down as many German divisions as are being battled by Allied armies in the Italian campaign on the other side of the Adriatic.

Many Successes.

These specific successes were listed in Tito's war bulletin:

Defeat of enemy forces with heavy losses in Rogatita; a large Nazi column partly destroyed and thrown into retreat in Croatia; an enemy defeat "which will considerably influence his further operations" in Western Bosnia, and heavy German losses in a battle still raging in the Livno-Duvne sector; two German columns defeated and supplies captured near Zlebovi and Rogatica in Eastern Bosnia; German evacuation of Kladanj in Central Bosnia; and the destruction of Nazi supply and communications lines in many sectors of Yugoslavia.

The vengeful Nazis, making another of their big-scale tank-led efforts to crush the fiery patriots, were brought to halt just six days after Tito, in a dramatic appeal to his men, told them "this is the decisive hour." Tito's communique was broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio.

The German offensives were aimed at the Kordun and Baniya districts of Croatia. In Western Bosnia to the south, the Yugoslavs announced the slaying of several hundred Germans and satellite troops near Livno and Duvno, while in Eastern Bosnia the Patriots also engaged in successful operations against units of the 1st Alpenjaeger (Alpine) division.

The Germans, striving to destroy Tito's army before the Allies launch a possible invasion of the Balkans, were rushing reinforcements to all areas.

Germans Contest Bitterly Every Foot Of Italian Soil

By WILLIAM STEWART—Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 15 (Delayed)—(CP Cable).—Despite bitter German resistance, Canadian troops continued today their foot-by-foot advance toward the lateral road stretching across their front to the Adriatic coastal town of Ortona.

The Germans are fighting for every trench they have dug in the black earth of the rolling, tree-dotted battle area and for every house in which they have installed machine guns. They have added parachute troops to the naturally-strong line on which they have stood for three days.

The battle rages less than two miles from the Moro River and each narrow advance is preceded by a rain of shells on the enemy positions.

The Germans are sending regular tank-supported counter-attacks across the shell-pocked road which is no-man's land and for the possession of which the battle is being fought.

The enemy still holds the town of Ortona but it is of little value to them unless they have the road.

Prepare For Allies

NOUMEA, New Caledonia, Dec. 17—(AP).—The same Free French underground movement which "permitted the Americans to land in North Africa" has started in Japanese-dominated Indo-China, the outgoing Governor of New Caledonia disclosed. "It's no secret to say we have two very important French missions, one in India and one in China, furthering this work," Christian Laigret, 40, told reporters yesterday. "They are very capable men and their work is successful."

French Units Engaged On Italian Front

Bitter Hand-To-Hand Fighting Rages In Mountains

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 17. — (AP).— French troops, entering the war on the European mainland for the first time since 1940, have scored outstanding successes against the Germans in mountain fighting in Central Italy, it was announced to-day.

The French have been in forward positions alongside British and American soldiers for some time, but their presence was not disclosed until to-day's communique from Allied Headquarters.

They are the same troops which fought alongside the Allies in Tunisia, but since then have been completely re-equipped with uniforms, guns and materials.

Soon after moving up to the battlefront the French participated in a series of local attacks, capturing several imoprtant German hilltop positions and taking a number of prisoners, who expressed surprise at finding the French in action.

The part of the front where the French troops are in operation was not disclosed.

Anzacs Busy.

New Zealand troops with the 8th Army carried out a successful attack, Headquarters said in its daily communique. The New Zealand 2nd division has been previously announced as fighting in territory inland from the Adriatic to the left of the Canadians on the coast and the Indians who are on the Canadian left flank.

There was no new word to-day of progress of the Canadians who have been fighting yard by yard toward the port of Ortona which must be taken before the 8th Army can press northward to the more important port of Pescara.

The German intensified their efforts to hold off the 8th Army, throwing more and more tanks and flame-throwers into the struggle, but the New Zealanders, Indians and Canadians beat off all Nazi attempts to break their hold on the Ortona-Orsagna highway which was cut in three places by the 8th Army the previous day.

The communique said that two determined German counter-attacks were thrown back yesterday with heavy losses inflicted on the enemy.

Wreck Pillboxes

On the western end of the front the Anglo-American 5th Army attacked the German strong point of San Pietro, north of Mignano, and one of the posts guarding the road to Rome. Attacking infantry ran into a series of concrete pillboxes. Fierce hand-to hand fighting developed.

Other heavy skirmishes were reported west of Filignano which is about four miles north of Venafro. Two hills were taken by the Allies in this sector. Farther south a strong German counter-attack was beaten off in the mountains. Headquarters said the 5th Army also took "a number of hills" deeper inland.

In the air Allied heavy bombers struck at enemy communication lines through the Alps for the second consecutive day, blasting railway yards at Padua in northeastern Italy.

The bombers, which smashed enemy rail junctions two days ago on both sides of the Brenner Pass and enemy airports near Athens the days before, also pounded a rail bridge and tunnel at Dogna, Italy, yesterday on the rail line leading northeast from Venice to Vienna.

Padua is 18 miles west of Venice.

Premier King 69 Years Old

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 — (CP). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King spent his 69th brithday at work in his office today as hundreds of message of greetings and congratulation arrived.

It was his first full day at his desk since he left a week ago last Sunday for a personal and business trip to the United States. Following a meeting of war committee of the Cabinet yesterday a few hours after his return to Ottawa a meeting of Cabinet was called for today.

No special events were planned to mark the Prime Minister's birthday.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King expects to see President Roosevelt later and talk over the "whole situation" arising out of the Cairo and Teheran conferences, he said

Long-looked for Drive on Rabaul Starts

Huge Base At Tip Of New Britain Island Next Objective

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Ever since the announcement of Prime Minister Churchill's illness with pneumonia yesterday, I have encountered on every hand expressions of concern and good wishes. Even young children are discussing it and voicing hope for a speedy recovery.

I think that's worth recording here. That and the best of luck for this great leader who is carrying such a colossal load on his stocky shoulders.

So at long last, after more than a year of bloody fighting among the stinking, disease-infested jungles on the islands of the Southwest Pacific, Amercian troops have made a successful landing on New Britain, key position in that strategic portion of the Japanese perimeter of defence.

They have without undue losses established a bridgehead at Arawe, on the southeastern coast of the big, crescent-shaped island. That means the Allies finally have forced one of the gateways of this important blockhouse. It's a grand piece of work and one that should lead to great things, but we should remember that the troops have only just got inside the gateway and that difficult operations lie ahead before the whole island is taken.

One of the most significant aspects of this new exhibition of Allied striking-power is that it emphasizes that they definitely have captured the initiative in Pacific warfare. This capture of Arawe, and other recent successes, presages the big-scale offensive which is boiling up against the enemy. Ability to embark on such an undertaking is, of course, due to great naval and air superiority in the Pacific.

What the Allies are aiming at on New Britain is the huge base at the Port of Rabaul, on the nothern horn of the crescent. This was second in importance to Japan's prize base of Truk, some 800 miles to the north, until the Allied air forces got at Rabaul and so knocked it about that the Japanese had to abandon it as a naval operating base. It still is a strong land position, however, and is guarded by a large number of troops.

Huns Face Gloomy Yuletide

Allied Bombings And Gestapo Worry Citizens

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 17.—(AP).—Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels and his propaganda machine have begun preparing the war-weary German people for their gloomiest Christmas since 1939 by promising every child one toy—and a home-made one at that.

In a war-front atmosphere of ruins and death due to Allied air bombings, almost daily executions by Heinrich Himmler's Gestapo, and country-wide shortages of every commodity, the German press is looking forward to Christmas by trying to answer the question, "Is there anything to be happy about?"

Two prominent newspapers published at opposite ends of the Reich—the Voelkischer Beobachter and the Rheinish West-Faelische Zeitung—acknowledged the outlook is not bright.

"The Times have become even more severe, more serious," they both said. "Great numbers of our women are mothers with children must spend the Christmas in changed districts among strangers. They have no homes and therefore won't be able to celebrate Christmas among their families as was their custom."

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung declared "the hours of the Christmas feast will lack most of their outward luster in this fifth year of the war—in the cities hit by the enemy bombing terror it will be impossible to light Christmas trees in every house."

25,000 Die At Changteh

Japanese Lose 11,000 Soldiers

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
Associated Press War Correspondent

IN THE CHINESES 9TH WAR AREA, Northern Hunan, Dec. 16—(Delayed)—(AP)—Gen. Hsueh Yueh governor of Hunan and commander of this war area, said today that the battle of Changteh, while it cost 14,000 Chinese casualties against 11,000 for the Japanese, was a pivotal success for the whole strategy of the United Nations in the Pacific region.

The General spoke through Lt.-Gen. Chao Tseli, his chief of staff, who interpolated explanatory remarks to Chao's resume of the struggle in which the Japanese have been thrown back on a semi-circular front.

Both generals emphasized the strategic importance of the battle for the North Hunan City, which has been turned to ruins in one of the bloodiest battles of the six-year-old Japanese war.

They beamed with satisfaction that they had been able to carry out Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek's order for a victory at Changteh at all costs.

Changteh is the military gateway west of Tungting Lake and northwest of Changsha. For the Japanese it was the more inviting route to Changsha, which had been successfully defended against three southward drives in 1939, 1940 and 1941.

Japan's Main Island Base Arawe, In New Britain Taken By American Troops

Troops Invade South Pacific Stronghold At Dawn Wednesday Morning Casualties Light, Bridgehead Established

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Dec. 17—(AP).—United States troops that invaded the Arawe Peninsula of New Britain Island Wednesday are consolidating their positions, while the American Air Force has successfully repelled several Japanese air attacks.

The announcement from Allied headquarters was the first since the bulletins yesterday telling of the landing of United States Army troops on the southwest coast of Japan's main island base in the southwest Pacific.

The United States 6th Army established its hold on the Arawe Peninsula with but few casualties, considering the scope of the operation.

The troops moved shoreward with powerful naval and air support, and seven hours after the first assault at dawn Wednesday, Brig.-Gen. Jullian Cunningham, commander of the invading force, messaged headquarters "our objective is attained."

In Action First Time.

It was the first concerted action for the 6th Army, commanded by Lt.-Gen. Walter Krueger, and it won a strategically important position for the Allies, giving them command of the southern entrance to Vitiaz and Dampier Straits which separate New Britain from the northeast coast of New Guinea, now firmly held by the Australians.

A United States destroyer force pounded Arawe and the tiny islands at the entrance to the harbor before the First Army assault troops shoved off in force for the shore. Heavy and medium bombers added their explosives to the tons of steel thrown at the enemy.

Preceding the principal assault, aimed at Orange Beach at the foot of the peninsula, a force slipped away from the invading fleet in rubber boats, intent on making the first beachhead at the top of the peninsula, to cut the Japanese retreat line.

But the force was met with heavy machine-gun and light cannon fire as they near the shore, and their attack ended on a reef, with one-quarter of the force killed or wounded. These were the principal casualties of the entire operation.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, directing the operation from a small island off the north coast of New Guinea, said not a plane of the Australian and United States squadrons that supported the action was lost, nor was any of our naval or transport ships lost.

The main assault troops hit the beach from their landing boats and speedily proceeded to mop up the few Japanese who attempted resistance from dugouts.

The Japanese air force was absent during the early stage of the landing, but put in an appearance after the troops had the area mastered.

A score of enemy dive bombers finally came over to make a few ineffectual passes over the beach and drop bombs near a zigzagging destroyer.

Allied fighters dove from heavy cloud banks to drive off the attackers, shooting down two of the enemy and keeping control of the air.

2 Counters Fail Against British

ALGIERS, Dec. 17—(AP)—New Zealand troops with the 8th Army in Italy carried out a successful attack, Allied Headquarters announced today. The communique said also that 8th Army troops had beaten off two determined German counter-attacks, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy.

On the western end of the line the 5th Army captured important hills and repulsed a counter-attack west of Venafro.

In the Adriatic British destroyers sank a small enemy naval vessel.

Headquarters announced that French troops have gone into action in Italy.

Missing Airman Reported Safe

SGT. RUSSELL DAVIDSON

After nine long wearisome months when hope of better news was almost abandoned, the Red Cross in Switzerland flashed glad tidings to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson, of Keene, advising them that their son, Sgt. Russell Duncan Davidson, of the R.C.A.F., who was declared missing after air operations overseas in April, is safe and well.

Sgt. Davidson was an air gunner who worked on the farm until he enlisted in December, 1940. He trained at Toronto and Belleville and won his wings at Mountain View.

When an airman is reported missing the announcement carries with it all the pent-up tragedy of the families at home, but in Sgt. Davidson's case, an unusual amount of pathos was added because he failed to return from his first raid over German territory. Most fliers complete a few trips on their tour, before their contribution to freedom's cause is ended. Also celebrating the news of his safety is Miss Vera Davidson, a sister, who is an employee of the Quaker Oats.

tecting the convoys and that the U-boats were sunk by the following warships: The destroyer Duncan, the destroyer Vidette and the corvettes Loosestrife and Sunflower. The Sunflower is commanded by a Canadian, Lt. Cmdr. J. Plomer, R.C.N.V.R., who had previously sunk three U-boats since he took over. This time she shared in destruction of one of the U-boats with the Vidette and the Duncan.

The communique said that the U-boats were prevented from launching even one attack against the two convoys. The actions began when a Coastal Command Liberator bomber from Wing Cmdr A. E. Clouston's squadron spotted a surfaced submarine about 15 miles from a convoy.

The aircraft attacked the submarine in face of considerable anti-aircraft fire, and was joined by another Liberator.

The destroyers Duncan and Vidette and the corvettes Loosestrife and Sunflower "immediately altered their course towards the scene of action." The U-boat dived and the aircraft dropped a smokefloat to indicate the position.

The Duncan and Vidette attacked with depth charges. "These were followed after a brief interval by a series of deep water explosions . . . large quantites of wreckage of German origin float-to the surface of the sea. Pieces of wood apparently from a writing desk, linings of bulkheads and locker lids were recovered by H.M.S. Duncan."

The Vidette then detected another U-boat and was joined by the Duncan and the Sunflower in an attack with depth charges. Again underwater explosions followed and large pieces of wood and other wreckage floated to the surface and were picked up.

The Duncan and Sunflower took part in the convoy battle announced last Saturday in which five U-boats were sunk and three were damaged.

on the secondary German supply route to the Italian battleground.

This rail link to Germany leads through northeastern Italy and across the Austrian border to Villach where one branch turns northwestward to Munich and the other goes to Vienna. Except for one major attack on a junction immediately outside Venice, this route has been comparatively free from bombings.

Allied light aircraft continued attacks over a wide area yesterday. Their targets included German positions, motor transport and communication points on both the 5th and 8th Army fronts and shipping off both coasts of Italy. A number of ships were hit.

Nazis Disband Italian Unit

BARCELONA, Dec. 17 (AP)—Reports from northern Italy today said that the Fascist Littorio Division which has been stationed at Verona for several weeks under German officers, has been ordered to depart for an undisclosed destination.

There were rumors the troops are being sent to Germany to be disarmed and used as laborers in pursuance of German plans to strip northern Italy of its available manpower.

The Berlin correspondent of a Barcelona newspaper, meanwhile, reported from the German capital that arrangements were being completed for the early trial of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Benito Mussolini's son-in-law, for the part which he played in the ousting of the former Duce. (The Germans denied an earlier report that Ciano was shot by a German firing party for "treason.")

At the same time the French press carried an announcement from Germany that Mussolini's son, Vittorio, had been named chief of the Italian Fascist party.

Germans Contest

Troops from New Brunswick (the Carleton and York Regiment) gained a few yards from San Leonardo and the Orsogna-Ortona lateral road but they were opposed by heavy machine-gun, mortar and shell fire.

(Allied headquarters announced Thursday that Canadian and Indian troops had cut the Ortona-Orsogna road in three places'.

French - speaking troops (the Royal 22nd of Quebec) consolidated around a group of houses which form the settlement of Beradi after clearing it out by street fighting Tuesday. The Germans made a tank-supported counter - attack but the Canadians held firm and put one tank out of commission.

Counter Jabs Fast

Canadian - manned Sherman tanks, commanded by Major H. A. Smith of Dauphin, Man., supported the Canadian attack on the settlement and helped repulse the counter-attack.

Another counter-attack was delivered against the Canadian left flank where troops from the Pacific coast (the Seaforth Highlanders of Vancouver) were dug in. It likewise was defeated.

Patrol activity all along the narrow front was heavy and snipers were particularly active around a gully which runs into the Canadian positions. The Germans hold the gully by the weight of their machine-guns.

The Maritimers drove three of enemy snipers out of a house by blasting it with mortar fire from close range after the German marksmen had withstood an artillery barrage and a hail of small arms fire.

A German artillery observation post in a house overlooking part of the Canadian area was put out of business by a tank which hammered it with several rounds from its 75-mm. gun.

The fierceness of the battle has caused considerable casualties but the Canadians, despite the harrowing days and nights, have made attack after attack toward the road and the railway line behind it, both of which are dominated by the German position.

One depleted company of a Pacific coast battalion made a determined march along the road.

Maj. Smith's tanks supported the march and cleaned up a number of houses on the way. The soldiers trudged along on foot, bayonets fixed carrying grenades. The tanks blasted the houses and the soldiers collected 77 prisoners. Smith's Shermans destroyed two German Mark IV (medium) tanks, fought until dusk without casualties and returned.

A Maritime force marching with tanks commanded by Maj. Doug. McIndoe of Vernon, B.C., formed a similar combat team and helped put four German tanks out of commission Monday.

This force came within 100 yards of the camouflaged enemy tanks when it spotted the protruding guns. The Germans apparently were asleep because German heads popped out of the turret only as the Canadian tankmen opened fire.

Arrest 80 Priests

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 — (AP).—The Swiss newspaper Basler Nachrichten said in a dispatch reported to the Office of War Information last night that 80 priests of the Milan area and a prominent Catholic leader of Cremona, had been arrested in new Fascist attacks on the church in Nazi-occupied Northern Italy.

New Invasion Opens Lane To Philippines

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP)—The invasion of New Britain, obviously aimed at conquest of the entire island and seizure of Rabaul, not only threatens the Japanese with irretrievable loss of that key base but presages the first real strategic setback of the war for the Rising Sun empire.

Coinciding as it did with President Roosevelt's return to the United States, the landing of United States forces with naval support on the bomb-swept beaches of Arawe gave fresh emphasis today to the decision of Cairo and Teheran to shatter the military might of Germany and to strip Japan of the last vestiges of her conquered empire.

The fall of Rabaul may not come quickly, but when it does it will open a hole 1,000 miles wide in Japan's outer defence ring, from the northern coast of New Guinea to Ponape in the Caroline Islands. Strategically the Japanese will have suffered a body blow.

The implications of the long-expected landings on New Britain are enormous, and for the first time the interlocking nature of the operations in New Guinea, the Solomons and the Gilbert Islands becomes

While the heavy bombers were busy over Berlin formations of fleet R.A.F. Mosquitoes stabbed at unspecified objectives in western Germany and other British planes attacked targets in northern France. Mines also were laid in enemy waters, the Air Ministry said.

A German broadcast said bombs fell in Berlin's residential areas, but the Swiss radio later declared that many dropped in the previously-damaged Wilhelmstrasse section wherein lie the important Nazi government offices.

Until last night Berliners had been free for two weeks to dig out of the shambles left by five major raids between Nov. 18 and Dec. 2—a series of devastating attacks that neutral sources said spread ruin through half of the city.

The R.A.F. went out early last night just as United States heavy bombers were returning to darkening bases after a trip somewhere into northwestern Germany through intense flak.

The Americans lost 11 bombers and one fighter, a communique said, but shot down 18 Nazi fighters. The northwest Germany targets were unnamed.

Greeting newspapermen in his office after a brief cabinet meeting, Mr. King said he looks forward to facing the heavy obligations which may come to him in his 70th year in "a spirit of co-operation, such as we have had in the past."

He said he would like word to go to Mr. Churchill that he is much in the thoughts and prayers of the Canadian people during his illness.

Mr. King said while he made no formal request, he welcomed the spontaneous movement among Canadian clergy to ask their congregations to offer special prayers for the British Prime Minister's recovery.

Speaking of his recent trip to the United States, Mr. King said he had hoped to see Mr. Roosevelt but when some pressing matters came up in Ottawa it would be unfaiar to remain just one day longer and take up the President's time immediately after his return.

Moreover, he said, he preferred to spend his birthday in Canada.

moved up a battle group composed of infantry plus artillery to reinforce the sector held by the 15th armored grenadiers who were pretty well chewed up by Allied troops in Sicily.

After the fall of Sicily, the 15th came to the Capua region for refitting and replacements and to guard the beaches north of Naples against Allied invasion.

Informed but unofficial sources do not expect the German to move any new motorized divisions to the Italian front in the near future. Probably they will rely on infantry or mountain troops better suited to the terrain.

While German units on this front have taken a heavy pounding from Allied troops and their losses are heavy, there are no indications of any serious cracking of morale. The bitterness of fighting on the Italian front makes it obvious that anyone who places any extreme hope on a breakdown of German soldier morale immediately is indulging in wishful thinking.

Divisions on the 5th Army front include the 15th Armored Grenadiers, the 30th Infantry Division formerly near Genoa, the 44th Infantry Division from the Partisan area in Slovenia, the 29th Armored Grenadiers who were in Sicily, and the 94th Infantry Division which was at Stalingrad and later at Genoa.

TORONTO POULTRY

TORONTO, Dec. 17 — (CP). — The fresh dressed poultry market maintains a firm tone, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports. Larger operators report increase in receipts of chicken, but arrivals of fowl are light and demand for fowl in light. Demand is exceptionally good for all kinds of poultry with the exception of the fowl.

Arrivals of turkeys, ducks and of geese are not sufficient to take care of requirements, causing an upward revision of price for these kinds of poultry. One mixed car of geese and ducks is due to arrive from the West costing 27 cents lb., for geese, basis grade A, heads off, and 29 cents lb. for ducks, basis grade A. Three cars of turkeys arrived from the West and two more are due to arrive over the week-end. One of the cars on the spot contains practically all grade B birds. Others are mixed grades, reported costing ceiling prices.

Dealers are quoting producers and country shippers for dressed poultry.

Broilers, grade A milk-fed 34c lb., B milk-fed 32c, B 30c, and C 27c.

Regent Theatre And Patrons Give Aid To Christmas Fund

Coming at a time when the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund can stand all the help it can possibly receive because of the special objective to carry Christmas Cheer to the sufferers of air Theatre last Monday staged special feature for the purpose which coupled with the penny box located at the cashier's window there, has resulted in a total of $33. coming to the fund, which is credited in today's receipts.

This evening is always given over to what is known as Foto-Nite, and various ways are used to choose a lucky winner, who if he or she is present, receives a fairly substantial cash prize in return for a personal photograph on condition they happen to be in the audience at that particular time.

Five boys, Leonard Cooper, Roger Hendren, Jack Fowlie, Terry Brown and Jimmy Johnston took up a collection on behalf of the fund, and the number behind the boy who happened to have the largest amount was chosen as the winner. In all, this collection amounted to $15.25.

To this on behalf of the Theatre, Jack Marshal who is master of ceremonies on this special night, added $5. for the part the boys played in the evenings feature, and this added to the $12.75 that was collected from the penny box made up a total of $33 as named above, the largest that has come in at any one time from this source.

Personal Help Needed

It is this one particular feature of the fund's activities that could be much better supported in a city and district of this size, for only a very relatively small percentage of the people so far have taken a part as individuals, and remembering there is nothing just as comparative as taking a personal part that counts the most, there surely could be a much better response in this one particular.

To-day there are ten personal gifts recorded which include Mrs. Fee, R. R. Ford, John David and Anne Comstock, and Mrs. Henwood, besides six others listed with the initials of their names or as a friend, all of whom will be in spirit with the youngsters in Britain when their Christmas is made just a bit brighter because they saw to it that the means to make it so was provided, as mostly all of them designated their gift for the children's fund.

Six Group Donations

Gifts were received from six different groups, of which three were from young folk, with two classes, Grade 1 and Grade 2 of Queen Alexandra School doing their bit in amounts of $3 and $4.25 respectively, while Young Peoples' Class of Carmel Sunday School through their teacher, Mrs. Earle Ivy, sent in the sum of $2.60.

What a splendid thing it is that people of all creeds and opinions can unite in one common purpose for the good of suffering humanity, an example of which is borne out by a gift from each of Corinthian Chapter No. 36, Royal Arch Masons, and the Catholic Women's League of St. Peter's, for the universal benefits that are derived from doing good belong to no particular group, and are the privilege of all to do their share as followers of Him, born on Christmas Day as the Saviour of all mankind.

The Get Together Club which was formed specifically to help the fund, is also listed today with a gift for the children's fund which follows one they gave some three weeks ago. At that time their givings had climbed to the nice total of $300, and this their latest adds another $7 to that amount.

This latest gift was raised through a small euchre party of which Miss Fitzner of London street was the hostess, and includes the returns from a small draw held on a toy dog donated by her for that purpose. The draw was made by C. Fairbairn of R.R. No. 4, Peterborough, which gave the prize to Mrs. Griffith of Ross street with ticket No. 255. Mrs. William Youdell at the moment is the convener of this group.

This Saturday, the stall on the market will be supplied and operated by Mrs. Rufus Payne of Water street, who will have articles that make excellent gifts, besides holding a draw with a wool mat as prize.

Churchill Will Be Absent For Long Period

By JUDSON O'QUINN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 17 — (AP). — Prime Minister Churchill undoubtedly will require a long period for recuperation from his second pneumonia attack in 10 months and consequently it was expected today that Britain's war cabinet might name an acting leader to serve in his absence.

The first of the daily bulletins promised from his bedside somewhere in the Middle East, was issued from No. 10 Downing Street at 7 p.m. last night and reported "some improvement in his general condition" after a restful night. He is under the care of three physicians, including a heart specialist.

The London press was virtually unanimous in suggesting that on his return he delegate to assistants a great portion of the tasks that have kept him up almost daily until the wee hours of the morning.

There seemed general agreement that a long convalescence was in prospect for the stricken leader despite the incredible energy still apparent in his 70th year (he observed his 69th birthday during the Teheran conference) and the driving force that raised the British Empire from the dark day of 1940 to the dawn of a day of victory.

Took Front Page

Prayers went up throughout the Empire for his quick recovery. The King arranged for a messanger to bring him hourly news.

The Daily Sketch devoted its entire front page to a photograph of Mr. Churchill with the caption: "The man to whom so many owe so much,' a few lines telling of his illness, and a quotation from Psalms 86:15-16:

"But Thou, O Lord, art a God full of compassion and gracious .. .. give Thy strength unto Thy servant."

Judging from the experience of the pneumonia attack that sent him to bed shortly after his Casablanca conference with President Roosevelt, his friends say virtual force would be required to keep him away from work. During the earlier attack he was described as the "world's worst patient." That time he was ill about a month.

The Prime Minister's exact whereabouts was not disclosed, but the Daily Mirror quoted the German satellite Vichy radio as saying he was ill in Cairo.

A Dominion Problem

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—Dana Porter, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Toronto St. George, said last night reduction of the individual beer quota in Ontario from 36 pints to 24 pints a month is "an attempt to solve a problem that has been laid at our door by Dominion restrictions." He was addressing a meeting of the St. Paul's Progressive Conservative Association.

Lords Criticize War Talks Ask Changes

LONDON, Dec. 17.—(CP).—Lord Mottistone told the House of Lords yesterday that "a very dangerous murmur" is arising in Britain over the possiblity of another Passchendaele—which he called "a bloody debacle" of the last war—as a result of any ironclad agreement which may have been reached at Teheran and Cairo conferences as to the scope and timing of the Allied grand assault on the Axis.

"I know full well the Prime Minister himself is bitterly opposed to putting us in strait jacket and so preventing the master mind who will direct affairs in the critical moment in battle from acting wisely in accordance with the circumstances of the moment," he said.

Lord Mottistone, the former Maj.-Gen. J. E. B. Seely, is a distinguished soldier. He commanded Canadian cavalry in the last war.

Discuss Policy.

Lord Strabolgi, chief Labor whip, questioned the wisdom of the Allied unconditional-surrender policy and said that if less drastic demands were made Germany's satellites might be induced to withdraw from the war and thus shorten the conflict and save much bloodshed and destruction.

Viscount Cranborne, Dominion Secretary, replied that it would be "absolutely impossible" to depart from the unconditional surrender policy "at this late hour."

"It would not have any advantage so far as Germany's satellites are concerned," he said, "but would strike terror and despair to the hearts of our friends in Europe."

Lord Mottistone said that the reason anxiety is spreading over plans for invasion is the "remembrance of Passchendaele."

"Hundreds of thousands of the people are still mourning relatives lost in that battle, in which their lives were bound in an iron grip by a plan agreed upon," he said.

"It was tragic and a folly and throughout the length and breadth of the land they were waiting for a word to dispel the idea there is going to be another Passchendaele.

"I know it is not true. I believe it is probably the case that the plan made is a very good one but I hope the government leader (Lord Cranborne) can tell us that what these great men (Mr. Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt and Marshal Stalin) have agreed together as to scope and timing is not the actual movement of ships, troops and airplanes at the critical hours of battle.

"Decisions of detail like that should be for the supreme command at the moment."

The Battle of Passchendaele was part of the vast Allied offensive of Ypres in 1917. It was fought at great cost in casualties and ended when the Canadian 1st and 2nd Divisions occupied the ruined village of Passchendaele.

Fire Destroys Soldier's Home

TRENTON, Dec. 17.— (CP).—A mother and four children, Annie, 8; Edward, 6; Margaret, 5, and James, Jr., the family of Pte. James J. Crooks of the Canadian Army, stationed at Kingston, are homeless as the result of a fire which destroyed their home and its contents on the bay shore. The mother and oldest daughter were shopping at the time and the other children had been left with their grandmother, Mrs. R. Beckwith, across the street.

Fire is thought to have started from an overheated stove and before noticed by neighbors it had gained great headway.

Trenton fire reels arrived in a matter of minutes and within seconds had the blaze under control, thus saving many buildings close by from a similar fate, as there was a strong wind blowing at the time.

The Crooks' home and its contents were destroyed.

A second fire almost destroyed the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Merker, 105 Front street, when firemen worked for over three hours in zero temperature before the blaze was brought under control.

Pupils Present Yuletide Play

HAVELOCK, Dec. 17 (ENS) — A happy crowd of children and their parents attended the annual Sunday School Christmas concert in the basement of St. John's Anglican church this week.

A variety program was announced by Mrs. Frank McKay, owing to the absence of Rev. C. E. Lemon. "A Christmas Story" was told by the Beginners Class, with each pupil saying a verse. A piano selection "Apple Blossoms" was played by Betty Post. An interesting dialogue "The Sick Baby" was played by Joan Taylor, Dorothy Holdcroft and Claire McKay. Misses Jean and Joan Quinn played a piano duet and Joan Taylor gave a piano selection.

Stanwood Circle Sponsors Bazaar

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 17 — (ENS).—A bazaar was held in connection with the anuual meeting of the Stanwood Sewing Circle this week. Rev. J. R. Holden of Springbrook was a visitor.

Reports revealed a most satisfactory year and Mrs. E. Rowe in her report as secretary indicated there had been 12 meeting during the year with an average attendance of 17 of the 21 members. Their principal activity had been making quilts which were subsequently donated to the war effort. There were 11 in this category and five others which were sold. Other activities included two pot luck dinners, and an anniversary supper and a bazaar. Mrs. Rowe also read a letter of thanks from the I.O.D.E. Bemersyde Chapter in which appreciation was expressed for a contribution to that organization.

The bazaar held during the afternoon featured the sale of articles contributed by the members. They included aprons, tea towels, dresser scarves and realized $5.20 for the Circle.

Mrs. Redden presided for the election of officers which resulted in the following being named:

President, Mrs. Carleton Rowe; first vice-president, Mrs. Carmen Redden; second vice - president, Mrs. Stan Keller; treasurer, Mrs. Murray Petherick; secretary, Mrs. E. Rowe; flowers and sick committee, Mrs. J. Lain, Mrs. J. Rowe, and Mrs. Robert Lisle; organist, Mrs. Stan. Keller; parsonage committee, Mrs. Carleton Rowe, and Mrs. Murray Petherick.

Premier Returns Ready For Talks

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 16 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King returned to Ottawa today after a 10-day visit to the United States—"Partly personal, partly business"—and said he is ready to go to London any time the other Dominion prime ministers can be there for a conference.

Mr. King, looking refreshed and fit, said he had hoped to remain south of the border until he could see President Roosevelt on the latter's return from the Cairo and Teheran conferences.

Some "rather urgent matters" had come up, however, which required his presence in Ottawa. He was unable to say whether he would go south again later to meet the president.

He did not say what matters brought him back.

Asked about the prospects of a conference of prime ministers in London, he said:

"They are trying to arrange the conference. I have stated I am ready to go at any time the others can be there.

"It was hoped it might be held about this time but this was not possible."

Cheese Output Drops By 34,638 Pounds

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 17. — (Ens).—Folowing the general trend observed in production during the past season Woodland Cheese and Butter Company reported 34,638 pounds less cheese than they had turned out last year. However, the quality of their product was well maintained as only 7 per cent of the cheese made by the factory owner-maker William Baker, was scored as undergrade.

Dairy Instructor W. J. Moore of Peterborough was a guest of the patrons for the first factory meeting in that district, and spoke of milk testing and the result obtained by using filter disc strainers. Mr. Moore foresaw the universal use of these more efficient striners during the coming season, and he told of their value in removing the sediment which otherwise found its way into the finished product.

President George S. Vanvolkenburg presided for the meeting and the secretary Milton Blakely gave the financial report. He said the 49 patrons had delivered 1,872,683 pounds of milk to the factory during the season, compared to 2,273,366 a year ago. This yielded a total of 62,172.2 pounds of butter fat for an average test of 3.3 per cent. The total amount of cheese made was 159,011, against 193,649 last year. It required an average of 11.7 pounds of milk to make pound of cheese and for every pound of fat they got 2.55 pounds of cheese.

Receipts Higher.

The average price received for butterfat was 50 cents per pound and each standard of milk averaged $50.15, he reported. The total receipts from the sale of cheese were $33,219.54, with the Provincial subsidy bringing an additional $3,155.94; the quality bonus $1,548.50, and the Ottawa milk subsidy which came into effect October 1, $991.32. The gross receipts for the year stood at $38,915.30, a slight increase over 1942's $37,392.66 owing to the extra ⅜ cent per pound received when the price was set at 20 cents f.o.b shipping point. In 1942 they received 19⅝ cents less freight charges.

Grading returns for the season indicated that of a total of 1,731 boxes of cheese sold 357 were 94's, 1,139 were 93's, 108 were 92's, and 127 undergrades. During the election of officers it was decided to adopt the practice of a number of other plants and combine the office of president and secretary, which meant the automatic retirement of Milton Blakely as George S. Vanvolkenburg took over both jobs.

Directors for 1944 are Percy Wood, Alfred Forde, Garnet Curle, and Thomas Dunham.

Layoff 1,400

NOBEL, Ont., Dec. 17 (CP)—Approximately 1,400 of an esitmated 2,200 employees now at work in defence industries limited here will be laid off by Jan. 31, 1944, it was disclosed yesterday by plant officials following Wednesday's Ottawa announcement that employees will be released daily starting Jan. 1.

Monty Wins Bet

WITH THE 8TH ARMY IN ITALY, Dec. 14 (Delayed)—(AP).—His eyes twinkling, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery told his men yesterday "a lot of people are taking money betting on when we get to Rome," and added: "I made £10 this morning, myself."

(He did not specify what he had put his money on, but the remark suggested he had not expected to see Rome just yet.)

The 8th Army's commander said it was a general who paid off.

Russian Doctors Perfect Direct Feeding

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 —(AP). — Russia's daring military surgeons are feeding a big meal directly into wounded abdomens of their soldiers with dramatic results. The method is described in the first issue of the American Review of Soviet Medicine, a new publication.

The Russians pump the meal directly into an intestine and call it "feeding abdominal wounds." The food is pumped even into a perforated intestine after it has been closed surgically.

The meal is a whopper. The menu is nearly one pint of milk, two eggs, a cube of butter nearly four inches on a side, nearly two ounces of sugar, a little salt, and from 50 to 70 cubic centimetres of distilled alcohol.

The alcohol is a real shot, amounting to from 1-50th to 3-20ths of a pint.

P. A. Panikov describes the feeding, which was originated by Spasokukotski.

"The satisfactory effects of the Spasokukotski method of feeding were sometimes evident on the operation table itself," Panikov writes. "Frequently we observed the color return to the cheeks, lips become red and warm to the touch. In the majority of cases, the patients fell asleep at the end of the operation. The pulse became rhythmic, the beat much clearer, and the breathing deep and regular.

"The injured were able to go through the post-operative period with much less pain. From the third to the fifth day the patient showed a desire to eat."

7 Disband A.R.P.

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—Thirty-four Ontario municipalities which organized under the civilian defence committee intend to continue their work on a modified basis, it was reported yesterday. Seven municipalities—Hamilton, London, North Bay, Kapuskasing, Ajax, Parry Sound and Creighton Mine—have indicated they wish to discontinue civilian defence. About 45 municipalities have not announced their intentions.

Council Plans Snow Removal

MILLBROOK, Dec. 17 — (ENS)—The final meeting of the Millbrook Municipal Council was held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday with Reeve P. I. Bentley in the chair and all members present.

The communications included a letter from the Ontario Department of Health re grading a drain on the Armstrong lot, which was received ond filed. A letter from the Misses Fee re a tree in dangerous condition was referred to the Streets' committee; also a report from Councillor G. F. Harrington regarding removal of said tree and a letter from the Presbyterian Church Board re repairs to shed, which have been completed. It was moved by Ball and Olan that a grant of $10 be made toward repairs to shed.

Councillor Harrington discussed the removal of snow from streets of the village, and the unnecessary piling of snow in front of the places of business. The Clerk was asked to prepare a by-law covering the points suggested. The collector reported $11,949.13 taxes collected to December 1, 1943, allowing a discount of $348.98.

The following accounts were ordered paid, on motion of Powell-Ball: —L. Winslow, sawing wood, $1.25; J. J. Kellett, constable, $6.50; Lavergne Fallis, sanding, etc., $4.03; H. M. Trick coal for Fire Hall, $16.50; H. M Trick, coal, Town Hall, $106.50; Presbyterian church, grant $10.00; Library Board, balance, $175; Board of Health, fees, $100; County Treasurer county rate, $1930.83; School Board, balance levy, $826.75.

Before dispersal, Reeve Bentley thanked the members of Council for their co-operation throughout the year, . pressing pleasure in the spirit of harmony which had prevailed, and also the hope that they would be back for another year's service in 1944. In closing, the Reeve extended his personal good wishes for a Happy Christmas and New Year to the individual councillors and the other municipal officers.

Council adjourned sine die.

GREEKS HAD SELF-RULE

The Montreal Strike

On December 13 the police and firemen of the city of Montreal went on strike for a higher rate of pay; on December 14 the city, under orders from the Quebec provincial government, granted the strikers' demands. The whole affair was an excellent example of the way in which a powerful labour union can extort concessions from a community by threats and unprincipled action. The Montreal police and firemen are associated with the Canadian Congress of Labour, which in turn is a C.I.O. affiliate, and apparently their loyalty to their union is greater than their loyalty to their city or to the important jobs which they hold. The danger in such a situation is clear.

• • •

Nobody wants policemen and firemen to be without a bargaining agency, but it is calamitous when their bargaining agency means more to them than their duty. Policemen and firemen are people upon whom we depend for essential protection of life and property and for the preservation of decency and order; the jobs which they hold are respected and we sincerely believe that most communities treat them well and are ready to go on doing so in the future. Being a policeman or a fireman is a job, certainly, but it is something more than that: it is a position of public trust. When the policemen and firemen of Montreal reveal that they are simply in their jobs for what they can get, they prove clearly that they are not fit for the jobs they have. And when they show that their loyalty to a union is greater than their loyalty to their city and its people, they tell us in the clearest terms that they can never be fully trusted again.

• • •

Presumably the police and the firemen will strike again as soon as the C.C.L. tells them to do so. It is true that Mr. A. R. Mosher, the president of the C.C.L., said that the police would not strike while under contract, and that membership in the C.C.L. would involve no conflict of loyalties for them, but the events of the past week have shown how much his assurance is worth. The police of Montreal have ceased to be the guardians of the law, and in that city the word 'policeman' no longer has the connotation of incorruptibility and integrity which it has so long possessed for British ears; they are now guardians of the law as it is interpreted by their union, and if the union calls them off the job they will go obediently. That is to say, if a large C.C.L. strike of any sort should break out in Montreal the police would turn to the union, and not to the city government, for orders.

• • •

The police and the firemen in other cities have made arrangements which seem to be satisfactory both to themselves and to the city authorities in the matters of organization and bargaining; they are policemen and firemen first, and trade unionists second. As a result, citizens of those cities feel that their welfare is in the hands of the men they have elected, and does not rest on the decision of a union leader. Montreal, unhappily, is no longer in that position and there is ample evidence that many citizens feel the insecurity and disgrace of their position. They feel, understandably, that the provincial government has betrayed them and forced them into an intolerable position. It is to be hoped that they will find means of putting their house in order before they suffer some mishap under the present regime.

Fr. Murphy And The Japs

An extremely interesting interview with Father Harold Murphy of Kingston has appeared in the Whig-Standard of that city; Father Murphy has recently returned home after seven years at the Catholic Mission in Lishui, in Chekiang Province of China, and his opinions on Chinese matters, and on the Sino-Japanese war are therefore of unusual value. His remarks about the Japanese fighting forces are much less violent than those of many military commentators who have never seen a Jap at close quarters; the officers, he says, generally behave with restraint and reasonable courtesy toward the conquered, but they make no attempt to control the passions of the ordinary soldiers, who are deliberately trained to be merciless, brutal and disgusting in their conduct. He has never, he says, seen a Japanese, officer or man, treat a child cruelly. He recalls one incident, in which the Japanese had captured a town and butchered all of its inhabitants who had not fled, but when Chinese children ran back to the town and mocked and derided the conquerors the latter merely laughed and threw them coins. The men of the Japanese navy, says Father Murphy, have been trained in the European tradition, and are not nearly so savage or implacable as the land forces.

Having seen them fight, Father Murphy has no doubt whatever that the eventual victory will fall to the Chinese. Their courage under hardship, their indomitable resolve, their ingenuity and their high spirits cannot be conquered. For the guerillas his praise is particularly warm; they fight in rags, and barefooted, and often they have no more than five cartridges for a day's fighting, but they make every bullet count and they harrass the enemy in a manner which seems far beyond their possible strength. Japanese spies, says Father Murphy, are everywhere, and it is literally impossible to trust any neighbour, unless he is able to heap proof upon proof that he is a genuine patriot.

Father Murphy has been in China during the whole of the "incident", and he knows what he is talking about. His account of his conditions, therefore, has a weight of experience behind it which few men can equal.

Mr. Churchill's Pneumonia

Although the dispatches reporting it do not suggest that there is any cause for alarm, many people in the United Nations will be disturbed by the news that Mr. Churchill has pneumonia. He flouted the warning of a cold to attend the series of meetings in the Middle East which have been so successfully concluded, and did his work at the conference table while he had a heavy cold. Now the cold has developed into pneumonia and at the age of 69 that is not a trifle. Certainly when he has recovered his physicians will insist that he take some time for rest and complete recuperation.

Churchill is a man of indomitable spirit, and restraint of any kind is irksome to him. Like many men he hates enforced inactivity and coddling colds, and he apparently believes that the best cure for a cold is contempt and plenty of hard work. There are times when that Spartan treatment is effective and other times when it fails; this is one of the latter. The great strain which has been put on his health during the war period has taken its toll of his powers of resistance and quick recovery, and this is his second bout of pneumonia in the course of a year. The last one followed the Casablanca conference last February. It was reported at that time that the Prime Minister was the despair of his doctors, as he insisted on working in bed, reading the war news as it arrived, and smoking the large strong cigars which appear to affect his system as mountain air affects the lungs of less remarkable constitutions.

Everyone will wish him a speedy recovery. And everyone will hope that he will take better care of himself in the future. An excessive indulgence in pneumonia is to be discouraged in one of the Big Three of world affairs.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Some Canadian scrap-iron dealers, we see, are accused of having short-weighted the Japs before they declared war on us. Ah, these deceitful democracies!

"British Grandmothers Will Work in Aircraft Factories" says a headline. Splendid! Nothing like useful work to keep grandma from getting out of date.

In Chicago, we learn, a college girl is impersonating Santa Claus in a department store. We flatly refuse to believe that any college girl has a face which would make a credible background for those noble whiskers.

The Brantford Expositor tells the world that editors in general are ceasing to use the editorial 'we'. We had not noticed this, but we are glad that the Expositor has not relinquished the old editorial custom of looking deep into its own bosom and representing what it finds there as a widespread trend.

Five aircraft engine works in New Jersey were tied up last week when workers walked out to protest against an assistant supervisor who was "objectionable" to them. On the same day a soldier who had had a leg blown off in Tunisia told a Washington committee: "Sometimes the boys in the foxholes wonder what they're fighting for".

Victory Diet Builds A1 People

By GOWON SCHAFFER

MANY times the story has been told of how wartime Britain has ensured the adequate feeding of the army of industrial workers on whom victory so largely depends. Evidence is now coming to light to show that the drive for better feeding of the people is having even more far-reaching results.

This food policy has taken three forms:—

1. State subsidsies of essential foods, thus ensuring that the prices of these commodities are within the range of every housewife's purse;

2. Rationing of goods in short supply so that all have an equal share;

3. Establishment of canteens in factories, mines and docks, enabling the majority of the workers to secure a substantial midday meal "off the ration." In addition, British Restaurants under municipal control, provide cheap meals for workers in establishments where there is no canteen, while there has been big-scale developments of the scheme to provide milk and midday meals in the schools and day nurseries.

It is no exaggeration to say that the success of this scheme for feeding the nation has been one of the main factors in bringing Britain's productive power to its present peak point. By keeping food prices low, inflation and the chase of wages after prices, which was so dangerous an element in the economy of the last war, has been avoided. Factory meals have kept the workers in heavy industry going, when normal rations were not adequate to maintain efficiency.

THERE were immediate results. Today, statistics are coming to light proving that despite the heavy strain of war, despite Hitler's air terror, the British people are healthier than when war broke out. Mr. Ernest Bevin revealed one significant fact in his speech to the Trades Union Congress. He told the delegates that the boys of 18 now coming forward for military service are healthier than the boys of 1939.

Sir John Boyd Orr, Britain's No. 1 expert on nutrition, has just produced more detailed evidence. He told me about it when I visited the Rowett Research Institute at Aberdeen, of which he is Director. This is what he said: "When war broke out it was of the utmost importance, not only that the fighting men, but the civilian population should be properly fed. We were able to make use of scientific evidence on nutrition, collected during the last 20 years, but never before adequately used.

"Just as war broke out we had completed a survey of the nutrition position of 1,500 families from the North of Scotland to the South of the Thames. The result showed that during the 1930s there had been a considerable improvement in the feeding of the people. Where formerly one-half of the population did not have sufficient food for maximum health, the figure had been reduced to one-third by 1939.

"This improvement was due partly to a rise in the standard of living and partly to public health measures. Nevertheless, one-third of the population was still not receiving enough of the protective foods and was not up to standard when war came.

"I do not mean that all these people were hungry. It is possible for a diet to satisfy hunger, and yet not give the food element necessary for health."

◇ ◇ ◇

"WAR made us adopt a food policy based on modern discoveries in nutrition. Rationing, coupled with the absence of unemployment, has enabled every family to buy a fair share of available food. That has meant a revolutionary change in the dietary of the people. Wealthy people now gets less. The poor get more. With less food in the country everybody is better fed—even the rich who ate too much before.

"Every child, however poor, gets his orange before a millionaire. Before the war there was a general deficiency of calcium in the diet. Today, calcium consumption is up by an average of 25 per cent.

"As a result of these changes one would expect children to grow faster and fewer infants to die in the first year of life owing to the malnutrition of the mother. That is what is happening. We only got going thoroughly at the beginning of 1942 and it is since then that the most striking results have been noted. Boys of 13 in Glasgow, for example, are 0.88 inches taller than in 1937. Boys of 5 are 0.44 inches taller."

SIR JOHN believes that the United Nations cannot allow this war experience to be forgotten. At the Hot Springs conference each country gave its pledge to bring within the reach of every family sufficient of the right kind of food to maintain health. He foresees in the fulfilment of this pledge developments in agriculture which will change the face of the world. For the United States, it will mean bringing 40 million more acres under cultivation and increasing production of health foods by from 15 to 75 per cent.

For Britain it will involve keeping under cultivation every acre brought into production to meet the needs of war and increasing by from 25 to 65 per cent the output of various essential foods. Instead of gluts, agriculture will always be in a position to find a market for its product.

"If the Hot Springs decision are not applied, I despair," Sir John told me, "but I do not believe that Britain, which has risen to such heights in war, will go back on these pledges."

◇ ◇ ◇

UNDER the direction of Sir John Orr and other experts, the Rowett Research Institute is carrying out a great deal of valuable work. With 1,000 acres of arable land and 500 acres of hill country, experiments are being made in maximum food production. Science is being brought to bear on every phase of agricultural work. Farmers and farm-workers are attending demontrations and conferences. Thousands of samples of soil, sent from all parts of the country, are being analysed and advice given on crop and fertilizers.

Here they are getting down to the job of preparing the fuller life for mankind for which the peoples are fighting and working.

Socialistic Aims

Complaining that the C.C.F. policy has been misrepresented by its foes, Mr. M. J. Coldwell explains that the party is "a Socialistic movement in exactly the same manner as the Labour Parties of the British Commonwealth and the Anglo-Saxon world are Socialist."

Almost as he was making the statement, the Labour Party of Great Britain was issuing a manifesto calling for acquisition by the state of all agricultural land, with the state to provide for its management.

Quite a few farmers in Canada will want to know whether Mr. Coldwell still considers his comparison apt.—Windsor Star.

The Art of Lambasting

(From the Winnipeg Free Press)

MR. Malcolm MacDonald, High Commissioner for Great Britain to Canada and a former member of the Churchill government, is a very reckless young man. If he reads that great organ of disgruntled Toronto opinion, the Globe and Mail, he must be aware that it always has ready to hand a good stout club or bucketful of mud with which to assail anyone who dares to say a word in favor of Canada's war effort. Since this war effort, if it is held to be creditable, must reflect credit upon the Canadian government, any word of praise for it drives the Globe and Mail into paroxysms of indignation in which it sputteringly, if not very intelligibly, denounces the temerarious individual who dares to hold and express any such opinion.

Nevertheless, Mr. MacDonald, as the representative on the ground for the British government, has twice within the last month spoken in high praise of Canada's part in the war — in Great Britain, and some two weeks later in Ottawa. Upon the latter occasion "he went so far," says the Globe and Mail, "as to declare that the war would have been lost two years ago without the help of the farmers of Canada, who provided the food needed to sustain the British people through their grimmest ordeal, and 'have gone on providing it through all the difficult times that have passed since.'" The Globe and Mail regards this as an "extravagant laudation"; it suggests that if Mr. MacDonald holds this view he "is a very inefficient representative of his country" and it wants to know if this is "the final eulogy."

All of this is a notable display of bad manners, but it is also revealing, to a degree not appreciated by the Globe and Mail, of that newspaper's state of mind when it looks Ottawa-ward and sees in office a group of men headed by that fellow, Mackenzie King, who not only do not dance to the music of the organ, but appear to be disdainfully indifferent to what it thinks or says about them. Lese majeste—that's the proper description of the conduct of one who says a good word for them. Quick, the club and the tub of mud!

A lady correspondent of Saturday Night has been taking note of journalism of this type; and under the very fitting title of "The Lambasters" does full justice to it in trenchant paragraphs which we herewith reproduce:

"There is a certain type of journalist abroad today, while we are in the throes of the most destructive war the world ever knew, whose apparent idea of usefulness is to lambaste, in season and out of season, those to whom the people have entrusted the task of carrying on our country's share of the war.

If any flaw can be found in policy or admiration, these busy brethren mount the housetops and publish it abroad. They embroider the tale and impute the most sinister motives, and world at large that their government is a nest of incompetents, political jugglers and muddlers. In short, they wash any dirty linen they can find, or any they themselves smear and defile, before the multitude. If criticized, they roll up their eyes and call it constructive criticism and prate about a free press.

When anything commendable or uncriticizable is done they immediately start a frantic search for someone else to give the credit to, and bitterly denounce government leaders and spokesmen as boastful trumpet-blowers when they even announce such as government policies in the course of their duties."

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

THERE is nothing more inexplicable than that both men and women marry with the set determination of making their husbands and wives over as soon as they get them home. Nowhere else in life do reasonably human beings make this same curious and ghastly mistake.

No man would buy a fancy automobile when what he wanted and needed was a truck. No woman would get a white satin dress for a travelling gown. Yet every day we see persons selecting as mates those with whom they not only have nothing in common, but of whose almost every characteristic they disapprove.

Poor young men marry spendthrift girls who would rather be dead than not keep up with the Joneses. Highly educated men marry girls who never read anything but the beauty hints and the society column in the newspapers. Domestic men marry gadabouts. Ambitious men marry dull, stupid, uncouth women who are a millstone about their necks. Men marry high-tempered girls with whom they have quarreled all during their courtship.

And women do precisely the same things. Thousands of girls marry men who they know to be drunkards, or women-chasers, or lazy, shiftless ne'er-do-wells. Thousands of girls with champagne tastes marry boys with cold water pocketbooks. Thousands of girls who are college graduates marry men who commit mayhem upon their mother tongue every time they open their mouths to speak.

And the unfathomable mystery is why do they do it. Why did they not pick out the kind of wives and husbands that they wanted to begin with, instead of taking the offchance of being able to alter something that doesn't hit their taste into something nearer to their hearts' desire?

For it isn't that they were so blind that they couldn't see what they were getting, or so stupid that they let the party of the other part befool them into making a bad bargain. No. They knew what they were doing well enough, and were perfectly aware of the risk they were taking. It is only because that deep down in our souls is a deathless passion for reforming things that is stronger than common sense and prudence and the longing for security.

Now changing people is God's business. It is a task too big for our fumbling hands, and when we try it we bungle the job. For by the time men and women are old enough to marry their tastes and habits are formed and anyone interferes with them at their peril.

Yet there is no other one thing in the world, not drunkenness, nor infidelity, nor triflingness, that causes so much domestic misery and wrecks so many homes as this mania that so many husbands and wives have for cutting each other over according to their own little blue print of what the other should be.

As long as a married couple take each other "as is" and do not interfere with each other's little tastes and habits, all is well with them. But the minute the wife begins altering her husband's diet and buying his neckties and dragging him to her church, or the husband commences trying to change a lowbrow wife into a highbrow, or picking out her clothes and making her wear sedate tailormades, instead of the gay fripperies she loves, and teaching her to cook the way his mother did, Old Man Trouble moves in and takes up his permanent abode.

And it is easy enough to understand why this happens, because, little as husbands and wives realize it, when they try to change their mates from what they are into what they would like them to be, they are dealing a death blow to their vanity. And vanity is stronger than love. Practically every marriage is founded on the belief of the man and woman that they have found someone who appreciates them, who admires them, who finds them witty and entertaining companions, and who sees them as beautiful.

The dullest man in the world would not be so dumb as to court a girl by telling her of her faults and blemishes, but that in spite of them she had somehow struck his fancy, and that if she will marry him he feels sure that he could get a good plastic surgeon to alter the shape of her nose, and that he could teach her how to dress and generally educate her so that she would become quite an attractive person. And if by any chance a man did hand out a girl that kind of line of wooing, she would say NO, definitely, and mean it.

Nor would any man marry a girl if he knew before hand that she was going to spend the balance of her life trying to lift him up to her level, and changing everything about him to fit her ideal of what a good husband should be.

If only men and women would do their picking before marriage, instead of their revamping after marriage, what a lot of headaches and divorce and alimony it would save!

Went to the Source

From the office of the Canadian high commissioner in London comes a story of a young man who should go far.

Phone there rang the other day. "Can you please tell me who is the Governor General of Canada?" asked a voice. The information was supplied. The inquirer was also told how many provinces Canada had, what were their capitals, and so on. Finally the official asked to whom he was speaking.

"Jenkins, sir," said the voice. "I'm doing my homework."—London Answers.

A Bible Message

I knew that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it: and God doeth it, that men should fear before him.

That which hath been is now; and that which is to be hath already been; and God requireth that which is past. (Eccl. 3: 14, 15.)

Praise ye the Lord. Praise ye the Lord from the heavens: praise him in the heights. Praise ye him, all his angels: praise ye him, all his hosts....

Praise him, ye heavens of heavens, and ye waters that be above the heavens. Let them praise the name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created....

Both young men, and maidens; old men, and children: let them praise the name of the Lord: for his name alone is excellent: his glory is above the earth and heaven. (Ps. 148: 1, 2, 4, 5, 12, 13.)

Two American music-hall artists sought employment in one of London's leading theatres.

The manager inquired the length of their act.

The pair hadn't had an act for a month of Sundays, and didn't know just what to say; but being resourceful, replied, "Twenty-five minutes."

"Twenty-five minutes," exclaimed the manager. "Why my dear sirs, ours is a long bill. I cannot give you twenty-five minutes. I suggest that you go on for eight minutes."

The performers stared at him aghast.

"Eight minutes!" they screamed. "Why, we bow for seven minutes!"

Walking On Concrete

Warning us that the present timber shortage is bound to continue for a considerable time after the war, burly Mr. George Hicks, Parliamentary Secretary for Works pleaded for a flexible attitude on post-war building. He was opening an exhibition of constructional concrete floors.

Concrete floors are extensively used in America, in Norway and Sweden, and in other Continental countries. But in Britain people are apt to think of them as cold and noisy. The exhibition aims at showing that with the right type of covering and with proper insulation such floors are both warm and noise-proof.

They are also damp-proof, rot-proof, verminproof and much more fireproof than wood. More than 10,000 armament workers' homes in this country have been successfully equipped with them.—Leeds Yorkshire Post.

Part of Our Tradition

The Greeks were people and that, indeed, is what makes a great portion of Greek literature such interesting reading to us. If the Greeks were a race apart, differing in any great essentials from us in thought and emotions, we simply would not experience, while reading them, that "emotion of recognition" which is essential for the enjoyment of all imaginative literature....

But Greek literature and Greek thought and feeling as expressed in that literature are parts of our tradition, parts of the cultural background of Western civilization....Lawyers still model their addresses to juries on speeches by Demosthenes, Aeschines and Lysias, and politicians go to Demosthenes and Thucydides for phrases and sentiments in golden hyperbole for use on patriotic occasions.—From "Titans of Literature," by Burton Rascoe. 800 Refugees Enter Britain Every Month

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 17 (CP Cable).—Refugees admitted to Britain during the war and a few years prior to it have been given temporary asylum here until a definite policy on the whole refugee problem is determined at the end of the war.

Officials here pointed out today that the problem is most complicated and nothing permament can be decided now. It will depend on the progress of the war and Europeen conditions afterwards, particularly in the countries from which these people fled.

In formulating a policy cognizance has to be taken of the fact that some refugees probably desire to return to their own or other European countries when liberated; others might want to emigrate to Canada or the United States while a number might wish to remain in Britain.

Other questions entering into alleviation of the problem would be availability of shipping for refugee movement and post-war opportunities for their livelihood in various countries.

While there are no official figures at present available here for publication on the total number of refugees in Britain, including those who fled here during the three or four years before the war, it has been announced that 60,000 non-British refugees have been admitted to the United Kingdom since May 1940, and they still are entering at the rate of 800 a month.

An inter-governmental committee on refugees in London is charged with the task of alleviating and seeking a solution for the refugee problem, with particular emphasis on the post-war aspects.

The Bermuda refugee conference last April laid the foundation for further work in this field. The committee has been re-organized and plans are under way to enlarge it. Prior to reorganization there were 29 member governments represented. Invitations have been extended to 20 more.

Bogus Coupons

Colorful, Husky Scot Is Contact Man For British In Mountains Of Yugoslavia

LONDON, Dec. 17 — (AP). — New light was shed to-day upon the mysterious figure of a 32-year-old Brigadier, Fitzroy Hew Royle MacLean, leader of the British military mission to the Yugoslav Partisans whose exploits in guerilla warfare in the Balkans led the Germans to dub him "the terrible Major Jones."

Identified for the first time by Foreign Secretary Eden in the House of Commons, yesterday, Brig. MacLean, member of Parliametn for Lancaster, has for the past several months been sharing the will-o-the-wisp existence of Marshal Joseph Broz (Tito) in the Yugoslav mountains, harassing the Germans who were finally forced to throw a full-size army estimated at upwards of 200,000 troops into the fight.

Descendant of the fighting MacLeans of Ardgour, he was educated at Eton and Cambridge.

Six feet tall and clean-shaven, MacLean is pictured by intimates as "tough as nails" with a penchant for taking long hikes and a keen relish for battling at close quarters.

W.M.S. Selects New Officers

SPRINGVILLE, Dec. 17 (ENS). —Mrs. Allie Bidgood was hostess to the W.M.S. for their Christmas meeting. Mrs. Bernard Preston opened with a talk on "What does Christmas Mean to You and to Me?"

The report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. Harold Rowan and the following officers will be installed by Rev. Everson at the January meeting:

President, Mrs. Bernard Preston; first vice president, Mrs. J. F. Everson; second vice president, Mrs. Lloyd Whittington; treasurer Mrs. S. S. Staples; secretary, Mrs. Jack Whitfield; supply secretary, Miss Annie Brown; strangers secretary, Mrs. Harold Cathcart; literature secretary, Mrs. Allie Bidgood; Missionary Monthly secretary, Mrs. Ellwood Johnston; secretary of Christian Stewardship and Finance, Mrs. J. Grandy; temperance secretary, Mrs. Edison Kimbal.

Press secretary, Mrs. Jack Whitfield; pianist, Mrs. Harry Bothwell; Group leaders, Mrs. Owen Murray, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. George Whitfield and Mrs. Dunn.

Mrs. Dunford was instructed to send Christmas cards, as usual, to all ex-members and absent members of the society. The worship service was given by Mrs. Everson who read from Luke 2 and who gave a Christmas story.

Mrs. Dunn's group was in charge of the program and the following Christmas numbers were given —"A Christmas Thought," by Mrs. Dunn; "The Eternal Message of Christmas," by Mrs. S. S. Staples; "The Legend of the Black Madonna," by Mrs. Dunford; "A Song From Heaven," by Mrs. Kimbal; and "A Christmas Experience," by Mrs. Dunn.

A candle lighting service was then conducted by Mrs. Preston and Mrs. Dunn.

Toronto Man Raps Air Force

TORONTO Dec. 17 (CP)—Alderman W. V. Muir of Toronto last night asserted he is "not taking back anything" he said about conditions in certain R.C.A.F. stations. He was commenting on an R.C.A.F. statement on charges he made in Toronto city council Tuesday night.

At that time he termed living conditions in the Brandon station "a crime and a disgrace," said his son AC2 E. E. Muir had wired and phoned him for money to buy food.

Yesterday's R.C.A.F. statement issued at Ottawa quoted AC2 Muir as saying he "has put on 20 pounds since he went to the Manning Depot at Brandon" Oct. 28. The statement invited the alderman to "visit the Manning Depot at Brandon—or for that matter any other air force station—and see behind the scenes to his heart's content."

Alderman Muir last night said he had visited an R.C.A.F. station as Saskatoon in late September and "I know what I'm talking about." He claimed a group of 40 men sent to Saskatoon about June 6 with instructions to take enough clothing for 10 days, had been issued with summer uniforms only just prior to his arrival.

British Miners Demand Raises

LONDON, Dec. 17 (AP). — A demand by the Mine Workers' Union for immediate wage increases ranging up to about $8 weekly for Britain's 690,000 coal miners produced the threat of a fuel crisis today.

The government, warning of the prospect of a shortage, cut coal rations for homes as much as 20 per cent some time ago, and a shutdown of the mines now might result in further reductions.

The executive committee of the Mine Workers' Federation announced last night that it would press for a national minimum of $24 a week for underground adult workers and $22 for surface workers. The committee added it would present the demands at once to a national wage tribunal composed of union, employer and government representatives, if the employers declined to grant the increases.

There is no national minimum at present, scales being set by districst, but the Laborite Daily Herald said the national mine pay without overtime averages about $16.60 for underground workers and $13.40 for those on the surface.

Although the miners unions have pledged not to strike in war time, scattered walk-outs have occurred.

Association Re-elects Leaders For New Year

ROSENEATH, Dec. 17 — (ENS) —Mrs. Thomas Coyle was hostess Wednesday afternoon when the annual meeting of the W.A. of St. James' Anglican Church was held in her home The election of officers was held and the members quilted a quilt. The officers of the previous year were re-elected, the election being conducted by Rev. W. Lennox. Officers are: President, Mrs. Edgar Braithwaite; vice-president, Mrs. T. Coyle; secretary, Miss Doreen Nichol; treasurer Mrs. James S. Brown; E.C.A.D. secretary, Mrs. W. Houghtailing; Dorcas secretary, Mrs. Brown; Little Helpers' secretary, Mrs. E. Timlin; Sunshine Committee, Mrs. H. J McCracken and Mrs. Clara Braithwaite.

It was decided to remember the ill and older folk in the community at Christmas All officers were requested to present reports of their departments at the January meeting in Mrs. T. Drope's home. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Discharged Pay $65 Not Enough

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP).— Toronto Board of Control today decided to inform Defence Minister Ralston that "the proposed rehabilitation of $65" to discharged soldiers is inadequate.

The board also will request the Defence Department to review all sums of money previously paid discharged soldiers and to adjust the allowance from the former amount of $35 to $65.

Controller Fred Hamilton said he considers the $65 "still not enough, but at least we should see everyone gets it."

Air Minister Power announced recently that men discharged from the services now will receive $65 to purchase necessary clothes. Previously discharged men received $35.

Eton Students Favored For Parliament

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 17 — (CP). — The theory that the Battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton is matched by the reality that those same acres of Buckinghamshire have been instrumental in winning many a seat in the British House of Commons.

In fact, one in four Conservatives M.P.'s and one in seven of all M.P.'s is an ex-Etonian. To wear one of the ancient school's top hats is automatically to increase your chances of entering parliament to 2,000 times those of an elementary schoolboy.

A North Country Englishman, J. F. S. Ross, brought forth those facts in publishing "Parliamentary Representation," a compilation of facts and figures on the people Britain elects to Westminister.

He reported that:

If you meet an M.P. who has been to Oxford the odds are four to one that he is a Conservative and 19 to one that he is not a Socialist.

The age of the average M. P. is consistently above the age of the average adult. (From other sources —Average age of Labor members is 61, of Conseravtive members is 54.)

The personnel of the House "changes much faster than might have been thought." In the average new House 175 of the 615 members are novices, 18? have no more than five year's experience and only 29 have more than 20 years of previous service.

M.P.'s do not talk enough. They have, he found, a "great aversion from letting anyone know their age, education, occupation or, indeed, anything about their experience or qualifications.

Ross worked for years compiling dossiers of the 1,823 people who have sat in parliament since 1918.

His conclusion: "The House is not in any sense . . . an average sample of ordinary man."

Charged with the labors of minister of health in the latest Churchill Cabinet shuffle was Mr. Henry Urmston Willink, K.C., 49, one of Britain's big legal men. From September, 1940 until a week prior to his appointment he was special commissioner for rehousing Londoners driven from their homes by enemy action. He is, incidentally, an old Etonian.

To Willink, who professed that his promotion came "like a bolt from the blue," befell a ministry which is supposed to be nearing the presentation of a bill embodying the government's response to Sir William Beveridge's call for a "comprehensive health service." Leftist comment is that the opposition of "vested interests" among the big doctors has dictated a more moderate plan than orginally conceived.

The Farm Forum of Concessions 5 and 6 met at the home of R. J. Fallis, under the direction of Eric Fallis, secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Len McNeil and Mrs. Ida Keegan motored to Toronto recently.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Reid, Miss Mary Hampton, Mrs. Moore, and son Hugh of Reaboro, were recent guests of Mr and Mrs. E. Armstrong.

FOOD is essential, but what about clothes . . . and particularly in the winter months? Thousands of people in Greece, and children especially, are almost naked. Since Germany occupied the country factories have not produced any clothes. Today, practically 50 percent of the population is almost naked. Fifty percent of the 200,000 children receiving food at soup kitchens are without coats or shoes. Does this touch your heart? It does. Well, please go through cupboards and see what you can spare. Items needed are; wool suits for men, women and children; coats, jackets, skirts, trousers for men and boys; knitted underwear, cotton or wool in all sizes; woollen clothes such as sweaters; woollen and cotton dresses for women and girls; shirts; shoes in good condition and in all sizes, blankets, sheets, pillow slips, towels.

Be a good samaritan and send any of these items to any one of the following Greek Merchants:

IF CARDINALS NEED CATCHER THEY KNOW WHERE TO GET HIM

BY WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Canadian Sports Editor

When the St. Louis Cardinals need a catcher they turn to their Columbus farm for one.

Back in 1934 they plucked a juicy back-stopping plum from the Redbirds in the person of William (Bill) Delancey, the brilliant young receiver who later became ill and had to go west to regain his health.

Two years later, the St. Louis club came up with Bruce Ogrodowski, another fine young receiver.

And, in the same year, they gave Arnold (Mickey) Owen, Columbus catcher in 1936, a trial. Owen clicked, as you know, and for four years he was the regular receiver of the St. Louis club. He was traded to Brooklyn in 1941.

Cooper Is Prize

Meanwhile, Ken O'Dea, Columbus catcher in 1934, was brought up by the Chicago Cubs. O'Dea today is a Cardinal, having been traded by the Giants to the Redbirds in 1941.

Well, to go on, the Cards needed more backstopping help in 1940 and so it was back to their American Association farm for another one. This time it was Herman Franks, later traded to the Dodgers.

The next year another Columbus catcher made the jump into the big leagues. He was their prize plum of all—Walker Cooper, brother of Morton, the star pitcher.

Comes 1944 and the Cardinals will have another Columbus catcher on their roster.

Tommy Heath, a veteran catcher of the Columbus team, is the "recruit" this year.

Colorado Boy

Heath, a member of three consecutive junior world series title-winners at Columbus, will be second-string to O'Dea, according to Manager Billy Southworth's plans.

Heath, a right-handed batter, is 30 years old. He has had a long career in the minors. He was a member of the St. Louis Browns in 1937.

Native of Akron, Colo., Heath broke into baseball as a 17-year-old catcher in the Pacific coast league. Since then he has played for Rock Island, Milwaukee and San Antonio.

Southworth also plans to station Emil Verban, second baseman of the Columbus team in 1943, at second for the Cards. Nick Cullop, manager of the Columbus club, labels Verban as "the most improved player on my club."

CURLING NOTES

We begin our column to-day with this headline: "If the Weather Holds."

By taking advantage of every degree of frost since last Saturday morning and by the co-operation of many of our interested members we are able to present to our club curling ice just one day ahead of last season.

The phone has rang many times during the past few days, wanting to know when the curling will begin, so now we can say definitely, To-night's the night.

With a big membership it is more than likely that the skips will bring along their new player in hope of giving them a little instruction before the schedule opens.

And on Saturday we will officially open the season with a bonspiel, starting at 2 p.m. Phone your name in early and be on time.

We are printing this for what it's worth. We have been told that the president has prepared a welcome speech that wilu be well worth hearing. Ie seems he has oeen working on it since last spring. So come around in time for the speech making and also meet many of the new curlers.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Pre - tournament favorite, Sam Byrd, the former baseball player of Detroit, could do no better than tie for eighth place yesterday in the opening round of the $5,000 Miami Open with a 72, compared with a two-under-par 68 by Craig Wood, U.S. open golf champion for the duration who hails from Mamoroneck, N.Y., who led the classy field. Wood registered no less than eight one-putt holes. Byrd was not the only one who fell to the rear in this putting competition, however, because, Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Conn., winner of the Miami event four times, finished in a tie for 20th place.

Only one stroke behind Wood was Steve Warga, former Miami pro, while Ensign Willie Turnesa, former amateur national champion, registered a par 70 to tie with Earl Christiansen, a Miami detective. Drizzling rain and sharp wind helped to make it literally anybody's game in the initial round.

President Branch Rickey announced yesterday at Brooklyn the Dodgers would train at Bear Mountain, N.Y., again next spring, with the players to report March 15. Six of the seven scheduled exhibition games would be played at Ebbets Field against Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees commencing April 7.

Young Connie Enlists

Connie Mack, Jr., 31-year-old son of the Philadelphia Athletic's manager, passed his military physical examination yesterday and was ordered to report for induction at New Cumberland, Pa., January 5.

W. H. Conlin's Fergus rink carried off the Wellington County Curling championship without a loss in the bonspiel which concluded yesterday at Guelph. The runner-up was the Guelph entry, it was skipped by William Hamilton.

Second-baseman Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees announced at his Eugene, Ore., home that he was preparing to enlist in the U. S. armed forces before many weeks Gordon, 28 and with two small children is a qualified pilot and may enter the air service.

The suspension of outfielder Lou Novikoff of the Chicago Cubs was lifted yesterday by Commissioner K. M. Landis but it was announced at Chicago a fine will be imposed on the player for winter baseball activities in California "at a later date."

Sammy Angott, recognized everywhere outside of New York as the lightweight champion of the world, steps into the ring of Madison Square Garden to-night for a 10-round go with Bobby Ruffin. Favored 2-to-5 in the betting, Angott is aiming for a tussle with Beau Jack who holds the N. B. A. lightweight crown.

Shortstop Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox, American League batting champion last season, received notification at his Atlanta, Ga., home yesterday to report for duty with the U.S. Army at Camp Sheridan, Ill., Saturday.

Ensign Nile Kinnick, former All-American and chosen by The Associated Press as 1939's athlete of the year, will have his memory perpetuated at the University of Iowa by the annual award of a gold medallion to the student adjudged "most like him." Kinnick was killed last June when his Navy fighter plane crashed at Sea.

Anthony "Tick" Caccavella of the Ramblers in the City Five Pin League will never come as close again to winning $100 as he did in a league game Thursday night when he was only one pin away from achieving the bowler's dream of a perfect score, and the century note that a commercial firm offers for each 450 count. Caccavella was bowling for his team against the Westclox last night and rattled off eleven strikes in a row. His twelfth attempt was a good hit, too but the five pin after tottering momentarily remained standing and away went the perfect score. Caccavella was credited with a score of 445 which of course is high single for the season and will likely remain so but he will probably regard that as rather poor compensation for his failure to grab off that $100 award. He's liable to dream of the five pin that wouldn't stay down for a long time after that unlucky twelfth shot. Incidentally Caccavella wound up with 959 for his three games, giving him high three for the season.

According to this column's schedule there is a busy Saturday night ahead of the Y.M.C.A. House League teams with three games on the slate for tomorrow night in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. Nearly every squad but the league-leading Algerines are slated to see action. Military Training Centre and Harry Currie's Destroyers are billed to meet in the 7.15 o'clock game and it should provide plenty of interest for both teams want a win. Pete McArthur's Fairmiles and Jim Ferguson's Corvettes furnish the contention in the second game and this should be another torrid session. Fairmiles are in second place right now but the Corvettes are right at their heels and a win tomorrow night would put the Ferguson outfit right up there. The final game on the card will see the Cruisers and Steve Csumrik's Frigates compete in the 9.15 o'clock fixture. Both outfits have been showing considerable improvement and they should provide a lively windup for the triple bill.

Likes The Frontenacs

Bill Walshe is mighty sweet on his Kingston Frontenacs. Here is what he says about them: "Some fans like the first team that represented Kingston which was disbanded by Army moves, but the new edition is much stronger and will win many more games through a long schedule. Red Tilson and Steve Latoski, a pair of clever centre ice players, were the main losses in the shuffle but they have been replaced by another clever couple in Roy Giesebrecht and Red Doran. Kingston is much better on the rails now with players like Jim Peters, Moe White and Herb Foster added while new defence players like Chuck Phillips, Vic Grigg, Jim Galbraith and Buck Jones, with Bill Mortimer and Bill Booth of the originals, should soon develop a reliable rear-guard. There are rumors that Kingston will have a few more candidates for the Kingston senior staff soon and Coach Red Hamill may have extra worries trying to pick the best dozen. Military moves after Christmas may take some of the present staff but according to reports that are now military secrets, a few qualified players will be coming to Kingston for army training and may be available for senior play."

There is one rule in the N.H.L. and C.A.H.A. code that hockey officials might as well tear up by the roots and throw away. It is the scoring rule that reads as follows: "An assist cannot be credited to any player when a goal is scored directly from a rebound off a goal-keeper." That is surely clear and explicit enough and yet assists are given on rebound goals all over the country night after night. What is the use of having such a rule and yet have it uniformly ignored? Personally we think that in most cases a goal scored on such a play rates an assist. Often the scoring itself merely consists of sliding the rubber into an empty net. That feat has perhaps been made possible because some other player has made a smart attack and forced the goalie to make his move to stop a shot. The puck rebounds, lies in front of the net and all that is necessary is to tap it in. Surely under such circumstances the player who set up the scoring chance is entitled to an assist. Under the prevailing custom he gets one but only in direct violation of a rule that should be changed to meet the situation.

The Right Way

When it comes to encouraging young hockey material most Ontario centres have much to learn from the twin cities of Kitchener and Waterloo. The following paragraph from the Kitchener News-Record will make clear what we mean: "Hockey has made one notable gain in the Twin City this winter and that is entry of junior "B" teams from both Kitchener and Waterloo in the O.H.A. series. For some time players after they graduate from juvenile ranks have been left in a position where if they stayed here their hockey careers were through. With the formation of junior hockey teams there is further incentive for youngsters in the minor categories to continue to work their way up through the various classifications to the junior teams. More minor players will take part in hockey this winter than last year. Reports from Waterloo state that ten more teams than last year will be operated this winter while in Kitchener provisions are being made to have a full quota of teams in each ward participate in league play. The major sports, that is senior teams of pre-war capabilities are not in evidence, but the leagues that are operating and the persons behind sport are doing a pretty fair job of maintaining interest until the boys get back and start what should be the biggest sport boom the Twin City has ever experienced."

Normie Smith, former star Detroit goalie made a spectacular comeback with the Red Wings at Toronto last night holding the Leafs to one goal while his teammates were driving four past Benny Grant. As a result of the setback the Toronto club dropped to fourth place in the loop standing. The game was costly in more ways than one for Hap Day's club for Mel Hill, one of their most effective forwards was carried off the ice with a broken ankle in the second period and will be out of the game for some time. Leafs had the edge in territorial play and had more close-in shots than the winners but hadn't much luck trying to beat Smith while Grant fanned on three long Detroit shots. The Wings went into the lead in less than five minutes when Carveth scored and later Jackson made it 2 to 0. Davidson got the only Toronto goal before the end of the period but Liscombe scored for Detroit in the second and Carveth got his second marker in the final session, both without a reply.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 — (AP). — Attention U.S. football coaches: Since you'll all probably be counting heavily on freshmen next season, take a look at a few of these High School standouts of 1943.... Dinkey Brown, 175-pound half-back from Greenville, Miss., apparently took the season's scoring honors. He scored 30 touchdowns and place-kicked 47 extra points for 227 points in 10 games....Dinkey also passed for 14 scores, two of them when his team was trailing Holy Cross 19-7 in the last quarter of the New Orleans Toy Bowl game....In spite of that, Thomas (Shorty) McWilliams of Meridian was named the most outstanding player in the big eight Conference (which has 14 teams). Shorty also made 30 touchdowns, averaging 36 yards on each scoring run, passed for eight more, averaged about 40 yards on punts, and backed up the line on defence.

The other foot:

Among the standout place-kickers of the prep season was Bob Fidler of Ashland, Ky., who converted 31 extra points to equal his 1942 total. He missed 23 in two years.....J. C. Kennard, captain and high scorer (138 points) for Ashland, carried the ball 36 times on his team's 37 attempts in one game and scored four times. He enlisted in the Navy Air Corps to escape the College Scouts.

Tough decision:

Bill Summers, the American League umpire, ran into a real puzzler this fall when a kid asked him what would be the verdict if a batsman hit a pitched ball. The ball broke in half and one piece was caught by the first baseman while the other fell in safe territory. Instead of answering offhand, Summers got a ball, wedged it firmly on a chopping block and took a whack at it with an axe....The axe cut through the cover and the yarn, but when it struck the rubber core it bounced back....So Bill decided he wouldn't have to worry about that problem any more.

Cone Comes To Life

BURLINGAME, Calif., Dec. 17 — (AP)—The cone of a monterey pine, after lying dormant for from 100,000 to 500,000 years in an earth stratum of the millbraey fossil pit, is opening and shedding its seeds under the warmth and moisture of an exhibition case at San Mateo Junior College. Dr. Frank M. Stanger, museum curator, said the pine cone was found in the same ancient stratum from which bones of mammoths were recovered.

Count Fleet Horse Of Year

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW PORK, ec. 17.—(AP) — By the most one-sided margin in the eight-year history of their poll, United States sports writers to-day named Count Fleet "the horse of the year" for 1943—and the Count did less work for it than any of the seven previous winners.

Although he's been on vacation for six months and had only half-dozen trips to the post in his all-victorious campaign, the Fleet came in by himself with the year's top honors in the annual poll of writers and broadcasters conducted by the Turf and Sports Digest to b published Monday in the magazine's January issue.

Eclipsing even the sweep that hard-working Seabiscuit registered in 1938 and the "double" busy Whirlaway chalked up in '41 and '42, John D. Hertz' triple crown winner was named head man by 135 of the 143 voters, against two each for Market Wise and Slide Rule and one a-piece for Thumbs Up and Occupy the nomination was blank on two ballots.

Occupy, winner of the Washington Park and Belmont Futurites, drew 78 first-place votes and 316 points to take the honors over Platter among the juvenile colts.

Market Wise, barely got the nod over Louis B. Mayer's Thumbs Up among the four-year-olds.

Normie Smith Saves Day For Red Wings

By The Canadian Press

Normie Smith is back in the National Hockey League after five years absence and if his luck and his eyes hold out the 35-year-old goalkeeper will stay quite a while—even though he can only play in Detroit.

Normie was the whole show for the 9,336 fans at Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, last night as the Detroit Red Wings beat the Leafs 4-1. Maybe the blond veteran is just the medicine Wings require to shake them out of fifth place. Smith helped win the Stanley Cup for Wings in 1936 and 1937.

Last night he stopped them all but Bob Davidson, who broke clear to score from 15 feet in the first period after Wings had taken a two-goal lead.

After the game is was announced Smith will not be permitted to take any more trips with Detroit because of his position with an automobile plant. He will be available for games in Detroit.

Joe Carveth and Harold Jackson scored for Detroit in the first and Carl Liscombe in the second, and Carveth again in the third.

The game cost Toronto a chance to hurdle Boston Bruins into second place and also cost them the services of their star centre, Mel Hill, who suffered a broken ankle in the second period when he fell and crashed into the boards after a solo rush.

Wings presented three newcomers in addition to Smith. They called up forwards Frank (Red) Kane, Dalton (Nakina) Smith and Vic Lynn from their Indianapolis farm to replace Cully Simon and Don Grosso, both injured, and Carl Smith, returned to Indianapolis.

'Tick' Caccavella Misses Possible By Single Pin

"Tick" Caccavella's name can be placed in the bowling records as one of the tough luck guys if there ever was one, after the game he rolled in the Men's City League at Duffus Alleys last night. Bowling for the Ramblers team against the Westclox in a regular league fixture he lined up 11 straight strikes in his final game.

With the Senator Duffus $100 prize at stake for a perfect game and the eyes of the whole City League focused on his every move he delivered the 12th bowl for another beautiful, clean hit and the pins went down. That is they all went down but the 5 pin—it stood there all alone and "Tick" had a 445 score but was out 100 smackers.

Big scores were dished up in all directions. Caccavella busted both high three and single for the year in the night's play with a 959 triple and his 445 single, while Bud Weese came back after an 814 a week ago with a 922 count. Joe Denault was the whole show in the K. of C. 3-point win over Canada Packers with 892 while Bill Harris and Doug Abraham counted 842 and 811 for Cleanrites and Roy Lewis an 815 for Sunocos.

Ramblers took high single team game with 1426 and high team totals of 3741, 3698 and 3630 were chalked up by Cleanrites, Ramblers and Jays.

Big singles were as follows: A. Caccavella 445 and 307, J. Denault 381, W. Harris 376, F. McCormack 352, W. Weese 347-307, R. Lewis 329, M. Starr 329, C. Collins 314 and W. Prindible 307.

By HYE BOSSIN

There is a revival of religious film subjects in Hollywood, what with "Keys of the Kingdom," "Song of Bernadette," "Going My Way" and "The Robe." Cecil B. DeMille's famed "King of Kings" will be reissued with a modern prologue. DeMille, long hesitant about filming the life of the Blessed Virgin Mary, is making plans to produce "Queen of Queens" . . . Quebec City was the scene of an interesting and successful motion picture experiment the other week. "Le Ciel et Toi," a French-language version of "All This and Heaven Too," was presented before 25,000 people the first week and now a regular schedule of such features will be maintained. French dialogue is substituted for the original English in a fashion that guarantees synchronization of lip movements and dialogue. Much of Quebec has been seeing films made in France which express Old World ideas. The scheme was first undertaken to provide films for France when that country is freed.

• • •

On his way to sure stardom is 36-year-old Alexander Knox of London, Ontario, ex-newspaperman. Knox will play the title role in "Wilson," the story of the great American president of the last war, which is being made as an epic production. Still a Canadian citizen, Knox joins Walter Huston and Raymond Massey as Canadians who portray leading Americans on the screen. Huston and Raymond Massey are great favorites as Lincoln. Captain Jack Young, also a Canadian, played Roosevelt in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" . . . Walter Pidgeon grew a beard for "Madame Curie" and the studio's publicity men sent out quite a few candid photos. Now they want them back because some executive decided that they would detract from Pidgeon's sex appeal.

• • •

Barbara Stanwyck will be the first star to appear in a post-war film for the Chinese people, one of an international series. . . . Greer Garson, who won the Academy Award last year for "Mrs. Miniver," is expected to win it again for "Madame Curie." . . . A film made in France years ago, "Marie Chapdelaine," is having its Hollywood premiere this week. It would be interesting to see the Canadian classic. . . . Dick Powell ordered a cup of coffee in a cafe and remarked to the waitress who delivered it that "It looks like rain." "I know," replied the waitress, "but that's all the coffee we're allowed to put in!" . . . Mischa Auer used his stand-in to good—or bad—advantage the other day. Mischa was in bed with the flu and sneaked out to finish a scene, leaving his stand-in—or lie-in—to keep the bed warm. He was back before the nurse got wise . . . It looks like the real thing between Capt. Clark Gable and Virginia Bruce.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Dec. 17 — (CP). — Fans are crowding to see professional, senior amateur, and even junior hockey in Canada, but little is heard about the juvenile, midget and bantam leagues. Yet these minor groups are the foundation for our entire hockey set-up, the factories from which come players for major hockey. The minor leagues are having their troubles, too. Jack Christie, secretary of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, says one difficulty is finding men to coach and direct the youngsters. Before the war, coaching was done in the smaller centres chiefly by men in their 20's, generally former players who had not been quite good enough for big-time hockey. Most of these men now are in the services.

The O.M.H.A. is carrying on, however, and this year hopes to surpass the 87 teams it operated last season. Christie says the association is doing its bit to solve the juvenile delinquency problem. Often the league hears from the youngsters who wish to play hockey but have no teams. Where possible these youngsters are banded together to form clubs within the organization.

Sometimes, however, civic authorities apparently do not realize the need for providing sport facilities for youngsters, even though such facilities are widely recognized as a major factor in prevention of juvenile delinquency.

Christie passes on these quotations from persons interested in minor hockey:

A letter from Peterborough, Ont.: "....Am sorry to inform you that there will be no affiliation with the association this winter owing to the fact that the City Council has refused to flood the lacrosse arena. In fact it looks as if there will be no hockey in Peterborough until after the war."

A letter from Milton, Ont.: "I am sorry to say that we have no rink this year as the Town Council saw fit to rent it to store wool."

This is not intended as criticism of authorities involved. In many Canadian centres war conditions have led to unavoidable closing of rinks. But the Peterborough and Milton examples show that youngsters are not always able to participate in Canada's favorite sport. Interest in the youngsters by citizens of these and all other centres without rinks is urgently needed.

3 Seniors Tied At The Top In Scoring Race

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—Ontario Hockey Association records today showed a three-way tie for Senior "A" league scoring leadership. Doug Runions and Johnny Conick of Hamilton Majors and Kingston Army's Red Hamill, who have battled for first place since the start of the season, are all even with 23 points each.

Tied for fourth are Dillon Brady of Hamilton and Roy Giesebrecht of Kingston with 19 points, while Scotty Mair and Joe Klukay of Toronto Navy and Kingston's Jim Peters and Red Doran lay equal claim to sixth place in the scoring parade, all having 16 points.

Joe Sadler of Toronto St. Michael's College Majors this week took over top listing in the Junior "A" circuit from Johnny Ubriaco of Galt with a total of 23 points. The Galt forward dropped one point back into a second-place tie with Bob Schnurr of St. Michael's. Two Oshawa players, Bill Enzicki and Ken Smith, share fourth place with 20-point totals. Johnny McCormich of St. Michael's is all alone in sixth with 19 points, while Stan Warecki of St. Catharines and Mirco Narduzzi of Hamilton are deadlocked for seventh with 18.

Bisons And Capitals Battle To Tie

By The Canadian Press

Buffalo Bisons and Indianapolis Capitals battled to a 1-1 tie at Buffalo last night in the circuit's lone scheduled contest.

With 17 points collected in as many starts this season, Bisons hold second place in the Eastern division behind Bears and come third in the loop. Cleveland Barons—leaders of the Western division—are second with 24 points, three behind Hershey.

Max Kaminsky scored for Bisons at 16.12 in the first period last night. His tally extended Buffalo's unbeaten streak to seven games.

Jack O'Hara tied the score at 16.41 in the second, driving home Rod Morrison's rebound.

The game was one of the roughest played in the A.H.L. this season, with a total of 17 penalties, including four majors, being handed out.

Last Night's Stars

By The Canadian Press

Norman Smith, 35 year old goalie, who staged an almost sensational comeback last night by making 37 saves in the Detroit net as Red Wings clipped Toronto Maple Leafs 4-1.

Joe Carveth, Detroit, who collected two counters for Red Wings.

Stewart Scores 2

SYDNEY, N.S. — (CP). — Gaye Stewart, formerly of the Toronto Maple Leafs in the N.H.L., trotted out for Sydney Navy last night to score two of the Sailors' goals in their 6-3 victory over Sydney Army in the Cape Breton Senior Hockey League.

Main Street Topics

CABLE FROM OVERSEAS.

Tpr. William Scott Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Miller, R. R. 1, Keene, has arrived safely overseas, according to a cable received by his mother.

READY FOR SERVICE

Miss Elizabeth Allan of Campbellford who is serving with the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F., graduated from No. 2 Composite Training School in Toronto as a clerk stenographer..

MAIL EARLY DATES.

To insure the arrival of gifts and cards of greeting by Christmas Day, the Post Office advises that all mail to be delivered locally should be in the mails before December 20 and has added suggested mailing dates for various provinces not previously covered. Letters and parcels to be delivered to points in Manitoba and the Maritime provinces should be posted to-day, while mail for Ontario and Quebec generally should be at the Post Office note later than Saturday.

WOMAN IS FINED

Edith Jacobs who pleaded guilty to a drunk charge was fined $10 and $1 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. On a second charge of damaging property no evidence was offered and it was dismissed.

LAKE FROZEN OVER

One week of winter, with recurring sub-zero nights, has cast an ice surface over the lake and river from Little Lake Cemetery point, and perhaps further, all the way upstream to the faster water opposite the end of King street.

ON ACTIVE SERVICE.

Four enlistments in the Canadian Army occurred this week through the Recruiting Depot at the Armouries. They included the names of Bert Young, 311 McDonnel street and three others from Lindsay: A. Edmonds, 1 Melbourne street east; Alfred Hobbs, 2 Oliver's Lane, and Carl Bryon, 23 Elgin street.

WANTS CHARGE WITHDRAWN

A charge against W. Westman, R. R. 3, Peterborough of careless driving was adjourned until next Wednesday when it was called in police court today. "This should be tried in civil courts," Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., who appeared for the accused said, suggesting that the charge should be dropped. Provincial Constable Price Morris however declined to withdraw the charge.

APPLY FOR CHARTER

Members of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union in the main plant of Canadian General Electrical works have applied to international headquarters for a charter with the intention of succeeding the general committee in the plant whose resignation, the Examiner was informed, takes effcet on December 31. The new branch expect to make application to become the bargaining agency for the employees within the plant.

TRAFFIC CASES

Douglas Mood, Lakefield, was fined $5 and $2.50 costs on a written pleas of guilty in police court today on a charge of failing to keep on the right hand side in making a left turn into a city street. Owen Rettie, Bethune street, was assessed $3 and $2.50 costs for failing to have his name on his truck and Robert Hamblin who pleaded guilty to driving without a license had to pay $10 and $2.50 costs.

AFTER THE HOLIDAYS

After Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., had stated in police court today that the others involved in the case had received adjournments and that he was not ready to proceed with the charge against James Chalmers of keeping a common gaming house, Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., who appeared for Chalmers suggested that the hearing be enlarged until after the holidays." We will all come back then full of good resolutions," he said. Chalmers was accordingly remanded until January 4.

Troops Acclaim Popular Show

A preview of the Massey-Harris war workers show which is to be shown to Peterborough tonight at the Brock Street Arena under the auspices of the Kinsmen Club for the aid of war charities was seen in the city Thursday night when the show, entitled "Combines of 1944," was exhibited at the Drill Hall at the Military Training Centre before an enthusiastic audience of service men.

It was the 142nd performance of this show organized and put together by talent recruited from among the workers at the Toronto and Weston plants of Massey-Harris and given before audiences of Army, Navy and Air Force members during the [illegible] two years. In that time performances of the show given to civilian audiences such as will enjoy the fine succession of fast-moving acts that fill up two hours or more of solid entertainment have been limited to 13, and these have been mainly under the auspices of service clubs.

Stage manager and star comedian of the show is Pat McIntosh, whose selection of humorous paraphrases of well-known songs and large assortment of mirthful quips were greatly enjoyed Thursday night. Acting as mistress of ceremonies was Betty Robertson, who featured the piano accordion. Meta and S. John entertained with acrobatic and novelty dance numbers; June Barrett, a lovely soloist whose voice has sung its way into the hearts of her audiences across Canada, made a great hit with her rendering of many semi-classical melodies and old favorites. Other excellent performers added variety and spice to the program in an action-packed performance which kept its spectators' delighted interest from the beginning to the end.

The popularity of the Massey-Harris show has been growing steadily as it continues to thrill soldier audiences through the county, and evidence of its spreading fame lies in the announcement of a new itinerary to take the 17 members of the cast on tour through the Maritime provinces, starting the middle of January. Already they have played as far west as Banff and covered a large number of engagements in Ontario.

AT OTTAWA—Pte. Leo O'Brien, whose wife, Rita O'Brien, is now living in Ottawa, has been serving a year with the Royal Canadian Artillery. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel O'Brien of Indian River.

Rufus Stevenson Passes At 77

Younger son of James Stevenson, one of the most prominent citizens of Peterborough in a generation that is gone, Rufus Stevenson, 77, died Thursday at his home, 441 Reid street, following a lingering illness.

James Stevenson carried on a business in stoves and other ironware and also tinsmithing on George street in part of the Grafton store premises, and disposing of it he became a coal retailer at the northeast corner of Simcoe and Water streets. He was a member of the municipal council for some years, was elected mayor and Conservative member of Parliament in a memorable campaign in which he defeated the Liberal candidate, afterwards Senator George A. Cox, by margin of several votes. At one time he was owner of the gas plant.

Rufus Stevenson was one of two sons, the other being the late Arthur Stevenson. He was employed for a time in his father's coal business and then went to the United States. His wife was Adelaide Clementi, daughter of another well-known Peterborough family. He returned to Peterborough about five or six years ago. Mr. Stevenson was a member of St. John's Anglican church and of the Masonic Lodge.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, Adelaide, and three daughters and two sons; Mrs. P. H. Toll and Mrs. C. R. Argue of Detroit; Mrs. R. A. Brown of Windsor; A. H. Stevenson, Amherstburg; and W. J. Stevenson, Corunna. A sister, Miss Florence Stevenson, of Toronto, also survives.

The funeral will be held on Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Comstock Funeral Home, 305 Water street, with services conducted by Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson of St. John's church. Interment in Little Lake cemetery.

Council To Stimulate Election Interest

If any person knows some way of stimulating interest in the municipal elections, the City Council is willing to turn an alert ear in that direction. They devised the aid of sending out explicit notice by post card informing every elector of the place where he or she could vote. It had some effect and some of the aldermen were in favor of continuing it. Instead, they agreed to an advertising appeal through the local press City Clerk Outram has prepared the "ad" which will show the location of the polling places and otherwise instruct the electors where to vote.

This is an experiment the effect of which will probably be gauged by the response of the people on New Year's Day.

Havelock Man Charged Drunk Driving

Owing to the fact that Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., had to go to Campbellford to hold court this afternoon, the hearing of a charge against Harry Little, Havelock, of drunk driving could not be completed today and the argument of counsel will be heard Saturday.

Little also faces another charge of driving a motor vehicle while his license is suspended.

He was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C., while Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

Mrs. Vida McNaughton swore that when driving east on Highway 7 on the afternoon of November 27 her car stalled on a hill, and before she could get it started she felt an impact, and on getting out found that her automobile had been struck by another car, also east-bound. She testified that Harry Little was at the wheel of the other car and that he was drunk, his speech was thick, his eyes were not normal and he did not walk right.

To Mr. Carley she said she did not know that the accused had been injured in the accident.

Jessie McNaughton, sister of the previous witness, corroborated her evidence as to the accident and the condition of Little. "I would say he was drunk," the witness declared.

Ronald Cameron, Otonabee, said that he had noticed a car on Highway 7 several miles east of Peterborough that was being driven in an erratic manner. Later at the scene of the accident he had seen a car that looked very much like the one he had seen earlier.

William Brayley, Otonabee, a young boy, said he did not notice anything unusual about the appearance of Little when he saw him at the scene of the accident.

Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure, who arrived about an hour after the accident, said that Little was drunk then, and the officer said he picked up a bottle containing fresh beer froth alongside the accused's car.

To Mr. Carley the officer stated that Little had made no complaint to him either on the day of the accident or the next day about having been hurt.

The defence called a number of witnesses, who testified to seeing Little in Peterborough around 3 o'clock on the day of the accident, and who stated they saw no signs of drunkenness about the accused.

O. C. Nesbitt and William Hughey said they had met him on the street around 3 o'clock, and Wm. Cairns swore that he served him with gasoline at a service station at 3.30 o'clock and did not notice any indications of his having been drinking.

Little himself swore that he had no intoxicating beverage at all that afternoon. He explained the accident by stating that another car had been passing him just as he was about to swing out to pass the McNaughton car on the hill and that he had no clearance to avoid hitting the machine in front of him.

Little said that the wind had been knocked out of him by the impact of the collision and that he had been dazed for some time. He said that he had found out later that two ribs had been broken.

The case was then adjourned until Saturday.

4 Fliers Die

TORONTO, Dec. 17.— (CP).—No. 1 Training Command of the R.C.A.F. yesterday released the names of four men who died last Tuesday in the crash of a Bolingbroke training bomber at Mountain View, Ont. They are: PO. A. M. Curry of Orangeville, Ont.; LAC. R. E. Jolly, Weyburn, Sask.; LAC. W. N. Golloway, Vancouver and LAC L. S. Collins, Halifax.

OCEAN TRANSPORT

Up to the end of June, 1943, the British merchant navy had convoyed 12,000 ships carrying 77,000,000 tons of cargo from Canadian shores.

MILITARY FUNERAL—L.-Cpl. Adam Smith, whose widow resides at 468 Reid Street, died this week while he was still on active service in Kingston. Under the direction of the Training Centre, he was given a military funeral, with Capt. S. P. Profitt, padre, officiating. L.-Cpl. Smith had been overseas three years with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in this war, and returned to Canada in May. He was also a veteran of the First World War.

Hen Was Insulted

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17—(AP).—Harry Zacky, poultry market operator, on trial charged with violating OPA ceilings by selling a cull stewing hen at a higher price as a pullet, brought along the hen as exhibit A. Assistant City Attorney Tom Howard referred to her as "an old cull." Defence attorneys were overjoyed when she promptly responded by laying an egg on the counsel table. It proved, they said, she was a laying pullet, not a cull. The jury will decide.

Turkeys Found Very Scarce Buyers Report

Take a turkey tip from Fred Jopling, the Christmas birds are scarce, and it doesn't matter whether the Examiner tells its corner of the world because a man named Donald Gordon cracked down a 45 cent retail price, and even if there was only one turkey left in the country its price would still be—45 cents.

"All I can tell you," said Mr. Jopling, "is that where we used to get 150 or 100 or 75 birds, we are now getting 30, 15 or 10. And there is nothing you can do about it. Out through Ennismore and Harvey, good turkey country, we got only a fraction of what we would normally buy in that section. I can remember when we'd ship as much as thirty tons to Eaton's in Toronto, but that was before Hitler. Farmers tell us something happened to their flocks and the loss through the season seemed heavier than usual.

We've got another week to go, but we are turning down quantity orders every day, factories wanting a hundred or more; or people wanting fifty birds for a draw. We've had an order list on our file for weeks, even a couple of months, and we have a stack of new ones to add to that list."

To some families Christmas without turkey, brown and well filled, would be almost as strange as if Santa Claus missed the household and no one raised a voice in "Holy Night."

R. M. Peirson of Co-Op Services said they had some orders on their books since last summer, one of them from June, people who were caught in the shortage of last year and were going to be forehanded in their aproach to the Christmas of 1943.

"We are going to have trouble filling the orders that are now in our hands," Mr. Peirson said. "Industrial firms are sending some of their men into the country to buy from farmers at the retail price, that means 45 cents a pound instead of 38 cents. We turned down five orders for 100 birds and an extra big one for 500 within the last week. Just this morning a Montreal telephone call wanted 175 turkeys, but we don't know where we can get them and we have to let the business go."

Co-Op received a large part of a 750 order a week or so ago, and it vanished over night.

This information indicates a market that is going to be lighter than usual. Of course there are turkeys in the district that are still to come to market, but some of them may be short-circuited to supply the industrial and other wholesale demand.

Probably it might be wise not to defer buying until next week. And as stated above, the retail ceiling price is 45 cents a pound, and it seems a safe bet that every bird will bring the top price.

G. S. Matthews Stands For Re-election

Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the Utilities Commission, informed the Examiner today that it was his intention to seek re-election by accepting nomination at the city hall meeting next Thursday night.

GORDON MATTHEWS

"I feel that with eighteen years in the service of the people of Peterborough my experience and knowledge of the departments of the Utilities Commission should be an asset and practical benefit in the post-war period," Mr. Matthews said. "If I am re-elected to the commission I believe that I can continue that service to the consumers of our electricity, water and gas, and also be a help to the lads who are now in uniform by concentrating on our post-war problems."

Mr. Matthews said the Utilities Commission should be able to make a substantial contribution to the development of Peterborough after the war, and also help materially in providing employment during the time of transition from war to peace conditions.

Lower Rates

"The financial position of our utilities is such that the commission should be able to make a reduction in rates in both the electric and water departments in the very near future," the commission chairman affirmed.

"I am sorry that the same thing cannot be said of the gas department. Higher costing coal, coke, oil and labor have made it necessary for us to watch operating costs very closely in order to show a small surplus at the end of this year. But, if it were not for increased volume of sales, even this would not have been possible.

"In the war years the commission has set aside certain reserves so that it will be able to commence reconstruction and extension of present facilities in both the electric and water departments immediately the war ends."

Wants To Help

Mr. Matthews remarked that having had a hand in building up this reserve it was only natural that he would like also to have a part in its use for the general improvement of the people's utilities.

"For some time a definite postwar plan has been studied with the idea of giving maximum employment immediately after hostilities cease."

Work begin at once on some of the work which had to be suspended. In the meantime the efficiency of the Utilities plants has been maintained at the general high standard and the entire properties are in fine condition.

"In our electrical service this year we have not had one interruption, and if continue to the end of the year on that basis this will be a record year. In the last fifteen years power interruptions have totalled only 250 minutes, or four hours and ten minutes.

Keep Up Standard

"In the eighteen years that I have been a member of the commission we have had the loyal support of a very competent staff, and I think it should be of interest to the public of Peterborough to know that their utilities are in capable and faithful hands.

"A firm foundation for the successful operation of the Utilities was laid many years prior to my becoming a member of the commission, and since then it has been my ambition as one of the commissioners to maintain that high standard of service to the people and keep our property in the very best condition."

Nun Who Died 26 Years Ago In Chicago To Be Canonized Saint By Catholic Church

CHICAGO, Dec. 17 — (AP).—Mother Frances Xavier Cabrini, internationally famous nun and often called the "Apostle of the Italian immigrant," who died in Chicago 26 years ago, will become the first United States citizen ever canonized a saint by the Catholic Church.

A Swiss telegraph agency dispatch from Vatican City last night said the Congregation of Sacred Rites had decided upon canonization of the Italian-born, naturalized American citizen, who founded the Institute of the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and was known on three continents for her works. Pope Pius will preside at a gathering of the congregation for her santification sometime in January.

Canonization so soon after her death is most unusual. In the case of Joan of Arc, for example, it took 300 years.

Four Convicted Of Hunting On Game Reserve

"While I am satisfied that these men who were brought up in that neighborhood knew they were on the game preserve I would recommend to the Department of Game and Fisheries that the eastern boundary of the preserve should be properly marked so that mistake would be impossible," said Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court Thursday afternoon after finding Pte. Max Post guilty of having carried a loaded rifle with in the preserve.

"Because the accused is a member of the armed forces," said the Magistrate, "I am going to suspend sentence."

"Sentence cannot be suspended," said Overseer Sitwell of Toronto who prosecuted, "but you can remand him for sentence until called upon if you wish."

Magistrate Gee decided to act upon that suggestion.

After Pte. Post had been convicted four other men who were similarly charged, Bruce Post of Havelock, Isaac and Fred Post of Methuen and Albert Selkirk of Peterborough all pleaded guilty.

"You can make the penalty $20 if you wish," Overseer Sitwell suggested and Magistrate Gee said that on compassionate grounds and considering the circumstances of the accused he would follow the overseer's suggestion and make the fine in each case $20 with costs of $1.

"I am recommending that the department return to these men the rifles that were seized by the officers," said His Worship.

Hearing of the first case took most of the day.

W. J. Arthur Fair, defence counsel, argued strenuously that the accused should be dismissed, declaring that no one knew exactly where the eastern boundary of the preserve was.

In his judgment Magistrate Gee pointed out that one of the defence witnesses was a summer visitor to Oak Lake and he had sworn that he had not dared to take a chance on hunting at the western end of the lake because he understood it was in the game preserve.

"It would be a queer thing to have a summer visitor know this and yet to have men who have lived all their lives in the neighborhood know nothing about it," commented His Worship.

W. H. Reynolds Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, Dec. 17. — A former resident of Peterborough, William Henry Reynolds, 70, passed away at his home in Toronto on Wednesday. Mr. Reynolds was born in Lakefield and later spent some years in Port Hope and Peterborough. Until his recent retirement, he was electrical foreman of Toronto Transportation Commission.

Mr. Reynolds spent the greater part of his life in the street railway transportation business. After joining the original Toronto railway in 1894, which he served until 1905, he moved in succession to Toledo and Rochester companies, returning to the Toronto Street Railway, later T.T.C., in 1908, where he remained until this year. He was a member of Oddfellows' Lodge No. 71 for over 40 years, a member of Shamrock Lodge A.F. and A.M. and Rani Ghar Grotto.

Surviving are his wife, three sons Roy, Edwin and Reginald, and a daughter Estelle, all of Toronto.

Lawyer Outlines Law History To Service Club

The greatness of the heritage of the Common Law of England and its expression of commonsense and practicality in the genius of the Anglo-Saxon race was extolled Thursday night in an address of John Bradshaw, Peterborough attorney, to the Y's Men's Club. Mr. Bradshaw said that only those peoples who are heirs of the great history of the Common Law have its noble spirit and tradition in their background to guide them; and that each of us who is an heir has also the responsibility of being a trustee to hand down to future generations the same benefits that we receive.

Reviewing briefly the manner in which the body of the Common Law was initiated some 900 years ago in the reigns of the early Norman kings, Mr. Bradshaw set out how the doctrine of the King's judges declaring the custom of the people to be good law had come into being, and how courts of law hewed to the line established in this first basic principle of the Law of England through many centuries, so that today the doctrine and the practice still prevailed unimpaired. He added that even at the present time, when parliaments and congresses were legislating at a more furious pace than ever before in our history, ninety per cent of the law was still being formulated and written into precedent by judges of the courts.

He touched on the importance of the doctrine of "Stare Decisis," by which judges are bound by the decisions of judges of higher courts, whether merely of yesterday or of long ago, unless the lawyers or the judge himsef can distinguish the case in hand from other cases embodied in the records.

Moes Slowly

He took up one the popular allegations that the law is stuffy, crooked and out-of-date and emphasized various features of its growth and meaning that lead to an explanation of such erroneous impressions. He admitted, however, without any reservations, that the law was slow.

He pointed out the practical purpose served by formality in the courts of law and how the ritual, as with a church service, added dignity to the proceedings and served to impress witnesses and litigants with the importance of the occasion. Such formality, Mr. Bradshaw asserted, could not be dismissed simply by calling it stale custom and a useless relic of a bygone age.

The speaker concluded by stating the position of lawyers who undertook to defend persons accused of murder or other criminal offenses, and showed how in doing so they were helping a system to work. The accused was not guilty until pronounced so by a judge or jury and, Mr. Bradshaw stated, it was a basic principle of democratic law that it was far better that some who were guilty should go free than that one innocent should be unjustly convicted.

Mr. Bradshaw was introduced by David Grant, and the vote of thanks was moved by John Richardson.

Fails To Remember His Fanciful Story

The mystery of the unconscious youth picked up at Rink and George streets Wednesday night was solved this morning when the young man, an employee of the C.G.E. told the police on his release from hospital that there was no foundation in his story of having been assaulted and thrown out of a car.

The youth is subject to fainiting spells and it was because of a seizure that he fell on the street Wednesday night and hit his head. As a result he said that he was in a semi-unconscious condition and did not remember telling the fanciful story that was given the police when they first investigated the case.

Farm Forum Meets

The regular meeting of the Stewart Hall Radio Farm Forum group was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thorne, with an attendance of 14. After the half-hour broadcast, Mr. Frank Savigny led in a discussion of a Government Health Plan, specifically, the Draft Bill. The general opinion was that its provisions were a step at least, in the right direction. At the conclusion of the discussion a lunch was served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. Stewart.

Rev. Rowland Guest Speaker

Rev. E. W. Rowland was quest speaker at the Christmas meeting of Mark Street Baby Band, held at the home of Mrs. H. Allen, Hunter Street. Rev. Rowland urged mothers to display the Christmas spirit in spite of the absence of loved ones. "Those boys far away are thinking of home and Christmas as they were when they were there to enjoy them," he said, and asked his audience to observe Christmas as the boys would wish.

Mrs. J. Ellis was at the piano for the singing of Christmas carols, and a trio, consisting of Carol Ferguson, Marilyn Logan and Eleanor Logan sang for the group.

Mrs. K. Ferguson gave the secretary's report, and Mrs. N. Alton read a paper on 'Christmas Stewardship.' Mrs. G. Hopcroft read the poem, "A Declaration of Faith at Christmas," and Mrs. R. Alton read a story which showed what life would be "If He Had Not Come."

After the treasurer's report, given by Mrs. C. Logan, the meeting was closed with the benediction. The group met in a room dominated by a brightly decorated Christmas tree, laden with gifts for the children of the Shelter. These gifts will be distributed among the children, as a present from the Baby Band.

Toth—Kent

Holy Trinity Anglican church, Mount Hamilton, was the scene of a pretty wedding Tuesday, when Rev. Griffin Thompson united in marriage Doris Gertrude Kent, daughter of Pte. and Mrs. R. M. Kent, Huntsville, and LAC. Stephen Toth, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Toth, Lestock, Sask.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was becomingly attired in white sheer, with a finger-tip veil caught with a Dutch boy head-dress. She carried an old-fashioned nosegay of pink and white 'mums, red roses and bouvardia, and carried a lace handkerchief, an heirloom of the family.

Miss Betty Anderson, of Midland, was bridesmaid, wearing a pink sheer, with matching Dutch boy head-dress, and carrying a nosegay of mauve and white' mums and pink roses. Little Brenda Kent, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and was prettily dressed in blue sheer, and carried a matching nosegay. Tpr. Robert Kent, brother of the bride, was best man.

At the reception, held at the home of Tpr. and Mrs. R. W. Kent, Mount Hamilton, the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of powder blue crepe, black accessories, and a corsage of white 'mums and pink roses. Out-of-town guests included Misses Elsie and Gertrude Busst, aunts of the bride, from Toronto.

The young couple will spend their honeymoon in Hamilton and Toronto, the bride travelling in a rose jersey suit, black coat with red fox furs, and black accessories.

Army Girls Find Home Comforts At London Post

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 17—(CP).—Good food, good company, a cheery fireside and mail from home—when they're lucky—that's what the Canadian soldier girls in Britain come home to, if they live in barracks not far from the Strand.

This barracks is in an old hotel that was gutted by incendiary bombs, and now, practically rebuilt, it's a home for more than 130 members of 42 Company of the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

When you push back the blackout curtain and come into the hallway there's a happy hum in the barracks, and a great deal of that feeling of happiness and hospitality radiates from Capt. Dorothy Yarwood of Edmonton, O.C. of the company.

Capt. Yarwood, who doesn't look old enough to have a son over here—a corporal, Jack, in the Seaforths—was standing in the entrance hall and she had a greeting for everyone.

The captain led us through the mess, a series of three adjoining sitting rooms, with fires crackling in the grates of two, and into the mess hall, where the hungry girls weren't wasting much time about eating dinner.

"Some of the girls have gained as much as 20 pounds," laughed their O.C.

"The girls are easy to cook for," said Cpl. Dorothy Lethaby of London, Ont., as she poked her head out of the kitchen to see if everything was all right.

One of the people responsible for the good food here is Cpl. Helen Brownlee of London, Ont., who was down in the basement canteen, getting ready for the evening's run on the candy ration, which is about three chocolate bars a week.

"I go down to the ATS ration depot," she said. "We have the same choice of food but the English girls get different things. They take cakes, meat pies and prepared food. They don't have the home-made things we get."

The Experts Say . . . .

By The Canadian Press

OTTAWA, Dec. 16.—(CP).—Much time and thought is spent on the planning of the Christmas dinner while other holiday meals are often of the pot-luck variety. They should be carefully prepared too, especially when it is so easy to give them a festive touch without serving rich or extravagant foods which would be out of place this year. Here are simple suggestions from Laura Pepper, chief of the Consumer Section of the Agriculture Department.

Toast Cups can stand in for party shells and are more party-like than just a slice of toast for creamed dishes; they can be made ahead of time. Cut slices of fresh bread not more than ¼ inch thick. Trim the crusts and press slices into muffin tins. Brush the edges with melted butter and place in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees Fahrenheit, until crisp and brown — about 10 minutes.

Apple Wedges— Cut rosy apples into wedge-shaped pieces and serve them with pickles and green onions as a relish. They add color and will prove popular with your guests.

Oatmeal Fruit Crumble: Slice three cups of apples, mix with ½ cup brown sugar, and ½ teaspoon cinnamon and arrange in a shallow, greased baking dish. Mix ¼ cup sugar with ¼ cup melted, milk-flavored fat (use part butter if you have it to spare). Sift 2-3 cup all-purpose flour with ⅛ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon baking soda. Mix with 2-3 cup quick-cooling rolled oats and combine with the fat and sugar, crumbling well. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla and spread over the apples or other fruit. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit, for 45 minutes. Serve hot with hot milk or pudding sauce.

Two cups of other canned or cooked fruit, drained, may replace the apples in the recipe and the cooking time will be reduced if cooked fruit is used.

Salad Suggestions: Add shredded raw beets to cabbage salad. Sliced radishes and chopped parsley will provide the right color notes in a potato salad. Russian dressing, made by combining equal portions of mayonnaise and chili sauce, is delicious with cabbage or lettuce salad. Mould cranberry jelly in a shallow cake tin and cut with a fluted or star-shaped cutter for garnishing cold meat platters, turkey or fruit salads.

'Twixt Cup and Lip: The place for vitamins is in the food we eat and Nutrition Services emphasizes that they must be kept in their proper place between market and table. Salad vegetables, canned tomatoes and tomato juice which have been opened should be kept closely covered and cold to retain their vitamin C.

Christmas Vitamins: Nobody wants to think of vitamins and minerals while enjoying a Christmas dinner but they should be there just the same, for we can't stock up on vitamins or catch up later. We need them every day, Nutritions Services says. A fruit or tomato juice cocktail as a starter will provide vitamin C. Vitamin A can be obtained from vegetables; squash, carrots, broccoli, etc., and for the B vitamins they suggest using part oatmeal or whole wheat flour in the Christmas pudding.

Santa Visits St. Paul's Church Group

The exchanging of gifts among the members of St. Paul's Presbyterian church choir was the event of the evening after the rehearsal Thursday. The hall had been decorated, and a Christmas tree, illuminated with colored lights, had been placed on the platform. George East was genial Santa Claus, and, although he was wearing a business suit instead of the usual bright red one, his gracious manner as he collected the names of the members, was exactly like St. Nick's. Each member received a useful gift, and Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., organist and choirmaster, received a "special." A lunch was later served by the social committee, and, with the thanks of all expressed by Rev. Dr. J. D. Smart, another happy Yuletide gathering was concluded.

Sam McKinley Entertains School Pupils

Mr. S. McKinley, a magician and sleight-of-hand expert, was a highlight of the Christmas concert presented Thursday evening in the kindergarten room of Prince of Wales school, when a program of numbers, in which all the grades of the school took part, was presented. The concert was under the auspices of the Home and School Association of Prince of Wales School, and the teachers were responsible for the arranging and presenting the program.

Mr. McKinley was the guest artist, and amused the grown-ups as well as the kiddies in his audience. The rest of the program was given by the grades of the school, under the direction of their teachers.

Grade 1 opened the entertainment by singing a group of junior Christmas carols, and Miss E. Huffman's class presented "The Story of the Shepherds." Young Tommy Krogh played an excellent cornet solo, and Miss E. Thomlinson's class gave a choral reading, "Christmas Day."

Dorothy Woodcock, assisted by Mary Dorsett, presented a recitation entitled, "The First Christmas," followed by the "Christopher Robin," given by Miss M. Baird's class. A violin solo by Robert Ross was followed by the "Christmas Story," presented by the pupils of Miss M. Greene.

Eleanor Carleton recited "The Beautiful Gift," and a playlet, "Cora's Callers," by Mrs. A. Brotherstone's class, delighted the audience. A recitation, "St. Christopher," was given by Mildred Woodcock, and the program was concluded by two groups of Christmas carols, sung by pupils from grades 7 and 8.

A most enjoyable evening was spent by all, and the parents were pleased with the way the children presented their numbers. The teachers are to be congratulated on an excellent program, well presented.

Miss Emma Might Hostess to WCTU

Christmas is being commemorated by societies, clubs, and unions, as well as by families in homes, and this year Miss Emma Might, George Street North, was hostess to the members and friends of the W.C.T.U. for their Christmas meeting, and presided throughout. The clip sheet dealing with both the uses and misuses of alcohol, was led by the president, with seven or eight ladies taking part in the dialogue A delightful Christmas and temperance reading, "Mike's Prayer," was given by Mr. H. G. Walker, who generously responded to the encore with "The Ambulance Down in the Valley." "Have You Heard the Song from the Golden Land' was sung as a hymn in which all joined.

Mrs. (Rev.) Fred Horton read as the Scripture lesson the Christmas story from Matthew 2, 1-10, and Mrs. J. H. Rowe led in prayer. A piano solo "Sun of My Soul," by Betty Fountain, was greatly enjoyed, as was the beautiful Christmas solo by Margaret Hooper, accompanied by Mrs. Logan. Finding Christ in Christmas was the timely theme of Mrs. Fred Horton's splendid address, in which she emphasized that Christ was not found alone in making gifts but in giving lives in service for Him.

The meeting was brought to a conclusion with prayer by Mrs. H. E. Connolly. Delicious refreshments in Christmas colors were served by the committee in charge.

City Insists Claraday Section Be Included In Annexation Plan

Hearing by the Ontario Municipal Board here Thursday afternoon of applications for annexation by the city of two suburban areas of North Monaghan was adjourned until January 27 with the suggestion that resumed negotiations might accomplish an extent of agreement which would require only official endorsation.

The members of the Board who came to Peterborough for this assignment were R. S. Colter, K.C., and W. P. Near, B.A., assistant chairman.

Pending the organization of the township, county and city councils for 1944, and renewal of approach to the proposals by round table conference, J. F. Strickland, K.C., representing the Board of Education, assented to continuing its accommodation of township pupils attending the Queen Mary and Prince of Wales Public Schools "to the limit of our ability." But Mr. Strickland reminded the Municipal Board the children living in the city should be the first concern of the Board of Education.

Mr. Colter said that "we have been led to believe that after Christmas the township children would not be looked after by the city."

That point was agreeably disposed of for the time being, and Mr. Strickland emphasized his statement that there was no threat by the Board of Education.

"The Board of Education has been one body taking care of things without much complaint," he said. "There was some negotiation with Wartime Housing Limited about a certain amount of the cost of educating township pupils being made up to the Board, but nothing has been done. However, Wartime Housing are building a two-room school in the city."

F. D. Kerr, K.C., represented North Monaghan with all the members of its council except Councillor H. E. Cassan, who was ill. John R. Corkery was acting for the city as substitute for W. F. Huycke, K.C., City Solicitor, who is another victim of the epidemic 'flu, and with him were Mayor Hamilton, Aldermen Glover and Bradburn, City Engineer Parsons, City Clerk Outram and City Treasurer Shaver.

The county was represented by V. J. McElderry, K.C., Warden Mather and Reeves Gifford and McIlmoyl and Mrs. J. A. Spurway, clerk and treasurer.

Kent Hamilton of Toronto, solicitor for Wartime Housing Limited was also present, and also an assembly of urban and rural ratepayers comfortably filling the council chamber.

Almost from the outset, Mr. Colter indicated apparently an impression that municipal negotiations had not advanced as far as they should have been carried. Mr. Kerr said the original proposal of annexation was discussed for a time in an atmosphere of harmony, but some newspaper reports seemed to have induced a change of sentiment, and negotiations trailed off into separate action.

Confident of Agreement

Mayor Hamilton expressed his confidence that "we can agree in a general way. There is no animosity between the two municipalities. There is only good feeling, and I hope the Board of Education will continue to receive the pupils from the west of the city."

Mr. Strickland remarked that if annexation came about the Board of Education would have to increase its estimates in requisition through the council, possibly $35,000, "and we hope the Council will bear with the Board when this comes."

"We usually have to do so any way," Mayor Hamilton laughingly replied.

Returning to the plan of negotiation and its further recourse, Mr. Colter said the city and township were next door neighbors and their first concern should be to endeavor to arrive at an agreement by their own efforts, rather than by reference of their problem to the Board or decision. "That tends to make for ill feeling for years to come. People can live without a row, but they can't live without neighbors."

Later, Mr. Colter said: "If we have to make a decision, we'll do it, but personally I would like to keep out of it if you can agree; and we would not be sticking our noses into something which I feel we are better out of."

Divided on Boundary

A new feature transpiring in the discussion yesterday was a difference of opinion between the city and township as to the western boundary of the area west of the city proposed for annexation. Western avenue had been generally mentioned in the beginning of negotiations.

A map produced yesterday indicated the city had slightly drawn in that limit to incorporate the lots on the west side of Ford street, northerly to No. 28 Highway, continuing to take in the Hatton area of Wartime Housing to the south side of Weller street.

Ford avenue extends north and south, and is parallel with and east of Western avenue. It meets Lansdowne street almost at the C.P.R. crossing.

The western boundary marked out by the township would include the subdivision west of Western avenue and reaching from Lansdowne street to No. 28 Highway, crossing it to take in the properties fronting the Highway up to Sherbrooke street, extended, and thence straight north to Weller street.

The City's Position

Mr. Corkery told the Board the city was willing to include the western area to Ford street if the township consented to annexation of the Claraday section, south of Lansdowne and east of Park street. North Monaghan council, Mr. Kerr replied, had not reached and decision about the Claraday area.

Their objection was that they had not received formal notice of application by suburban residents desiring annexation to the city until December 3, but City Clerk Outram recalled that discussions between those interested residents and the city had begun in November and were then reported in the Examiner. It was also said that there had been some movements toward annexation from Claraday people from time to time for some years.

Mr. Outram explained to the Board that the Claraday application was entirely on the initiative of a majority of its electors, and that no inducements had been held out to them.

Mr. Kerr had spoken of the Claraday action as "monkey wrench" thrown into the negotiations between the city and township about the western area, and H. J. McLarnon objected to that phrase. He said Claraday annexation had been mooted for twenty years, and that, when the western annexation proposal developed, residents of the south-east area "got busy with a petition" which was signed by a majority of the electors in that area.

Mr. McElderry suggested to Mr. Colter that in the resumed negotiations the county should be represented because it had a large financial interest in the outcome of the annexation applications.

One of Mr. Colter's statements as the hearing got under way, and Mr. Corkery outlined the city's attitude, was: "Until you have tried your best to get together, this Board is not expressing an opinion or trying to influence anybody in any way."

Preliminaries Reviewed.

Mr. Kerr began by calling Bruce Johnston, clerk of North Monaghan, and the hearing became involved in the details of Wartime Housing Limited enterprise in going into the township and buying the properties for the Monaghan Road staff house and the 125 temporary houses on what is known as the "race track" area west of High Street, and also the expropriation of the Hatton property. The township had objected to the city acquiring valuable residential Hatton area and the staff house situation on the Chamberlain property, and leaving the "race track" section out of the annexation plan.

Actual ownership of the Wartime Houses was another point causing delay. It harked back to the negotiation stage between the city and township, and Mr Hamilton repeated the information which Mr. Kerr had explained months ago to the effect that Wartime Housing Limited was a Crown company under the Wartime Measures Act were in the name of His Majesty the King. The technical position of the tenants was another old point dusted off. Mr. Johnston explained the township's wish to go further afield than Western Avenue, because that section of property was a sub-division; beyond the township's proposed bound was farm property; and the Western Avenue strip was as integrally part of that suburb as the Ford Street properties.

Mr. Kerr also directed his question of Mr. Johnston to the complication of school accommodation, all of which has been previously published.

Mr. Corkery commented that the township was hardly consistent in asking for annexation of all residential and sub-divided parts of the western suburb and at the same time opposing the annexation of the more compactly residential Claraday area.

It was at that stage Mr. Johnston and Mr. Kerr brought forward the township's contention that they had not received "due notice of the Claraday application until December 3rd" to give it due consideration.

"The township has not dealt with that application," Mr. Johnston said.

Both or Neither.

"We'll agree to the compromise of the Claraday section being discussed with the western area," Mr. Corkery stated, "but if the township is not prepared to deal with the Claraday area now, then we are opposed to the west side."

Mr. Strickland remarked that the township should realize that if they did not "go on at the present time they would have at least 80 pupils to look after because the Board of Education could not continue to provide room for children from Monaghan. "The Board has expended around $3,000 on those children. Is the city still to be penalized through the Board of Education?"

Vice-chairman Near said the penalty was self-inflicted. "You accepted the responsibility."

Mr. Strickland answered that the Board of Education had tried to be reasonable throughout the course of negotiations respecting township children.

"If we adjourned now on the understanding that an effort would be made to continue negotiations, would the Board of Education not make any difference in their accommodation of the township children?" Mr. Colter asked.

Mr. Strickland replied that the Board would continue to the limit of its ability, and K. S. Wightman, Public School Inspector, said "We can take care of those children, providing the Board is willing to do so. We took them in without fees, and it is costing the Board between $3,000 and $4,000 a year."

Mayor Hamilton disclosed a recent decision of the City Council to the effect that eight of the ten members were willing to accept the western area. "We really don't want," His Worship said, "but if ew take in one, then we take in two. The Claraday residents prepared their own petition."

John Barnes' Claim.

John Barnes, Cottesmore Avenue, said he had been a resident of the western area 27 years, acquired certain properties and should have something to say as to where they were to go. A temporary expedient was being proposed, and a result of the Wartime Housing operations his taxes would be increased to city levels. "Aren't the residents of that area to get any compensation?"

"For what?" Mr. Colter asked.

"Well, will our taxes or assessment be fixed?" Mr. Barnes continued.

"Have you considered that if Wartime Housing remain in the township you will be left with all such costs as education, hospitalization, and so on," Mr. Colter said. "This seems the only safe way for you to deal with this housing problem, because you are next to a larger municipality that is able to bear the brunt of the expense."

Councillor J. S. Roberts of the western area said he had given annexation a lot of thought, and he believed many of his neighbors would be in a much better position if the area was taken into the city.

"I think our Council has drawn a line that makes a well defined area," Mr. Roberts said. "In fact, I am surprised that the city has not wanted a little more to take us in."

The hearing closed on the Board's recommendation of re-opening municipal conferences, and its decision to adjourn until January 27.

Year Of Attacks In North Africa Ended Axis Rule

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 17—(CP)—It was "Mediterranean Year" in 1943 for Allied armies in North Africa and Europe. It was a year of attack, of fierce battles and of victories—a year which brought the end of the Axis in Africa and the beginning for the Allies in Europe.

In these 12 months of hard fighting from the desert through Tunisia, Sicily and Italy, British and American armies changed the course of the war in a brilliant series of successful operations.

A year ago victory in Europe seemed remote. Today they talk in London and Algiers and Naples of sound prospects for a 1944 victory.

The tremendous effort of the Red Army was a major factor but down in the Mediterranean four armies won other victories against the Germans and Italians that carved a path into the European mainland.

Now the allied forces is firmly established in Italy and a vista of military possibilities lies before them. There are the boiling Balkans, southern France, Greece and eventually southern Germany itself.

Faced Big Task

At the start of this eventful and profitable year, it seemed in Tunisia that the Allies had bitten off more than they could chew. The 1st British Army was in the mountain line, but the Germans were packing in troops and it was practically a stalemate for several months in the soggy valleys and windswept passes of that forbidding country.

But the 8th Army was chugging along the Mediterranean coast from Bengazi to Tripoli, slowly but determinedly pushing Rommel's army ahead of it. It soon became evident, however, that the Germans were going to fight for Tunisia.

So the battered 1st Army had to bear the brunt as the enemy lashed out in an attempt to smash it before the 8th turned the corner at Tripoli and Mareth and started northward.

Two gallant British divisions — the 78th and the 6th armored—held the tenuous line from the Mateur valley on the north to Ousseltia on the central sector, while the American 2nd Corps was stationed on the southern sector.

Despite the defeats in the south at Sidi Bouzid and in the granite pass at Kasserine, the line held and then Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commanding the 18th army group of the 1st and 8th armies and the Americans, mounted his deadly two-way attack.

Fall of Tunisia

The 8th broke through at Mareth and its tanks and guns and infantry flooded up the coast. The Americans pushed to El Guettar on the flank and the Germans pulled back into the Tunis-Bizerte triangle. With 15 divisions available, Alexander then descended on the trapped enemy. He feinted from the south at Enfidaville and sent his main punch down the Medjerdah River valley, breaking through in a bloody fight at Longstop hill and sweeping in on Tunis. The Americans in the north successfully attacked down the Mateur Valley. Tunis and Bizerte fell. By May 9 it was all over and Germans poured into prison camps.

Already the Sicilian invasion had been planned. Preparations were far advanced. At Allied Headquarters in Algiers Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and his staff worked night and day on the strategic plan. Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery got his 8th Army ready. The Canadian 1st infantry division was to come from England with a Canadian army tank brigade. Gen. George Patton was to take the American 7th army in and the 45th American infantry division was to come direct from New York for the assault on Gela on Sicily's south coast.

Pantelleria was pulverized by air bombardment in a "test-tube" work-out to give North African air force a chance to see what they could do in daylight precision bombing. they found the answer for Sicily there and the bombing of Sicily started. Airfields, towns, railways, dumps roads and bridges were attacked. Steadily the air blitz grew.

By mid-June the invasion armada was ready to sail. The Royal Navy had the sea lanes through the Mediterranean cleared and the air forces dominated the skies. The Canadians left the United Kingdom and hundreds of ships also sailed from there carrying supplies and ammunition as well. The 45th division pulled into the Mediterranean from New York.

Attack on Sicily

On the afternoon of July 9, 2,500 ships and craft turned north from the rendezvous south of Malta. A storm blew up. Canny Sir Andrew Cunningham, directing the convoy and naval operations, watched the fleet move past the red cliffs of Malta. He gauged the sea and the wind and the tough, old seadog said the invasion would go on as scheduled, sea or no sea running.

Many a landlubber infantryman held his breath that night as he watched great waves crash against the side of his ship. But it calmed down considerably in the early morning and the little boats bobbed to the beaches.

The rest of the story is current history. The 8th got ashore easily. The Americans had a rough time at Gela fighting German tank formations and then broke away to conquer all western Sicily and go northeast to be the first into Messina. At the Simeto river bridge south of Catania the 5th and 50th divisions of the 8th Army had a terrible battle and then as the Canadians and the 78th broke around on the left flank to Mount Etna the Germans drew back to evacuate their mauled force to Italy. The Italian army folded up from the start.

On Sept. 3, with the Italian armistice already signed and delivered, the Canadians and a lone British division were ferried across the Messina straits to the beaches at Reggio and San Giovanni on the Italian mainland.

Southern Italy Taken

The pursuit of the Germans went on from there through Calabria with Allied air forces pounding the areas ahead of the 8th Army formations. It was invasion of Europe at the cheapest price. British troops landed at Taranto and southern areas of Italy were in Allied hands within a few weeks.

It wasn't all clover, however. The 5th Army, a British-American formation under American General Mark Clark went into Salerno Bay, south of Naples. The Germans were waiting on the bridgehead. There was bloody fighting for days and at times it looked as if the venture would fail.

But it didn't. Salerno Bay was saved by the fighting spirit of the 5th Army, by a terrific blitz by the Allied air forces and by the speed of the 8th Army which brought it up to the right flank in the nick of time.

The 5th and 8th, now bolstered by more divisions, began a methodical campaign northward through Italy, with the Royal Navy aiding it from the sea. Sardinia and Corsica were added to Allied territory and provided some useful airfields.

Y.M.C.A. To Celebrate 100 Years Of Service

The Y.M.C.A. Board of Directors has appointed R. L Dobbin as chairman of a special committee to arrange for suitable recognition of then Centennial of the Young Men's Christian Association which started in 1844 in London, England when a group of 12 young men met under the leadership of George Williams who received recognition for this service later in life by being knighted by Queen Victoria. The first association to be formed in North America was in Montreal 85 years ago closely followed by Boston. The Association in Peterborough was organized in 1868 serving young men and boys for a period of 75 years.

The National Council of Canadian Y.M.C.A.'s has been invited by the Montreal Association to hold fitting ceremonies in that city during the week of June 6, the founding date and each local Association is asked to make 1944 a year of special importance in the local Y.M.C.A. circles.

W. A. Richardson was re-appointed representative on the Community Fund Committee. President J. R. Marshall and vice-president J. L. Gillespie were re-appointed members of the National Council representing Peterborough.

The Nominating Committee in connection with annual meeting to be held during the third week in January were named by the president as follows: G. S. Matthews, chairman; F. Hills, F. E. Johnston, H. T. Cranford, T. H. Taylor and G. Monkman.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, December 18.

While activity and energy may bestirred to high levels of excitement there is probability of such strenuous endeavor being carried to defeat and disintegration. There may be signs of sudden and disruptive forces, with the impulses and inner urges pitched to excesses with want of constructive performance, unless a tight rein be used to regulate, restrain, and modify hectic and rash tendencies. These may lead to quarrels, confusion and physical dangers or accident. With calmness and discretion there may be outstanding benefits and gain.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year of heightened activity and excitement, probably with rash, reckless and disastrous results which may have physical reactions upon health and safety. With moderation, poise and restraint there might be unexpected gain, with surprising benefits and pleasures. There are indications of upheavals, disruptions and devastating situations to be firmly controlled and turned into profitable rather than disastrous channels. Travel, writings, social and affectional pleasures reward calm and equilibrium.

A child born on this day, although excitable, impulsive, and reckless, may have much success.

Royal Castle Distresses Nurse

HAMILTON, Dec. 17 — (CP).—Lieut. Estelle (Billy) Cahill, nursing sister with the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, in a letter to her parents to-day said she was one of the survivors of a ship torpedoed in the Mediterranean and now is living "in a castle that once was the home of the king of Italy."

"Everything I ever owned or valued is in Davy Jones' locker and it's only by the grace of God that I am here," she said. "I cannot tell you what we have been through. I have travelled by everything you can imagine—ship, lifeboat, destroyer, tender—then after 12 days another ship, landing barge, a troop-carrying truck, ambulance and finally am here at this castle."

She added that the castle is "very cold" and "quite alive with flees and bedbugs."

Recent dispatches from Canadian Press war correspondents told of the sinking of a ship in the Mediterranean carrying a number of Canadian nursing sisters.

Education Faces Drastic Reform

LONDON, Dec. 17 (CP)—A measure described by Richard A. Butler, president of the Board of Education, as the most far-reaching educational reform bill in Britain's history, was introduced in the House of Commons today with quick approval almost certain.

The government - sponsored measure provides for raising the age at which children may leave school from 14 to 15, complete reorganization of the elementary school system, much heavier penalties for non-attendance—including jail terms for offending parents— and registration and inspection of all private schools.

The additional cost of the reforms to the government in the first year is estimated at £5,500,000 ($24,475,000) rising by 1955 to about £80,000,000.

The bill establishes compulsory school attendance between the ages of five and 15 with no exceptions.

Canada Nearing Solution WorkerShortage

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (CP)—Men who who are in cloest touch with Canadas manpower situation won't be quoted on it by name because they know sudden changes in the war situation may bring new difficulties, but yesterday told The Canadian Press that Canada appears to be "over the hump" of her industrial manpower difficulties—in a general sense.

There still will be plenty of problems in finding workers, they said, but they will be local conditions and no general all-over shortage is anticipated.

Thus a problem which six or eight months ago was a prime worry of Cabinet Ministers and senior officials apparently has become one of the Government's lesser worries.

War production now is at its peak and it is not expected there will be any material increase in the total number of workers—some 1,100,000—in war plants. Here and there lay-offs have occurred, but Munitions Minister Howe recently gave assurance that no unemployment is in sight.

Forces Need Men

The army, navy and air force still need men. With full employment now, it follows they will have to come from plants or other jobs. But offsetting this loss to industry is a tendency for plants with increasing efficiency to operate with fewer workers, and the constant recruitment of women into industry.

This trend was apparent in the Dominion Bureau of Statistics latest report on employment, but it was less than normal for the season. Looking back over the year, the bureau found that while the number of men workers remained practically unchanged there was an increase of 15 per cent in women workers.

Employment charts, even for the war years, show a sharp drop in December, indicating that more workers are normally available at that time than in the immediately preceding months.

The Labor Department reported that at the end of September the trend of vacancies was downward and the trend of applications for employment was upward. It looked as though the lines on the department's graph were getting together, to narrow the broad spread that has existed between jobs and workers.

Greatest need for labor in war industries at the moment is in the aircraft plants and naval shipbuilding. In aircraft particularly, many of the jobs can be filled by women.

Farmers Cut Wood

Serious shortages have occurred in agriculture and in lumbering, but officials here said the 1943 farm-labor program went a long way toward meeting the need for workers. Now that farmers have reached the off-season, many of them are responding to the Government's call to take temporary work in lumbering, and further labor supply is being found in the use of conscientious objectors and prisoners of war.

Compulsory transfer order for the movement of men to more essential jobs are still being used to provide staff for war plants and other essential services. Workers from this source can be used to plug some of the holes that are inevitable.

Workers have had to be found during the year to fill vacancies caused by enlistment and mobilization of the 65,000 men and women who joined the army during the first nine months of the year. A break-down by months for that period shows a steady falling-off in both volunteers and men called up, but indications are that the objective of 100,000 men for the fiscal year will be reached.

REDS REPULSE NAZI ASSAULT—Soviet troops have successfully thrown back a heavy German armored assault north of Zhitomir (1) as the Nazis tried to recapture Kiev. The Russians are driving on Cherkassy, Kirovograd and Krivoi-Rog (2) and street fighting is going on in Cherkassy.

Canadian Gunners Break Records Operating 25-Pounders In Italy

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 14 — (Delayed) (CP Cable). — Canadian gunners are breaking all records with the support they have been giving infantry units engaged in the Moro River battle.

Crews operating the 25-pounders have been living in the mud besides their guns for 10 days and in that time have put more rounds "up the spout' as they call shooting, than the Canadian artillery fired all though the Sicilan campaign.

The gunners live, eat, work and sleep by their guns, oiling and cleaning them when they are not firing.

The pup tents in which the crews snatch a little sleep whenever they can are set up only a few feet from the guns and there is always at least one man on guard during any lull.

Except for the sergeant who is in charge of the crew, the gunners take whichever station is nearest when they run for the gun. No. 2 may take No. 3's position on the sights while No. 3 will take over No. 2's jog of ramming shells into the breech as they are handed up No. 4.

Every member of the crew can do the job of any other, and they interchange their duties and stand guard in alphabetical order. The noise of other guns in the area does not interfere with their sleep when they are tired.

The gunners' first job when they reach a new area is to dig pits for the guns and slit trenches for themselves. Sgt. Dick Jackson of Olds, Alta., who is in charge of one crew, says the difference between the gunners who have been in action and those have received training in England is the speed with which the veterans dig in.

The first night Jackson was in Italy the area in which the crew had just dug a pit for the 25-pounder was shelled. "The digging in lesson was taught me clearly that night," the sergeant said.

When corrections of range or direction are called for by the Battery's forward observation officer stationed with the infantry they can be made in a couple of seconds If it is a change of direction, sergeants like Jackson, as a result of long practice can correct with rare accuracy merely by pushing his gun trail around a few inches one way or other.

When the gun is firing he stands by the trail, listening for orders called from the dugout 30 feet away by Lieut. Don Chute of Montreal who is gun position officer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Peirson Honored By Co-op Friends

The presentation of a coffee table and a floor lamp was the highlight of the program Thursday evening, when friends and associates of Mr. R. M. Peirson gathered in the Co-op hall for a farewell party. Mr. Peirson and his family are moving to Toronto, where Mr. Peirson has been appointed vice-president and assistant general manager of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company of Ontario.

The Peirsons have been in Peterborough almost two years, and have been well-liked by all with whom they came in contact, and the assistant chairman, Mr. Charles Moore, in his presentation address, paid tribute to Mr. Peirson's interest and endeavor, and said that everyone wished him success in his new position, but that all were sorry to see him leave.

In accepting the gifts, Mr. Peirson voiced the appreciation of himself and his family, and said that the Co-op was going on to bigger and better things, that he was sorry to be leaving, but that he knew the new manager would carry them on.

New Manager

Mr. W. A. Davidson, the new manager of the Co-op services, was agricultural representative for Lanark county before taking this position, and so is familiar with farmers' problems. In his address, Mr. Davidson expressed his pleasure at being among such friendly people, and asked that any questions which might come up be referred to him, and he would do whatever he could.

Mr. Samuel Staples gave a little of the history of the United Farmers' of Ontario organization, and told of its beginning in 1912, and of the forming of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company Limited in 1913. The U.F.O. was to take care of the educational end of the organization, and the Co-operative Company was to be in charge of the commercial end.

Mr. Reginald Hunter was chairman for the meeting, and introduced the speakers and the numbers on the program. Mrs. L. Reynolds and Mr. Cliff Johnston reported on the progress made at the U.F.O. convention, held in Toronto recently, and every aspect of this important meeting was covered in detail.

Variety Program

A varied program of vocal and instrumental selections was also presented. Harry Lockington played two cornet solos, "Till the Lights of London Shine Again," and "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes." Lois Windrem, accompanied by Joy Preston, sang, "White Christmas," and Velma Staples gave a moving reading entitled, "Me and Jim". A violin and piano duo, the Leahy brothers, Kevin and Robert, played two sprightly numbers which had their audience's feet tapping, and Bernard Preston, accompanied by his daughter, sang, "The End of a Perfect Day".

The group sat in a large "family circle" at the close of the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

HOLDING UP AT SUIT

NO TRUMP contracts show declarers using the hold-up play frequently, but you seldom see it employed at suit contracts by average players. Every reason why it is a good play at No Trumps can exist sometimes in suit contracts, however, and also some additional reasons. One of these is to make sure that the man whose lead might enable his partner to ruff at a certain stage never gets a chance for that maneuver because the hold-up keeps him from having the lead when it will do him some good.

North: ♠ 7 / ♥ A K / ♦ 8 7 6 4 / ♣ K Q J 9 6 5
West: ♠ 8 / ♥ 10 8 7 2 / ♦ K Q J 10 / ♣ 8 7 4 2
East: ♠ A 5 4 3 / ♥ Q J 9 6 4 / ♦ 5 3 2 / ♣ A
South: ♠ K Q J 10 9 6 2 / ♥ 5 3 / ♦ A 9 / ♣ 10 3

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♥	1 ♠	2 ♥
3 ♣	3 ♥	3 ♠	4 ♥
4 ♠

South cooked his own goose at one table where this hand was dealt, because he did not understand good use of the hold-up play. He won the diamond K lead with the A, led the spade K to the A, and East, after scoring the club A, put West in with a diamond. A club came back, enabling him to ruff and setting South.

Bad defense at one table enabled South to make the contract, East there returned a diamond as soon as he won the second trick with the spade A, so he never got a chance to ruff clubs.

One South made the contract without depending on help by the defenders. He merely played low on the diamond K lead and thereby assured his success. His diamond A took the second trick, the spade A and club A the next two, and East then returned a diamond, trying to put West in the lead. This, however, was a third-round diamond effort, so South was able to interrupt it with a ruff and then go blithely ahead to make his contract, with no further tricks lost.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ Q 10 4 / ♥ 5 2 / ♦ A K 8 6 5 / ♣ K 9 5
West: ♠ A K J 9 5 / ♥ None / ♦ Q J 7 3 2 / ♣ Q J 6
East: ♠ 6 3 2 / ♥ J 10 8 7 6 3 / ♦ None / ♣ 8 4 3 2
South: ♠ 8 7 / ♥ A K Q 9 4 / ♦ 10 9 4 / ♣ A 10 7

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

If North gets into 3-No Trumps despite two spade overcalls by West, and West puts the J on the opening lead of a spade, how should North play for his contract?

Ilsley Permits Increase In Coal Price

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (CP). — Regret that it has been necessary to permit a higher price for domestic coal and the hope that pressure will not be exerted to make additional increases were voiced by Finance Minister Ilsley in announcing yesterday the government's decision to authorize an increase in the price of coal produced in Nova Scotia mines.

The National War Labor Board recently authorized wage increases for Nova Scotia miners, and Mr. Ilsley said the Board has been directed to determine the amount of increase necessary to meet the higher wage scale.

After wage increases were granted coal miners in Alberta and in British Columbia a similar decision was reached.

(In granting wage increases of $1 a day to employees of three major Nova Scotia mines, the National War Labor Board said its decision that the companies had estimated it would cost them $15,460,225 a year— equal to $3.44 a ton on the basis of 1942 production —to meet the miners' demands for increases of $1.25 a day).

(The board also said it was granting the increase in Nova Scotia following the decision of a Royal Commission which awarded western miners who asked for an increase of $2 a day a raise of $1.)

Anthracite Stable

The ministers said the government has regarded as "fundamental" its policy of refusing subsidies to meet wage increases. It had also reached the conclusion that it would be inadvisable to direct a price increase on imported coal equal to the recent price increases in the United States.

No user of Canadian coal would be in any way benefited by having the price of anthracite coal increased—and anthracite is the only imported coal whose price is really in question.

To subsidize wage increases from the public treasury "would provide too easy a way of acceding to demands for higher wages" and invite further severe pressures for upwards adjustments in wage rates.

Mr. Ilsley said the decision to increase the price of Nova Scotia coal was based on the principle that increases in the cost of essential imports should be offset by the payment of subsidies or remission of duties and taxes wherever that is necessary to preserve the price ceilings.

Canadian Pilots Launch Flotilla

LONDON, Dec. 17 (CP Cable).—The Admiralty disclosed today that a flotilla of British motor launches commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. G. W. Stead of Vancouver were the first Royal Navy ships to enter Catania harbor during the Sicilian invasion last summer.

The officer, member of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, also led his ships in paving the way for the bloody Salerno landings in western Italy last September by sweeping the bay of mines.

His flotilla swept the sea from Salerno to Naples and its ships were the first to enter Naples when that port was captured from the Germans.
